HOUSE JOURNAL,
SESSION 1885.

FIRST DAY.

House of Representatives,
Wednesday, January 7, 1885.

This being the day fixed by law for the meeting of the General Assembly of North Carolina, the members-elect of the House of Representatives meet in the hall of their House at 12 M., and are called to order by John D. Cameron, Principal Clerk of the preceding House, as by law required and directed.

The counties are called in order, and the following gentlemen, members-elect, come forward and the oaths of office are administered by C. B. Root, Esq., a magistrate of the county of Wake, and they take their seats as members of this body:

In the prosecution of the act of qualification, it was announced that Mr. Gulley of Franklin county, Mr. Mayo of Pitt county, Mr. McRae of Robeson county, and Mr. Beaman and Mr. Robinson of Sampson county, are present in this House, but without certificates, and they are directed by the Clerk to stand aside for the present, and until the will of the House shall have been ascertained in regard to their admission to their seats.

When the county of Northampton is called, Mr. Lockey gives notice of contest by Mr. George H. Parker and N. R. Rawls for the seats of Mr. James W. Grant and James H. Edwards, to whom certificates of election were awarded. The Clerk informed the House that the matter would be referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections when such committee shall be appointed; and then Messrs. Grant and Edwards are admitted to the oaths of qualification.

The Clerk then calls the attention of the House to the cases of the gentlemen aforesaid who appeared without their certificates, and suggests that as the legal election of these gentlemen was a matter of public notoriety, was generally admitted and was not contested, a motion to admit them to their seats without the present presentation of said certificates was in order. Such motion is made by Mr. Stanford, and is unanimously adopted, and the gentlemen are then duly qualified.

The roll of the House is then called; the Clerk declares there is a quorum present, and announces that the first business before the House is the election of Speaker, and that nominations are in order.

Mr. Busbee nominates Mr. Thomas M. Holt, of Alamance, and Mr. Jones, of Buncombe, seconds the nomination.

The Speaker announces that the next business in order is the election of Principal Clerk, and that nominations are in order.

Mr. Overman rises to a question of personal privilege in relation to matters connected with the Secretary of State, and presents the following paper, which, on his motion, is ordered to be entered upon the Journal:

"The recital in the preamble to an act entitled 'An act in relation to the spring term of Davie superior court,' ratified 28th February, 1885, that the Secretary of State had failed to notify the judge assigned to hold the courts of the seventh judicial district of the changes made in the time of holding the spring term of Davie superior court, as provided in an act ratified on the — day of January, 1885, does injustice to the Secretary of State in this particular: in the assertion that the failure of the judge in question to receive notification of said change was due to the Secretary of State.

"The facts are that the act referred to did not make it the duty of the Secretary of State to notify any one of its passage, but it being important that special notice should be given of it, the Secretary, in accordance with the habit of his office in such cases, had the act printed for the purpose, and, through his clerk, mailed copies thereof to all officers interested, including the judge in question, whose copy was mailed, directed to him at his usual place of residence.

"The act was deposited in the Secretary's office on Friday, 23d January, 1885, and the printed copies thereof mailed, as stated, on Monday, 26th January. The time fixed for holding the court was Monday, 23d February, 1885.

"Having introduced the bill referred to, and having no purpose to attach any blame to the Secretary of State, I deem it an act of justice to him to have this statement spread upon the record as a reply to any seeming reflection upon him."

Mr. Leazar presents a protest on the part of Mr. Pearson, a member of this House, but not in his seat during this morning's session, in regard to the action of the House on the report of the committee appointed to conduct the Pearson-McAden investigation.

The report is read and ordered to be spread upon the Journal, as follows:

"In the exercise of my constitutional right, I ask that the following protest be entered upon the Journal of this House:

I respectfully protest against the report which the House adopted last evening in the matter of personal privilege, for the reason that I consider said report inconsistent with itself, and its adoption by the House inconsistent with the dignity of the House, inconsistent with the immemorial privileges of its members, inconsistent with the interests of peaceable government.

In the first part of the report, the committee find that the words used by me were parliamentary. In five minutes after these words were uttered, I was questioned by an individual whose name I had not called, whom I did not consider as even remotely connected with the matter on which I had risen to a question of personal privilege."
For declining to retract the words which I had spoken in debate, or to construe them, or to gloss them to suit the pleasure of this individual, I received a blinding blow in the face, which has kept me supine ever since.

I was assaulted because I chose to exercise the poor privilege of ignoring an anonymous newspaper article, absolutely impertinent to the question in debate.

The action of the House in the premises I consider tantamount to an absolution from the obligations which men owe to civil government and the duties which they owe to society.

RICHMOND PEARSON.

"Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

Our work here is about over for the present, but its influence for good, we trust, will long permeate society. We are about to separate and return to our constituents, whose interests we have endeavored to promote, in the belief that we have done the best we could.

We have endeavored to redeem our pledges to the people, and serve their interests to the best of our ability, with all the lights before us.

Some things may have been done amiss, and some of importance omitted; but perfection is not given to human wisdom. Our deliberations generally, I am glad to say, have been characterized by harmony; and always by fidelity and patriotic motives.

The responsible duties of the Speakership have been made comparatively easy by your uniform sympathy and support on all occasions; and I am proud to say that my personal and official relations with every member of the House are, and have been, pleasant and agreeable. As long as life lasts, I shall recur to my associations here, and the events of the session, with pride and satisfaction. Nothing has disturbed our harmony, and nothing shall destroy our pleasant remembrances.
I wish each and every one of you a safe return to your homes, and a long life of continued usefulness and prosperity; and in parting, I beg leave to express the hope that the rich inheritance of political freedom, constitutional liberty, religious tolerance and social prosperity bequeathed us by our ancestors may be transmitted unimpaired to our posterity.

God bless you, one and all."

And then the Speaker declares this House adjourned sine die.

THOMAS M. HOLT,
Speaker.

J. D. CAMERON,
Principal Clerk.
1. It shall be the duty of the Speaker to invite the pastors of the several churches of this city, and other ministers of the gospel, under such arrangements as they may make among themselves, to perform the service of prayer at the opening of the daily sessions of the House.

2. He shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House on the preceding day adjourned; shall immediately call the members to order, and on the appearance of a quorum, cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read.

3. He shall preserve order and decorum, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House.

4. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

5. Questions shall be put in this form, namely: "Those in favor (as the question may be) will say aye," and after the affirmative voice has been expressed, "Those opposed will say no." Upon a call for a division, the Speaker shall count; if required, he shall appoint tellers.

6. The Speaker shall examine and correct the Journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the hall. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the Chair; but substitution shall not extend beyond one day, except in case of sickness or by leave of the House.

7. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially ordered by the House.

8. In all elections the Speaker may vote. In other cases he shall not vote unless the House is equally divided; in case of such equal division, he shall decide the question.
9. All acts, addresses and resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker, and all warrants and subpoenas issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Clerk.

10. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

11. No person except members of the Senate, officers and clerks of the two Houses of the General Assembly, judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts, officers of the State, persons particularly invited by the Speaker or some member, and such gentlemen as have been members of either House of the Legislature or of a convention of the people of the State, shall be admitted within the hall of the House.

12. Reporters wishing to take down debates may be admitted by the Speaker, who shall assign such places to them on the floor or elsewhere, to effect their object, as shall not interfere with the convenience of the House.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

13. After the reading of the Journal of the preceding day, the House shall proceed to business in the following order, viz.:

(1). The receiving of petitions, memorials and papers addressed to the General Assembly or to the House.
(2). Reports of standing committees.
(3). Reports of select committees.
(4). Resolutions.
(5). Bills.
(6). The unfinished business of the preceding day.
(7). Bills, resolutions, petitions, memorials, messages and other papers on the Calendar, in their exact numerical order, unless displaced by the orders of the day; but motions and messages to elect officers shall always be in order.
14. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address the Speaker.

15. When the Speaker shall call a member to order, the member shall sit down; as also he shall when called to order by another member, unless the Speaker decide the point of order in his favor. By leave of the House a member called to order may clear a matter of fact, or explain, but shall not proceed in debate so long as the decision stands, but by permission of the House. Any member may appeal from the decision of the Chair, and if, upon appeal, the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, he shall not, except by leave of the House; and if the case, in the judgment of the House, require it, he shall be liable to its censure.

16. When two or more members rise at the same time, the Speaker shall name the member to speak.

17. No member shall speak more than twice on the main question, nor longer than thirty minutes for the first speech and fifteen minutes for the second speech; nor shall he speak more than once upon an amendment or motion to commit or postpone, and then not longer than ten minutes. But the House may, by consent of a majority, suspend the operation of this rule during debate.

18. Whilst the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, no person shall speak, stand up, walk out or across the House; nor when a member is speaking entertain private discourse, stand up, or pass between him and the Chair.

19. No member shall vote on any question in the case when he was not present when the question was put by the Speaker, except by the consent of the House. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no member without the bar shall be counted.

20. Every member who shall be in the hall of the House when the question is put, shall give his vote, upon a call of the ayes and noes, unless the House for special reasons shall excuse him, and no application to be excused from voting or to explain a vote shall be entertained unless made before the call of the roll. The hall of the House shall include the lobbies, gallery and offices connected with the hall.

21. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker, or if written, it shall be handed to the chair and read aloud by the Speaker or Clerk before debate.

22. Every motion shall be reduced to writing if the Speaker or any two members desire it.

23. After a motion is stated by the Speaker or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn before a decision or amendment, except in case of a motion to reconsider, which motion, when made by a member, shall be deemed and taken to be in possession of the House, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.

24. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received, but to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged, and no motion to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, being decided, shall be again allowed on the same day and at the same stage of the bill or proposition.

25. A motion to adjourn or lay on the table shall be decided without debate, and a motion to adjourn shall always be in order except when the House is voting or some member is speaking, but a motion to adjourn shall not follow a motion to adjourn, until debate or some business of the House has intervened.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted on again during the session, except upon a two-thirds vote.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the same shall admit of it, which shall be determined by the Speaker.
28. When a motion has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or succeeding day, unless it may have already passed the Senate, and no motion to reconsider shall be taken from the table except by a two-thirds vote.

29. When the reading of a paper is called for, which has been read in the House, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.

30. Petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House shall be presented by the Speaker, or by a member in his place; a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be verbally made by the introducer, and shall not be debated or decided on the day of their being first read, unless the House shall direct otherwise, but shall lie on the table, to be taken up in the order they were read.

31. When the ayes and noes are called for on any question, it shall be on motion before the question is put; and if seconded by one-fifth of the members present, the question shall be decided by the ayes and noes; and in taking the ayes and noes, or on a call of the House, the names of the members will be taken alphabetically.

32. Decency of speech shall be observed, and personal reflections carefully avoided.

33. Any member, after the expiration of the morning hour, may rise to a question of personal privilege; but if the question of privilege be decided against him, he shall not proceed, unless the ruling of the Speaker be reversed by the House.

34. Any fifteen members, including the Speaker, shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members.

35. No member or officer of the House shall absent himself from the service of the House without leave, unless from sickness or inability.

36. Any member may excuse himself from serving on any committee if he is a member of two standing committees.
37. If any member shall be necessarily absent on temporary business of the House when a vote is taken upon any question, upon entering the House he shall be permitted, on request, to vote, provided that the result shall not be thereby affected.

38. No standing rule or order shall be rescinded or altered without one day's notice given on the motion thereof, and to sustain such motion two-thirds of the House shall be required.

39. The members of this House shall, uncover their heads upon entering the hall whilst the House is in session, and shall continue so uncovered during their continuance in the hall, except Quakers.

40. A motion to reconsider shall be determined by a majority vote, except a motion to reconsider an indefinite postponement, or of the tabling of a motion to reconsider, which shall require a two-thirds vote.

COMMITTEES.

41. At the commencement of the session a standing committee shall be appointed on each of the following subjects, namely:

- On Rules;
- On Propositions and Grievances;
- On Claims;
- On Privileges and Elections;
- On Judiciary;
- On Internal Improvements;

- On Corporations;
- On Railroads, Postroads and Turnpikes;

On Fish Interests;
To be appointed by the Speaker, and the first announced on each committee shall be chairman. In addition to the above standing committees, the Speaker shall appoint another (two members from each judicial district), to be denominated the Committee on Private Bills.

42. In forming a Committee of the Whole House, the Speaker shall leave the chair, and a chairman to preside in committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

43. Upon bills submitted to a Committee of the Whole House, the bill shall be first read throughout by the Clerk, and then again read and debated by sections, leaving the preamble to be last considered. The body of the bill shall not be defaced or interlined; but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the Clerk, on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee; and so reported to the House. After report, the bill shall again be subject to be debated and amended by sections, before a question on its passage be taken.

44. The rules of proceeding in the House shall be observed in a Committee of the Whole House, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking and the previous question.

45. In a Committee of the Whole House, a motion that the committee rise shall always be in order, except when a member is speaking, and shall be decided without debate.

46. Every bill shall be introduced by motion, for leave, or by order of the House, or on the report of a committee.

47. Every bill shall receive three several readings in the House previous to its passage, and the Speaker shall give notice at each, whether it be its first, second or third reading.
48. The Speaker shall refer all bills and resolutions, upon their introduction, to the appropriate committee, unless otherwise ordered.

49. The Clerk of the House shall keep a separate calendar of the public and private bills; and shall number them in the order in which they are introduced; and all bills shall be disposed of in the order they stand upon the calendar, except otherwise specially ordered. No public bill shall be twice read on the same day without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members.

50. All resolutions which may grant money out of the treasury, or such as shall be of a public nature, shall be treated, in all respects, in a similar manner with public bills.

51. The Clerk of the House shall be deemed to continue in office until another is appointed.

52. Upon the motion of any member, there shall be a call of the House, a majority of the members present assenting thereto, and upon a call of the House, the names of the members shall be called over by the Clerk and the absentees noted, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over. The doors shall then be closed, and those from whom no excuse or sufficient excuses are made, may, by order of those present, if fifteen in number, be taken into custody as they appear, or may be sent for and taken into custody wherever to be found by special messenger appointed for that purpose.

PREVIOUS QUESTION.

53. The previous question shall be as follows: "Shall the main question be now put?" and until it is decided shall preclude all amendments and debates. If this question shall be decided in the affirmative, the "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution, or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending, the question shall be taken upon such amendments in their order without further debate or amendment. If such question be decided in the negative, the main question shall be considered as remaining under debate: Provided, that no one shall move the previous question except the member submitting the report on the bill or other matter under consideration, the member introducing the bill or other matter under consideration, and the author of a minority report upon such report.

When the motion for the previous question is made, and pending the second thereto by a majority, debate shall cease, and only a motion to adjourn or to lay on the table shall be in order, which motions shall be put as follows: Previous question; adjourn; lay on the table. After a motion for the previous question is made, and pending a second thereto, any member may give notice that he desires to offer an amendment to the bill or other matter under consideration; and after the previous question is seconded, such member shall be entitled to offer his amendment in pursuance of such notice.

JOINT RULES.

1. Each house shall transmit to the other all papers on which any bill or resolution shall be forwarded.

2. When a bill or resolution which shall have passed in one house shall be rejected in the other, notice thereof shall be given to the house in which the same may have passed.

3. Messages from one house to the other shall be communicated by their clerks respectively, unless the house transmitting the message shall especially direct otherwise.

4. It shall be in the power of either house to amend any amendment made by the other to any bill or resolution.

5. In every case of difference between the two houses, upon any subject of legislation, either house may request a conference and appoint a committee for the purpose, and the other shall also appoint a committee to confer. The committee shall meet at such time and place as shall be appointed by the chairman of the committee on the part of the house requesting such committee. The conference shall state to each other verbally, or in writing, as either shall choose, the views of their respective houses, and confer freely thereon. The committee shall report in writing, and shall be authorized to report such modifications or amendments as they may think advisable. But no committee on conference shall consider or report on any matters except those directly at issue between the two houses.

The papers shall be left with the conferees of the house assenting to such conference, and they shall present the report of the committee to their house; when such house shall have acted thereon, they shall transmit the same and the papers relating thereto to the other, with a message certifying its action thereon.

6. It shall be in order for either house to recede from any subject-matter of difference existing between the two houses, at any time previous to conference, whether the papers on which such difference arose are before the house receding formally or informally, and on such vote to recede, the same number shall be required to constitute a quorum to act thereon and to assent to such receding, as was required on the original question out of which the difference arose.

7. All joint committees of the two houses and all committees of conference shall consist of three Senators and five members of the House of Representatives, unless otherwise specially ordered by concurrent resolution.

8. There shall be printed on joint order, unless otherwise specified, two hundred and twenty copies of all messages from the Governor, all reports of standing or select committees, and all reports or communications made in pursuance of law.

9. When the same document shall, by separate orders, be directed to be printed by both houses, it shall be regarded as but one joint order, unless otherwise expressly directed by either house.

10. The Clerk of each house shall receive from the Public Printer all matter ordered by their respective houses, and shall keep a book and enter therein the time of reception by him of every such bill or document, and the number of copies received, and shall cause each and any of such bills or documents to be immediately placed upon the desks of the members.

11. The two hundred and twenty copies of messages from the Governor, reports of committees, and reports or communications made in pursuance of law, ordered to be printed by section eight, shall be distributed as follows: to the Senate, seventy copies; to the House of Representatives, one hundred and fifty copies.

12. The Committee on Enrolled Bills shall not report any bill, resolution or amendment to any bill or resolution, nor shall the presiding officer of either House sign the same, in which there shall be any interlineation or erasure whatever.

13. There shall be joint standing committees, consisting of three members of the Senate and five members of the House of Representatives, on the following subjects:

(2). On Library.
(3). On Enrolled Bills.
(4). On Printing.
(5). On Election of Justices of the Peace.
