Representative Jones, for the Committee on Rules and Operation of the House, reports the Journal of yesterday has been examined and found correct. Upon his motion, the Journal is approved as written.

Leaves of absence are granted to Representatives Frye, Lawing, and Smith for today.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Jordan addresses the House on a point of personal privilege and requests that his remarks be recorded in the Journal.

"Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

Many of us who served in the 1967 Session will recall the time when the Honorable George Clark spoke to a point of personal privilege concerning the dubious treatment of one of his bills. During that point Mr. Clark had to be restrained in accordance with Rule 12b. I'm stating in advance that my remarks here are not intended to abridge that rule.

However, early in this reconvened Session I introduced two bills, House Bill 1501 and House Bill 1502, which deal with disclosure of participants and finances in corporations, partnerships, proprietorships, etc. who are doing business with State and local governments. Both these measures were killed in the Rules Committee yesterday on a tie vote with the chairman breaking the tie against the bills.

"That left several options open to me which I do not intend to exercise at this juncture, however, those being presentation of a minority report (with a roll call vote) or a motion to remove the bills from the unfavorable calendar (with a roll call vote). Having served two terms here I know just exactly how far both propositions would proceed and I, for one, am opposed to the pursuit of useless causes and wasting time.

"The point I want to make is this, Mr. Speaker, that on the whole, due to the Watergate Scandal and the tax evasion and kickback scandal of the former Vice President, the general public in the United States has become exceptionally cynical about the honesty, the integrity and the intentions of government, both elective and appointive.

"My two bills would provide a vehicle to expose those persons with conflicts of interest who exploit the taxpayers through illegal participation in contracts and would also provide a method by which law enforcement agencies would have a better opportunity to discover financing of such arrangements by organized crime. These bills would not add any new criminal statutes to the books but would have provided more tools for law enforcement agencies to work with.

"Sadly, though, it is apparent that this General Assembly does not want to do anything substantive within the realm of disclosure, legislative ethics or reordering our outlook on conflicts of interest.

"I do not pose this matter as one of a partisan nature, however, but simply as an observation of my point of view.

"Mr. Speaker, I request these remarks be recorded in the Journal."

Representative Jones addresses the House on a point of personal privilege and requests that his remarks be recorded in the Journal.

"Mr. Speaker:

"With respect to the remarks made earlier today concerning the treatment of House Bills 1501 and 1502 in the Rules Committee, I wish to state that the bills were first mentioned briefly at an earlier meeting of the Rules Committee but not taken up since Representative Jordan was not present at the meeting even though he is a member of the Rules Committee. He was duly notified that the bills would be taken up at yesterday's Rules Committee meeting, and he came prepared to discuss the bills. He did not request a Public Hearing and proceeded with his presentation, including distribution of printed material to support his position.

"The 14 members present at the meeting consisted of 8 Democrats and 6 Republicans. The vote for some unknown reason was along party lines with one Democrat supporting the 6 Republicans to create a 7 to 7 tie. Certainly the bill has absolutely no partisanship aspects but it would have required extensive material to be filed by any corporation transacting any business of any nature with N. C. or any municipal or county government or branch thereof. In addition, any person, firm, partnership, company or corporation or public utility regulated by the state, county, municipality or agency thereof through license or franchise or which received grants, loans or payments of any kind from state or local government, including recipients of Social Services, Welfare, etc., would be required to file a disclosure statement each year with the Secretary of State giving the names and addresses of all stockholders and persons who had any financial interest in the business during the previous calendar year as well as those having current financial interest. Non-profit corporations and businesses transacting less than $5,000 with the government would be exempt. This would be a public record with copies to be furnished to anyone upon request. House Bill 1502 would have required every person, business, company, etc., transacting any business with the state, city or municipal government or any agency thereof to file not later than April 15 of each year the name and address of all sources of financing in the form of loans and the date and amount of the loan. Such information would be public record subject to inspection by every citizen and copies to be furnished upon request to anyone. A failure to file this report by April 15 of each year would be a misdemeanor punishable by fine or imprisonment or both. It would be the duty of the sole proprietor, each partner in a partnership, all the officers and secretary of a firm, company or corporation to file this information. The act would be effective upon ratification meaning that if it passed this session before April 15 all these people involved and corporations and officers would have to get this voluminous information to the Secretary of State before April 15th or be subject to fine and imprisonment. Since these bills are of a disclosure nature involving ethics, they were sent to the Rules Committee which generally consider ethics matters. A motion was made to send the bills to a Judiciary Committee but since there were lawyers in the Rules Committee, including the Chairman, it was felt that further transferal of these bills would cause unnecessary delay of this session of the General Assembly. The bills were discussed as thoroughly as anyone wished to discuss them and then reported unfavorably."

"I am opposed to House Bill 1724 relating to Wilkes County Alcohol Beverage Control Laws. After much work the General Assembly developed a uniform statewide A. B. C. law which should be supported. In debate on the floor this bill was shown to be in conflict with recent court decisions. It is also an attempt to pass an ex post facto law violating the State Constitution, is also an attempt to interfere with contractual rights in violation of the Federal Constitution, is also an attempt to regulate trade by a local act in violation of the State Constitution. The General Assembly has wisely preempted the field of alcohol beverage control by statewide law. This statement is made as part of the Journal Record under the rights granted a member of the House of Representatives pursuant to the State Constitution."

FURTHER AMEND on page 6, line 25, by striking out the words "upon ratification" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "July 1, 1974."

On motion of Representative Jones, the following tribute to Representative Hunter Warlick is recorded in the Journal.

TRIBUTE TO A STATESMAN
George Hunter Warlick
by Robert Q. Beard
April 5, 1974

I first met Hunter Warlick six years ago at a breakfast meeting arranged by a mutual friend, Martin Pannell. Hunter had already announced that he would be a candidate for the State House of Representatives, and I had discussed my intentions of doing the same. The three of us got together on this occasion to develop plans and strategy for our forthcoming campaign. It was the first of many early morning meetings Hunter and I would be together in that 1968 campaign and later ones. Taking a lesson from the approach of Congressman Jim Broyhill, greeting workers at factory gates became a trademark of our campaigns. Starting out with the 6:30 and 7:00 a.m. shifts, we always intensified the effort to the point that, several days before election, we were hitting plant gates all over the county at many different hours of the day. One year we estimated that we had personally greeted at least 5,000 people the last three days of the campaign.

Truly, in retrospect, only God Himself really knows the price that was paid for those rigorous campaigns — out early in the mornings and again in the evenings, sandwiching a full day's work in between — pushing ourselves when often neither of us really felt like it. Only those who have gone through it know the strain and drain, not only on the candidate, but on the members of his family as well. It can push personal relationships to the point of breaking, and only total devotion to the goal by both the office seeker and his loved ones can hold off disaster.

A good example of his sense of responsibility and duty to the people who had elected him is the time when, during the 1971 Session, Hunter had to undergo a serious operation. It was a major surgical procedure spelled with capital letters; yet he was back at his seat in the House six weeks after the operation — a Herculean accomplishment by anyone's definition.

My respect for Hunter Warlick grew as I gradually got to know him better. The personality of this quiet, basically very private man does not hit you with the force of a cloudburst, but slowly grows on you by stages, as the first rays of dawn bring forth the light of a new day. He had the same effect on his colleagues in the General Assembly. They especially respected him for his intellectual abilities. One House member, a mutual friend, Democrat and himself a brilliant man, once said to me, "As far as sheer brain power is concerned, probably no one in the entire General Assembly can compare with Hunter Warlick." Others quickly became aware of this ability.
Governor Bob Scott in 1969 appointed him to the Local Government Study Commission, where he made a vital contribution to the extensive revisions of those statutes during the past four years.

His rigid adherence to principle was a source of both admiration and irritation to friend and foe alike.

As far as I can tell, he always voted on the basis of conviction; expediency was just not a part of his vocabulary or thinking. His dogged persistence in sticking to a position once he made up his mind earned him the affectionate title of some of his fellow legislators, “The meanest man in the General Assembly.”

It is a known fact that there is a “snowball effect” in House roll call votes; that is, if it becomes apparent that a particular bill is going to win or lose by a landslide, those farther down the alphabet will tend to vote the way everybody else is voting. After all, who wants to be an obvious loser? Nobody. Sometimes a fellow near the top of the roll — like a Beard — may vote the “wrong way” before a trend is seen to be developing and you can understand why he might have been one of only four people out of 120 to vote for or against a bill. But by the time you reach the end of the roll, where the Warlicks and the Zahners are, there is no need to get caught on the short end of a lost cause. Nevertheless, I remember the time when the tally was 113-1 with Hunter casting the lone dissenting vote. He was not being cantankerous or obstinate; that was the way he felt, and that was the way he voted.

His effectiveness as a legislator is witnessed by the fact that he is the only Republican to get a Constitutional Amendment passed during the entire twentieth century. He is also the author of pioneering legislation such as the artificial insemination bill — a subject few states have addressed themselves to as yet.

Together we had a very good record for getting local legislation passed. As freshmen in 1969, we were having extreme difficulty getting a particular assistant attorney general to draft the school board bill the way we wanted it. After about the third attempt, we began to suspect that the fellow was either exceptionally obtuse or else he was deliberately trying to sabotage our bill. Finally, Hunter sat down and drafted the bill himself. Opponents of the bill at home got a ruling from the Attorney General’s office that the bill was unconstitutional. Representative Warlick wrote the man who had written the opinion, posing four or five constitutional questions for him. In his reply, the Assistant Attorney General found himself in an indefensible position, backing down on each point and finally concluding with words that went something like this: “I probably should not have ruled that the bill was unconstitutional.” It passed both Houses without opposition.

Our theme during the ’72 campaign was, “Reelect an Effective Team”. During three terms in the General Assembly we had learned to work together to try to provide the strongest possible representation for our District. I sincerely believe that we were an effective team.
And with the victory of Jim Holshouser in the gubernatorial election and the subsequent elevation of Hunter Warlick as House Minority Leader, Catawba County was indeed in a strong position politically. Thus, when circumstances dictated Hunter's decision not to run again, it marked the end of an era in Catawba County politics.

In one of his more familiar quotes, Thoreau said, "If a man does not keep pace with his companions, perhaps it is because he hears a different drummer. Let him step to the music he hears, however measured or far away." Hunter is such a man as this. I have never known anyone whose life corresponded so closely with the principles he believed in. Such a near harmony between principle and practice is exceedingly rare. It takes a lot of courage to march to the music one hears in the inner soul when there are so many conflicting voices outside. Hunter has dared to do this — and in the process he has given us all something enduring and worthwhile.

He has made a notable contribution to the life of our State and our community, and has left an indelible mark in the lives of all of us who have had the privilege of knowing him in his public life. Not the least of these contributions is the fact that, at a time when politics and the public regard for politicians is at an all-time low ebb, this man is the personification of integrity and living proof that politics can be an honorable profession.

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER
April 13, 1974

Mr. Speaker:

You are respectfully advised that the business of the Senate has been concluded and that Body will be ready to open the doors of the Senate immediately upon receipt of information from your Honorable Body that you are ready to open your doors, that the gavels may fall simultaneously and adjournment may be declared sine die.

Respectfully,

S/ Roy Rowe
Principal Clerk

The doors of the House are ordered opened. The President of the Senate is perceived standing, ready to let fall the gavel.

Representative Jones is recognized for the following statement and motion.

"This General Assembly had 3,700 bills introduced. Of these, 1,675 were ratified and 2,025 were not ratified. The 1973-74 Legislature was in session a total of 161 days which compares with 165 legislative days in the 1971 session.

"Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House: In memory of those who began this session in 1973 but are not now present and in honor of those here now who for various reasons will not return to the halls of this House and with deep and sincere appreciation for the outstanding leadership provided by our Speaker, the Honorable James E. Ramsey, I now move that this House do adjourn sine die."

The motion to adjourn having been made by Representative Jones, seconded by Representative Watkins, and pursuant to the Joint Resolution fixing the hour of adjournment of the 1973-74 Session of the General Assembly, sine die, the House having completed the business before it, and the hour having arrived for adjournment, the Speaker of the House sounds the gavel and declares the House of the 1973-74 Session of the General Assembly of North Carolina adjourned sine die.
This marks the beginning of a new year — and of a new experience in North Carolina government. It’s a beginning . . . and a continuation. For the first time, a Governor of this State stands before a legislature that has convened for a second year in succession to conduct a full order of business for the people of North Carolina.

But this is not a “new” General Assembly, not in the traditional sense. This session is not a new session, but a continuation of the work we began a year ago.

Therefore, to know where we are going this year, it is important, more important than ever, that we pause for a moment and reflect on where we have been.

1973 will be long remembered in North Carolina. Some people may remember it as a year of political change. But I believe that 1973 will be remembered more as a year of challenges met and opportunities realized.

When the last word is written about 1973, I believe it will be remembered first and foremost for the many things that we accomplished together — accomplishments of which we can justly be proud.

When you recessed last spring, you left an enviable record behind you.

1973 brought the most progressive public education program in the history of our State.

We made 1973 a landmark year for public kindergartens in North Carolina.

You established by law a maximum class size for each teacher, creating an atmosphere in which the student is assured that he will get the personal attention from his teacher that every child needs and deserves.

We began the task of providing our schools with $300 million for new school construction and renovations, and the voters of our State overwhelmingly completed that task in November.

Our contributions to public education did not stop at the high school level. The tremendous boost given our community college system was the first major change in meeting that system’s capital needs since it was established in 1963.

The 1973 record of achievement was not in education alone, however.
We recognized that North Carolina had lagged far behind in our State parks, and began a major thrust to establish a system of State parks and green areas for all our people.

You approved the largest budget increase in history for mental health.

In the field of corrections, we made a real head start in prison reform, implementing a number of the recommendations made by the State Bar Association's special study committee.

These are just a few of the contributions this legislature made to our State's march forward in 1973—contributions that will vitally improve the quality of life for the people we all serve. There were many others.

As a legislature, you made a great beginning in 1973—but only a beginning. The record of this General Assembly is not yet completed.

You return to Raleigh facing a new set of circumstances and a situation clouded with uncertainties. The energy crisis holds the potential for having the greatest impact on our economy since World War II, and unfortunately, the worst problems may lie ahead.

But let us not use the energy crisis as an excuse to retrench or retreat from our responsibilities to the people of North Carolina.

Rather, let us adopt as our guide the ancient Chinese symbol for crisis. That symbol has two parts: one representing "danger," the other standing for "opportunity."

The people expect this legislature to move this year with an awareness of the potential dangers that could result from the energy crisis. But they also expect us to continue moving forward—to continue the agenda for progress that was begun in 1973.

The people expect us to continue this advancement because they know we are in a race against time.

People who observe politics are fond of the saying: "After all is said and done, more has been said than has been done."

Let not that be said of this legislature.

Let us make a distinction between the kind of problem that merely threatens our convenience and the kind of problem that challenges the best in us because it really does threaten the very quality and integrity of our life as a people.

Let us resist the temptation to do too little simply because we can't do everything.

There are things that cry out to be done, and they are things that we can do.

In the field of education, I urge you to continue to build on the solid blocks that we erected in 1973. The proposed budget submitted to you today shows some of the steps that we must take.
I urge you to adopt the second step of the kindergarten program, making this opportunity available to twice as many children.

Let us recognize that we are not meeting the needs of our exceptional children. These are special children who require special programs. I recommend to you a major expansion in special education programs at a cost of over $8 million.

I also urge you to adopt other budget proposals for our children, including $5.7 million to provide for a strong increase in counseling and health services in our schools and $1.3 million to establish a comprehensive child health screening and information system for pre-schoolers.

State government reorganization has given us a more effective tool with which to deal with these programs, and I urge you to give it an opportunity to succeed rather than attempting to create a major new department to deal with all the varied problems of one segment of our population.

Recognizing the increasingly important role that our community colleges and technical institutes play in our educational system, let us continue to move forward in expanding and improving their ability to perform that role. We took major steps last year, and I recommend to you now another $10 million in capital improvement funds for these institutions.

If there is anything more important than a person’s ability to obtain a quality education, it’s his ability to maintain good health and to receive adequate medical care when he needs it.

It’s a problem, but it presents an opportunity if we meet it with boldness, wisdom and imagination.

It is a complex problem, one that has several parts. In sheer numbers, we don’t have enough doctors. Particularly, we don’t have enough doctors in the primary care fields — family doctors.

But an equally important part of the problem — one that is shared by other states and other countries around the world — is the distribution of doctors. While some of our cities are able to maintain an adequate ratio of doctors and patients, others are having problems, and many rural areas are still not able to attract physicians.

To help solve this problem of educating more doctors and the distribution of doctors, an exciting proposal is being offered to the people of this State. This proposal gives us the opportunity of moving into the forefront of the nation in getting medical care to the people — not just the people in the cities, not just the people with a lot of money, but people all across North Carolina.

This program will spread medical education centers across the State. By expanding our system of Area Health Education Centers, doctors and related health personnel will be receiving training at numerous locations instead of having medical education concentrated almost totally in Winston-Salem, Durham and Chapel Hill.
We will have medical students, interns and residents getting a major part of their training at such places as Asheville, Roanoke Rapids, Charlotte, Rocky Mount, Fayetteville, Tarboro, Greensboro, Wilson, Raleigh, Wilmington, Greenville and others.

Because our system of rural health clinics can be tied to these medical training centers, we will have, for the first time, an opportunity and a system to bring adequate health care to all our people.

Not only does this proposal make tremendous inroads into the problems of distribution and location of our physicians, it also deals directly with the problem of getting more doctors.

Indeed, under plans already being implemented, the number of North Carolinians enrolled in medical schools in this State will more than double during the present decade. In fact, that number of North Carolina medical students will rise from less than 400 to nearly 1,000 by 1980.

Medical residencies are still the key, however. It's been clearly shown that the best way to attract and hold doctors is by influencing where they do their residencies — a step that comes after formal medical school work is completed.

Under this proposal, the entire State will be used to provide the clinical training ground that medical education requires.

If we want more doctors out there on the firing line, treating the people of the State, this proposal offers the fastest and least expensive way to do it. This exciting new proposal will almost double the number of doctors practicing in North Carolina within 16 years.

I urge you to adopt it, together with the recommended expansion in the rural health program.

This is a problem of health care delivery, but it's also a problem of medical education within our university system — a system which needs and deserves our support.

Just a little over two years ago, as our special session drew to a close, a legislator from Watauga County rose from his seat in this chamber and talked about our actions in that session, saying that something great had just been accomplished in higher education in North Carolina.

What I said then is just as true today.

I was never more proud of the General Assembly than I was on that October day in 1971 when I saw personal and sectional considerations put aside in statesmanship to create something truly fine for our State — a new governing system for higher education.

Those of you who were here in 1971 stood and applauded those words, not in tribute to the man who said them but in tribute to what they represented.
But you'll recall that I also said the real test of whether our finest hour would survive would come in the next General Assembly — this General Assembly.

I urge you with all of the strength I have to keep faith with our university system.

Our Board of Governors is a young body, but it is already demonstrating a sense of accountability and responsibility in our higher education system.

When you say in 1974 that you are still willing to place your confidence in that Board of Governors to operate the finest state-supported system of higher education in the country, you will have passed that test — and passed it with flying colors.

And I will say again that never have I been more proud of the General Assembly.

These proposals regarding health care are extremely important, but they are just part of a major package designed to increase our capacity to meet all the health needs — mental and physical — of our people.

These recommendations include over a million dollars to help build a much-needed burn center at North Carolina Memorial Hospital and almost two million dollars to improve emergency medical services.

This budget also includes twelve and a half million dollars in State matching funds which will provide a $48 million increase in Medicaid payments made necessary by rising costs and more eligible recipients.

In the area of mental health, where we know we've got to run hard to catch up, the package of recommendations includes $9 million to improve State support of community-based programs and another $3 million for the construction of facilities required by these local and area programs. I urge your support of the recommendation for an additional $5.5 million to add over 600 staff members in our mental institutions and to improve the supportive services that will enable our patients to receive better care.

It has become increasingly clear that the emotional strain of the time in which we live is taking its toll on our people. Of the North Carolinians who are patients in hospitals today, far too large a number of them are hospitalized for one form or another of mental illness.

One important tool in this battle is the availability of sound counseling services in the communities across our State. An exciting program for the training of counselors and for the providing of facilities at the local level is included in this budget.

This proposal has a tremendous potential, and I urge you to approve it. It does not have a large price tag, but it could very well be the most important money we can spend.

All of these health and mental health programs are designed to correct some of the shortcomings we find as we examine the needs of North Carolina. As we pause and take a hard look at ourselves and our society, we also see other ills that are begging for a cure.

It was not until recent years that we faced up to the fact that if we are to have the system of law, order and justice that we all want and need, we've got to have law enforcement officers that are adequately paid and properly trained. But once having recognized that need, we have moved surely and firmly in seeing that it is met.

The Criminal Justice Training and Standards Council has provided us with a yardstick to measure the qualifications we want in our law enforcement officers. In 1973, we established a minimum salary level for local law enforcement officers across our State. And plans are well under way for the establishment of a criminal justice training center.

But our system of criminal justice is composed of many parts. To neglect any of them is to weaken the entire system.

More and more we've come to recognize that our correction system can be one of our very best tools for law and order if we give it the proper support, the right direction and the kind of facilities it needs. We already know that almost half of our prisoners today are repeaters. They've been there before — maybe several times — and they're likely to return again.

Let us recognize that when that man or woman makes that first mistake, this particular crisis situation offers us not only danger, but an opportunity — an opportunity to do what we can to help that person return to society as a useful, law-abiding citizen.

The prison reform steps you already have taken recognize the fact that building projects will never be all the answer in providing a sound corrections system. But obviously, facilities that allow for single-cell housing can play a great role in helping with the true rehabilitation of the prisoner. The type of situation in which he is confined can be a major factor in determining whether he will go back to society as a productive citizen or as a hardened, embittered person ready to strike again.

This budget recommends capital improvement appropriations of $21 million for correctional facilities, with special emphasis being placed on providing single-cell medium security units. I urge your approval of this recommendation, as well as other funding proposals that will contribute to our prison reform efforts.

You also will be considering legislation asking you to increase the State Board of Paroles from three to five members. I believe that all the evidence presents clearly the need for a larger board, and I ask you to take this step.

Finally, if we are to have a system of criminal justice that truly serves our people, we must have criminal laws and procedures that are written and applied so that there is no question that justice is being served.

In recent months, we have heard and read reports indicating there has been possible misuse or abuse by some of our courts of the sentencing procedure known as "prayer for judgment continued."
I urge you to examine the appropriate statutes and to rewrite them to assure that this sentencing device is applied only as it was originally intended — as a vehicle for mercy in special cases.

In all that you do in this session of the General Assembly — whether it be in education, health or criminal justice — it is important that you consider not only the needs of our people today, but the legacy you will leave to future generations.

Last year three bills related to land use planning were introduced in this General Assembly. Since you recessed last spring, a number of you have served on committees that have gone about the State, holding public hearings and building public support for these important proposals.

We have reached an important crossroads in North Carolina. One road leads to danger, and probably disaster. The other leads to opportunity. Let us seize this opportunity and move forward now with the kind of sound and sensible planning that will make North Carolina a model of "balanced growth."

Let us not be timid. Let us not have to face our grandchildren someday and bow our heads in shame when they ask us: "Why didn't you do something? . . ."

I urge you to move forward, too, as we did in 1973, to build a system of parks and green areas throughout North Carolina so that our children and grandchildren will have a place to go to enjoy the outdoors and the wonders of nature.

I commend to you the budget recommendations that call for an appropriation of $5 million to acquire additional land for parks and $3.6 million to develop and improve our present park sites. I also urge you to approve the Land Conservancy bill so that our State can compete in the market place for land suitable for parks — before that land is lost forever or gets a price tag that is out of reach. This bill can literally save the taxpayers millions of dollars.

We are fortunate in North Carolina — fortunate for many reasons. For one thing, we are fortunate that about two-thirds of our land is covered by forests.

Unfortunately, much of this forest land is failing to produce anything near its potential while demand for forestry products is expected to double by the year 2,000.

We should begin now to develop a set of standards that will allow for the most effective management of our forest lands under a variety of conditions and situations, within the confines of environmental protection regulations. I ask you to establish a study commission to research this problem and propose effective forestry practice standards.

All of these things we can do. Many of them will take money, but we have the money to do the job. Our Advisory Budget Commission has worked long, hard and well, and I want to express my personal appreciation to the members for a job well done.

This is a budget that enables us to do many things. But it is also a budget that was drawn with proper regard for the effects the energy crisis may have on our economy and on State revenues.

Because of the energy crisis, the Advisory Budget Commission has estimated that tax and non-tax General Fund revenues in 1974-75 will increase by less than 7 per cent — the lowest in a decade. For Highway Fund revenues, where the impact of the energy crisis may be felt more strongly, an increase of only 3.18 per cent is estimated.

The General Fund budget prepared by the Advisory Budget Commission leaves only $3.6 million unappropriated.

As we consider the use of these funds, it is essential that we provide adequate financing for the Energy Office to help us cope with this continuing problem. The mandatory fuel allocation program is requiring an immediate response on our part.

The energy crisis is an unwanted item on our agenda, but one that must be given top priority in our considerations. I hope that you will move promptly in adopting the recommendations of your Energy Crisis Study Commission for emergency powers to deal with new difficulties presented by this crisis as they may arise.

As you look at the funds we know are available, I also recommend that you revise sick leave benefits for school teachers, placing them on the same sick-days-per-month basis that we give our State employees.

These recommendations leave unspent only a very small amount of the estimated available funds. As you continue your deliberations, I hope that some of the uncertainty is removed concerning just what impact the energy crisis will have on North Carolina and, in particular, our revenue picture.

If the revenue estimates do improve, however, I urge you not to retreat from your forward march — for there are still so many needs out there in front of us.

Keep in mind the fact that in only six states in this country do the state and local governments take less from the pocketbooks of their people to support their public school systems. Remember that the quality education we want for our children can never come unless we provide the means to attract the best teachers.

If the revenues are available, I urge you to provide for additional salary increases for teachers and state employees beyond the 5 per cent that is recommended, recognizing that this 5 per cent increase is not even meeting the rise in our cost of living over the last 12 months.

The need remains for a larger allocation for single-cell units in our prison system.

Funds will be needed to implement the land management proposals.
Keep in mind that the report of the Mental Health Study Commission soon will be placed in your hands, showing us how much more needs to be done in our mental health program.

It is always a political temptation in an election year to propose tax cuts. I urge you to resist that temptation. Don’t weaken our State treasury at a time when the full impact of the energy crisis is yet to be felt. We should face the stark, cold reality that thousands of North Carolina workers could lose their jobs for lack of adequate fuel supplies.

One unfavorable ruling by one federal agency could bring disastrous consequences for many of our working people. If we should lose our fight before the Federal Power Commission regarding our natural gas allocations, it could result in plant shutdowns that would put over 80,000 North Carolinians out of work. I pledge to you today that the Governor’s Office, the Utilities Commission and the Attorney General’s office will continue to fight that battle.

But that is only part of the picture. Shortages of supplies in various types of fuels could seriously affect our industrial capacity to operate, our farmer’s ability to produce crops and livestock, and all the other segments of our economy that depend on our industrial workers’ and farmers’ ability to earn an income.

If any consideration is given to tax cuts — and obviously I believe that any such move would be unwise during this session — it should at least be postponed until we have some idea of how the energy crisis is affecting our revenue and until you have been able to examine the needs of our State.

This is indeed a time of uncertainty — a time of crisis. It’s a time of danger, but also a time of opportunity.

I believe that when we look at the entire picture, it is one of optimism and hope.

For one thing, during the past three years, a major, historic change has taken place in the governmental structure of this country.

For the first time in the lifetimes of most of us, power has stopped flowing toward Washington and has begun flowing back to the state and local governments that are closest to the people.

In this concept of the “New Federalism,” Washington is saying to us that we can solve our problems best at the state and local level.

For many years, governmental observers have been talking about the ineffectiveness of state and local governments. Now, we have the opportunity — and the responsibility — to prove that we can do the job.

We are already moving in many areas. We are one of only three states that have chosen to implement the new Occupational Safety and Health Act rather than letting Washington do it. You will shortly have recommendations made to you to assure that North Carolina is able to continue to handle the Workmen's Compensation Act rather than letting this duty move to the federal government.

I am optimistic today because we have the good fortune to be in the Southeastern part of the United States.

It's been a standard policy for politicians to talk about the greatness of the state in which they live. Yet, because of the many areas in which we have fallen behind in the statistical comparisons with other parts of the country, I am afraid that we North Carolinians have tended sometimes to underestimate our potential.

There is no question but that there are areas in which we must do better. But one fact is becoming increasingly clear. As the North Carolina industrial and trade mission toured Europe this past year, and as we talked with governmental and industrial leaders in many countries, it became clear that international leaders believe that we live in the region that offers the greatest opportunity for sound development and quality living of any area in the entire world.

That fact is recognized around the globe. The opportunity is there, if we will just recognize it.

If we will protect our assets with land management, with park development and with transportation planning ... If we will recognize that the New Federalism offers us a whole new wave of opportunities ... If we will refine our abilities to work with the federal government, with local governments and other states surrounding us ... We can and we will make North Carolina the leader of the New South and set an example for the country.

But if we are to do these things, and if we are to deal with the problems of today and tomorrow, effective government is an absolute necessity.

This legislature in 1969 began the long journey of state government reorganization. The voters of North Carolina approved the constitutional changes in 1970, and that vote was followed by the extensive work of the special study commission, the Executive Reorganization Act of 1971 and continued progress in 1973.

I urge you to finish the job of state government reorganization in this 1974 session.

For several months during 1973, the Governor's Efficiency Study Commission looked hard at state government. It has given us a blueprint for more effective use of our tax dollars.

Many of these recommended changes can be adopted administratively, and the implementation process has already begun. A number of the changes recommended will require legislative approval, and we will send a series of proposals for your consideration in the very near future.

The New Federalism demands that we make greater efforts than ever before to maintain strong ties with federal and local governments. I expect to announce within the next few days an expansion of our Office of State-Federal Relations into a new Office of Intergovernmental Relations.

This office will have the responsibility of working closely with national officials as well as leaders in local government across North Carolina.

This office also will have the responsibility of working with other states in our region, and it will include an office in Washington to maintain close relations with our congressional delegation as well as federal officials.

One of the responsibilities of the Intergovernmental Relations Office will be to monitor federal grants.

Some months ago, the State of Louisiana installed a new computerized system for tracking federal grants. They found that over a 28-month period, Louisiana had overpaid its share of federal-state matching programs by $16 million. The result was a $16 million refund from the federal government.

This is the kind of tracking effort we need in North Carolina.

I believe that this entire program represents an important step in North Carolina’s efforts to move into the forefront of the New Federalism.

There is an old saying that runs like a thread through the fabric of this country: “Necessity is the mother of invention.”

This is the spirit that has characterized the people of this State.

As we face our crisis and opportunities, let us not whimper and accuse and look for scapegoats for our problems. Let us take counsel with our courage and our faith instead of our fears.

Some of you already know that the City of Asheville has a motto that reads: “God, give us men to match our mountains.”

That’s a worthy goal. But let us paraphrase it today and ask, “God, give us men and women to match our needs and opportunities” — and then let us be such men and women.
RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, The Department of Transportation and Highway Safety and the Board of Transportation should take positive action to implement the slogan to “Help Keep North Carolina Green”; and

Whereas, it is believed that the planting of trees in the medians and along the rights-of-way of State highways would reduce the maintenance cost by approximately thirty-five percent (35%) and would add to the natural beauty and would “Help Keep North Carolina Green”; and

Whereas, the Department of Transportation and Highway Safety and the Board of Transportation should take positive steps to abate any unnecessary water and air pollution as a result of the highway; and

Whereas, one acre of forest land will provide enough oxygen in one day for eighteen people; and

Whereas, trees help stabilize the soil and prevent siltation as well as producing clean air; and

Whereas, the planting of trees on highway rights-of-way would help abate noise pollution; and

Whereas, the Department of Transportation and Highway Safety and the Board of Transportation should take positive steps to “Help Keep North Carolina Clean” and help purify the air by planting trees on the State Highway rights-of-way:

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives:

Section 1. The General Assembly of North Carolina urges the Department of Transportation and Highway Safety and the Board of Transportation to plant trees on medians and along the rights-of-way of State highways, and the Department of Agriculture is urged to cooperate with the Department of Transportation in the planting of the trees.

Sec. 2. This resolution shall become effective upon adoption.

H. R. 2053. A HOUSE RESOLUTION DIRECTING THE LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH COMMISSION TO STUDY RADIATION HAZARDS AND TO REPORT ITS FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE 1975 GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives:

Section 1. The Legislative Research Commission is hereby directed to:

(a) study radiation hazards, including hazards arising from radioactive materials, x-ray facilities, environmental radiation and emergency incidents:
(b) study and evaluate existing State government programs in North Carolina concerning radiation hazards; and

c) consider the need, if any, for further legislation and for additional support of existing or expanded programs concerning radiation hazards.

Sec. 2. In conducting its studies pursuant to this resolution, the Legislative Research Commission shall examine and evaluate previous relevant experience in North Carolina, legislation and proposals in other jurisdictions and the experience of other jurisdictions in applying such legislation. In connection with its studies, the Commission, where desirable and feasible in its judgment, may include legislators who are not members of the Commission and non-legislator members on any study subcommittee assigned these studies.

Sec. 3. The Commission shall report its findings and recommendations to the 1975 General Assembly.

Sec. 4. This resolution shall become effective upon its adoption.

H. R. 2072. A HOUSE RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING A SUBCOMMITTEE OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE TO STUDY CERTAIN TAX STATUTES.

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives:

Sec. 1. The Chairman of the House Committee on Finance, together with such subcommittee of that committee as the chairman chooses to appoint, is directed to study General Statutes Chapter 105, Article 2, Schedule B, License Taxes; General Statutes Chapter 105, Article 2C, Intoxicating Liquors Tax; and those provisions of General Statutes Chapter 20 which relate to the taxes on property-hauling vehicles.

Sec. 2. The subcommittee shall determine what changes, if any, it deems advisable in the statutes studied, and shall present to the 1975 General Assembly a bill or bills to accomplish any recommended changes, together with such supporting information and report as the subcommittee deems appropriate.

Sec. 3. The subcommittee is authorized to meet as it deems necessary between adjournment sine die of the 1974 Session and the convening of the 1975 Session of the General Assembly. Members of the subcommittee shall be paid, from funds available to the General Assembly, the regular subsistence and travel allowances provided for members of the General Assembly for interim committee service, even though some members of the subcommittee may cease to be members of the General Assembly after the November, 1974, general election.

Sec. 4. This resolution is effective upon its adoption.

H. R. 2191. A HOUSE RESOLUTION EXPRESSING CONCERN TO THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS OVER THE CURRENT FEDERAL MARITIME LAW AS IT RELATES TO INSURANCE FOR COMMERCIAL FISHERMEN.
Whereas, one of the greatest difficulties facing North Carolina commercial fishing today is the economic inability of many small business fishing operators to obtain adequate protection and indemnity insurance coverage; and

Whereas, the present high rates in maritime protection and indemnity insurance coverage are beyond the means of many small business fishing operators; and

Whereas, one of the main contributing factors that help bring about the high protection and indemnity insurance rates is the present state of the federal maritime law, with its liberal extension of liability and high level of recoveries that are inappropriate in dealing with small business commercial fishermen;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives:

Section 1. The United States Congress is reminded of North Carolina's concern over the plight of small business commercial fishermen.

Sec. 2. The United States Congress is requested to begin a review of the federal maritime law, with particular emphasis on the Jones Act, the Death on the High Seas Act, and the Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act which are designed to deal with the problems of giant vessels and which bring about such great hardship to small commercial fishermen.

Sec. 3. Copies of this resolution shall be forwarded to the North Carolina members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives, the chairmen of commercial fisheries related committees in the United States Congress, the heads of commercial fisheries related agencies of the Federal Government, and interested members of the press and general public.

Sec. 4. This resolution shall become effective upon adoption.

H. R. 2192. A HOUSE RESOLUTION TO CREATE A COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES OF STATE EMPLOYEES.

Whereas, the rights and responsibilities of State employees as set forth in the State Personnel Act and in other jurisdictions are subject to various interpretations by many people; and

Whereas, the current appeals process does not provide due process for State employees in the hearing of grievances; and

Whereas, such denial of due process takes away a basic right of State employees; and

Whereas, the Federal authorities have presently mandated a different set of rules and regulations for a large segment of State employees;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives:

Sec. 1. There is hereby created a Legislative Study Committee to be known as the "Committee on the Rights and Responsibilities of State Employees".
Sec. 2. The “Committee” shall be composed of nine members, seven of whom are to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and shall include members of both political parties. One member of the “Committee” shall be appointed by the North Carolina State Employees Association and one member appointed by the North Carolina State Government Employees Association.

Sec. 3. The “Committee” is specifically charged with a study of the present State Personnel Act as it relates to the rights afforded to State employees in the scope of their employment by the State of North Carolina. Other areas that may be studied, but are not limited to, shall include rules, regulations, policies, procedures and practices concerning employee-employer relations in the State government of North Carolina.

Sec. 4. The “Committee” shall report its findings and recommendations to the Speaker of the House of Representatives at the earliest possible date, but, in any event, no later than the first day of February, 1975.

Sec. 5. This resolution shall become effective upon adoption.

ADDENDUM

It will be noted that a number of bills and resolutions passed second reading and then were read a third time on the same day.

Rule 42(b) states:

No bill shall be read more than once in the same day without the concurrence of two-thirds (2/3) of the members present and voting.

In order to comply with this Rule, no bill which had passed its second reading is read a third time except:

(1) When a member moves that the Rule be suspended, and this motion carries by at least a two-thirds vote of the members present.

(2) When the Chair determines that there is no objection from any member present. This constitutes unanimous consent of those members present that Rule 42(b) be suspended.

In these cases, the bill is read a third time.
