EXTRA SESSION 2002

FIRST DAY

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, May 14, 2002

Pursuant to a call of His Excellency, Governor Michael F. Easley, hereinafter recorded, the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of North Carolina convenes in its Hall in Extra Session, at the hour of 1:00 o'clock p.m., Tuesday, May 14, 2002, and is called to order by the Speaker of the House, James B. Black.

The following prayer is offered by the Reverend Michael D. Frese, House Chaplain.

"Almighty God, once again we gather under the call to public service...may we gather under the call to Your service as well. Let Your Spirit so penetrate this Body that we will be led beyond trifles and trivialities to the deep matters of truth and justice. In our work, let us not settle for that which is merely legal, but strive towards that which is right. Let us not settle for that which is tolerable, but that which is equitable. May our work not only be accomplished, may it also be pleasing in Your sight. Amen."

The Speaker leads the Body in the Pledge of Allegiance.

The Reading Clerk reads the following proclamation by the Governor.

WHEREAS, the leadership of the state Senate and House are committed to adopting such plans expeditiously.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Michael F. Easley, Governor of the State of North Carolina, pursuant to the authority granted to me by Article III, Section 5(7) of the Constitution of North Carolina, by and with the advice of the Council of State, find that the circumstances stated above constitute an extraordinary occasion within the meaning of the aforesaid constitutional provision and PROCLAIM that the General Assembly is hereby convened in an extra session for the purpose of adopting new redistricting plans for the North Carolina Senate and the North Carolina House of Representatives.

This extra session shall begin the 14th day of May 2002 at 1:00 p.m. and shall continue as provided by law and the rules of each House until both Houses shall have adjourned sine die.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Representative Cox asks for a point of personal privilege and makes the following remarks:

"Today we have good news! In our gallery this morning is NC State Head Coach Kay Yow, one of the most admired and respected coaches on the international and collegiate basketball scene. Kay Yow was elected for enshrinement into the Basketball Hall of Fame on June 5, 2002. She has amassed over 568 wins in her 27 years at the helm of the NC State women's basketball program, including a trip to the Final Four in Kansas City in 1998. She eclipsed the 600-win milestone in her career on January 11, 2001, with a win over Temple in front of the Wolfpack faithful in Reynolds Coliseum. She currently ranks as the fifth most winning active Division I women's basketball coach with 514 career victories.

"As Yow celebrated her 25th season as the head coach at NC State, Mayor Paul Coble proclaimed Sunday, February 13, 2000, 'Kay Yow Day' in Raleigh. In addition to being honored with the John and Nellie Wooden Award, Yow was named the 2000 National Coach of the Year by Sports Illustrated for Women. On June 10, 2000, Yow was inducted into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame in Knoxville, Tennessee. She was part of just the second class to be inducted into the Hall.

"In addition to these accomplishments, Yow notched her 18th 20-win season in 2001, and led the Wolfpack Women to the NCAA Tournament for the seventh year straight. As Yow led the Pack to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen for the 10th time in her tenure, NC State was once again ranked in the top 25 the entire season.

"Yow has also been very successful in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Her squads are 232-119 in 25 years of play in one of the toughest conferences in the country. NC State has reached the finals in 11 of the 25 ACC Tournaments, and has captured the league title in 1980, 1985, 1987, and 1991. The Wolfpack also won the regular season ACC title in 1978, 1980, 1983, 1985, and 1990. The 1991-92 team was a high-powered offensive team, setting 13 team records, including the highest scoring average ever by a Wolfpack squad, netting an average of 91 points in 33 games.

"In her 27 years at the helm of the Wolfpack program, Yow has produced a number of great players, including 12 All-Americans and 38 All-ACC selections. In 1999, Summer Erb became the second player in the history of the program to be named ACC Player of the Year. Numerous Wolfpack players have competed on international squads, including the US Select Team, Pan-Americans, World University, and the Jones Cup. Eight of her former players have advanced to compete in the WNBA. Four former players in the 2001 WNBA Finals represented the Wolfpack.

"In 2002, Coach Yow received the Star Award from the Women's Center of Wake County. Last year's recipient, Chancellor Marye Anne Fox, who is seated beside her in the gallery, presented the award. The award is given to recognize the achievements of individuals in the corporate community whose actions have made a positive impact on the lives of women and their families in the community.

"Coach Yow is a winner; she is a role model for us all. And now she is a Hall of Famer."

And though we know this to be true in our mind's eye, we are, indeed, a people who have quite a bit of difficulty waiting for anything. This is especially true in our particular context of the political process of redistricting. Grant unto us that which we are unable to give ourselves, and offer us Your divine gift of patience as we wait to see who, what, where, how...and, indeed why? "Gracious God:

June 27, 2002

"We thank you for the simple gifts of life like sunshine and rain. We especially thank You for the much needed rain yesterday and today. Lord, we recognize that our prayers are not mere incantations through which we can manipulate Your sovereignty. Furthermore, we understand that You do not jump at the sound of our every request. Prayer is indeed a mystery to us and we do not, nor can we, believe to know the workings of God. Yet, mysteriously, through faith, we believe that You do, indeed, hear us when we call out unto Thee. Our prayers contain the expressions of our hearts, our desires and our needs. So, we ask boldly Most Merciful God, that You hear us when we pray. Pour out Your grace upon us when we call. Give our hearts ears to listen, not to the sound of our own voices, but to the whispers of heaven. Amen."

The following prayer is offered by the Reverend Jim Harry, House Chaplain:

"Almighty God:

"It is always easier for those outside looking in to criticize and complain. It even helps to sell stories and newspapers. There is no doubt that this Body needs to be held accountable for its work. And, there is no question that when partisanship and acrimony defeats compromise that people outside looking in will question our motives. But, our prayer this day, is that You would assure all of these people involved in the daily grind of tough decision making know that if they are true to their calling, they can and will persevere. There are no easy answers. And, as we debate, the questions will undoubtedly become more difficult. Enable this Body to be up to the task and grant unto them the wisdom to handle the oncoming pressures of the public. Teach us, O God, that even in the tough times, even in the lean God, remind us of who is really sitting at the Potter's wheel molding and shaping the clay. You are the Master Potter and we are the clay. Mold us and make us after Thy will. For many of us, the idea of prayer can be something akin to letting a genie out of a bottle or summoning a bellhop to carry our bags. Show us how much we trivialize prayer when we underestimate its power. Dear God, we need a fresh anointing of what it means when we seek Your divine nature. We need a new understanding of assurance that when we bow reverently before You, we really are touching the hem of Your garments. So, we ask You to move within our hearts and help us to take prayer seriously. And, we boldly ask You to have mercy upon us and hear our prayers according to Your steadfast love...the love for Your children and our petitions. Amen."

"Scripture reads, 'There is a time for everything and a season for every activity under heaven' (Ecclesiastes 3:1). You, of all people, know that we can get grumpy from time to time. And, we also have a tendency to become cynical toward some activities under heaven. Open our eyes to see the myriad of possibilities around us so that we might better be able to internalize and experience the kind of trust demonstrated in the patience of the Hebrew poet who understood that the world doesn't operate under our time schedule or under our watch but under Thine. We are a people who like to do things on our own. Often times, it is only when we run out of options do we turn our attention toward heaven. And, then, our prayers are more calls of desperation than they are prayers of faith and trust in Your providence for our lives. Keep us ever mindful of Your sincere desire to hear our voices, whether in praise or in agony, whether in sadness or jubilation, whether our voice is lifted up for ourselves or for others. When we compare ourselves with Thee, there is a chasm between us. And yet, in Your great love for Your creation You have bridged that chasm and have come near to us. September 26, 2002

"Righteousness, justice, equity, these are but a few of Your innumerable characteristics. We seek to emulate Thee in our efforts, but we fall miserably short. If it weren't for Your mercy, we'd be in deeper water than we already are. So, we do what is right and necessary. We pause in this mid-morning moment to thank You for 'rescuing us from the miry bog, and setting our feet on solid ground'. As we seek to know ourselves, enable us to identify what it is that makes each one of us tick. Why is it we do or say what we do? What precisely is the motivating factor behind our decisions? Teach us that we will never be able to attain true inner peace until we are honest with ourselves and can cling to that truth, whatever it may be. Then, dear God, remind us that we have an advocate in You. Only You, O Lord, can save us from ourselves. Amen."

"All things in heaven and on earth are gifts from Thee. And, You alone are the Author and Perfector of all life. Lord, we cherish our lives given as gifts from You. This morning, we give You thanks for the life of Representative Larry T. Justus. We thank You for his tireless efforts on behalf of the people of Henderson County whom he has served as a State Representative and the people of the United States of America whom he served as a Lieutenant Colonel in the Air Force during both the Korean Conflict and the Vietnam War.

"In light of Representative Justus' death and as it stands in stark contrast to the horror of the senseless killings in and around the Nation's Capitol, we are reminded of the fragility of life. Grant us grace, O Lord, to live each day as if it were our last, seeking always to do justice, love kindness, and walk humbly with our God. Amen."

The Speaker Pro Tempore leads the Body in the Pledge of Allegiance.

PROTEST

Pursuant to Rule 8, Representative Pope reads the following protest which is entered in the Journal pursuant to Article II, Section 18 of the North Carolina Constitution.

"I respectfully submit this dissent and protest in regards to acts of the 2002 Extra Session of the North Carolina General Assembly, and request that this protest be entered upon the House Journal pursuant to the North Carolina Constitution, Article II, Sec. 18.

"I protest that the General Assembly is failing to comply with the North Carolina Constitution in its conduct of the 2002 Extra Session, and that the North Carolina House of Representatives is failing to comply with its adopted Rules. Failure to comply with the spirit, intent and letter of the North Carolina Constitution is injurious to the public and respect for the rule of law upon which our democracy and free society is founded. Failure of the House to follow its own adopted Rules sets a dangerous precedent and further degrades the reputation of the House in the eyes of the public.

"The North Carolina General Assembly was called into Extra Session on May 14, 2002, to address the issue of legislative redistricting. The Extra Session has completed that task, and the constitutional validity of the adopted legislative redistricting plans are on appeal before the North Carolina Supreme Court. The North Carolina Supreme Court has not scheduled the appeal to be heard and decided until 2003, and all other requests for more immediate judicial relief in State and Federal court have been denied.

"Despite the General Assembly's completion of its business, the General Assembly has failed to adjourn the Extra Session sine die. Instead, the General Assembly has repeatedly held sessions lacking a quorum. In fact, the Speaker of the House, Representative Jim Black, has sent out communications to the Democratic Caucus of Members of the House instructing them not to attend session, and 'excused absences' have been filed with the House Clerk on behalf of the members of the Democratic Caucus, denying the House a quorum.

"The North Carolina Constitution, Article II, Section 20, requires that each house may not adjourn on its own motion for a period in excess of three days. Article II, Section 11(1) states that neither house shall proceed upon public business unless a majority of all of its members are actually present. The North Carolina General Assembly, by repeatedly failing to convene for a period of over two weeks with a quorum present in either house, has failed to comply with the spirit and intent of the Constitution, and I respectfully submit with the letter of the Constitution.

"Furthermore, on October 18, 2002, only three Members were present for the convening of the House. The presiding officer, Representative Joe Hackney, noting the lack of a quorum and that the majority of the Members had 'excused absences' filed on their behalf, declared the House adjourned until October 22, 2002. The presiding officer made this declaration despite an objection being made by me. The presiding officer noted my objection but refused to consider and rule upon it. The presiding officer, after making his declaration of adjournment, then left the House Chambers. This action was in violation of the adopted House Rules, and Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, which is incorporated into the House Rules.

"Mason's, Sec. 505(3) states that in the absence of a quorum, a 'motion' to adjourn is in order. House Rule 15 states that the House may be adjourned by motion that shall be seconded. On October 18th the House was adjourned to reconvene four days later without a motion and second. The exceptions to adjournment by motion are House Rule 1 providing adjournment to the next day if session continues to a certain hour, and Mason's Sec. 577 that only in the case of fire, riot or other great emergency may the presiding officer 'declare' an adjournment. While once again there was no quorum in the House on October 18th, there was not any riot, fire or great emergency.

"Under these circumstances, Mason's Sec. 576(3) provides that if the presiding officer does not resolve a question on adjournment or take a division before declaring adjournment, a temporary presiding officer can be elected and the business of the House can proceed in proper order.

"Representatives Sam Ellis and I, as the only remaining members present in the House Chambers, considered acting under Mason's Sec. 576, to elect a temporary presiding officer to continue the business of the House and properly adjourning to a date certain by a motion duly seconded and approved by the Body.

"Instead, in the public interest, and with my objection having been noted but not heard, and assurance that the declaration of adjournment would not set a precedent or custom of the House, Representatives Ellis and I chose not to further contest the manner of adjournment of the House on October 18th, 2002.

"The above actions, and the continued failure of both houses of the General Assembly to convene the Extra Session with a quorum present, in violation of Article II, Sections 11 and 20, is injurious to the public.

"As Oliver Cromwell said to the Rump Parliament in 1653, 'You have sat here too long for the good you do. In the Name of God, go!'

"In this age of the rule of law and our binding Constitution, the North Carolina General Assembly should convene with a quorum and formally adjourn the Extra Session sine die, before any further injury is suffered by the public.

"For these reasons, I respectfully submit this protest and dissent, this the 22nd day of October, 2002."
