Mr. Carter, from the committee on Privileges and Elections, submits the following report on the contested election case from the county of Person, wherein James Holman contests the right of C. S. Winstead, the sitting member, to his seat:
Report of the committee on Privileges and Elections in the Person county contested election case:
The committee on Privileges and Elections, to which was referred the Person county contested election case of James Holman, contestant, vs. C. S. Winstead, the present incumbent, respectfully report as follows:

The committee met on the 12th instant to consider the case, the parties both appearing in person and being represented by counsel.

The case was submitted on an agreed state of facts substantially to the following effect:

The parties were opposing candidates at the general election on the second day of November last, for member of the House of Representatives from Person county, and each received an equal number of votes cast. The Board of County Canvassers duly canvassed the returns, made and filed abstracts of the votes cast, as required by law, and adjourned without deciding which of the candidates was elected. The Board of County Commissioners met on the Saturday following, and undertook to decide the contest in favor of the present incumbent; and thereupon the sheriff gave him a certificate of election.

The question arising upon this state of facts is: Did the County Commissioners have the power to decide what they undertook to decide?

Section 21, chapter 52, of Battle's Revisal, provides that "returns from all the precincts shall be made by the judges of election to the County Commissioners, who shall * * * proceed to add the number of votes returned; and so far as county officers and members of the House of Representatives * * * are concerned, the person having the greatest number of votes shall be deemed duly elected. (Should any two persons have an equal number of votes for the same office, the Commissioners shall decide which of the two shall be elected.) * * * * When the Commissioners have thus completed the comparison of the votes, they shall proclaim the result," &c., &c.

The act regulating elections, chapter 275, Laws of 1876–7, constitutes an entirely new Board of Canvassers, composed of one of the judges of election from each of the voting precincts. Returns from all the precincts are to be made to this new Board of Canvassers, who are to "canvass" the returns, the person having the greatest number of votes is to be "declared" duly elected; and when the Board have completed the canvass of the polls they shall "proclaim" the result, &c. See sections 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25.

It is clear that the new Board supercedes the old Board in all its duties and powers except in the power to decide when there is a tie vote, about which not a word is said. Is the last named power taken away by implication? Contestant's counsel insists that it is; that the power is merely incidental to the principal duty of canvassing the votes, and, that as the latter had been given to another Board of Canvassers, the incidental power necessarily falls to the ground, no provision being made that it should be exercised by the new Board. The committee concede that this position is not without force. But, on reflection, they incline to the opinion that the power to decide in case of a tie is of a higher and more important nature than the mere ministerial duty of adding the returns and proclaiming the result; and, consequently, that when the less important work was transferred to the new Board, and nothing was said about the other, and more important matter, the effect was to leave the latter just where section 21 put it. It is true that there is an absence of legal machinery by which the old Board of Canvassers, the County Commissioners, are to acquire official cognizance of the case, when two persons have received an equal number of votes; and this fact has given the committee some trouble. They think, however, that when there has been an exercise of the power in reasonable time and upon full notice, and in a public manner, as in this case, the mere absence of machinery should not be allowed to annul a definite power or defeat a substantial right. This, of course, assumes that the power actually exists; and it is admitted that it does exist unless it has been repealed by implication. Justice Swayne said, in McCool v. Smith, 1 Black. U. S. Reports, 470, "a repeal by imlication is not favored; the leaning of the courts is against the doctrine, if it be possible to reconcile the two acts of the Legislature together." And it was held by an eminent judge in Van Ransellear v. Snyder, 9 Barb., 308, that "when a late statute is absolutely repugnant to a former one, only in part, it repeals the former only so far as the repugnancy extends, and leaves all the remainder in force." Moreover, the two statutes must conflict "in the very matter." Dwarris on Statutes, 155. The "very matter" in our case is only referred to in the first statute, and is not mentioned in the last; and consequently there can be no repugnancy or conflict.

Impressed with the foregoing views, and being unwilling to deny to the people, except in obedience to the clearest requirements of law, their constitutional rights of representation, the committee respectfully recommend that the present incumbent, Charles S. Winstead, be recognized as the representative of Person county in this House.

Signed, M. E. CARTER, Chairman.

The report is ordered to take its place on the Calendar.

The Joint Committee to whom was referred the nomina-

The committee would further report that new townships have been created since the last election of Justices of the Peace, and in all such cases this committee has made nominations as required by law so to do, specifying such as new townships.

The census just taken develops several incorporated towns entitled, under the law establishing county governments, to additional Justices of the Peace, in which cases this committee has made recommendations accordingly, as also for all newly incorporated towns.

Wherever there have been new counties created, this committee has also made its recommendations for Justices of the Peace.

Thereupon Mr. Hanner presents the following protest:

The undersigned respectfully protests against the action of the House of Representatives in concurring in the Senate amendment to H. B. 898, S. B. 768, by which the county of Chatham has been deprived of a Senator in the General Assembly of North Carolina. This representation has been accorded to the county of Chatham since its formation, and the undersigned can see no reason why it should be taken away unless by deterioration in point of population and material resources this good old county has fallen behind her sisters in the march of progress as exhibited by statistics and the census returns.

Let us see whether such is the case. As now constituted the district composed of Chatham and Alamance has more population than any Senatorial District in the State, except Wake. And it will be seen by reference to the census returns and the apportionment act that 10,069 of the population of Chatham and Alamance are ignored, while 41 of the 42 Senatorial Districts are behind them in population as well as every material resource. Chatham alone is in population far ahead of eight of said districts.

It exceeds the 6th district, ......................1,756
" " 8th " ..........................3,727
" " 10th " .........................1,599
" " 12th " ......................2,069
It exceeds the 14th district, ........................................... 564
" " 15th " .................................................. 4,296
" " 19th " .................................................... 837
" " 31st " ..................................................... 3,123
" " 39th " ..................................................... 3,195

Twenty-seven of the forty-two districts fall below the basis of representation, while fifteen make good the deficiency, and in order to do this 10,069 of the people of Chatham and Alamance are disfranchised. We therefore ask to enter this protest against such injustice.

JOHN MANNING,
ORAN A. HANNER.

S. B. 145, H. B. 548, a bill to prohibit the use of Pod or Dutch nets in the waters of the Neuse and Trent and their tributaries.

Mr. Manning introduces a resolution of thanks to the clergymen of Raleigh, which is unanimously adopted by a standing vote.

Mr. Hanner asks and obtains leave on behalf of himself and Mr. Manning to withdraw their protest against the passage of the bill concerning representation in the Senate.

Mr. Carter submits the following report, which is read and ordered to be spread on the Journal:

REPORT ON THE QUESTION OF REMOVING GOV. HOLDEN'S DISABILITIES.

The undersigned, Chairman of the Committee appointed to consider and report upon the propriety of removing the disabilities imposed on Gov. W. W. Holden by the Court of Impeachment, respectfully reports:

The committee have been so much engaged in the work of other committees and in the general business of legislation, that they could not reach a satisfactory conclusion, either as to the power of the General Assembly to remove Gov. Holden's disabilities, or whether, admitting the power, it ought to be exercised. Upon both these questions the committee are much divided. The undersigned, speaking for himself only, is willing to solve all doubts in favor of Gov. Holden, and vote for his emancipation. The General Assembly, in the opinion of the undersigned, would not make much of a mistake in extending this act of grace and magnanimity to one whose freedom could bring no harm to the State.

MELVIN E. CARTER,
Chairman.

Mr. Munden presents the following protest, and asks that this protest be spread upon the Journal of this House:

We, the undersigned members of the House of Representatives, desire to enter our protest against the manner in which the appointment of magistrates has been made by the General Assembly, such appointments being made from only one political party—the Democratic. Such discrimination is unjust and will be condemned by all people.

CARTER, for Committee.

TOUCHING THE DUTY OF THE SPEAKER.

1. It shall be the duty of the Speaker to invite the pastors of the several churches of this city, and other preachers of the Gospel, under such arrangements as they may make among themselves, to perform the service of prayer at the opening of the daily sessions of the House.

2. He shall take the Chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House, on the preceding day, adjourned; shall immediately call the members to order, and on the appearance of a quorum, cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read.

3. He shall preserve order and decorum, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House.

4. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.
5. Questions shall be put in this form, namely: "Those in favor, (as the question may be) will say aye," and after the affirmative voice has been expressed, "Those opposed will say no." Upon a call for a division, the Speaker shall count; if required, he shall appoint tellers.

6. The Speaker shall examine and correct the Journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the Hall. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the Chair; but such substitution shall not extend beyond one day, except in case of sickness, or by leave of the House.

7. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially ordered by the House.

8. In all elections the Speaker may vote. In other cases he shall not vote, unless the House be equally divided; in case of such equal division, he shall decide the question.

9. All acts, addresses and resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker; and all writs, warrants and subpoenas, issued by order of the House, shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Clerk.

10. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker, (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole,) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

12. Reporters wishing to take down debates may be admitted by the Speaker, who shall assign such places to them on the floor or elsewhere to effect their object as shall not interfere with the convenience of the House.
1881.] RULES OF ORDER. 827

Any member may appeal from the decision of the Chair, and if, upon appeal, the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, he shall not, except by leave of the House; and if the case, in the judgment of the House require it, he shall be liable to its censure.

16. When two or more members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall name the member to speak.
17. No member shall speak more than twice on the main question, nor longer than 30 minutes for the first speech, and 15 minutes for the second speech. Nor shall he speak more than once upon an amendment or motion to commit or postpone, and then not longer than 10 minutes. But the House may, by consent of two-thirds, suspend the operation of this rule during debate.

18. Whilst the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, no person shall speak, stand up, walk out, or across the House; nor when a member is speaking, entertain private discourse, stand up, or pass between him and the Chair.

23. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn before a decision or amendment, except in case of a motion to reconsider, which motion, when made by a member, shall be deemed and taken to be in possession of the House, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.
24. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a certain day, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order they stand arranged, and no motion to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, being decided, shall be again allowed on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

25. A motion to adjourn, or lay on the table, shall be decided without debate; and a motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the House is voting, or some member is speaking, but a motion to adjourn shall not follow a motion to adjourn until debate or some business of the House has intervened.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted on again during the session.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the same shall admit of it, which shall be determined by the Speaker.

28. When a motion has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or succeeding day, unless it may have already passed the Senate, and no motion to reconsider shall be taken from the table except by a two-thirds vote.

29. When the reading of a paper is called for, which has been read in the House, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

30. Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House, shall be presented by the Speaker, or by a member in his place; a brief statement of the contents thereof shall verbally be made by the introducer, and shall not be debated or decided on the day of their being first read, unless the House shall direct otherwise, but shall lie on the table, to be taken up in the order they were read.

31. When the ayes and noes are called for on any question, it shall be on motion before the question is put, and if seconded by one-fifth of the members present, the question shall be decided by the ayes and noes; and in taking the ayes and noes, or on a call of the House, the names of the members will be taken alphabetically.

32. Decency of speech shall be observed, and personal reflections carefully avoided.

33. Any member, after the expiration of the morning hour, may rise to a question of personal privilege; but if the question of privilege be decided against him, he shall not proceed, unless the ruling of the Speaker be reversed by the House.

34. Any fifteen members, including the Speaker, shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members.

35. No member or officer of the House shall absent himself from the service of the House, without leave, unless from sickness or inability.

36. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee at the time of his appointment, if he is a member of two standing committees.

37. If any member shall be necessarily absent on any temporary business of the House, when the vote is taken on any question, upon entering the House he shall be permitted, on motion, to vote.

38. No standing rule or order shall be rescinded or altered without one day's notice given of the motion thereof; and to sustain such motion, two-thirds of the House shall be required.

39. The members of this House shall uncover their heads upon entering the Hall, whilst the House is in session, and shall continue so uncovered during their continuance in the Hall, except Quakers.

42. Upon bills submitted to a Committee of the whole House, the bill shall be first read throughout by the Clerk, and then again read and debated by sections, leaving the preamble to be last considered; the body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined; but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk, on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the Committee, and so reported to the House. After report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by sections, before a question on its passage be taken.

43. All questions, whether in Committee or in the House, shall be propounded in the order in which they were moved.

44. The rule of proceeding in the House shall be observed in a Committee of the whole House, so far as they may be applicable, except in the rule limiting the time of speaking and the previous question.

Committee rise shall always be in order, except when a member is speaking, and shall be decided without debate.

47. Every bill shall receive three several readings in the House previous to its passage, and the Speaker shall give notice at each whether it be its first, second or third. The first reading of a bill shall be for information. If no opposition be made the bill shall go to its second reading without question.

48. Upon the second reading of the bill, the Speaker shall state it as reading for commitment or amendment.

49. The Speaker shall refer all bills and resolutions upon their introduction to the appropriate Committee, unless otherwise ordered.

50. The Clerk of the House shall keep a separate calendar of the public and private bills, and shall number them in the order in which they are introduced, and all bills shall be disposed of in the order they stand upon the calendar, except otherwise specially ordered. No public bill shall be twice read on the same day without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

51. All resolutions which may grant money out of the Treasury, or such as shall be of a public nature, shall be treated in all respects in a similar manner with public bills.

52. The Clerk of the House shall be deemed to continue in office until another is appointed.

53. Upon a motion of any member, there shall be a call of the House, a majority of the members present assenting thereto; and upon a call of the House, the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk, and the absentees noted; after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over. The doors shall then be closed and those from whom no excuse, or insufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, if fifteen in number, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for, and taken into custody wherever to be found, by special messenger appointed for that purpose.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

54. The previous question shall be as follows: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments and debates. If this question shall be decided in the affirmative, the "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending, the question shall be taken upon such amendments in their order without further debate or amendment. If such question be decided in the negative, the main question shall be considered as remaining under debate: Provided, That no one shall move the previous question, except the Chairman of a committee whose report is under consideration, the mover of a resolution or bill, or the author of a minority report.

And then upon the main question; or amendments, or the motions to postpone indefinitely; postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, in the order of their precedence, until the main question is reached or disposed of; but after the previous question has been called by a majority, no motion, amendment or debate shall be in order.

All motions below the motion to lay on the table must be made prior to a motion for the previous question; but pending and not after the second thereafter by the majority of the House a motion to adjourn or lay on the table, or both, are in order. Previous question.
Adjourn.
Lay on the table.
Postpone indefinitely.
Postpone definitely.
To commit.
Amendment to amendment.
Amendment.
Substitute.
Bill.

The previous question covers all other motions when seconded by a majority of the House, and proceeds by regular
