JOINT SESSION

In accordance with a joint resolution passed by the Senate and House of Representatives the Senate proceeds in a body to the House of Representatives to hear the Governor's biennial message, which is as follows:

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR

The General Assembly of 1917 adjourned on the 7th day of March, and on the 6th day of April the United States entered the world war. The ensuing period taxed the strength of our Government and tested the character of our people. It is cause for profound gratitude that Government and people have emerged from the great ordeal as "gold tried in the fire."

Hot with righteous indignation, the country unleashed its pent-up powers and rushed to the fray with a fury and efficiency that brought confusion and terror to our enemies and wonder and joy to our friends. The world was first dazed and then delighted at the spectacle of a mighty nation going to war, desiring nothing but good and fearing nothing but God.

In this inspiring drama of ideals in arms, North Carolina played a noble part. To the Army and the Navy she contributed 79,563 men. And what men they were! Cradled in a State where disloyalty is a monstrosity and cowardice a crime, stirred by memories of valiant sires, exalted by the consciousness that at home every man was accounted a hero, and goaded by a long series of insults and injurles, they hurled themselves at the foe with a divine scorn of costs and consequences, and the Hindenburg line was not.

But money power is necessary to the effective use of man power, and to the call of the Nation for this vital sinew of war our people responded in heroic fashion.

We invested in Liberty Bonds------------------------$110,208,950
In War Stamps----------------------------- 37,000,000
In Federal taxes------------------------------- 100,574,417
For the support of the war we gave
To the Red Cross----------------------------- $1,750,000
To the Y. M. C. A---------------------------- 323,870
To the United War Work Fund----------------- 1,422,485
To the Jewish War Relief Fund---------------- 154,000

Making a grand total of---------------------- $2,514,337,22

These are eloquent figures and bear immortal testimony to the courage and patriotism of our people.

And the people not only gave their sons and their money, but with these they gave themselves to the winning of the war. All the moral and spiritual forces of the State were mobilized in magnificent array. Before their resolute advance no slackersism could stand, and in their shining presence no selfish thought could live.

It would ill become the exalted dignity of their character to cheapen the women of the State with fulsome praise. Suffice it to say that once again they exemplified and glorified the genius of woman for sacrificial service. They gave their sons to the Nation and to humanity, while their eyes flashed and their hearts bled. They worked as hard as the men worked and prayed more. In a hundred ways they contributed to the physical comfort of the soldiers and then broke for them the alabaster box of an immeasurable love, whose fragrance fills the earth.

It would be unjust to close this review of the war without making special mention of the men who administered the Selective Service Law. These men have been the shock absorbers in the engine of war. They stood between the Government and the people and got hard kicks from both. Theirs was the hardest, most thankless, and, at the same time, the most necessary work of the war. They did it miraculously well, and in the presence of this Assembly I want to acknowledge the debt the State can never pay.

What Shall the Harvest Be?

But why did we fight, and for what? To shift Prussianism from Potsdam to Washington? To transfer militarism from Germany to France? To de-throne autocracy in Berlin and set it up in London? It is not so written in the call to arms. The President proclaimed that we were going to war to destroy autocracy wherever found; to send militarism to the scrap heap of civilization, and to secure blessings of liberty under laws of righteousness for all the children of men. Amid the clamor and confusion of social and political strife, above the tread of hostile armies, his voice rang out like the prophet in the wilderness proclaiming a new dispensation in the life of nations. The whole world was fascinated by the celestial note in that high, clear call. Ministers of the gospel stood behind the sacred desk, and in the name of the Prince of Peace urged men to go forth to war. Teachers gathered children about them and fired their young hearts with the story that America was fighting that every child in all the earth might enter into its birthright of happiness and hope. Gentle women thrust guns into the hands of their sons and sped them forth to battle for a civilization that would forever guard the weak from the rapacity of the strong. All classes and conditions of men stood upon a hundred thousand platforms and burned it into the hearts of the people.
that we were pouring out our blood and treasure in order to dig up militarism root and branch, and burn it in the unquenchable fire of humanity's righteous wrath. The press in ten million flaming headlines proclaimed that we were in a death grapple with the very soul of war, and that the Nation must never lower its arms until Prussianism and all its preachments should be swept from the earth for ever and for ever.

In such fashion and for such purposes this Nation went to war; but now when victory has come we find in certain quarters a sudden change of front. Envy is spreading its deadly poison and avarice would capitalize the blood of the slain. In high quarters we hear the insidious suggestion that it was well to kneel before our altars while men were dying for the faith, but now practical men will consign their altars to the cellar and set up their bargain counters. Some men of note and others of notoriety sneer at the simple faith of folks who still believe that we are going to get out of this war precisely what we went in for. These men today view with alarm the program of righteousness and enduring peace to which in the days that tried men's souls they pointed with passionate pride.

And when the President of the United States crosses the seas to translate our ideals into a peace pact that will for a thousand years deliver humanity from the burdens and horrors of war, the high priests of profit and privilege launch their anathemas against him, and seek to discount and dishonor the man whom the ends of the earth hail as the prophet and builder of a better day.

Such men are a fearful menace to the safety of this Nation and the peace of all mankind. They undermine the faith of the people in the integrity of the Government, in the sanctity of its promises and the beneficence of its purposes. They are piling up inflammable material for the torch of Bolshevism. We might as well look the facts squarely in the face. This world must accept the wholesome, constructive idealism of Woodrow Wilson and Lloyd George, or welter in the morbid, destructive fanaticism of Liebknecht and Lenin.

Therefore, in order that we may reap where we have sown, that our dead may not have died in vain, I urge this General Assembly to send a memorial to the American Peace Commissioners in France, beseeching them to incorporate into the treaty of peace such a league of nations as will in every practicable way make war between enlightened nations forever impossible.

A Worthy Memorial

In camp and field our soldiers made the supreme sacrifice to save the ideals of this Republic. It now behooves us to make every needful sacrifice to perpetuate these ideals in increased purity and power. The finest memorial we can build to our brave is a State that will rank as high over here as they did "over there."

Our first thought in the building of this State should be the welfare of the children, for "the child is father to the man." Every child has a natural right to his father's protecting care. Neither the sins of the father nor the weakness of the mother can abridge in any degree this inherent right. It follows that every child has a right to know who his father is. The black letter law that a child can be a nullius filius, a son of nobody, is as base in morals as it is false in biology. Our whole law on this subject is antiquated and inadequate and should be wiped from the books. A new law should provide that when a child is born out of wedlock, it shall be the duty of the local representative of the State Board of Public Welfare to bring a civil action in the name of the State of North Carolina upon the relation of the child for the purpose of locating and identifying the father. The action should be brought in the Superior Court, tried in solemn form before a judge and jury, and the findings should be made a permanent record in the archives of the court. The father, thus located and identified, should be charged with the maintenance and education of such child in precisely the same degree as if the child had been born in lawful wedlock. Such a child should not be made the heir of such a father, as this might lead to fraud and would be an injustice to the lawful mother and wife, but in all other respects the father should be made to carry the responsibilities of paternity and be indictable if he fails to do so. Such a law would not only be just to these sinless children of sin, but would have a wholesome tendency to reduce their number.

Every Child Has a Natural Right to a Fair Start

The State is a party to an awful crime against childhood when it permits idiots and imbeciles to perpetuate their species. The law very properly forbids the marriage of these unfortunate creatures, and it should be equally diligent in preventing their illicit increase. The State should take steps to render it impossible for any person adjudged by a competent board to be an incurable mental defective to transmit that infirmity to generations unborn; such a law would be the essence of humanity and of common sense.

Again, the State is a party to a crime against childhood and against womanhood when it permits a marriage license to be issued to a man afflicted with a contagious disease due to vice. The law should require a health certificate to be presented by every man who applies for a marriage license. The population in our hospitals for the insane is increasing so rapidly that it seems to be impossible for the State to erect buildings in which to keep them. A large percentage of these unfortunate creatures are the children of people who are themselves mental defectives or whose blood has been tainted by vice. The only way to stop this muddy, murky current is at its source.

Every child has a natural right to have any mental or physical defect corrected, if it be in the power of medical or surgical skill. The incidental fact that the parents may not be able to pay for the necessary treatment, in no way affects the right of the child. The General Assembly of 1917 made a wholesome start in this direction by the enactment of chapter 244, Public Laws of 1917, but the scope of that chapter should be greatly enlarged and the appropriation increased from ten to at least fifty thousand dollars per annum. We cannot claim to maintain an intelligent, much less a Christian civilization, if a child be allowed to stagger through life under the handicap of a mental or physical infirmity for the want of a few dollars. Indeed, it is an economical blunder for society to permit an adult to become a mental or physical derelict for want of proper surgical or medical treatment. It is cheaper to correct these infirmities than to pay for the up-keep of these dreg-ericts in charitable institutions.

In addition to the physical examinations of public school children, there should be a compulsory course in physical culture maintained in every public school. Setting-up exercises should be required every day just as they are in the training camps for the soldiers.
Longer and Better Schools

The right of every child to an education is now universally conceded. It is also conceded that the duty to provide educational facilities up to a certain point rests upon the State. The old argument that one man ought not to be taxed to educate the child of another has gone into the discard, and any man who cherishes this once popular notion is ashamed to admit it.

But our works have not kept pace with our faith, and this General Assembly should resolutely set its face to execute the mandate of the people, who, by a majority of more than one hundred thousand, have decreed that every child in North Carolina must have the opportunity to go to school at least six months in the year. To provide the machinery and the money for carrying out this constitutional mandate is at once the plain duty and the high privilege of this General Assembly.

A bill in the nature of a suggestion will be submitted in due time to your appropriate committees. This administration is not wedded to the details of any particular bill, but the six-months school must be maintained. Therefore, I urge you, gentlemen, not to indulge in destructive criticisms of the bill, but to point out how the thing can be done in a better way. Such information will be received with joy by the very people who have taxed their energies in framing the best bill possible under the circumstances.

One principle I desire to emphasize, the child is the word of the State. The organic law of the State requires that every child shall have the benefit of a six-months school, no matter where the child may live. While it is the duty of counties and communities, this in no way relieves the State of its supreme obligation to the child. Therefore, it is the duty of this General Assembly to make it absolutely certain that the schoolhouse door shall be open to every child in our borders for six months in the year.

How Can They Be Taught Except There Be a Teacher?

For some years the salaries paid the teachers in our public schools have been inadequate. During the last two years school teachers would have starved but for the assistance of relatives and friends. It is simply impossible to keep schools open under these conditions, and the State is confronted with the necessity of increasing the wages paid teachers in our public schools at least fifty per cent. The average salary paid these teachers last year was forty-five dollars and seventy-two cents per month. This General Assembly should, without a dissenting vote, enact a law making the minimum salary for a teacher who holds a first-grade certificate, sixty-five dollars. Such a law would in no way prevent the payment of higher salaries in special tax districts and in our cities and towns.

A Compulsory School Attendance and Child Labor Law

The right of the child to an education at the hands of the State carries with it the right of the State to compel the child to take advantage of the facilities provided. In duty bound, the State erects the buildings and employs the teachers, and having thus done its part, a binding obligation rests upon the parent and the child to do their part. This General Assembly should in short order enact a law compelling every child between the ages of eight and fourteen to attend school during the entire term of the public school in the district in which the child resides. Appropriate machinery should be provided for the strict enforcement of this law.

Coupled with and as a part of the compulsory school law should be a child labor law. The first sections of the act should provide for compulsory attendance upon school, the later sections should make it unlawful for any mill or factory to employ any child between the ages of eight and fourteen during the public school term. Of course no child under seventeen can be employed under existing laws.

The weakness of child labor legislation has been that it has dealt with the subject only in a negative way. It has declared that the child shall not work, but has not concerned itself with what the child shall do. The treatment of the problem has been not unlike that of the mother who told the servant to go out in the yard and see what the children were doing and make them stop it. A law that takes the child out of the factory and dumps it into the street is hurtful both to the child and to society. The law should say the child shall not work, and furthermore that he shall go to school. In fact, the law should be primarily a part of the educational policy of the State, and only in an incidental way a child labor law. The law should be enforced by the officers of the educational department, and it should be the duty of the truant officer to go out and find the child.

Provision might be made with proper safeguards for permitting a child between twelve and fourteen to work in a factory after the public school term has expired, provided a certificate can be obtained showing that the child had actually attended the school during the entire term.

Sanitary Closets

As a part of the general welfare scheme, I make the following additional recommendations. A general law should be enacted making it compulsory for the owner of property on which a closet is located within three hundred feet of the dwelling-house of any other person, to maintain a sanitary closet in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the State Board of Health. Such sanitary closets would prevent the undue spread of typhoid fever, hookworm, intestinal tuberculosis, and other intestinal diseases, besides many diseases which are brought on by the absence of commodious, sanitary and convenient toilet facilities. Especial attention should be given to toilets for use in schools and all places where people assemble in large numbers.

I make a special recommendation that the General Assembly at once order the State Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds to provide on or near the Capitol grounds commodious and sanitary toilet facilities for both sexes and both races. The necessity for such facilities is apparent and imperative.

The Up-keep of Roads

The failure to provide for the up-keep of roads where bonds have been issued to build them is the acme of unwisdom. Such a policy is on a par with that of the man who plants a crop and then refuses to cultivate it. This General Assembly should immediately pass a law compelling every county in the State where bonds have been issued, or may hereafter be issued, for the construction of roads, to levy an annual up-keep tax of not less than three and not more than five per cent of the amount of bonds issued for their construction.
The Federal Road Act

There seems to be a probability that Congress will appropriate a hundred million dollars annually to build good roads. North Carolina's part of this appropriation will be about two million two hundred and fifty thousand dollars annually, and in order to obtain this sum the State will have to make provision for the expenditure of a similar amount. The vital question is, where can the money be found? I have been urged to recommend that the State issue bonds to this amount annually for ten years, making a total bond issue of twenty-two million dollars. I regret that I cannot endorse such a measure. It is doubtful that the State could market bonds in this amount. Even if we could sell the bonds it would be unwise to clothe a central board with power to say where the roads should be located. Every county in the State would demand that the roads be run through that county, and the several townships in the counties would contend among themselves for the location. This always happens when the communities that get the roads pay no more than those that do not. The wise course would seem to be to leave it to the several counties to say whether or not they both desire and are willing to pay for these roads.

With respect to sand-clay and gravel roads, the general road law now in force would seem to be adequate to meet the situation. But with respect to great macadamized or asphalt highways, new provisions would have to be made. The new law should provide for establishing these great highways on the basis of the Federal Government paying one-half the cost, the county one-fourth and the abutting landowners on either side one-eighth. This is the principle followed in paving the streets in our cities, and there is no reason why it should not be applied to these great permanent highways. The lands abutting on the highway would be doubled and quadrupled in value. The time would soon come when water mains and electric light lines would be established along these highways and the abutting lands would sell by the front foot instead of by the acre. People living along these highways would enjoy practically all the advantages of town and city life. Such a scheme would prevent unseemly scrambles among the people, and communities obtaining the roads would pay for what they got.

The Short Ballot

At the expense of repetition I am constrained to again insist that the principle of the short ballot should be applied to all State administrative offices. There is something attractive to the popular mind in the theory that all the people select these officials, but the truth is that the people do no such thing. A few men, an average of not more than three, select themselves as candidates, and then the people are accorded the privilege of saying in the primaries which of these three are least objectionable. There never was a more tragic delusion than that the people select these officials.

But if the people should be actually consulted it is plain that all the people cannot secure sufficient information about the qualifications of a man for these administrative offices to enable them to arrive at a conclusion satisfactory to themselves.

2—Senate
There is no more reason for electing the Governor's Council than there is for electing the President's Cabinet. I take it that no one would favor electing the President of the University by a vote of all the people, and yet the people can pass upon his qualifications quite as well as they can on those of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Commissioner of Agriculture is elected by the people, the President of Agricultural College is elected by a board of trustees, and yet the people can pass upon the qualifications of the President of the College quite as intelligently as they can upon the qualifications of the commissioner. Presidents of railroads and other corporations are selected by small boards of directors; Railroad Commissioners and Corporation Commissioners are elected by all the people. Who are most efficiently served by their chosen officials?

I have supreme faith in the judgment of all the people when they know the facts. They can know the facts about a few men on a ticket. They should vote for these few, and then hold them rigidly responsible for results.

Only the Governor and the Lieutenant-Governor should be elected, but a complete change would require a constitutional amendment, and hence as a start in the right direction, I urge this General Assembly to enact a law that all State administrative officers whose election by the people is not required by the Constitution shall hereafter be appointed by the Governor. Of course the Commissioner of Agriculture should be elected by the Board of Agriculture, and the heads of our several institutions by boards of directors or trustees.

A House for the Farmers

When any citizen or stranger within the gates comes into my office and asks where the Department of Agriculture is located I am ashamed to tell him. The quarters of the Agricultural Society—they are a disgrace to the imperial State of North Carolina. I beseech this General Assembly to authorize the Department of Agriculture to erect for its own use a building in keeping with the dignity of our greatest industry. The building ought to be the very handsomest one in the State. North Carolina today ranks seventh in the value of her agricultural products. The Department is doing a great work and deserves to be properly housed.

The State Prison

I renew the recommendation made in my inaugural address that the entire administration of the State Prison should be conducted from the State Farm. I have consulted the board of directors of the Prison, who are men of the very finest business judgment, and they are all of opinion that such a change would make for efficiency and economy in the administration of the Prison. The board should be directed to erect upon the State Farm suitable administration buildings, to establish a heating and lighting plant, and to run a branch railroad from the Atlantic Coast Line to the center of the farm.

I deem it my duty to take notice of the popular delusion that the State Prison is a great reservoir from which labor for any and all purposes may be drawn. There are at the present writing in the State Prison, including the department for the criminal insane, 778 convicts. Of these 120 are kept in the Central Prison and are unable to do any regular work. At the State Farm there are 344 prisoners, 23 of these being women. At Badin and at Bridgewater there are 256. The strongest prisoners are at Badin and at Bridgewater.
Not more than half of the prisoners at the State Farm are capable of doing regular hard work on the public roads. Two years ago there were in the Prison 967, and although the last General Assembly enacted two laws calculated to increase the number of prisoners, to wit, the law requiring men convicted of manufacturing whiskey to be sent to the Prison for at least one year, and the law not permitting any one to be sent to the public roads for more than five years, there has been a reduction in the Prison population of 159 prisoners, or approximately twenty per cent. If the bone dry laws, the increased and improved educational facilities, and the whole program for better social and industrial conditions are worth what we confidently believe they are, then there is a reasonable hope that the number of convicts in the State Prison will steadily decrease. Hence it is idle for the State to embark in any work in the expectation of doing it with convict labor.

Propositions come to my office asking for convict labor for every sort of work under the sun, based upon the delusion that the supply of labor is inexhaustible, that the State pays the expenses of the Prison, and that the available labor can be used without any regard for business considerations.

The State does not appropriate one penny for the support of the Prison. The able-bodied prisoners, who do not represent more than two-thirds of the population, must earn their own living and the living of these unable to work, the salaries of all the officials and employees of the Prison, the equipment, improvements and repairs, and also the per diem allowed the prisoners themselves under the law.

Considerations of humanity are against working the convicts on the public roads. The quarters of the convicts must be safe and they must be sanitary. It is well-nigh impossible to comply with both of these requirements in building temporary quarters save at prohibitive expense. I understand that there is one, and there may be more, safe and sanitary county convict camps in the State, but personally I never saw one that was fit for the abode of any human being.

If we be sincere in our loud protests against inhumanity to prisoners, if we really desire to do them good and not evil during the period of their imprisonment, if we want to make them in fact prisoners of hope and not of despair, and send them out into the world better citizens than when they entered the prison walls, then we will place them in quarters and surround them with conditions that will preserve their health, improve their minds and morals, and build up their self-respect.

These conditions can be found on a farm better than anywhere else, and if we really desire a model prison, the place to build it up is on the State Farm. The suggestion that the convicts compete with the farmers is not well founded. In making their own feed and food supplies the convicts certainly do not compete with the farmers, for the farmers of North Carolina do not produce enough of these commodities for their own use, and the amount of cotton produced on the farm could not possibly affect the price of cotton to the extent of a dollar on a thousand bales.

I renew the recommendation made in my inaugural address that the State Prison be remodeled and converted into a hospital for the insane. The building cannot be made suitable for patients who can be cured by scientific treatment, but there are in our hospitals both at Raleigh and at Morganton many patients for whom the greatest alienists can do nothing. All that can be done for these poor creatures is to keep them in a place where they cannot hurt themselves or others, and where they will be physically comfortable. The State Prison building can be arranged to take care of this class of patients and make room in the other hospitals for patients for whom there is some ray of hope.

A Chance for the Sheep

The sheep industry ought to be fostered in North Carolina, and I recommend that a law be enacted forbidding owners of dogs to allow them to run at large at night. Such a law would entail no expense upon the owners, and would afford a large measure of protection to the sheep.

Federal Prohibition

I shall lay before the General Assembly at once the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution making it unlawful to manufacture or sell intoxicating liquors in the United States. The mind of North Carolina is already made up on this subject, and I assume that the amendment will be promptly ratified.

Law Enforcement

There is nothing so demoralizing as the nonenforcement of the law. It makes a good citizen lose faith in the law and the bad citizen lose respect for the law. If a law cannot be enforced it ought to be repealed. The greatest hindrance to the due enforcement of the general law is local prejudice or indifference. In a government by the people this will always be so. The natural remedy for this evil is officials who will not be subject to local influences. This is the principal reason why federal laws are generally enforced better than state laws.

I recommend the enactment of a law along the following lines: Make it the duty of all sheriffs, deputies, constables, and police officials to cooperate with all federal officials and with each other in the enforcement of the law. Clothe the Governor with power to send any of the county or city officials above mentioned into any part of the State, and pay their per diem and expenses while on duty outside of their own county. Upon complaint made in writing by as many as five reputable citizens that any official in North Carolina is not enforcing the law, authorize the Governor to direct the Attorney-General to investigate the complaint, and, if he finds it well grounded, to bring an ouster proceeding against the delinquent official in any county in the State which the Attorney General may designate. Make it the duty of the Solicitor to prosecute the ouster proceeding under the direction of the Attorney-General. The bill I am suggesting creates no office, but simply enables the State to use to the best advantage the officials we already have.

The Primary Law

The primary law should be radically strengthened or repealed. I prefer to strengthen it. The undue use of money in the primaries is a debauchery of the people and a fraud on good citizens who desire to obey the law. The law should forbid any candidate to employ any one to work for him in the primary save in a purely clerical capacity. No mortal man can run and mark the line between paying a field worker for his legitimate services and buying his influence. Because of this the primary has bred a race of political heilers who stand around all the day idle because "no man hath hired them," and are ready, at the first or the eleventh hour, to go into the vineyard and work valiantly for any man until another comes along and raises the price.

If a man has not impressed himself and his fitness for an office on his friends to the extent that they will be willing to do a reasonable amount of work for his nomination without money and without price, he ought not to be allowed to develop a wholly artificial following by the employment of a host of professional boosters.

Lending money to or endorsing the notes of insolvent persons or lending money to solvent persons with no intention of ever collecting it is a favorite device for evading the law against the excessive use of money in the primaries. This ought to be stopped, and every candidate should be required to publish at the end of each week with his expense account a list of all loans or endorsements made by him.

Every newspaper and moving picture show or other advertising agency should be required to publish at the end of each week the amount of all sums of money paid or contracted to be paid by candidates or friends of candidates during the preceding week.

The law should further contain a provision that if any candidate shall expend or knowingly permit others to expend for him a larger sum of money than allowed by law, he shall forfeit the nomination, and it shall go to the candidate receiving the next highest vote.

Adequate provision should be made for the proper canvassing board to find the facts and declare null and void the nomination of any candidate where it appears that the same was obtained by fraud or that the candidate has expended a greater sum of money than allowed by law. To allow a candidate to defy the law and to practice all manner of frauds and provide no adequate remedy is a mockery and a crime. In the very nature of the case the courts cannot deal with the case in time to be of any practical value. The jurisdiction to hear and determine the facts should reside in the canvassing boards, and their findings should be made final. The primary ought to be made the unbribed expression of the popular will, or it ought to be sent to the scrap heap.

Taxation

Every citizen of North Carolina is entitled to take pride in the wonderful growth of our State. This growth calls for larger revenues to meet the just demands for a progressive civilization. It is as foolish to complain about increased State expenses as for the father of a growing family to complain about increased family expenses. If a man will consult his own family expense account he will be prepared to view with sympathy and intelligence the situation that today confronts the State of North Carolina. The State is simply a big family, and must buy the same commodities, commodities that other families buy, and the high cost of these commodities makes it imperative to increase the salaries of all those who serve the State. It also follows that the appropriations for the maintenance of our charitable and educational institutions must be substantially larger than heretofore. During the last two years these institutions have practiced economy to the point of cruelty, and yet today they are in debt to the amount of $183,478.13. This deficit will have to be wiped out, and provision made, not only for the increased cost of commodities, but for the ever growing numbers that are clamoring for admittance to all our State institutions. The lengthening of the public school term from four months to six, the increase in the salaries of teachers from $45 to $65 per month will, in themselves, make necessary additional annual revenues to the amount of two and a half millions of dollars.

These are large figures, but they are not appalling. Last year the State of North Carolina paid in taxes for the support of the Federal Government seventy millions of dollars, a sum greater than has been expended on the State Government for State purposes during the entire period since the Civil War, and we are not pampered yet. The truth is, gentlemen, that North Carolina is entirely too poor to misspend a dollar, but she is abundantly rich enough to spend whatever sum may be necessary to maintain within her borders a wholesome and enlightened civilization.

Immediate and Imperative Demands

In order to meet the present and imperative demands of the Treasury I recommend the following privilege taxes:

1. On the operation of automobiles double the present license tax, the increase to go to the general fund for the support of schools or any other object the General Assembly may determine. This automobile tax will hurt no one. If a man feels that he is not able to pay this additional amount on his automobile in order to keep the children of the State out of ignorance, then let him walk and improve his health.

2. A tax of 10 per cent on the sale price of all patented and proprietary medicines. This will be no burden on the manufacturer of these nostrums, for it is well known that the average compound that sells for $1 a bottle does not cost more than 25 cents. If by this tax the people are led to consume less of these drugs, so much the better, for I heartily agree with the distinguished physician in Massachusetts who said that if every drug known to the pharmacopoeia should be dumped into the Atlantic Ocean no one would be hurt except the fishes.

3. A tax of five per cent on all syrups used in soft drinks and sold at fountains or in bottles. The manufacturer can reduce the amount of syrup per glass or bottle one-twentieth, and what he takes out will be a blessing to the consumer.

4. A tax of not less than three, nor more than five, per cent on the purchase price of tobaccos in every form.

The principle adopted in this schedule is to raise necessary revenues in a way that will entail the least hardships on the citizen. The taxes above mentioned will compel no one to go without anything that is essential to clean, wholesome, comfortable living. All these taxes are approved by the Special Tax Commission and by the State Tax Commission, and machinery for their enforcement can be easily devised.

Constitutional Amendments

In order to give the State a better permanent system of taxation certain constitutional amendments are necessary:

1. The poll tax should be strictly limited to $2, all payable to the State for the benefit of the public schools; and no county, town, or special district should be allowed to levy any poll tax whatever. In some of our cities the poll tax ranges from six to eight dollars. This is an outrageous burden on the head of the poor man.

2. Wearing apparel, household and kitchen furniture, the working implements of the farmer and the mechanic, the books and scientific instruments of the student, to the aggregate amount of $300 should be made absolutely exempt from taxation. The present Constitution authorizes the General Assembly to make such an exemption, and the Constitution should be amended so as to make the exemption absolute. North Carolina can get along without taxing these comforts and conveniences of the home, and they should not cumber the tax books.

3. Incomes above $1,000 for an unmarried person and $1,500 for a married person should be taxed, no matter from what source derived, except incomes from State and Government bonds. Under the present income law wage earners are the only class of people who pay an income tax. There are numerous cases where the head of the business receives an income from ten to one hundred thousand dollars a year and pays no income tax, while every person in his employ who receives a salary of over $1,250 is compelled to pay the tax. The Federal law makes no such discrimination, and there is no reason why the State law should do so.

4. The proviso in the present Constitution requiring the payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite to voting should be repealed. It breeds corruption in politics and serves no useful purpose.

5. The requirements as to residence in the State before being eligible to vote should be reduced to one year, and corresponding reductions made as to residence in counties and townships.

It is believed that with these constitutional amendments the State will be able to raise all revenues for State purposes without resorting to any property tax. This would leave all the real and personal property to the counties and towns, and would wonderfully help in bringing about a fair valuation of property for purposes of taxation, and would also tend to solve the vexing problem of equalization.

Finding and Fixing Liabilities

No General Assembly can levy taxes intelligently in the absence of a reasonably accurate knowledge of what the State's liabilities will be for the ensuing two years. It is practically impossible for the finance committees to obtain this knowledge during the session of the General Assembly. North Carolina ought to adopt a modern budget system. I commend to your careful consideration the following extract from the report of the Special Tax Commission:

"We earnestly recommend to the early consideration of the General Assembly the creation of some authority, clothed with ample power of investigation, whose duty it shall be to scrutinize every avenue of expenditure of public funds, to make diligent investigation of future necessities, and to have prepared for the General Assembly when it meets a budget of proposed appropriations combined into one bill. With its work thus blocked out in advance the Appropriation Committees would have time to make such ample investigations as would be satisfactory to the General Assembly and the people of the State. Budget Commissions have been created in many states, and composed in a wide variety of ways. While the work of such a commission is recommendatory, its work is highly important, and it should be constituted in close touch with the people. The expenditure of public money is preëminently the function of the direct representatives of the people. As a suggestion for consideration we recommend that such a commission be created by this General Assembly on the opening day of its session, and that the chairmen of the Committees on Finance and Appropriations at each session of the General Assembly, together with the Governor of the State, constitute the Budget Commission, to report to the succeeding General Assembly, and with provision that no bill carrying appropriation from the State Treasury shall be considered by the General Assembly until the general budget bill shall have been passed, and that no appropriation afterwards made shall be valid unless the money to pay same is in the Treasury, or unless the bill carrying the appropriation levies a special tax to pay same."

_Taking Stock_

When the General Assembly knows the liabilities of the State for two years, it knows just half enough. Unless it prefer to leap in the dark rather than to walk in the light, the General Assembly should have before it an inventory of the assets of the State as well as its liabilities. This inventory should be taken as thoroughly and as honestly as the merchant takes stock when he desires to ascertain exactly how his business stands. There has never been a conscientious effort to take such an inventory of the assets of North Carolina. The present Machinery Act tends to conceal rather than reveal the true value of property. The excuse for such machinery is that if property should be placed upon the books at its true value the tax rates would be confiscatory. Such a fear is not well founded. It may be considered a childish faith, but I believe that in the long run it pays to tell the truth about anything. We may not hope to be a great people so long as we condone falseshood and deception in our relations to the Government under which we live. The principles and practices that are tolerated in the listing or nonlisting of property for taxation constitute a school of immorality that will, if allowed to continue, destroy the moral fiber of our people.

I devoutly believe that if we shall resolve to about face and tell the exact truth about our property, we will not only shame the devil, but we will decrease rather than increase the burdens of taxation.

To this end I urge you to clothe the Tax Commission with ample powers and equip it with ample forces, and direct it to find and place on the tax books at its real value every piece of property, tangible and intangible, in the State of North Carolina. It will not be difficult to frame machinery that will accomplish this result if we be in deadly earnest about it. It is not necessary to discuss the details of such machinery, but I will mention just one vital feature entirely absent from the present act. A questionnaire should be carefully prepared and submitted to every taxpayer, and he should be required to answer under oath a series of very searching questions.

1. Did you secure this property by purchase or inheritance, and when?
2. If by purchase, what did you pay for it?
3. Have you sold or offered to sell any part of this property within the last four years, and if so, what did you get or offer to take per acre or front foot?
4. Has any one proposed to buy this property or any part of it within the last four years; and if so what was the offer per acre or front foot?

5. Has any property been sold in your section of the town or county within the last four years, and if so, what did it bring per acre or front foot?

6. State in full the difference between the general character of your property and the property so sold.

7. What are the buildings on the property worth independent of the land, and how much insurance do you carry on such buildings?

8. Have you ever obtained a loan or applied for a loan of money on this property; and if so, for how much did you apply, and what did you state was the value of the property in your application for the loan?

9. What do you honestly think this property would bring if sold for one-fourth cash, the balance of the purchase price to be paid in one, two and three years?

The above questions are simply suggestive; others may be inserted in the questionnaire in regard to intangible property. The law should make it perjury for any taxpayer to knowingly make a statement materially false. The law can be so framed that any person who endeavors to conceal his property or the real value of the same will be in very grave danger of going to jail in this world and to hell in the world to come.

If all property should be placed on the books at its true value the problems of equalization would at once disappear. True values are equal values, and just in proportion as we depart from the truth we make room for discrimination.

The Higher the Valuation the Lower the Tax

I am convinced that a conscientious effort, backed by proper machinery, would result in more than doubling the tax value of the property on the books. I believe that the true value is treble the assessed value, taking the State as a whole. If I did not believe this I would not be interested in the subject. But if we expect the people to deal fairly with the Government, then the Government must deal fairly with the people. It would not be fair to double or treble valuations and to allow current rates of taxation to continue. In order to keep faith with the people I recommend that this General Assembly cut the property tax half in two except the tax levied for the benefit of the schools, and I recommend that this be reduced one-fourth. In addition to this action on the part of the State, the General Assembly should require counties and towns and special districts to cut all their ad valorem taxes half in two except the taxes levied for the support of the schools, and these should be reduced one-fourth. The results of such a law would be fourfold.

1. We would put an end to the debauchery of the people by winking at falsehood and fraud in the matter of taxation.

2. We would get rid of unequal valuations.

3. We would more than double the value of property on the books, or secure increased revenues.

4. We would appear before the world as a wealthy State with a reasonable tax rate, instead of a poor State with an exceedingly high rate.

There is a reasonable difference of opinion as to just when this work should be undertaken. I think we ought to do it now. We could extend the time for the work; let the taxes fall due on the first day of December instead of the first day of October, and make such other and further extensions as would give time in which to do the work thoroughly. However, time is not of the essence, but I do insist that this General Assembly shall require the work to be done.

The foregoing recommendations are not deemed by myself to be the last word on the subject. They are merely intended to give direction to your own thinking. I have in them no pride of paternity, and if you shall find a more excellent way to reach the desired ends I shall be very happy. Your one tragic blunder, your one unpardonable sin, would be to go to sleep on duty and do nothing.

While this concludes my recommendations to you, I trust that it may be merely the beginning of my labors with you. During these sixty days I want every one of you to feel that you have the right of way in my office and in my home. I very earnestly desire to be your fellow servant, and to help you in every possible way to dress and to keep this Garden of the Lord that men call Carolina. My prayer to God is, and my faith is, that when the General Assembly of nineteen hundred and nineteen shall pass into history its record will declare its glory.

By Senator Stevens: S. R. 1, joint resolution on ratifying a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America, with favorable report.

Report of Special Committee

Senator Russ, for the Special Committee on the Ventilation of the Senate Chamber, makes the following report:

Mr. President and Senators: Your committee finds that the General Assembly of 1913 made an appropriation of $10,000 for providing an adequate ventilating system for the Capitol. This fund was expended in installing a system of ventilation recommended by a competent engineer and approved by the State Board of Health.

The committee finds, further, that the system for heating the Capitol is by steam, and that the temperature is regulated by an automatic regulating device which cuts off the steam at 68 degrees F. and turns on the steam when the temperature has dropped below 68 degrees F. This temperature, with the additional heat created by persons attending the sessions of the Senate, produces a room temperature of from 70 degrees to 72 degrees, which is the proper temperature for the building.

The committee recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, by the Senate of North Carolina, That no visitors be allowed in the lobby of the Senate Chamber while the Senate is in session.

Respectfully submitted,

W. Mitchell,
T. T. Ross,
R. L. Carr,

Committee.

Message From the Governor

The following message is received from the Governor:

To the General Assembly:

On the 8th day of December one of the girls' dormitory buildings at the Caswell Training School was destroyed by fire, and on the 5th day of January another dormitory building at the school used by the girls was also destroyed by fire. About one hundred girls occupied these two dormitories. Fortunately none of them were injured.

The girls are now sleeping in halls and dining rooms, and have to be kept under constant care. The necessity for erecting dormitories to take the place of those destroyed is immediate and imperative. It will take $75,000 to erect these buildings, and I earnestly urge the General Assembly to make a special appropriation for these purposes at once.

This, the 13th day of January, 1919. T. W. Bickett, Governor.

Referred to Committee on Appropriations.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following message is received from his Excellency, the Governor:

To the General Assembly:

I transmit herewith the report of the Special Tax Commission created by the General Assembly of 1917.

This, the 20th day of January, 1919. T. W. Bickett, Governor.

REPORT OF SPECIAL TAX COMMISSION

To the General Assembly of North Carolina:

Joint resolution No. 46 of the General Assembly of 1917, reciting that the present system of taxation in this State is one of many years standing, and that the people of North Carolina should be accorded both a just and equitable and at the same time up-to-date system of taxation, made provision for a Special Tax Commission "to make an extensive investigation and submit to this or the next General Assembly a comprehensive plan or plans of taxation; that they be also requested to make an exhaustive study of the practicability of the separation of the sources of State and local revenue; and should an amendment to the Constitution be necessary, they are further requested to submit one or more forms of amendment in accordance with their recommendations."

The commission appointed by, and under authority of, that resolution, begs leave to submit the following report:

Owing to the many and burdensome duties imposed by the war on every member of the commission, our investigations have not been as extensive as they would otherwise have been, but we feel that as far as we have gone we have followed sound principle.

The work of the commission became more difficult than originally anticipated by developments of the war period which, by largely decreasing purchasing power, has made it necessary to increase appropriations to State institutions, and by greatly increasing costs of living conditions has made imperative the necessity for providing largely increased salaries for teachers in our public schools. Ridiculously low under normal conditions of living costs, the time has now come when temporizing measures must not be considered, and anything less than an average fifty per cent increase in salaries of teachers will be paid for in poverty of intellectual training of the children now in the public schools and the closing of many of them entirely.

The attention of the commission was first given to these emergency measures.

To Increase Salaries of Teachers

It is recommended that funds for increasing salaries of public school teachers be provided from the following sources:

First. That the State recede from its levy of general property tax for the uses of the State government to the extent of five cents on each one hundred dollars of property and add this amount to the present State levy of twenty cents for schools, making the State levy for this purpose twenty-five cents on each hundred dollars of value, or an increase of twenty-five per cent.

Second. There must be made in the coming year the regular quadrennial assessment of real estate. The last assessment period, 1915, fell at a time of general depression and low values incident to the disturbances of the European war. The four years since that assessment was made, however, have been years of unprecedented prosperity, and real estate values have increased enormously. It should be confidently expected that, with the State contributing from its customary levy for its own uses a twenty-five per cent increase of the school levy, and with the great increase in wealth for the last four years in this State, and with the knowledge that increased assessments of property will contribute in larger proportion to the maintenance of the schools, there should be no difficulty in getting such increase in property values for taxation, under machinery which you will provide, as will furnish ample funds for a fifty per cent increase in teachers' salaries.

Emergency Measures for State Income

This leaves, then, the burden, as an emergency measure, of finding sources of additional income for the State not only to make up for its present deficit, and for the increased cost of government and maintaining State institutions for the next two years, but also to provide against the deficit that would otherwise be made for the future by the surrender of five cents of its present levy—approximately $500,000—to the public school fund.

Under existing constitutional limitations there is but one source from which it can be supplied—privilege or license taxes—and from these only by levying such rates of tax as would under normal conditions be considered excessive.

The commission was unanimous in its view that for the next two years the necessary taxes for this purpose should be levied upon luxuries, or at least upon such articles as could not be considered absolute necessities, and following this line of thought the following emergency special taxes are recommended:

First. That the rates of the automobile tag tax, now collected by the Secretary of State, be doubled, except on automobile trucks, and that the increased tax go to the State Treasury.

Second. That a tax of five per cent upon the sale price of all proprietary and patented medicines of every description be imposed, with a minimum tax of one cent on any single package. Enforcement of this tax can be attained by prohibiting the placing on sale of any such article without an adhesive tax stamp equal to five per cent of its retail price; the State Tax Commission to be authorized to keep on sale and furnish stamps for this purpose, and its traveling auditors to police the enforcement of the law.

Third. A tax upon the retail dealer in tobacco of three per cent of the invoice cost of all tobacco on hand on the first day of April, 1919, and of all subsequent purchases of tobacco during the continuance of the tax; the purchase tax to be paid semiannually thereafter. Tobacco to be defined to cover all forms in which it is sold at retail.

Fourth. A tax of five per cent upon the invoice cost of all syrups or flavoring compounds or extracts to be dispensed through soda fountains, on hand by all dispensers of soda fountain drinks on the first day of April, 1919, and upon all subsequent purchases of such articles, payable semiannually thereafter. The same tax to apply to all bottling establishments bottling soft drinks for sale within the State, and an equivalent tax to be applied against the sale within the State of all bottled drinks, other than mineral water, bottled outside of the State and sold within the State.

The levy of these taxes can be enforced by the State Tax Commission, through its field agents or auditors, and can be paid without injustice to any one or any business.

The first tax suggested, the increase of the tag tax on automobiles, would yield for the year beginning June 1, 1919, approximately five hundred thousand dollars.

No accurate estimate can be made of the yield of the other taxes suggested, but within common knowledge they would yield large revenue, and they are articles that can be done without by those who are not able and who do not wish to buy. We believe the Finance Committees of the General Assembly will be able to complete a revenue measure, with these additions to the subjects of special taxes now embraced in the revenue law, which will yield sufficient revenue for the next two years.

Constitutional Amendments Proposed

Looking to the future, the commission recommends the submission by the General Assembly to the people of the State, to be voted on at the next general election, amendments to the Constitution of the State for the following purposes:

1. To limit poll tax to two dollars, all of it to go to the public school fund; counties, special districts and municipalities to be prohibited from levying any poll tax; the payment of poll tax as a prerequisite to voting to be abolished, and that the two-year residence requirements be changed to one year.

2. That the authority in the present Constitution to exempt from taxation wearing apparel, household and kitchen furniture, the mechanical and agricultural implements of mechanics and farmers, libraries and scientific instruments, to the value of three hundred dollars, be made mandatory.

3. That the ad valorem tax on intangible personal property, the income from which is limited by statute of this State, be limited to ten per cent of the income accruing on such property.

4. That the proviso in section 3 of article 5 of the Constitution, prohibiting the taxing of income derived from property taxed, be repealed, leaving authority in the discretion of the General Assembly to tax income from all sources except government bonds, above exemption of $1,000 for unmarried persons, and $1,500 for husband and wife, with maximum tax of six per cent.
Bills to effectuate the recommendations herein made will be placed at the disposal of appropriate committees of the General Assembly.

The first amendment suggested, with respect to poll tax, will not affect the revenue of the State Treasury, as none of the poll taxes now levied go to the State Treasury, except twelve cents of the poll tax redistributed to the counties in the pension fund, but will increase the public school fund, and will make it impossible for counties, special districts and municipalities to run the poll tax up to a rate that at the present time is undoubtedly a real hardship in some cases, and is almost universally condemned. The recommendations, in this connection, to remove the poll tax requirement with respect to suffrage, is perhaps outside the scope of the commission's duties, but as it was dealing with the poll tax, and as the suffrage provision has in practice come to be generally recognized as an evil, and as offering incentive to the exercise of immoral influence by both parties in close counties and districts, instead of a measure in the interest of the purity of the ballot, as it was intended, we believe this recommendation will meet with general approval.

The second recommendation will result in the loss of some revenue (not an important amount, we assume), but we believe that we have gotten away from the time when the citizen should be required to encumber the tax records of the State, counties and municipalities, with an annual inventory of wearing apparel, cooking utensils; household and kitchen furniture, tools of mechanics, agricultural implements, libraries, scientific instruments, etc., of a combined total value of less than three hundred dollars.

The third recommendation, limiting the total ad valorem tax for all purposes on all forms of solvent credits to ten per cent of the accruing income, while materially reducing the rate of tax on this class of property, particularly in municipalities, will, in the opinion of the commission, and in the experience of other states, increase the revenue from this class of property by taking from the citizen any valid excuse for evasion of the law, and enabling the taxing authorities of the State and counties, with good conscience, to adopt available means of enforcement that will get this class of property on the tax books. After being listed at full value, and the maximum tax paid, the holder would still have 5.4 per cent net on a six per cent paper, or 3.6 per cent on four per cent savings bank deposits. Tax rates in some of our cities would now take more than half the income of six per cent paper, and practically all of the income of the four per cent bank deposits.

The fourth amendment would enable the General Assembly to extend the scope of the income tax, now restricted to income from salaries and fees, to include income from all sources except interest on government bonds, and thus open up to the State an important new source of revenue, upon lines already approved in practice in other states and countries.

The resolution under which this commission is acting requested that we "make an exhaustive study of the practicability of the separation of the sources of State and local revenue." If this amendment is approved, it will place it in the power of the State to live without reliance upon the general property tax for its own use, and thus inaugurate, if desired, a policy of segregation, by leaving to the local communities all the general property tax, and by finding its own support in privilege, franchise, license, inheritance and income taxes, but the amendment does not irrevocably commit the State to such a policy should experience show it to be unwise.
The State levies at the present time a general property tax of 47 2/3 cents on each hundred dollars of assessed value of property. Of this levy twenty cents is for the general school fund, and is retained in the counties where collected; five cents is for a supplementary and equalizing school fund, and is distributed back to the counties; four cents is for Confederate pensions, and is distributed back to the counties. It is now proposed that this General Assembly recede from its general levy for its own uses an additional five cents, which will leave only thirteen and one-third cents of the levy to be applied to the uses of the State and the maintenance of its institutions. This amounts, in total revenue, based upon assessed values at this time, to approximately a million and three hundred thousand dollars. For the State to divorce itself entirely from the collection of property taxes for its own uses it will only be necessary for the following General Assembly to find the means of replacing this amount of its revenue, and the adoption of this amendment will enable it to do so. The amendment suggested will also leave unimpaired the protection of the general principle now in the Constitution that all property shall be taxed by a uniform rule, except in so far as the modification applies to solvent credits.

As an assurance to the people of the State that the General Assembly would never use this authority oppressively, the commission recommends that the limitations be placed in the amendment to the constitution that the tax cannot be applied to incomes of less than $1,000 to unmaried persons and $1,500 to husband and wife, and that, under no schedule of graduated rates shall the rate exceed six per cent on large incomes. Within these limitations the matter would be left to the discretion of the General Assembly.

The Budget System

While not clearly within its scope, the commission considers the collection and expenditure of public revenue closely related, and that the exercise of authority on both sides of the ledger should not only be the subject of constant watchcare, but that the most systematic measures of safeguard should be provided against excesses in either the levying and collection of public revenue, or in its expenditure.

With the rapid growth of public expenditures, the use of the budget system is rapidly coming into favor in American States. The hurried sessions of the General Assemblies do not furnish ample opportunities, even with the most patriotic and painstaking service of appropriation committees, to make complete survey of all the avenues of public expenditure. We earnestly recommend to the early consideration of the General Assembly the creation of some authority, clothed with ample power of investigation, whose duty it shall be to scrutinize every avenue of expenditure of public funds, to make diligent investigation of future necessities, and to have prepared for the General Assembly when it meets a budget of proposed appropriations combined into one bill. With its work thus blocked out in advance, the Appropriations Committees would have time to make such ample investigations as would be satisfactory to the General Assembly and the people of the State.

Budget Commissions have been created in many States, and composed in a wide variety of ways. While the work of such a commission is recommendatory, its work is highly important, and it should be constituted in close proximity to the General Assembly.

5—Senate
touch with the people. The expenditure of public money is preëminently the function of the direct representatives of the people. As a suggestion for consideration we recommend that such a commission be created by this General Assembly on the opening day of its session, and that the chairman of the Committees on Finance and Appropriations at each session of the General Assembly, together with the Governor of the State, constitute the Budget Commission to report to the succeeding General Assembly, and with provision that no bill carrying appropriation from the State Treasury shall be considered by the General Assembly until the general budget bill shall have been passed, and that no appropriation afterwards made shall be valid unless the money to pay same is in the Treasury, or unless the bill carrying the appropriation levies a special tax to pay same.

Respectfully submitted,

T. W. Bickett, Chairman.

I concur in the foregoing recommendations, but desire to say in regard to the automobile tax that I favor this at present only as a means of meeting the present deficit in the State Treasury, and do not favor the increase of this tax to be turned into the State Treasury for general purposes as a permanent system. I believe that all automobile taxes, as a general rule, should be used for the purpose of creating a State Public Road Fund. I concur in this recommendation only as a temporary measure.

I desire to further recommend that the present requirement that the “pauper counties,” as they are called, shall levy a special tax of fifteen cents on the one hundred dollars value of property and forty-five cents on the poll before they can participate in the distribution of “The State Equalization Fund,” be repealed. I can see no just reason why the weaker counties of the State should be “doubled taxed” before they are permitted to share in the State Equalization Fund.

F. A. LINNEY.

RESOLUTION RELATING TO THE DEATH OF PROFESSOR MARVIN HENDRICK STACY

The General Assembly of North Carolina, having heard with profound regret of the death of Professor Marvin Hendrick Stacy, Professor of Civil Engineering and Chairman of the Faculty of the University of North Carolina, who died at his home in Chapel Hill on Tuesday, January 21, 1919, is desirous of expressing its sense of the loss which the University and State have thereby sustained.

A graduate of the University and for sixteen years a member of its faculty, Professor Stacy had risen from the position of Instructor in Mathematics to that of Professor of Civil Engineering and Dean of the College of Liberal Arts, and had fulfilled the several trusts which had been committed to him with such efficiency and fidelity to duty as to win the complete confidence of students, faculty, and trustees. Upon the death of the late President Edward Kidder Graham he was at once placed in charge of the administration of the affairs of the University as Chairman of the Faculty, which position, at the time of his death, he was filling with great ability and promise.

Therefore be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, That in the death of Professor Stacy the University and the State have lost a public servant whose career marked him as a teacher endowed with high powers of inspiration, as a counselor of sound judgment, and as a man of high and lofty ideals of service and broad, liberal sympathies.

Resolved, further, That these resolutions be spread upon the Journals of the Senate and the House of Representatives as a testimonial of the high esteem in which the people of North Carolina held Professor Stacy as a man, and their confidence in him as an educational leader.

Resolved, third, That the Secretary of State have a copy of these resolutions transmitted to the family of the deceased.

Upon motion of Senator Beddingfield, the resolution is adopted.

RESOLUTION EXTENDING THE SYMPATHIES OF THE SENATE TO SENATOR H. E. STACY

Whereas, the members of the Senate have heard with sincerest sorrow of the death of Professor M. H. Stacy, Chairman of the Faculty of the University of North Carolina and brother of our colleague and friend, Senator H. E. Stacy, Senator from the Twelfth District;

Now, therefore, be it resolved, That individually and as a body we extend to Senator Stacy and the other members of his family our sincerest sympathy in their bereavement.

Upon motion of Senator Price, the resolution is adopted.

Principal Clerk.
The following message is received from the Governor:

To the General Assembly:

In my biennial message I recommended that the Department of Agriculture be authorized to erect for its own use a building in keeping with the magnitude and the dignity of the industry it represents.

A bill providing for such a building has been introduced. After the introduction of this bill it appeared that the authorities of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Engineering needed a building for taking care of the extension workers who have headquarters at the college. This Agricultural Extension work, which is most vital, is done under the auspices of a joint committee composed of five representatives of the Department of Agriculture and five representatives of the college. The Governor is ex-officio chairman of this joint committee.

On last Friday there was a meeting of the joint committee, and after a conference that lasted for three hours, the Governor was unanimously requested by the committee to submit to the General Assembly his own views. In submitting these views I am not speaking as the representative of the college, or the department, or the joint committee, but as the representative of all the people of North Carolina.

I recommend:

1. That only one building be authorized.

2. That this building be erected on the grounds of the Agricultural and Engineering College.

3. That the Home Demonstration work, which is done by women and with women, be concentrated at the State Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro, and that all workers in this department be quartered there.

The argument in favor of a single building is the saving of $150,000, and this is an argument that we are not in a position to ignore. The entire forces of the Agricultural Department and of the Extension Workers located at Raleigh can be taken care of in a single building costing $250,000, and to spend an additional $150,000 to provide quarters for only a portion of these workers would be a wasteful expenditure of the people's money.

This one building ought to be located on the college grounds for the following reasons:

1. It would be practically impossible for some of these Extension Workers to work elsewhere. Their work is so vitally related to the college that it cannot be done efficiently at any other place than on the college grounds.

2. It would be helpful to the Department of Agriculture to be located on the college grounds. The presence of the large body of young men earnestly endeavoring to master the science of good farming would be a constant inspiration to every official in the department. The college is the mill from which the department must draw its office experts and its trained field workers unless it goes outside the State of North Carolina to get them. It would be immensely helpful to the department to be able to see every day the processes of this mill.

3. In my opinion a much larger number of farmers would visit the department in the course of the year if it should be located on the college grounds.
than visit it at the present time. Every State meeting of an agricultural kind that is held in Raleigh is always held at the college. The farmers who come for the short course during the winter, the farmers and their wives who come to the Farmers' Congress during the winter, the farmers who come to the State Fair, would necessarily be thrown in contact with the work of the department.

The presence of the department would be immensely helpful to the college, and I earnestly submit that the department should take precisely the same interest in the work of the college as any normal father takes in the work of his son. The college is the natural child of the department. It would be an inspiration to the young men to have ever before their eyes the great work the Department of Agriculture is doing for the farm life of the State, and to see the emphasis the State is placing on the importance of this work. Again, the students could fill minor positions in the department, and many a poor boy could in this way be helped along in his agricultural course.

Again, the very bigness of the thing would be helpful. We would have out there a great agricultural power plant sending its forces to every part of the State, and touching farm life at every point. The companionship, the constant elbow touch, would be helpful both to the college and to the department. Every student who left there would know and tell about the work of the department. Every field worker of the department would know and tell about the college. Under this plan it is my belief that the number of students at the college that take the agricultural course would in a very short time be more than doubled.

The Home Demonstration Work should be concentrated at the State Normal and Industrial College for the same reason that the work for the men and boys is concentrated at Raleigh.

This plan would release to the State the lot now occupied by the Department of Agriculture. On this lot there could be erected a great memorial building in honor of the soldiers who represented North Carolina in the world war. In this building could be preserved all the records and relics and souvenirs of the war, and all the material now preserved and collected in the Hall of History. It would be a part of and connected with the Museum, so that the exhibitions in the Museum and those in the memorial building could be seen at the same time.

In this building there could be, and should be, provided not less than twenty first-class committee rooms for the use of the General Assembly. Nothing would do more to enable the members to do their work with intelligence and dispatch than convenient and commodious rooms.

The Department of the Adjutant General, that is now crowding the Health Department out of rooms that it sorely needs, could also be taken care of in this memorial building. It would be a very suitable and proper place for the housing of the department that was the clearing house for the State's work in the war.

Respectfully submitted,

T. W. Bickett,

This, the 29th day of January, 1919.

Committee Report

Report of Special Committee appointed under a Senate resolution offered by Senator Haymore authorizing investigation and compilation of certain statistics

Your committee, under the resolution offered by the Senator from Surry, asking for a report on certain matters connected with the State-wide Road Bill 196, respectfully report as follows:

1. That the proposed appropriation for Federal aid funds is a rider to the Postoffice Appropriation bill, and there is every reason to believe that this bill will pass, and that the appropriation for good roads in this and other states will be available. We attach hereto certain communications which may be of interest to the Senate, and which we believe make it incumbent on this General Assembly to make proper provision to the end that North Carolina may receive her part of this Federal aid.

9—Senate
2. Of course it is impossible for your committee to give the exact locations of the various roads constituting the State highway system, but we can state with sufficient definiteness, we believe, to the satisfaction of the members of the General Assembly, that the roads will run by the most practical routes from county seat to county seat and to the important towns in every county in the State. Your committee believes this is the fairest method of locating the State roads, as in this way there is no danger of any community being overlooked or slighted. This method will insure to the State a magnificent system of hard-surfaced roads in every part of the State, and at the same time will not in any way interfere with the county system of roads, except that it will relieve the various counties of the burdens of the roads which comprises the State highways and leave the counties free to build up their subsidiary and connecting roads.

3. Your committee is strongly of the opinion that there should be a minority representative upon the State Highway Commission, and beg to report that under the present commission and under the law as at present written, there is such representation. The present commission consists of the Governor of the State, the Engineer of the State School of Agriculture and Engineering, who is at present also the president of said institution, the Professor of Civil Engineering at the State University, the State Geologist, and three men appointed by the Governor, as follows: E. C. Duncan, Wake County, Guy V. Roberts, Madison County, the Hon. Bennet Cameron, who resigned to become a member of the General Assembly, from Durham County. The terms of all the members of the commission expire in April, 1919.

A minority of the committee is of the opinion that it would be better to amend chapter 113 of the Laws of 1915, which is the State Highway Commission Bill, and provides for a State Highway Commission consisting of the Governor, State Geologist, a professor of civil engineering of the University of North Carolina, and a professor of the North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering, and ten members, one from each congressional district, to be appointed by the Governor, three of whom shall belong to the minority party.

The majority of your committee is of the opinion that this commission so represented and consisting of fourteen members will be entirely too large and unwieldy and the majority recommend that chapter 113 of the Laws of 1915 be amended by making the commission to consist of the Governor, State Commission Bill, and provide for a State Highway Commission consisting of the eastern section of the State, one from the western section of the State, and one from the central section of the State, one of the members to be appointed by the Governor to be of the minority party.

Your whole committee believes it would add to the efficiency of the commission if the appointed members be paid such reasonable amount in addition to their expenses as would justify them in giving more time to their very important duties.

Your committee believes that these amendments should be to the original act of 1915 and not to the measure now pending before the Senate.

4. That while your committee believes that the State of North Carolina can sufficiently trust the commission now provided by law or the commissions provided by either of the plans hereinbefore suggested, and that such commission or commissions would render most efficient and faithful service to the State, yet we believe that good business would suggest that all the books and accounts of the commission should be audited annually by a certified public accountant, to be paid for by the State, and that the report of such accountant should be made to the Governor. Your committee would also suggest an amendment to the pending measure a provision that the said State Highway Commission should provide at least twenty working camps and outfits, and that two of said camps and outfits should be employed in each congressional district.

And that we further report that the introducers of the bill have agreed to prepare an amendment to this effect and offer same when the bill comes up on its second reading before the Senate.

Respectfully submitted,
R. D. Sisk,
HENRY B. STEVENS,
A. M. SCALES,
Committee.

The General Assembly of North Carolina, having heard with great sorrow of the death of Dr. Kemp Plummer Battle, Professor Emeritus of History and former President of the University of North Carolina, who died at his home in Chapel Hill on the 4th day of February, 1919, is desirous of expressing its sense of loss which is thus brought to the University and to the State.

Whereas, for almost three-quarters of a century the life of our State has been enriched by the example of his unselfish devotion to duty as educator, statesmen and public official; and,

Whereas, after the blighting effects of the Civil War the State University was reopened and revitalized largely through his efforts, and under his leadership as President, and foundations were laid for growth and expansion to its present large and useful place in the life of our people; and,

Whereas, as teacher, author, and public speaker, Dr. Battle has rendered invaluable service in the promotion of historical research and the preservation of the historical records of our State, and as a citizen he has exemplified the highest ideals of a cultured gentleman and has, in all of his relations with his fellow-man, displayed the true type of a Christian:

Now, Therefore, Be it Resolved, by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring:

That in the death of Dr. Battle the University and the State of North Carolina have lost a public servant whose career marked him as a teacher with a genius for inspiring his students, as an adviser of sound judgment, as a friend of sympathetic nature and of wide and splendid ideals of public service, whose long and useful life has been devoted unselfishly to the promotion of education, moral uplift, and all things that are helpful in the betterment of our people; whose life has been an inspiration to the younger generations that have come under his influence, and whose career should forever be a shining example to those who shall come hereafter.

Resolved further, That this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the Senate and the House of Representatives as a testimony of the high esteem in which the people of North Carolina held Dr. Battle as a man and their confidence in him as a public servant, and their admiration of his splendid life's work.

Be it further resolved, That a committee consisting of three members of the Senate, to be named by the President of the Senate, and five members of the House of Representatives, to be named by the Speaker, be appointed to attend the funeral of Dr. Battle.

The following communication is received from the Secretary of State:

Hon. J. Bryan Grimes,

Secretary of State, Raleigh, North Carolina.

My dear Mr. Secretary: I am transmitting to you herewith copy of letter which I have received today from the Secretary of War in response to my letter transmitting to him copy of the joint resolution of the North Carolina General Assembly with respect to the demobilization of the Thirtieth Division and to the desire of North Carolina to review these troops in a celebration to be held in the city of Raleigh.

I am very much pleased to know that the Secretary of War is making an effort to devise a plan under which the desire of the General Assembly and of the people of North Carolina can be gratified. I think, myself, that it is of the first importance that the people of North Carolina be given a chance to publicly show to our troops while their organizations are still intact the evidences of our love and of our appreciation of the gallant services the troops have rendered and of the heroic sacrifices they have made for America and for the cause of Liberty throughout the world. You may be assured that I shall use every proper means within my power to meet the wishes of the people of North Carolina in this matter.

With assurances of high esteem, I am

Very truly yours,

F. M. Simmons.

MY DEAR SENATOR SIMMONS: I have just received your letter of the 6th, transmitting a copy of the joint resolution of the General Assembly of North Carolina, expressing the desire of the people of that State for an opportunity to review the troops of the State contained in the Thirtieth Division of the American Expeditionary Forces, and suggesting demobilization at Camp Greene, with an opportunity for a visit to Raleigh.

I have had the whole matter of visits by organized bodies of troops to State capitals and other cities studied with a view to facilitating as far as possible such visits. I agree with you entirely that the soldiers are entitled to these welcomes from their friends at home, and that their friends are entitled to see the splendid condition in which the boys return, not as individuals, but in all the pride and beauty of their organized strength. We have already been able to do a good deal of this, but I am sure few people realize what the railroad service means in moving a division of troops. About 500 men can travel on one train, a division of 25,000 men would require 50 trains, and if the distance was of any length it would require one-half of all the tourist sleeping car equipment of the country to be assembled at one place, at one time, to move the troops.

However, we are studying the problem constantly, and as each organization is scheduled to return we endeavor to find out how we can afford it the fullest opportunity of being seen in its home State and among its friends. I will have the question of the Thirtieth Division especially studied, and will reply to you fully with regard to it as the study is completed.

Cordially yours,

Newton D. Baker,
Secretary of War.

State Capitol, Raleigh, North Carolina.

My Dear Governor: I am inexpressibly shocked, this morning, to find in the copy of the Raleigh News and Observer of February 19, 1919, just come to hand, an account of the dissatisfaction publicly expressed by members of the North Carolina Legislature, and other prominent officials, with the passage of my printed report dealing with resistance to the draft in that State. Needless to say, it is a matter of the deepest concern to myself to discover that the statements in any part of that report are not consonant with the facts as understood by those who know them, that I regret profoundly that anything contained therein has given just ground for the sentiments recorded in the interviews printed in the Raleigh News and Observer.

Let me say at the outset that you will do me a great favor if you will take the earliest opportunity to convey to those members of the Legislature who have noticed the matter my expressions of sincere regret that anything was found in the report reflecting unjustly upon the honor of the State in respect of the attitude of any portion of its population towards the draft. It has been a matter of constant observation in this office that the draft was administered in the State of North Carolina in a manner to reflect the greatest pride upon both the Government and citizens of that State; and at various parts of my printed report you will find ample data testifying to North Carolina's splendid record in the raising of America's greatest army. In the administration of this office it has been my assiduous effort, and I believe, with a success virtually universal in every State, to maintain the most harmonious relations between the Federal and the State authorities in the administration of the Selective Draft. And I take this opportunity to place on record my personal appreciation of your whole hearted cooperation with the Federal Government and of the splendid results achieved under your direction by the entire Selective Service administration in the State of North Carolina, and especially for the admirable solution by you of the unusual difficulties connected with draft resistance. In this connection I must especially add my satisfaction at the admirable solution achieved by you in handling the particular situation which arose at the time referred to in the above cited instance.

The explanation of the unfortunate quotation in my report of the newspaper account which has been criticised is as follows:

During the year and a half before the armistice this office had received notice both from official correspondence and otherwise of the existence of a few scattered instances of disturbances in five States, viz., Michigan, Montana, North Carolina, Oklahoma and Texas. Not having received any official statement of the scope and meaning of these disturbances and being desirous to present a concise but accurate record of them in my report to the Secretary of War. I sent out on November 27, 1918, a letter, identical in form to the military aides of the governors in charge of the draft in these five states.

In this letter I stated that "I want to know with entire accuracy all the incidents of the draft disturbances that have occurred," and I requested the officers to "collect the salient facts and send them to me," requesting an early reply. Within the next two weeks I received replies from the military aides in Montana, Oklahoma and Texas. None, however, was received from North Carolina. I have no doubt that in some unfortunate manner not understood by me, my letter miscarried. However, my annual report was due, and I was therefore obliged to prepare a short account from such unofficial information as was available. In my office had been collected a large number of newspaper clippings, all of which agreed substantially in their account of the incidents. With the desire of using the account that would substantially portray the facts and retain at the same time the human interest features, the one selected was the one that appears in the report. This clipping had been on file in this office, and there was nothing in the remainder of our files to throw doubt upon its correctness. It was considerably cut down from its original form and, as was supposed, there was eliminated any journalistic expressions which might be interpreted as unfair or exaggerated. A comparison of the text as printed in my report with the original account by the journalist will exhibit this. Printed as it was, and not as any part of the text of the report, but as a quotation from a journalist's account, it was supposed that its chief value lay in its presentation of the human interest of the incident and in its revelation of the splendid faith in human nature shown by the local boards in those districts, and in the manly and unique response to that faith which was evoked from the recalcitrant selectives.

The incident does, when judged in its large aspects, serve as a lesson to the people of the United States that the heartless and unsympathetic enforcement of the rigid letter of the law was a method not chosen by the Selective Service officials of North Carolina and serves as a testimony to the efficacy of tact and humanity in the administration of a drastic law. Your own conduct in applying similar methods in Ashe County has always seemed to me a splendid instance of the way in which the State authorities, by the use of fine tact and judgment demonstrated that it was possible when a community was treated reasonably and humanely, to secure results which would have been impossible under tactless and unsympathetic methods of administration.

It was in fact with the view of illustrating to the people of the United States the wisdom of employing such methods in the enforcement of such law that the incident in North Carolina was deemed to be of value for general observation and imitation of its lessons. That the specific account printed contained errors of fact is a matter of the deepest regret. But I believe that the general result of the whole incident as a lesson in government administration is not thereby impaired. Read in this light, I feel that the incident, in its final results will be interpreted by all readers as adding to the credit of the administration of the draft in that State and of the character of its people. A comparison with some of the more extensive disturbances which took place in other states will indicate not, perhaps, that the same methods would necessarily have succeeded there, but that at any rate North Carolina's method stands out as a particular success. Judged by the result, the handling of the few recalcitrant selectives in North Carolina is one of the real successes of the draft and is typical of the frank and American method of meeting difficulties.

With the view to correcting inaccuracies of fact and expression occurring in the account quoted, I am now going to ask you at your earliest convenience to furnish me with an account which will stand as the permanent official record, such an account, I mean, as I should have been glad to receive in response to my letter of November 27, which unfortunately miscarried. I shall see that the account as furnished by yourself or under your direction is substituted in the official report to the Secretary of War, and I shall take all possible measures to give the proper corrective publicity. Trusting that in view of the explanations that have been made this will render the satisfaction which is justly due, I am.

Yours faithfully,

E. H. Crowder,
Provost Marshal General.

The following communication is received by the President of the Senate from Messrs. W. L. Lambert and J. C. McBe of Bakersville, N. C. respecting the report of E. H. Crowder, Provost Marshal General, United States War Department:

Hon. O. Max Gardner,
President of the Senate of North Carolina, Raleigh.

Dear Sir: Enclosed please find findings of the Local Exemption Board, Legal Advisory Board, and the Government Appeal Agent of Mitchell County, North Carolina, sitting in joint session, which we would be glad that you would have read in the Senate by the Reading Clerk, in regard to the scurrilous and slanderous article in the Provost Marshal General's report in regard to North Carolina in general and Mitchell County in particular.

We are sending copy of same to Speaker Brummitt of the House.

Thanking you in advance, we are

Yours very truly,

W. L. Lambert,
John C. McBe.

From: Local Board of Exemptions for Mitchell County, North Carolina, sitting in joint session with the Legal Advisory Board of said county together with the Government Appeal Agent.

Subject: Second report of the Provost Marshal General, ending 20 December, 1918, calling attention to heading "North Carolina" on pages 210, 211, and 212 of said report, down to the words "Ashe County" on page 212 of said report.

Sir: The above mentioned selective service officers for Mitchell County, North Carolina, have had their attention called to the above referred-to portion of your report, and more particularly to the story told by one Robert W. Hobbs, which you have incorporated into your report.

We desire to say very frankly to you that we consider this article a vile slander and a calumny upon the fair name of our county, and we wish to assure you that every citizen of Mitchell County is indignant and resents the vile insinuations and falsehoods contained therein. There is just enough truth in this article to lend color to it and to afford a leg upon which to build it, and the story itself is the product of an abnormal, diseased, and possibly a drunken imagination.

There is no such mountain in North Carolina as "Tar Heel." The North Carolinians obtained the name "Tar Heel" because a brigade of North Carolinians in the Civil War under Gen. A. P. Hill were the last soldiers to leave the hill at the battle of "Seven Oaks." We have furnished our proper quota toward making the world safe for democracy, and our people are very much alive to the fact that Woodrow Wilson is now President of the United States.

We are connected with the outside world both by telephone and telegraph and have forty miles of up-to-date railroad running entirely through our county, and we also have the reputation, based on fact, of having the best horse stock of any county in this State. We are justly proud of the fact that we are undiluted descendants of the early English settlers, being of the purest strain of Anglo-Saxon blood.

It is true that, at the time referred to, Mitchell County had thirteen deserters and a small number of delinquents. It is also true that several other counties in this State had from fifty up to two hundred and forty-eight deserters at the same time, as will be shown by series 303-A, issued from the Governor's office at Raleigh, North Carolina, 22 June, 1918; so it will be shown that Mitchell County, according to the official records, was far below the average in this State in desertions and delinquency; and so far there has been practically no reference made in the press or otherwise to conditions in the other counties of this State with, possibly, the exception of Ashe County, and the citizenship of Mitchell County justly feel that they have been harshly dealt with.

The reward offered by the Government for deserters absolutely failed to stir the officers of the law to any activity toward their apprehension, and there were no trails guarded, no artificial hooting of the owl or cooing of the dove, and no posses organized to hunt these men, and never at any time any danger whatever of a pitched battle with these boys.

Mr. Handy, special agent of the Department of Justice, did not go out among the people and did not deal with the people at large whatever, and so far as any of the members of these boards know, he was never outside of the town of Bakersville except passing along the public road from Toecane to Bakersville; and all the statements as to his traveling out among the people above referred to are certainly not founded upon truth. Mr. Handy did not issue any passes whatever to any of these men, and the pass incorporated in this article was written by the chairman of the local board and approved by Mr. Handy in the lower left hand margin.

When Mr. Handy was here he was shown every courtesy and consideration by all members of these boards and by all the citizens with whom he came in contact, but he abused our hospitality and lowered the prestige of the Government and his position by becoming intoxicated in the town of Bakersville upon "moonshine whiskey" furnished him by Ben Franklin, one of the deserters.

The chairman of the local board notified Mr. Handy what day to come and meet the deserters and go with them to camp and had all of them in the courthouse awaiting Mr. Handy's arrival, and the thirteen deserters were taken to camp by Mr. Handy and the chairman of the local board, and every one of the said deserters paid his own way to camp, and there was never any form of resistance on the part of the deserters either before the arrival of Mr. Handy or after, except that they had just failed to return to camp upon the request of the chairman of said local board. They had not been bothered by any officers or other persons.

In view of all of the foregoing and in justice to all members of these boards and all other citizens of Mitchell County, we most respectfully request that you expunge from your said report the article above referred to, and if it is impossible to so expunge the record, then we urgently request that you issue a supplemental report correcting said error and give same the widespread publicity that has been given to your said report.

Respectfully submitted this 21st day of February, 1919.

LOCAL EXEMPTION BOARD FOR MITCHELL COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA,

By John C. McBee, Chairman.

J. R. Young, Secretary.

LEGAL ADVISORY BOARD FOR MITCHELL COUNTY.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE:

The income tax amendment is the most vital measure before this General Assembly. The proposed amendment is the essence of equity and opens the door to a model system of taxation in North Carolina. North Carolina is the only state in the American Union where the General Assembly is denied the right to levy such a tax if it is deemed wise and just to do so.

The proposed amendment levies no tax. It simply gives the General Assembly the power to levy it whenever in its wisdom it may see fit to do so. The Senate is not called upon to say whether or not the General Assembly should have such power, but you are called upon to say whether or not the people of North Carolina shall be given an opportunity to register their opinion on this question.

A Senator may be conscientiously opposed to an income tax, but it does not follow that he should deny to the people the same opportunity to express their conscientious convictions as he claims for himself.

The Special Tax Commission was composed of Mr. Frank Linney, chairman of the Republican Executive Committee; Mr. J. Z. Green, State Lecturer and Organizer of the Farmers Union; Mr. Henry A. Page, State Food Administrator, a legislator of large experience and a man with wide business connections; the chairman of the Corporation Commission, intimately acquainted with tax conditions in every State in the Union; Mr. Jas. H. Pou, known throughout the State for his broad sympathies with the business life of the State; Mr. Vance Brown, of Asheville, a man of large property interests and who has taken a great interest in all questions of taxation; and the Governor of the State.

This commission, with the exception of Mr. Brown, who did not object to the income tax, but to other features of the report, unanimously recommended the submission of this amendment. The bill was introduced in the House by Hon. R. A. Doughton, Ex-Lieutenant Governor and Ex-Speaker of the House, a legislator of wide experience and conservative patriotism; was referred to the committee, and after a full and thorough discussion was reported favorably by a unanimous vote and passed the House by a unanimous vote—one hundred and four members voting for it and not one against it.

So far as I am advised not a single newspaper in the State has written an editorial against it, and very many of them have written strong editorials in its favor. The Governor of the State, who, however violent the supposition may be, is at least supposed to be in touch with the thought of the State, earnestly insisted upon the submission of this amendment—in his biennial message.

This is an array of public opinion almost without parallel in the history of legislation in North Carolina. And in view of this public opinion I earnestly desire every Senator to put to himself this question: Although I personally may believe that taxes ought not to be levied on incomes, still in the face of the universal demand for this amendment, can I conscientiously say by my vote that the people of North Carolina shall not be allowed to register their opinions on this question?

A refusal to allow the people to be heard on this question could not be interpreted in any other light than that the Senate of North Carolina is afraid to trust the people on this vital question. Such a refusal would be a blunder that no mortal man could defend on the stump, and I earnestly beg the Assembly not to commit that blunder.

The men who are so deeply in earnest about this matter are not red-headed revolutionists, they are not wild-eyed reformers, they are not utopian dreamers. They are sane, conservative men who frankly recognize that new conditions demand new remedies. If the Senate of North Carolina shall turn a deaf ear to these quiet, thoughtful men, I greatly fear that a reaction will take place in North Carolina that will land extremists in the saddle. All I ask, gentlemen, is that you allow the people to pass upon this vital question, and I am always content to abide their judgment. Respectfully,

February 28, 1919.

T. W. Bickett.

Message from the House of Representatives

A message is received from the House of Representatives as follows:

Mr. President: It is ordered that a message be sent to the Senate inviting your honorable body into the hall of the House, to hear an address by his Excellency, Governor Bickett, at once.

Respectfully,
ALEX. LASSITER,
Principal Clerk.

Upon motion of Senator Brown the President appointed Senator Ferebee and Senator Stevens as a committee on the part of the Senate to wait upon the Governor, and thereupon the Senate proceeded to the hall of the House of Representatives. His Excellency, the Governor, delivered the following address:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

If the General Assembly were not in session and some stranger should appear in any county in North Carolina and say: "I see that your county has no good road connecting it with the surrounding counties; this is a serious disadvantage to the people of your county; and if you would like to link up with the outside world and become a part of the system of roads that would connect you with every other county in North Carolina, I will put up three-fourths of the cost of such road or roads, if you will put up one-fourth." I am satisfied that the attitude of any county in North Carolina to such a proposition would be the same as the attitude of Zeb Vance on a certain occasion. The story runs that while Vance was a member of the General Assembly some member arose one day and said that there was a man in Raleigh who proposed to build the Western North Carolina Railroad from Old Fort to Asheville. Vance immediately arose from his seat and exclaimed: "Mr. Speaker, I move that we do now adjourn and go out and catch that man."

It is passing strange that because this identical proposition is made by the State instead of an individual there is a disposition on the part of some members from counties who would reap the largest benefits to reject the proposition because the offer is not made to put up all the money instead of three-fourths. This attitude is not unlike that of the pauper who was being carried to the poor house. A kind-hearted stranger said to the driver of the wagon, "Why are you carrying this man to the poor house?" Said the driver, "Because he is so poor that he has not got a bushel of corn." Said the stranger, "I will give him a bushel of corn." The pauper looked up and inquired, "Is it shelled?" "No," said the stranger, "it is in the ear." Said the pauper, "Drive on."

God Almighty will not help a man who refuses to make a reasonable effort to help himself; and if there be a county in North Carolina so dead to the desirability of a good road that will link it up with the balance of the State as to be unwilling to pay one-fourth of the cost of such road, then that county ought to be recommended to the kindly ministration of some foreign missionary board.

Gentlemen, I know North Carolina. I have been in every county in it, and I speak as one having authority when I say there is not a county in all our borders, not one that will refuse such an offer if the county really needs the road. If it does not need it, then it would fall outside the scope and purpose of this legislation. I know North Carolina so well that I am willing to absolutely guarantee that under the Mull-McCoin bill there will at once be claims for more money than any highway commission can wisely and economically expend within the next two years. We cannot afford to waste money even though we raise one-half of it through taxes paid to the Federal Government.

North Carolina is in no financial condition to build a state-wide system of roads costing from twenty to forty thousand dollars a mile. We do not need such a system, and what we do not need is costly at any price. We need a State system that will link up every county with roads that are reasonably good. The first duty of the State is to provide a fairly satisfactory road service to all of the people; and when this has been done we can consider the building of high-priced roads. I am unwilling to endorse any system that will enable a small fraction of our people to glide over concrete or asphalt while the ninety and nine flounder in mud. There may be here and there a section where there is such a congestion of wealth and population and such a density of traffic as to justify these high-price, hard-surface roads, but there are not enough of them to be seriously considered in framing a state-wide policy.

If the selection of the commissioners shall be left to the Governor I want the General Assembly to understand that I shall take pains to select men in sympathy with these views. I deem it fair to you to say this much to the end that if you are not in sympathy with these views you may lodge the appointive power elsewhere.

I also desire to say that I hope the Governor will not be made a member of any commission that may be created. I know nothing about practical road building, and the members of the commission should be men who can get right down to brass tacks and see to it that the State gets in labor and material one hundred cents in value for every dollar expended. I deem it proper to add that if you shall see fit to clothe the Governor with the responsibility of appointing the members of the commission, I shall not feel under any sort of obligation to name any member of the present commission. I shall conscientiously endeavor to find the men who are best qualified to discharge the duties of the office, and the fact that a man is on the present commission will not militate either in favor of or against his appointment. I say this much to the end that if the General Assembly does not endorse this attitude the appointive power may be lodged elsewhere.

The Mull-McCoin bill is, in my judgment, just and fair in itself, and it eliminates any necessity for a bond issue. I am emphatically and eternally opposed to a bond issue and for several reasons:

1. It is not a supreme necessity, and only such a necessity could justify such a course. The proponents of the bond policy themselves confess that it is not intended to be permanent. Gentlemen, North Carolina cannot afford to make a four million dollar experiment. If the bond plan is to be permanent it will pile up a State debt that we cannot afford to carry. If it is not to be a permanent plan, then a great injustice will have been done those sections of the State that have not been reached when the plan shall be abandoned.

2. Again, no member of this body was sent here on a platform proposition to pile up the bonded indebtedness of this State to many times its present total. The folks at home are entitled to be heard before we can embark upon such a policy. Representing no particular county, thinking of no particular locality, but earnestly desiring to serve the State in its entirety, I file a solemn protest against the issuance of these bonds. Some member said to me the other day that it looked like somebody would have to be held responsible for the present road situation. I do not for one moment shirk from the responsibility that rests upon me in the premises. I assume entire responsibility for the refusal of the General Assembly to burden the State with a four million dollar bond issue to build these roads. I assume entire responsibility for a refusal to embark upon such a policy until the people can be heard from. But, gentlemen, if you refuse to pass any law that does not carry a bond issue, then you assume responsibility for such a course.

It is freely admitted that anything we do will be in the nature of an experiment. Defects in any law that we may adopt will doubtless appear. Mistakes in its administration will doubtless be made. We are entering an untried field, and I beg you, gentlemen, to adopt a policy that will render our mistakes as inexpensive as possible. Let's not make a four million dollar mistake in the very beginning.

This General Assembly has already made a record for constructive work of a high order. It has proceeded along progressive lines, but it has proceeded with sanity and with safety. It has not been stampeded on any measure; and I earnestly beg you to round out this record with a reasonable road law suited to the financial condition of the State, guarded from waste and extravagance and bottomed on the principle, defensible in any forum, of justice and common sense that from him to whom is given something shall be required.

MESSAGE FROM DEPARTMENT OF STATE AUDITOR

To the Honorable Senate of North Carolina:

In response to your resolution March 1, 1919, that reached this office March 4th, reading as follows: "That the Auditor is requested to report to the Senate the amount of the pension fund not distributed to pensioners and covered into the treasury for the last ten years," I herewith give you the information requested, in total and by years:

Please allow me to call your attention to the fact that up until the 1917 session of the Legislature the various classes of pensions were fixed at certain amounts by law, and these amounts could not be exceeded. Chapter 204, Laws 1917, changed this. Section 2 of that act reads:

"That the State Auditor is hereby authorized, empowered, and directed to so apportion, distribute, and divide the money provided by this act, and to issue warrants to the several pensioners, pro rata, in their respective grades; that the entire annual appropriation of five hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars shall be paid each year to the pensioners, notwithstanding the amounts so paid in excess of the amounts fixed in section one of this act for the several grades: Provided, that the total appropriations under this or any other act shall not exceed the sum of five hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars ($575,000) annually."

It is almost impossible to expend the entire appropriation for the reason that you cannot accurately calculate on the deaths that take place between the filing of the application for pension and the paying of the warrant.

In 1918 I issued warrants to the amount of $589,000—$14,000 more than the total appropriation—and yet there was only paid out in that year $560,496, or $14,504 less than the annual appropriation.

Respectfully submitted,

W. P. Wood,
State Auditor.

Upon motion of Senator Gray the Senate adjourns to meet tonight at 8 o'clock.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

In my biennial message to the General Assembly I said:

"The State is a party to an awful crime against childhood when it permits idiots and imbeciles to perpetuate their species. The law very properly forbids the marriage of these unfortunate creatures, and it should be equally diligent in preventing their illicit increase. The State should take steps to render it impossible for any person adjudged by a competent board to be an incurable mental defective to transmit that infirmity to generations unborn; such a law would be the essence of humanity and of common sense."

The principle above announced has been endorsed by the North Carolina Social Conference and by the Federated Women's Clubs of North Carolina. A bill embodying the above principle has been introduced and favorably reported. The bill has the sanction of the wisest and humanest medical men in the United States. It is not punishment. It is mercy to make provisions of this kind. It is protection to the patient and loving-kindness to generations yet unborn. I earnestly beg the General Assembly to pass a bill that will mightily tend to save these unfortunate creatures from the consequences of their own infirmities, and will in the course of time decrease the number of these people who are now increasing at a rate so rapid that it is impossible for the State to build houses in which to keep them.

Respectfully,

T. W. Bickett.

This March 7, 1919.

The following communications are received and read:

HON. O. MAX GARDNER,

Lieutenant Governor and President of the Senate,

Raleigh, North Carolina.

MY DEAR MR. PRESIDENT:  Further referring to the subject-matter of my telegram to you this morning, I am handing you herewith copy of a letter which I have just received from the Hon. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War.

May I not express to you, and through you, to the State Senate, how very much I am gratified by the decision of Secretary Baker to send at least one regiment of North Carolina troops to Raleigh?  I earnestly hope that we may be able to secure more than one regiment.

With high esteem and respect, I am

Very truly yours,

F. M. Simmons.
WAR DEPARTMENT

Washington

Hon. F. M. Simmons,

United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

March 4, 1919.

My dear Senator:—With further reference to the question of sending some of the troops of the 30th Division to Raleigh for a parade and review, I beg to inform you that we expect very shortly to receive a statement from France which will give detailed information concerning the present composition of the units of the 30th Division.

Upon receipt of this information a study will be made of it and a program outlined for sending units to the various places which have requested parades.

I am glad to inform you that at least one regiment of North Carolina troops of the 30th Division will be sent to their demobilization camp via Raleigh and will be permitted to stop over in Raleigh for the reception and parade there.

Very truly yours,

Newton D. Baker,
Secretary of War.

March 8, 1919.

Hon. O. Max Gardner,
President of the Senate, Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Sir:—I want the Senate and people of North Carolina to know that I resent with all possible emphasis the statement of Senator P. W. Glidewell on the floor last night during the debate on the child labor issue that I had threatened the manufacturers with labor antagonism on account of their hostility to me. The charges made against me by Senator Glidewell, which need not be recited to those who heard them, constitute a very serious reflection upon my official integrity, and I most earnestly request a speedy investigation of the entire proposition by the Senate, either before adjournment, or immediately thereafter.

It has come to a pretty pass in North Carolina when a representative of the people feels privileged to attack a State official on the floor of the General Assembly upon rumor, and I respectfully submit that the public, as well as myself, is entitled to thorough investigation of the groundless charge made by Senator Glidewell that I stated the manufacturers were antagonistic to me and that I desired this legislation in order to get even with them, and had 300,000 working men behind me.

This is a specific charge which I demand shall be established by proof or publicly retracted.

For my part, I invite a most searching investigation of every official act of mine during the ten years I have served in the position to which the people elected me. Simple justice, man to man, demands it.

I neither asked nor expected a position on the commission created by the Neal Bill and was not aware that an amendment to place this Department in it would be offered in either branch of the Assembly. Feeling the need of effective child labor legislation at this session, I offered a bill conforming to the Federal tax amendment, and agreed to nothing else. However, this is neither here nor there now.

Please take the usual course in starting the investigation, for which I am asking and to which I am entitled.

Most respectfully,

M. L. Shipman,
Commissioner.

APPENDIX

ADDRESS

By Hon. Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, Delivered Before the General Assembly, Thursday, February 13, 1919

"Are there any who doubt man's capacity for self government?" asked Bancroft. "Let them," he answered, "study the history of North Carolina. Its early inhabitants were restless and turbulent in their imperfect submission to a government imposed on them from abroad. The administration of the colony was firm, humane, and tranquil when they were left to take care of themselves. Any government but one of their own institution was oppressive. With absolute freedom of conscience, benevolent reason was the simple rule of their conduct. They were tender and open, gentle to the weak, and fierce only against tyranny." And this great Massachusetts historian declared that "the first voice for dissolving all connection with Great Britain came, not from the Puritans of New England, the Dutch of New York, the planters of Virginia, but from the Scotch-Irish Presbyterians of North Carolina."

This was the estimate of no partial historian of the character and achievements of the men and women who laid deep and broad the foundations of our simple and stately commonwealth of which this dignified capital, the perfection of architectural taste, is the best symbol. We do not gather today to pay tribute to the men whose capacity for government was declared to be the model for the world. We do not come either to honor them or the brave and patriotic men of other periods of crisis, whose deeds from Moore's Creek and Gettysburg to the valorous smashing of the Hindenburg line, make them immortal. We have assembled rather to take stock of our own generation and to seek a double portion of their spirit, that we may hand down, not only unimpaired, but broadened and bettered, the institutions they bequeathed to us. They blazed paths in the primeval forests, fought against foes and hardships, and created a commonwealth where freedom was the cornerstone—freedom of worship—for they were a religious folk who were as ready to fight for their faith as for their possessions; freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom in its broadest and fullest sense. They lived the free rural life, with few near neighbors, and self-dependence begat the virtue of an independent individualism which has stood in the path of the community spirit which is as essential in our day as it was unknown among the early settlers. Nathaniel Macon held that no man should have a neighbor near enough for him to hear his dog bark. Today our civilization, by means of good roads, and schools, and communication, looks to wipe out the isolation which our fathers loved. They did not hesitate to cross the ocean to set up housekeeping on their own account uninfluenced by the ways of their fathers in the old country. We will be worthy of them by walking in new paths and refusing to be bound by the traditions of the elders or adopting the habits of life of a past generation. Our paths diverge, but our lives in fundamentals are of their mould. They faced the stern issues of their day and solved them in the light of their generation. We face, not such privations and enemies as did not deter them, but problems more complex, responsibilities more imperative, and opportunities larger than they dreamed of even in their faith in the greatness of the New World.
Some among us, in the decades of peace which preceded the great war against war—(why is not that the best name for the world war?)—may have doubted whether the young men of this generation were of the same stern stuff as the men of seventy-six and of the sixties. We were often told that the youths of our day were soft through self-indulgence and ease, flabby in moral muscle, and lacking in the fiber of their forbears. Sometimes we were tempted to believe this indictment of the young men of 1917, and if the clash of battle had not applied the acid test they might have gone to their graves dishonored in our thoughts. When the hour came—the hour when men were to decide whether life or liberty was dearest to them—there was not an instant of wavering or debate. The young men rushed to the colors more rapidly than Army and Navy could equip them; and on sea they dared the menace of the submarine and on land the suffocation of gas and the conflict with the trained legions of the Prussians. From college, from farm, and office, and factory they poured forth and neither asked nor gave quarter until Hindenburg's line was broken and the submarines enmeshed in the mine barrage. Our boys, whose fathers in the War of Brothers in the sixties were called "Tar Heels" because they stuck to their grim task, gave proof of their valor in every battle afloat and ashore in which they were engaged until in the culminating days the Thirtieth Division, the "Old Hickory," as it was fittingly called, in which North Carolina soldiers bore no small part, smashed the Hindenburg line at its most vital point.

"So near is grandeur unto dust,
So nigh is God to man
When duty whispers low, 'Thou must,'
The youth replies, 'I can.'"

In the war through which we have just passed North Carolina men and North Carolina women gave full proof that they had received their rich legacy as a trust, and the men in arms had demonstrated that they were the equals in every noble quality of the men at Guilford Court House and Kings Mountain, and at Bethel and Appomattox, at Cardenas and Santiago. To those who made the supreme sacrifice, who in the springtime of life gave all they were and all they hoped to be, and their comrades not less valiant returned yet spared to us, we shall erect noble memorials. The care and honor we shall bestow upon those Niobes who mourn them will be an unending tribute of our gratitude that they were of those who preserved liberty to the world.

The place of our soldier boys is safe. What they did will be the highest inspiration to generations unborn. Let us preserve while now their heroic deeds are fresh the story of how they dared and how they died. It has been a just criticism of our predecessors that they were so engrossed in what they did they neglected to preserve the records of chivalric deeds. Fortunately the State Historical Association had the wisdom to collect data during the days of stress, but provision should be made for its fullest collection and its publication in enduring form, not a generation later as of the annals of the deeds of the men of the sixties, but let us preserve it and print it now before time effaces many of the immortal deeds which will be a priceless heritage to us and to those who come after us.

Returning peace brings with it grave duties and the future holds promise of an achievement not yet realized. We did not fail in war. That noble period will always illumine our way. But we will be worthy of high traditions only if in the quieter days of peace we succeed in the great adventure of making our democracy as safe for the world (that part of it committed to us) as our brave soldiers and sailors made the world safe for democracy. It has been an hundred years since April 6, 1917, if we judge by what has happened in our world. Thrones have toppled, empires have passed away, civilizations have crumbled, traditions have mouldered, creeds have been shattered, temples have fallen, and all things in empires ruled by force have become as ancient as if centuries had passed, though as late as July the War God threatened the safety of Paris and the Sea Wolf gave fear to Dover. It is only a few days ago when freemen everywhere feared that right would not triumph. But we live today in a new heaven and a new earth. Suddenly, as by a miracle (who will say the hand of God was not in the machine guns of freedom?) old things have passed away, all things have become new. This is true not only of the world of the central empires which were defeated and humiliated. They indeed are groping in the darkness, hoping for a light as they stumble forward, seeking in a republic some of them are trying to model after the American pattern, to make themselves worthy of being admitted to a partnership in the League of Free Nations. It is true also in Russia—the bewildered Bear—which will find its way out of chaos into light, to be helped by America and the Allies. But we shall miss the lesson and fail to enter through the door of opportunity into the house of justice and peace if we do not realize also that this is also a New World, and that we in America will never again see the world we knew before the curse of war fell upon mankind. The same houses and trees and flowers give comfort and blessing, for devastation has not left its blot upon our fields or spires. It is a new world of ideas, a new world of thought, a new world of changed and changing duties and demands upon the threshold of which we stand today.

To the timid and the selfish there is dread and apprehension as to what this New World holds for us. Behind every tree they see Bolshevists; under every bed there is a red handed anarchist; and behind every corner they look to see a dark lantern thug who will sandbag free government and make it captive to the Reds. Wars are always followed by unrest, often by a sort of wanderlust irresponsibility, and by a period of transition that is sometimes attended by injustice and lawlessness. War lets loose dark, hidden passions of men made cruel and selfish by the shedding of blood. We may not hope to escape the results of the hell of war any more than we will fail to receive the blessing which suffering and sacrifice bring to those of the loftiest mould. But all change, all criticism of things as they are, all demands for a squarer deal by civilians and soldiers are not indications that should alarm us. The only condition that can ever give serious cause for alarm is when men lack divine dissatisfaction. The satisfied man never made a new road, or blazed new paths, or made better conditions. Let us not be unduly troubled over agitation for new laws and new things. Let us welcome advocacy of progress. Let us use the wisdom of statesmanship to work with men mastered by a desire for change for the better to be secured by peaceful methods under the laws and the constitution. But while we will welcome as coworkers all Americans who seek redress of grievances and propose even radical departures from old precedents, there is no place in America for men who substitute force for argument, who defy authority, hate the just restraints of government, and who construe liberty to mean license. There is never a principle that gives its clear meaning until it becomes incarnate.
The real spirit in the flesh that will drive out all anarchistic enemies has cheered every lover of his country during the present week. In the face of fair and liberal wages, the un-American Bolsheviks ordered a reign of terror in Seattle unless their demands were met. Business and transportation were paralyzed for a period, the brave Governor called for troops, and women and children remained indoors to escape the fury of the untamed men whose idea of freedom was borrowed from Russian mob tyranny. When the Red Flag seemed unfurled for paralysis of business, the country heard for the first time of Ole Hanson. He is a riveter by trade, who during the war was elected mayor of Seattle. He believed in good wages and fair conditions for men who toil, and he was one of the workers who cooperated with the Government in securing a just wage scale. But when men of his own craft and others raised the Red Flag, Ole Hanson, mayor, one hundred per cent American, issued his ultimatum that law and order were supreme in a great American city that had become honeycombed with the hellish teachings of anarchy. Ole Hanson spoke their language. He used no smooth words; and soon after he had made it plain that a firing squad would preserve observance to the laws, the strike was at an end. Strength to the arm of all mayors, and all governors, and all other officials like William B. Wilson, Ernest Lister and Ole Hanson; like Hanson who in this day of transition crush out anarchy as they would kill the serpent! Such men are the foes of labor as well as of liberty, and no men in America rejoice so much at the victory over the Reds in Seattle as the patriotic leaders of labor who stood behind the mayor as he issued his defiance to those who would destroy everything that we call Americanism. Wherever the blight of anarchistic Bolshevism raises its head, officers and people everywhere will follow the practice of the man who made it his business to kill the snake wherever he found it. The carloads of Seattle importations of rioters who are now being transported to other climes is but the first installment of the excursion trains that will give free rides to all of their like who come to America to overturn its institutions and plant the seed of sedition and hate. And we will not need many trains now that the first big conspiracy has been strangled and the conspirators hurried out of our country.

For a year and a half there was no business in America but winning the war. For that period the flower of our manhood was under arms, our mature men and our women were enlisted in the same holy cause. They learned many things never before dreamed of in their philosophy. First of all we obtained a new conception of brotherhood which we had denied or refused to recognize. Mothers in cottages and in fine houses alike had a common anxiety, a common pride, a common zeal to help their fighting sons. The women earned by their worth and work, which we had hardly appreciated before, a new sort of partnership with their brothers. It will never be dissolved. They have learned—we have learned—a new comradeship which will abide. It was forged in the furnace of sacrifice and equality of service. Having gained the right to equal partnership in war, both men and women will wish no dissolution. Women will soon be given the ballot in all America as it has been conferred in Great Britain. I could have wished our State had taken the lead in enfranchising women, and the sooner North Carolina honors itself by opening the primaries to women the sooner it will show proper recognition of women's equal part in our larger life, and the quicker it will help to purify politics. The war swept away bitterness in politics, racial prejudices, religious bigotry. May they never emerge from their graves to blight the brighter days before us.
Does any man who has studied history believe the man in uniform will fail to assert his rights in this New World and try to better the conditions of the masses of men? For what did he fight? He has freed the world from the fear of force. Will he not discipline himself that he may serve humanity in peace? When the boys return from France they will not be the boys who went away from us. Men who have looked death in the face unafraid are reborn. Our youths have seen other worlds and older civilizations. Underneath their bonnie smiles and quiet ways, for you have already observed the sweet spirit and modesty of our heroic youths, there is a seriousness of purpose born out of the conflict and its deep meaning. They will love peace with a passion that is beyond the ken of those who have never heard the thunder of the big guns or smelled the strangling odor of poisonous gas. They will be better Americans, but they will never be little Americans or provincials.

Do you ask me “Who will rule North Carolina in the coming years?” It is the men we even now speak of as boys who won the right by their valor in war and theirfellows at home who consecrated themselves to the cause. I have no fear of the success of Bolshevism because the men who made this great victory possible will die a thousand times rather than see the fruits of their sacrifice put in jeopardy. Faith and courage will save us from the miasma of conspiracies of all the anarchists who came to these shores. But these young men will be equally resolved that predatory wealth and privilege shall not lord it over the people. These American boys did not win the conflict over the German Junkers to return home to submit to rule by American Junkers, for every American who seeks to take from the mouth of labor the bread it has earned and make government the partner of privilege is a more dangerous junker than any of the tribe who lived beyond the Rhine. In peace times we were not able to dethrone them. Even in war they were with us as profiteers. And now that peace has returned they are already stretching out their hands to grasp the reins of power, to take what they have not earned, and to transfer the burden of the war to the backs of the toilers. Liberty in America has more to fear from the Plunderbund than from the Bolshevik. The latter raise the Red Flag of danger, and when their presence is known the people will give them short shrift. But your American Junker, with his lobby and his corruption fund, is smooth and charming, and he always plies his trade under the floating banner of Old Glory, stands at attention with model pose when the National Air is played, and never fails to advertise his patriotism by a display of liberality with other people’s money. Let us today swear on the altar built by our fathers in this sacred temple that we will be freed from the open terror of Bolsheviks and the camouflage patriotism of the Junkers of our own country. I have the faith that the stern courage of American youths, shown from the Seine to the Marne and beyond, will free America from the blight of both these and all enemies of real Americanism.

THE PEOPLE’S WILL

The practical science of government in a free country is to give adequate expression in statute and enforcement to the ascertained will of the people. It is the business of leaders of thought to educate and inform public opinion, of reformers and publicists to agitate and instruct, and of teachers to give lessons in the bestways of promoting the common good. But the duty of the legislator is first of all to devise the easiest method by which the people may, with the least delay, and at the least cost, secure the objects for which government is ordained. For centuries government was imposed upon the people. They had neither voice nor vote in the character of their government nor in the selection of their rulers. It required centuries of divine dissatisfaction to crystallize into successful resistance before the Barons at Runnymede could extort Magna Charta from King John; and few of those barons could write their names. Successive revolts and revolutions secured rights which rulers never respected until the people held the undisputed power of the purse. No king ever surrendered his claimed divine right to rule until commons could refuse the money to pay his income and give support to army and navy.

HOW CONVENTIONS FAILED

It required centuries to secure the right of self-government, and when it was obtained there was no machinery for the correct ascertainment of the popular will. We have tried various agencies for selecting candidates, from committees and conventions to primaries, with varying success. It was not until 1832 the people may be said to have had an even second hand, say, in the nomination of their public officers, when the first National Convention assembled to name a candidate for President. These early conventions offered the first opportunity through their chosen delegates for the party membership to give effect to its wishes; and by reason of the deep interest and activity of the voters, national conventions of all parties have almost always named men who embodied the principles uppermost at the time of their selection. But experience with conventions for the nomination of candidates in states and lesser divisions showed that they were too often controlled by the most alert political manipulators and that the use of money at times determined their action. And so, one by one, every state in the Union, seeking the fairest and most direct expression of the will of the individual voter, has adopted the system known as the primary election. These laws, at first imperfect, have been revised in those states that were the earliest to put them in operation, so as to make illegal methods, manipulation, and the use of money punishable by such heavy penalties as to reduce them to a minimum. North Carolina, where the conventions were seldom controlled by money or wire-pulling, has only recently adopted the primary system, and our law lacks those essential safeguards which are found in the statutes of other states. There are objections to the primary as to all systems of registering the will of the people, and no system can work well where the people are indifferent or neglectful of their duties. But nobody has yet devised a plan which is comparable to it in making it possible for every voter to express his choice.

STRENGTHEN AND SAFEGUARD THE PRIMARY LAW

I have no doubt that the proper committees of this General Assembly are giving careful study to the defects of our primary law and will draft such changes as will make it impossible for the managers of any political party in county or State to select candidates except in an open primary, safeguarded against fraudulent practices, and with adequate provision for speedy review by the constituted courts of the Commonwealth. We should put the legalized primary on all fours with the election law in this respect. In many instances, the primary is the real election, for where one party is dominant the choice of the primary is ratified at the polls. It is, therefore, quite as important to have a fair and honest primary as a fair and honest election; and upon such fair selection of candidates and elections depends government by the consent of the governed. It is the fundamental right of the citizen to cast a free ballot and to be guaranteed that his vote will not be offset through loose laws, careless administration, or fraud. When this General Assembly enlarges, strengthens, and buttresses our primary law, adopting the wise provisions which have worked well in other states, we shall hear less criticism of the primary. It has come to stay. The people never surrendered a right or a privilege. Reforms never go backward. The suggestion of a return to the outworn and discredited convention system is not the cure for the defects of the primary. The only cure ever invented for democracy is more democracy.

THE SHORT BALLOT

One of the reforms which your Governor recommended and which is being debated is the adoption of the short ballot, by which a few officials are chosen who are made responsible for good government and given the authority for choosing their associates. Is it not worthy of consideration that the Governor of this great Commonwealth, chosen for a fixed term, should be given the right to choose his own cabinet or council, and all State officers named by him except the Lieutenant-Governor and the Auditor? Under our State Constitution our Governor is indeed, given a council, but they are not of his selection, owe no duty to assist in carrying out the policies he formulates; and we undertake the election of his cabinet who may or may not be in sympathy with the plans to which he gives his all in thought and leadership.

THE GOVERNOR SHOULD HAVE A CABINET OF HIS OWN SELECTION

It would be impracticable for the voters of the United States to elect the ten members of the President's cabinet, and if not impracticable, it would not give that unity and harmony essential for the best public service if the President had no voice in naming the members of his official family. Does not the same analogy hold with reference to the Governor's council? Why should not the Governor of this Commonwealth, its chosen spokesman and leader, be charged with the responsibility of appointing all the other State officers, who will hold their positions as his appointees and who will be in sympathy and in accord with him? No consideration should be paid to whether such tenure would be pleasing to individuals who might or might not be selected as heads of departments and ex-officio members of the council. The only question is whether this change would not secure more perfect team-work and therefore better administration.

In the National Government the system in operation in North Carolina would be wanting in executive efficiency. I believe the Governor of our State ought to be entrusted with as great power for State administration as the President enjoys in the Republic, and I verily believe such change in the Constitution would guarantee us efficient executive officers and fix responsibility, which is more and more regarded as the essential requisite for the highest service of a chief executive.

THE STATE'S EDUCATIONAL PROGRESS

For a long time, when far-seeing North Carolinians taught that the basic foundation of prosperity and greatness depended upon the education of all the people there were those among us who said, “We are too poor to undertake so great an expense.” And we were poor as compared with some states, but we were too poor not to educate. Last year, by the biggest majority ever cast for a constitutional amendment, under the leadership of Bickett and Joyner, the people gave you the mandate to provide the money for a longer school term in every district in the State. If it be given to those who have gone before to know what transpires in their old homes, what must have been the sensations of Charles Brantley Aycock and Charles Duncan McIver when the people justified all their hopes and all their ambitions for these two Charleses, who were united in life and not long separated in death, had no ambition but to bring the light of knowledge within the reach of every child.

MONUMENT TO GOVERNOR AYCOCK

If I know anything of the gratitude and love of the people of North Carolina I know there is not a citizen of the Commonwealth who would not rejoice to see this Legislature vote a sufficient sum to make possible the early erection of a monument to Governor Aycock in the Capitol Square. We have been fortunate as a people in the type of men who have been called to the State's first post of power. Less than twenty years ago the Legislature supplemented the popular subscription to erect the monument to Governor Vance. That greatest of governors, a native of the West, stands looking toward the East. His most illustrious successor, Governor Aycock, upon whose shoulders the mantle of Vance found a fitting place, will shortly stand in imperishable bronze. Let us erect his statue, this eastern born statesman, looking toward the west—toward “the hills whence cometh our help.” His friends, now that the interruption by war work gives opportunity, would contribute the necessary funds, but do we not all feel that every person in the State should have a part in this slight recognition of his lasting service to his State and country? With this sentiment, I venture to express the hope that a sum sufficient to complete the monument will be voted from the taxes paid by all the people.

A DREAM HASCOME TRUE

“I believe with Thomas Jefferson,” said Governor Aycock in one of his ablest speeches, “that intelligence should ever preach against ignorance as the enemy of liberty and of moral and material progress. That was the text of every sermon I preached for universal education. That truth found acceptance in the action of the voters last November. Former legislators, imbued with that truth, have hesitated at the levying of sufficient tax to provide an adequate school system to reach every child from Murphy to Manteo. You are more fortunate. This legislature has instructions in the form of a constitutional amendment to fulfill here in our good State the dream of Jefferson and Aycock. Your only option is to decide from what source the money needed shall be secured by taxation. This makes your task easy and your duty plain.

PUBLIC EDUCATION IS A STATE, NOT A LOCAL SYSTEM

This action of the people was a mandate to every legislator to insure the longer school term for all the children. It was a state-wide vote for a state-wide system. The educational policy of our Commonwealth to fulfill the expectations of the people must embrace all the children. Those who live in poorer or thinly settled communities stand in as much need of the best school facilities as those in our largest towns and cities. Indeed, is not their need greater and is not our duty to them imperative? The longer school term voted is for all. It is a State direction, and to carry it out there needs must be State provision. It is not for me to point the sources of revenue or to suggest details. I only rejoice with you that the people of our good State were wise enough in war to see that the child was its hope and its responsibility. I have come home to say I envy you members of this General Assembly the privilege of enacting the measure which will do more toward making the future generation skilled and trained and prosperous (for no uneducated people ever obtained the largest measure of prosperity) than any single piece of legislation in the history of our Commonwealth.

THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA SHOULD EMBRACE ALL STATE INSTITUTIONS OF LEARNING

The broadening and strengthening of our entire educational system is a duty which I am glad to know you have approached with the appreciation of its importance. We stand today uncovered in the loss of the strong young educational leader to whom we looked for a long career of achievement and accomplishment. The only great possession of any people is a man, and in Edward Kidder Graham, North Carolina was blessed beyond its sister states. His death, followed so soon by that of his able successor, Acting President Stacy, leaves the University without a guiding hand in the time when we were confident that its rarely gifted president would pilot it into larger spheres of usefulness. We mourn also the recent death of the venerable Ex-President Kemp P. Battle, “the grand old man” of the University.

You have now an opportunity and a privilege with reference to the educational life of State institutions of learning, which will enable us to build upon the firm foundations laid by Graham and his predecessors. The time has come for a unified educational policy and an educational system which will embrace all the State-owned schools and colleges in one direction under one name. “The University of North Carolina” should not be cribbed and confined to the old and noble institution at Chapel Hill. It should include all the State educational institutions and should have the ambition in numbers as well as in scholarship to take its place with the largest of State institutions. There is no sound reason why a State University should in all its branches be located in one place. There may be reasons why it would be better for its separate schools to be situated in different localities. However that may be, has not the time come when the institutions at Chapel Hill, at West Raleigh, at Greensboro, at Greenville, at Boone, should be organized into one big institution to be known as The University of North Carolina? Emphasis should be laid on engineering, mechanics, and agriculture at West Raleigh; law and pharmacy in Raleigh, where the students would have the laboratory of the courts and the pharmacies; literary, scientific, medical and academic branches at Chapel Hill; pedagogy and special instruction for women in all branches leading to degrees, and to special instruction in domestic and kindred sciences at Greensboro and Greenville; and special emphasis upon certain branches at Boone and other schools supported by the State. I propound the question seriously to the lawmakers of the State who alone can answer it: “Is not this the time to organize under one name and under one direction our State educational institutions?” While it is no new suggestion, it has been returning and returning with increasing insistence to my mind since the imperative need of choosing a president of the University has come as the big educational duty of the near future. If the consolidation is desirable, if it has the obvious advantages of unity and saving of duplication and the power and momentum which greatness well organized imparts, if the idea is sound, then I submit now is the time before a successor of President Graham is elected to put this large conception in operation. No sectional, local, or personal considerations will, I am sure, be permitted for a moment to weigh in your minds. To be sure there will be readjustments and some changes, but these are easy to be made if the end is as big as it appears, and the results will add to the educational power of the State at home and abroad. It is fortunate that able men are at the head of each of the institutions at West Raleigh, Greensboro, Greenville, and Boone. They would all be helped by the team work and the coordination and compact organization of all these educational forces.

With the order, "that they go forward," given by the people to legislators, we shall not only see expansion, but change and progress and enough revolution in methods to secure the blessings which shall follow your fulfillment of the hopes of the State:

"Forward, forward, let us range!
Let the great world spin forever
Down the ringing groove of change."

NOT MILITARISM, BUT PROTECTION

The War Department has decided that the State Guard is automatically disbanded upon the mustering out of the units of the State Guard now in the National service. This makes it necessary for this General Assembly to lay the foundations for a reestablishment of the State Guard. The reasons for such a military organization, small but capable and mobile, are so apparent as to need no argument. The nucleus of an efficient military organization should be an extension of military instruction at the State College in West Raleigh. During the war all our institutions became camps of instruction for fighting men. With the signing of the armistice they naturally and properly returned to their mission. But there is need in North Carolina of one strong State institution which trains youths in the art of war, for while we look for international peace it may be too much to hope we shall have no need for force here to protect men and women from mobs and marauders and rowdies who now and then menace peaceful communities. This instruction should be imparted in the State College at West Raleigh. The discipline, and self-government, and physical exercise alike speak for this instruction as an important part in training the young men in that institution. It would attract those with military taste and military genius, who in their communities would become officers of the State Guard and would make it an organization for the preservation of peace and, upon emergency, be the protector of those at the mercy of the lawless element. This State fought against militarism and wishes none of that spawn of Prussianism here; but a State Guard and a State School to insure a small and well trained agency of protection cannot be regarded in any light except as a protection to the law-abiding people of the Commonwealth.
EQUAL AND JUST TAXATION

Whether we discuss the educational expansion directed by the people by 100,000 majority at the last election, or the better care of dependents which humanity requires, or the building of highways and the drainage of swamps, or the other measures of improvement and progress now recognized as the duty of government, the question of providing the necessary money is always uppermost. It is important, but it is perfectly simple and easy, if we have the resolution, to assess all property of every character at its true value in money. The intricacies of a taxing law arise out of inherited policies of beating the tax collector by unfair valuations and unfair assessments. It has been so long the habit in our State and other states for property to be undervalued that in North Carolina we injure our reputation by holding ourselves out to the world as much poorer than we are in order to try to escape taxation. As a matter of fact undervaluation helps no man whose property is undervalued if low assessment is universal, for he pays a higher tax rate on low valuations than he would pay if all property in every county and town-ship were properly valued.

A BAD ADVERTISEMENT FOR THE STATE

The problem therefore is: Shall we hold out to the world a higher tax rate and an untrue statement of our wealth, or shall we be honest with ourselves and attract investors by fair assessments and a low tax rate? Nothing except the lack of good schools, and good water, and good sanitation, and good health conditions, so militates against a State or community as a high tax rate. Today the high tax rate deters the building of factories in towns and cities. If one-half of the effort was made to put all property on the tax-books as is made to escape just assessments, the tax rate would be so low it would be an advertisement that would double and treble our mills and shops and enhance our prosperity many fold. We now penalize every man who returns his property at its true value, and we compel the man with a moderate income to pay his income tax, while his neighbor with ten times as large an income pays no income tax whatever because of an exception clause in our Constitution. It was placed there by another generation and ought not longer remain as a hindrance to the just and scientific tax laws which the revenue committees of the General Assembly are preparing. Ought we not to hasten the coming of the day when all State revenues will be derived from incomes, and privileges, and public service corporations, and licenses and the like, and all real and personal property bear the burdens of local governments? Is it not necessary as one of the steps to the perfection of the better system of taxation you are preparing that publicity of assessments shall be secured?

PUBLICITY A HELPFUL AGENCY

Some ten or more years ago, when the State income tax law was first enacted, some of the papers in the larger cities of the State printed the names of all persons and the amounts of their incomes. The next year, with the knowledge that the public would know the amount given in for taxation, the income tax mounted up. What happened then? At the next session of the General Assembly an innocuous looking item was hidden away in the revenue bill making it a misdemeanor for any publisher to print information as to the income tax returns. I do not know whether such prohibition remains in the laws of this day. If so, instead of restraining pitiless publicity, why should it not be encouraged and enforced?

NOTHING RANKLES SO MUCH AS DISCRIMINATION

All men hate to pay taxes. I suppose it is an inherited feeling, but is it not true that most men would be happy and would do honor to this General Assembly if a system should be enacted and enforced (and emphasis should be laid on enforcement, for our greatest laches is to be found in the lack of enforcement rather than in the lack of legislation) which would bear equally upon all men and all species of property? It is not to be expected that any citizen will feel that he is justly treated if he pays tax on his income of $2,000 earned by steady work when he knows that his neighbor with an income of $10,000, derived sometimes by inheritance and sometimes from other sources without labor, pays not a cent of income tax. Can we expect cheerful obedience to assessment at the true value when one farm or city lot is taxed at 75 per cent of its value, while the adjoining property of equal value is assessed at less than 50 per cent of its value? Nothing so rankles as injustice and discrimination. We may never hope for perfection, but, with the wise laws I feel sure the General Assembly will soon enact, we may look to see the tax rate reduced and the people satisfied because there will not be one rule for one man or county with different rules for different counties and individuals. Do not permit, I beg you, the plea of intricacies of rates and the imagined difficulties to prevent this very simple legislation from making possible just taxation and ample revenue for every need of the State Government economically administered.

LARGER CONCEPTION OF GOVERNMENT DEMANDS LARGER REVENUES

There was a time when government concerned itself chiefly with courts and prisons. We did not even make provision for the legal recording of births and deaths. It required the zeal of Dorothy Dix and the eloquence of James C. Dobbin to wake our people to their duty to the diseased of mind among us. And years passed before we felt the compulsion to train and educate the deaf, the dumb, and the blind, and it required the lessons alienists have learned out of this war to give such wisdom in their instruction that we shall live to see the day when many vocations hitherto closed to them will be open to the blind. We have only recently felt the duty to provide a place where defectives can be led into a larger life and where wayward youths can be made amenable to government and helped to usefulness. Our duty to these and to the orphans and other dependents must be more fully met if our government is to fulfill its modern mission. We must have a larger vision of our obligations to the consumptives and others who have contagious diseases. We must cure them for their own and the State's good, and to save others from these dread diseases for which medical science will find a cure if the State measures up to its responsibility.

MUST NOT GRIND UP THE SEED CORN

It was years and years before governments prevented long hours of work for the mothers of men and declared that the seed corn should not be ground in the mortars of our mills. This North Carolina Legislature will insure the larger prosperity and better citizenship of the next generation if its child labor laws are as good as the best; and we shall save our own children without waiting for Federal legislation to protect the children upon whose strength the future of the State depends.

MUST CONSERVE MAN POWER IN PEACE

The day was when the Public Health Department was a small agency with little popular appreciation of its importance. But the medical officers and the public spirited citizens, with scant appropriations fought smallpox and typhoid until their ravages no longer count their toll in thousands. We have learned that it is wisdom to stamp out preventable diseases and to wage constant warfare against all ills of the body that reduce industry and lower the health standards. We have enlisted for the war against every foe of the human body, and this General Assembly can do nothing to save its manhood so much as by hearty cooperation in the work of killing the cancer of immoral diseases which are more deadly and more prevalent than tuberculosis, than cancer, than typhoid, than influenza. Too long we have increased this plague by hiding it, refusing to recognize its ravages. This war revealed the fact that venereal disease incapacitated more men for military service than any other cause. The Navy issued orders forbidding the enlistment of men so diseased. The Army could not lose so many as such an order would keep out of the ranks. It had to treat them, provide hospitals and seek to fit them to fight effectively. One result of its study of the effect of immoral diseases was that in Oregon, where for years the State had enforced vigorous laws against this sin, less than one per cent of the men in the draft were affected, whereas in Florida, where no vigorous action had been taken to prevent prostitution and its attendant loathsome diseases, over nine per cent of the soldiers were infected. Federal and State governments were aroused when military necessity brought them face to face with the ravages caused by immorality. If we were ready to vote money to protect our youths in order to make them fit soldiers, are we indifferent to the protection of youths in civil life who need as truly to live clean lives to be capable in peace as do soldiers to be fit to fight?

ERADICATION OF IMMORAL DISEASES

I have been honored by being made chairman of the National Board of Social Hygiene which, working with the State Boards of Health, is suggesting well considered legislation that will help to eradicate this cancerous disease which not only destroys its victims, but wreaks its vengeance on innocent women and unborn babes. Forty States have enacted legislation against this preventable disease and I cannot too strongly urge upon legislators in my own State, who fitly represent a people who are more concerned about conservation of manhood than about conservation of animals or resources, to lead in effective and salutary legislation. You have ratified the Federal prohibition amendment, which will help in the reduction of this worst of evils; and I trust we will give the same protection to our youths at home which the Army and Navy sought to give them when they were the stone walls against which no tides of Prussian soldiers could prevail.

40—Senate
GOD ROADS A TEST OF PROGRESS.

Recognition that government must expand its agencies to meet the needs of a progressive civilization calls for increased revenue. But money wisely expended for the public good, without waste and extravagance, is more than returned in the benefits it confers. Economy is a very different thing from stinginess or backwardness. Just as every dollar invested in immortal mind brings a dividend in knowledge and its by-products of larger production and greater wealth, so money employed in building good roads is not an expenditure but an investment. The Federal Government, the State Governments, and local governments have learned this truth and are acting upon it. Only last week Congress made an appropriation of $200,000,000 for good roads, and $4,000,000 of this fund will be available for the building of roads in North Carolina if the General Assembly will make such provision that State and local governments will match Federal appropriations. I cannot too strongly express my belief that such action, coupled with the adoption of practical road building and road maintaining laws, will be justified by the larger comfort of rural life, increased value of farm lands, and better and quicker transportation of crops to market. In America today good roads is the sure test of progress.

A CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

The big problems which confront the State cannot be solved without changes in our Constitution. It was drafted in 1868, somewhat amended by the limited Constitutional Convention of 1875, and in every session of the General Assembly the wisest men propose changes to meet new conditions. For a long time our public schools were starved by two inconsistent constitutional provisions. Since 1900 the well matured judgment of the most thoughtful citizens has grown so that the Constitution that suited an agricultural and poor State a half or a third of a century ago needs amendments to meet the needs of a richer State rapidly expanding in manufacture, trade and agriculture. In the last general election the people by large majorities ratified two amendments to the State Constitution.

No more can the standpatter and the demagogue prevent changes in the organic law by damning them, by denouncing "tinkering with the Constitution." We have "tinkered" with it several times in recent years to the good of all the people, and now we know that skilled "tinkering" means improving it. We may not hope to secure the best taxing laws with an amendment to an outworn provision adopted many years ago, and there are other needed reforms that must wait upon constitutional changes. We have learned that the Constitution was made for man and not man for the Constitution. Reverence for our Constitution would be a sin if that instrument was a Procrustean bed. Its vitality and its strength is that it is a chart, but the mariner of one generation does not insist upon refusing the improved chart of his day because his father found the old instrument satisfactory for his shorter and slower voyages. Since 1875, when a convention with defined and limited powers and hampered by a narrow majority in a day when war politics halted its work, no Constitutional Convention has been held. We have chosen to submit amendments when the need of change was manifest. We may well ask ourselves whether it is wiser to submit the amendments you have under consideration at the next general election or to submit to the people the question of a convention and the election of delegates to the convention if the people order one. I confess, with some hesitation in expressing an opinion to gentlemen who have given the matter more consideration and are more competent to judge than I can claim; but as I have followed your deliberations and reflected upon the future development of the State, my mind has turned more and more to the belief that the time has come for a Constitutional Convention in North Carolina. Many wise men among us have for years held this opinion, though most of us have held to the system of separate amendments from time to time. Now that the war has come to an end, the people of the State are eager and keen to adopt policies that will promote their common welfare, and the conception of government as a broader agency is recognized, is it not worthy of serious consideration whether a new Constitution is not necessary to make the organic law the expression of the larger life of the State?

A LARGER DAY BECKONS

We stand upon the threshold of a new era. The world has suddenly seemed to be smaller because we have become a part of it. Boys from Maine and North Carolina and Oregon have messed and bunked and fought and died together. The blood of these heroes has cemented our national life. The curse of sectional ignorance and sectional hate cannot rise from its bricked-in grave. Southern boys have felt honored to be called “Yanks” and Northern boys have felt their hearts beat with a new patriotism as they marched to “Dixie.” We have learned a new geography along with a realization that new and better ideals have taken hold upon the world. We have been a part, and no small part, in the elevation of mankind through the overthrow of dreams of conquest.

There is no seer who can peer into the future and tell all “the wonders that shall be.” We have the clear, strong faith that “after madness, after massacre,” there shall come “some diviner force to guide us,” and we shall not fail to live in “a warless world” where we will realize what evaded men of past generations:

“Something kindlier, higher, holier—
All for each and each for all.”

This we know: That this war has wrought a mighty revolution in our thoughts and in our vision as in the instrumentalities of war. The leadership of America in the world’s peace conference is the first fruit of the victory. As we have turned our eyes to beloved France in these days, it has thrilled every American with pride that all Europe gives primacy to our chosen spokesman of world liberty. Woodrow Wilson was welcomed by peoples and leaders as the evangel of a new freedom. Bound by no precedent, guided by no desire for any material gain for his country, his mission as he sailed over the sea to find the basis for permanent peace was as sacred as the quest of the Holy Grail. And he will return with the foundations of the treaty that will insure us peace based upon good will among men without which no lasting peace can abide.

Let us rise to the heights of the faith that the new star we have seen towering over Eiffel is fixed in the firmament, and that, in the larger day that beckons to a new brotherhood, the people of this noble old Commonwealth, having seen the vision of a world redeemed from the curse of war, will walk upon the heights and be fellows with all men who serve mankind. The old past is no more. Let us hasten, confident of the blessing it will bring, to meet the changed and the changing future, with nobler laws and nobler lives, hearing the voice that sings to each of us:

"Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul!
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past!
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast Till thou at length art free
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unresting sea."

REPORT OF LEGISLATIVE EXAMINING COMMITTEE

Senator Gray, for the Legislative Examining Committee, makes the following report:

To the Honorable General Assembly of North Carolina:

Your committee, composed of the undersigned, appointed under and by section 5378 of the Revisal of 1905 to audit, investigate and report to your honorable body the condition of the State Treasurer's office, Auditor's office, and office of the Insurance Department, the amount of revenue received in, derived from, and paid through and by the said Departments, beg leave to report as follows:

In the performance of the work entrusted to us, and the discharge of the obligations imposed upon us, assisted by a competent Audit Company, and by the capable Assistant Attorney-General, your committee spent considerable time in the years of 1917 and 1918 in making a thorough examination and investigation of these various Departments. As was our duty under the law, a careful examination was made of the various laws under which vouchers were issued by the State Auditor, and which were paid by the State Treasurer, and your committee found all of said warrants justified.

Your committee found the books and records of the various offices above mentioned properly kept, and in balance. For detail information your committee herewith refers to the itemized report of the Audit Company attached to this report.

Your committee feels it to be their duty to say to your honorable body that the scope of the duties of the Auditor's office should be enlarged, in order that it may function more completely the work generally expected of an auditing department. Your committee also desires to recommend the enactment of several statutes to make yearly examinations of the offices by the Legislative Examining Committee more efficient, and to assist the several Departments in carrying out the duties imposed upon them more expeditiously, and to that end the chairman of your committee is instructed to introduce certain bills suggested by the committee, and your committee further respectfully suggests to your honorable body, and particularly to the Finance Committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate, that the new Revenue Bill give the State Auditor more authority and machinery for the collection of taxes due the State from the several counties in the State, more promptly than said taxes have heretofore been paid the State, and for reviewing the correctness of the settlement made.

Your committee feels it a privilege and a pleasure to say to your honorable body that in no single instance have they found anything other than a thoroughly honest and conscientious attempt to conform to the law in the Departments examined.

Your committee desires to take this opportunity of expressing its appreciation of the very valuable assistance rendered by the Assistant Attorney-General in the examination above mentioned, particularly the examination of the various laws under which vouchers were issued by the State Auditor.

Respectfully submitted, this the fifteenth day of January, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen.

Chairman,

Auditor's Report

To the Chairman and members of the Legislative Commission,

State of North Carolina:

Gentlemen:—Complying with your request, we have examined the books of Hon. W. P. Wood, State Auditor, Raleigh, N. C., for the period from December 1, 1916, to November 30, 1917, and present herewith our report, consisting of exhibits, as follows:

Exhibit "A," record of receipts and disbursements, Educational Fund.
Exhibit "B," record of receipts and disbursements, General Fund.

Remarks

We checked and proved footings of all items entered as receipts and disbursements, comparing the receipts with records of the office, and the disbursements with warrant records and the authority for issuing same.

The books and records appeared as having been well kept, and aside from the law governing the warrants issued, which we did not investigate, we present our exhibits referred to above as being correct according to the records reviewed.

Respectfully submitted,

Southern Audit Company,
By C. L. Smith,
President.

Exhibit “B” Concluded No. 3
GENTLEMEN:—Complying with your request, we have examined the books of Hon. B. R. Lacy, State Treasurer, Raleigh, N. C., for the period from December 1, 1916-November 30, 1917, inclusive, and present herewith our reports, consisting of exhibits as follows:

Exhibit "A," receipts and disbursements, Board of Education.
Exhibit "B," receipts and disbursements, general fund.
Exhibit "C," receipts and disbursements, special funds.
Exhibit "D," partial payment taxes, 1917-1918.
Exhibit "E," fund balances.
Exhibit "F," receipts and disbursements, State institutions.
Exhibit "G," memorandum pension account.
Exhibit "H," State investment in railroad and turnpike companies.
Exhibit "I," bank balances, State funds.
Exhibit "J," bank balances, State institution funds.
Exhibit "K," trial balance, general ledger.
Exhibit "L," appropriation 1917.

We checked all receipts and disbursements of cash and bank items as shown by the Cash Journal, verifying the receipts with records of the State Auditor, and the disbursements with bank statements, canceled warrants, canceled interest coupons and canceled bonds, proved all postings from original entries to the general ledger and verified ledger balances at November, 1917; also did other detail checking necessary to a thorough investigation of the books for the period under review.

The total receipts of the State Treasurer compared with the records of the State Auditor agree, except with a difference of twenty cents in the Educational Repaid Loans from Columbus County, and the partial payment taxes, Exhibit "D," of which the State Auditor has no record until the final report is received from the county sheriffs. The State Treasurer enters amounts of the partial payment taxes on auxiliary books, includes collections in regular cash account, but does not place the same to the credit of the general fund until certified to by the State Auditor.

The disbursements of the State Treasurer will not compare with the records of the State Auditor for the same period, for the reason that the State Treasurer does not always receive and pay warrants at the same time and in the same period of years as issued by the State Auditor, and the difference should consist of warrants issued and unpaid, a reconciliation of which we did not undertake as the time required for same would have been longer than your commission cared to authorize.

The Ledger Controlling Account as presented in Exhibit "E" shows a credit to special funds of $1,046,143.09, and the general fund account overdrawn $34,757.21, while Exhibits "B" and "C" show different balances due to transfers from one account to another.

41—Senate
The appropriation to the credit of pensions in Exhibit "L" represents all of the taxes apportioned at November 30, 1917.

Aside from the law governing the handling of State funds, which we did not investigate, we found the books well kept and balanced with no evidence of improper application of funds, and we present the exhibits referred to above as being correct according to our verification of the books.

Respectfully submitted,

SOUTHERN AUDIT COMPANY,

GENTLEMEN:—Complying with your request, we have examined the books of Honorable James R. Young, State Insurance Commissioner, Raleigh, N. C., for the period from December 1, 1916, to November 30, 1917, inclusive, and present herewith our report, consisting of Exhibits and Schedules as follows:

Exhibit "B," cash receipts and disbursements.
Exhibit "C," statement of collections and remittances for account of State Treasurer.
Schedule No. 1, accounts receivable and payable.
Schedule No. 2, certificates of deposit.
Schedule No. 3, reconcilement of bank balances.

We checked all receipts and disbursements of cash and bank items as shown by the cash book and cash journal, verifying same with bank statements, canceled bank vouchers, certificates of deposit, etc., proved all postings from original entries to the companies and general ledger, also balances as of November 30, 1917, listed accounts receivable and payable from ledger balances, and did other detail checking necessary to a thorough investigation of the books for the period under review.
We checked the securities placed with the State Treasurer and compared same with the books of the State Insurance Commissioner, which agreed as to quantities and values described in the papers. We note, however, that in our opinion, some few of the securities were not properly indorsed to the State Insurance Commissioner, and the attention of your Commission was called to this while in Raleigh.

Aside from the law governing the handling of State funds, which we did not investigate, we found the books well kept and properly balanced, with no evidence of improper application of funds, and we present the exhibits and schedules referred to above as being correct, according to our verification of the books.

Respectfully submitted,

Southern Audit Company,
By C. L. Smith, President.

Schedule No. 3

Gentlemen:—Complying with your request, we have examined the books of Hon. W. P. Wood, State Auditor, Raleigh, N. C., for the period from December 1, 1917, to and including November 30, 1918, and present herewith our report, consisting of exhibits as follows:

Exhibit "A," record of receipts and disbursements, Educational Fund.
Exhibit "B," record of receipts and disbursements, General Fund.

We checked and proved footings of all items entered as receipts and disbursements, comparing the receipts with records of the State Treasurer, and the disbursements with warrant records and the applications for issuing same.

The books and records appeared as having been well kept, and aside from the laws governing the warrants issued, which we did not investigate, we present the exhibits referred to above as being correct according to the records reviewed.

Respectfully submitted,

SOUTHERN AUDIT COMPANY,
By C. L. SMITH, President.

Gentlemen:—Complying with your request, we have examined the books of Hon. B. R. Lacy, State Treasurer, Raleigh, N. C., for the period from December 1, 1917, to and including November 30, 1918, and present herewith our report, consisting of exhibits as follows:
Exhibit "A," receipts and disbursements, Board of Education.
Exhibit "B," receipts and disbursements, General Fund.
Exhibit "C," receipts and disbursements.
Exhibit "D," partial payment taxes 1917 and 1918.
Exhibit "E," fund balances.
Exhibit "F," receipts and disbursements, State institutions.
Exhibit "G," memorandum pension account.
Exhibit "H," State investment in railroad and turnpike companies.
Exhibit "I," bank balances, State funds.
Exhibit "J," bank balances, State institution funds.
Exhibit "K," trial balance, General Ledger.

We checked all receipts and disbursements of cash and bank items as shown by the cash journals, verifying the receipts with records of the State Auditor, and the disbursements with canceled warrants, canceled interest coupons, canceled bonds and bank statements; proved all postings from original entries to the General Ledger and verified ledger balances at November 30, 1918, also did other detail checking necessary to a thorough investigation of the books for the period under review.

The total receipts of the State Treasurer compared with the records of the State Auditor agree, with the exception of partial payment taxes. Exhibit "D," which the State Auditor has no record of until the final reports are received from the county sheriffs. The State Treasurer enters amounts of partial payment taxes on auxiliary books, including collections in regular cash account, but does not place same to the credit of General and Special Funds until certified by the State Auditor.

The disbursements of the State Treasurer will not compare with the records of the State Auditor for the same period, for the reason that the State Treasurer does not always receive and pay warrants at the same time and in the same period of years as issued by the State Auditor, and the difference should consist of warrants issued and unpaid, a reconciliation of which we did not undertake as the time required for same would have been longer than your committee cared to authorize.

Aside from the laws governing the handling of State funds, which we did not investigate, we found the books well kept and balanced, with no evidence of improper application of funds, and we present the exhibits referred to above as being correct according to our verification of the books.

Respectfully submitted,

SOUTHERN AUDIT COMPANY,
By C. L. SMITH, President.

Schedule No. 3, reconciliation of bank balances.

Remarks

We checked all receipts and disbursements of cash and bank items as shown by the cash book and cash journal, verifying same with bank statements, canceled bank vouchers, certificates of deposit, etc., proved all postings from original entries to the companies and General Ledger, also balances as of November 30, 1918, listed accounts receivable and payable from ledger balances, and did all other detail checking necessary to a thorough investigation of the books for the period under review.
We checked the securities placed with the State Treasurer, and compared same with the books of the State Insurance Commissioner, which agreed as to quantities and values described in the papers.

You will note that the certificate of deposit account, itemized in Schedule No. 2, consists of Liberty Bonds to the amount of $20,000.

Aside from the laws governing the handling of State funds, which we did not investigate, we found the books well kept and balanced, and present the exhibits and schedules referred to above as being correct according to our verification of the books.

Respectfully submitted,

SOUTHERN AUDIT COMPANY,

By C. L. SMITH.

Respectfully,

DR. ALBERT ANDERSON,
Superintendent.

FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA,

CHAPEL HILL, February 1, 1919.

Mr. R. O. Self,
Principal Clerk of the Senate, Raleigh, North Carolina.

Dear Mr. Self:—Your letter addressed to the Acting Dean of the University concerning section 4409 of the Revisal of 1905 has been referred to this office.

Enclosed you will find a list of the employees of the University with the annual or monthly salary of each.

As you know, the administration force of the University has been greatly disorganized through the ravages of the influenza. But for this, the list would have been filed by the acting head officer at the proper time.

Trusting the delay has not inconvenienced you, I am, with best wishes.

Very truly yours,

CHAS. T. WOOLLEN,
Business Manager.

H. Gochenour for half time at $35 per month for the remainder of this session.

With best wishes, I am

Very truly yours,

I will see you further in regard to the matter within the next few days. I have just returned to the city after an absence of 10 days on business connected with the Court and you will therefore pardon my seeming inattention to your letter.

Report from the State of North Carolina Orthopedic Hospital-School at Gastonia

We beg to advise you that our institution, the North Carolina Orthopedic Hospital, has not been built as yet, neither has any of the State's appropriation money been asked for, or paid to the Treasurer of said Institution.

This being the case, our attention has never been called to section 4409 to which you refer, neither had we been requested heretofore for a report along this line. I am sorry that I did not know of the requirements with the above section. Had I, I certainly would have had a report filed in accordance therewith.

I respectfully submit that the institution has no officers, or any other employees who are drawing or have ever drawn a salary from this institution, because, as aforesaid, the institution is not in operation now, owing to the fact that it has not been built. We trust, however, to secure an additional appropriation through this General Assembly, which will enable us to build this much-needed State charity for the health and conservation of the State's neglected, poor and crippled children of sound mind.

Trusting, sir, that this communication will suffice, and that by the next meeting of the General Assembly we will have a report to make showing that several persons are employed, looking after and caring for the State's crippled, deformed children, I am, with highest regards,

Yours truly,
R. B. Babington,
President.

Report from the State Highway Commission

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly of North Carolina:

Gentlemen:

In compliance with resolution of February 1, asking that the State Highway Commission furnish a report giving a full and complete statement of all funds which have come into its hands, or any person for it, showing in detail the source from which it came, by the counties, and disbursements of the same; the amount and kind of road work done in each county and the cost of such roads, I beg to herewith submit the following:

The work of the State Highway Commission, as authorized under the State Highway Law, creating the State Highway Commission is for the purpose of assisting the counties in developing the State and county system of highways, giving advisory services to the counties requesting it in regard to bridges and roads, the making of surveys, plans and specifications for same, together with various other duties in regard to the establishment of a proper system of State highways, as outlined in the law. The work of the State Highway Commission under this act is of such nature as to make it impracticable to apportion the cost of this work among the various counties of the State. A summary of the receipts and expenditures of the State Highway Commission is herewith submitted.

On the enactment of the Federal Aid Law and legislation passed by the General Assembly of 1917, it became the duty of the State Highway Commission to supervise the applications of the Federal Aid Law in the State of North Carolina, doing the engineering and supervisory work required by this law. The State Highway Commission has therefore been acting as the agent of the Federal Government in administering this act, doing the engineering and supervisory engineering for the Federal Government and the counties, for the purpose of affording the counties the benefits of the Federal Aid Fund.

Under this act the State Highway Commission has not had charge of the construction or management of any of the work heretofore done, or now being done, in part by the use of the Federal funds, with the exception of the work of constructing the seven and three-fourths (7 3/4) miles of the Hickory Nut Gap road in Buncombe County, as authorized by the General Assembly of 1917. All the work done, with this exception, in the State under the Federal Aid Act, has either been done by contract let by counties or by county forces, controlled and managed by the counties, in so far as the construction of the Federal Aid projects were concerned.
The Highway Commission is very much gratified over the results of the superintendence and management of the single piece of work that has been entirely in charge of the State Highway Commission in Henderson County on the Hickory Nut Gap project. This work was undertaken by reason of the destruction of this road by the flood of 1916, and a statement of the cost, as taken from the records prepared for and approved by the Federal Government, is as follows:

STATEMENT OF COST OF GRADING 7 3/4 MILES OF THE HICKORY NUT GAP ROAD BY THE STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

By estimate approved by the Federal Government, total estimated cost .................................................. $33,141.74
Less estimated cost of grading ........................................... 13,474.05

Cost of equipping camp, contingencies, etc., charged to grading .................................................. $2,702.50
Value of dynamite (donated) ........................................ 680.00
Total extras charged to grading .................................. $3,382.50

Cost of project exclusive of grading ................................ $16,285.19
Actual cost of labor ................................................. $12,119.25
Paid by S. H. C. in cash ........................................... 16,244.66

Cost of project to date ............................................. $28,363.91
Less ................................................................. 16,285.19 as above

Cost of completed grading ......................................... $12,078.72

By the said estimate it will be noted that the total excavation and borrow, as actually measured, is 47,377 cubic yards and $12,078.72 (25½ cents) actual cost per cubic yard of grading, unclassified.

NOTE.—In 1912-13 contract was let by the Norfolk Southern Railroad for grading its main line between Raleigh and Colon, to Lane Brothers Company at 32 cents per cubic yard, unclassified, and for its line between Mt. Gilead and Charlotte, to Kenniffect Hoffman Company, at 42 cents, unclassified. These figures give a very fair idea of what in normal times contractors will charge for grading. Comparing these with the cost of 25½ cents for the Hickory Nut Gap Road, and remembering that this work was done in heavy mountainous country and under war time conditions, some idea may be obtained of the value of the State Highway Commission's management when in complete charge of the work.

The Bureau of Public Roads reports during the year in the United States, five (5) projects were completed and final payment of Federal Aid was made on same. Of these the State of North Carolina had one. This project was in Halifax County and was contracted by the county highway commission for Roanoke Rapids Township, at a cost of $2,472.76 per mile, with earth excavation of 40 cents per cubic yard, and rock excavation at $1 per cubic yard.
The Sloan's Ferry Bridge is another project that was completed during the year, but final payment had not been made, and so it is not included as one of the five projects completed under the Federal Aid Act of the United States.

I cite these facts in connection with the statement of the Hickory Nut Gap road above, to show that our State has the distinction of finishing one of the first five projects under the Federal Aid Act, and also to show the efficiency of the work of the Highway Commission on the Hickory Nut Gap project where the unclassified excavation was done at a cost of 25½ cents per cubic yard under the management of the State Highway Commission in comparison with the cost of excavating under contracts let by the counties of the State. At the time the Hickory Nut Gap work was started many contracts throughout the country were let for unclassified work at the price of fifty and seventy-five cents per cubic yard.

It is felt that it is advisable also in this connection to state that in the entire United States, according to the report of the Secretary of Agriculture, the total sum paid of the Federal Aid Fund was $425,445.85, of which the State of North Carolina received $44,878.76. The State now has under agreement with the Federal Government twenty (20) contracts finally signed with the Government involving $250,000 of Federal Aid and 144 miles of road, at an estimated total cost of $815,579.91, as shown in the accompanying Federal Aid project chart to December 31, 1918.

Detail statement of the Federal Aid work undertaken in the State is given hereafter.

The maintenance of the State system of highways, as provided by the State Highway Law, was placed in charge of the State Highway Commission, in so far as the fund available from the automobile license tax fund would permit, by the General Assembly of 1917, for the purpose of maintaining the State system of roads and affording a method by which the State could benefit by the Federal Aid Fund, enabling the State to make the guarantee to the Secretary of Agriculture for the maintenance of the roads in the State, as required by the Federal Aid Law, section 7 of said law.

A detailed statement of these expenditures is herewith submitted, showing the amounts expended in each county for maintenance work. A summary is also given showing the expenditures of the 17½ per cent fund, provided by this act, which is the amount remaining for the use of the State Highway Commission for maintenance after deducting the 12½ per cent fund allowed to the Secretary of State for the collection of the automobile tax. It will be noted that in many cases a balance was in the hands of the State Highway Commission at the end of the automobile tax year—June 30, 1918. War conditions during 1918 were such that it was almost impossible to secure labor for the maintenance of the roads, and such labor as could be secured was inefficient or to be had at such an exorbitant cost that the State Highway Commission deemed it inadvisable to push the maintenance work, because of the high cost of this work at this time, and deemed that it would be more economical to conserve the fund, as far as possible, until such time as better economy could be secured by its expenditure. For this reason they asked the opinion of the Attorney-General in regard to this, and was advised by him that the State Highway Commission would be acting entirely within the meaning of the law to retain such fund as it could not expend in an economic and efficient manner, to be expended later when labor conditions became more satisfactory.
Work done by the State highway Commission in the maintenance of roads during this period has resulted in a decided improvement of the roads of the State as a whole, although not as satisfactory as was desired, nor anything like as satisfactory as it will become as labor conditions and cost of work become more normal.

I am attaching hereto a report also of the work in connection with the rural engineering feature of the Commission's work.

Yours truly,

W. S. Fallis,
State Highway Engineer, for the Commission.

STATEMENT OF FUNDS APPROPRIATED BY THE STATE TO THE NORTH CAROLINA STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION, TOGETHER WITH A STATEMENT OF EXPENDITURES OF SAME, AS SHOWN IN THE SEMIANNUAL REPORTS OF THE STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER TO THE GOVERNOR, AND AS PROVIDED IN SECTION 14 OF THE ACT CREATING A STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION.

Note. The appropriations given below are in detail, just as they were received. The expenditures given below are the total expenditures for each six months since the Commission has been in existence. These expenditures are compiled from the official record book of the State Highway Commission. Should the members of the Legislature desire still further detailed information relative to these expenditures, this book will be gladly placed at their disposal, wherein they will find a detailed monthly statement showing where each penny of these appropriations went, together with the names of the parties to whom it was paid.

It will be noted that $19,000 was borrowed from local banks in 1917 and 1918. The Legislature of 1917 appropriated $20,000 for each of these two years, but for some reason the act was never ratified. The money was consequently borrowed by the State Highway Commission under the authorization of the Governor and Council of State.

According to requirement of the Federal Government, the State has to make survey, prepare plans and specifications for all Federal Aid projects. The regulation is as follows: "Reg. 6. No part of the expense of making surveys, plans, specifications or estimate by or on behalf of the State prior to the beginning of construction work, shall be included in the estimate or paid by the Federal Government."

Inasmuch as there was no fund available for the State Highway Commission from which the cost of these surveys could be paid, the Highway Commission, in order to prevent the loss of this fund to the State, has required the counties to deposit with the Commission ten per cent of the amount of the Federal allotment to the county in order to pay this expense. This fund frequently does not amount to three per cent of the work proposed, and never more than five per cent of the cost of the work.

The following is a statement of these funds in the hands of the Commission to December 31, 1918:

The Legislature of 1917, by act, appropriated $5,000 annually to be expended as directed by the State Highway Commission for Rural Engineering, as set forth in the act. Owing to their inability to secure engineers and the scarcity of labor in rural communities, both facts of which are due to the recent war, the State Highway Commission has found it impractical to carry on this work as intended, but the expenditures have been largely for equipment, which is now on hand ready to carry on the work according to the intention of the act, as soon as conditions which have hampered this work become normal and enable the rural citizens to turn their attention to the betterments specified in the act.

The following is a statement of the credits and disbursements:

Sir:—Section 468S of the Revisal of 1905 of North Carolina reads as follows:

"It shall be the duty of the Insurance Commissioner from time to time to report to the General Assembly any change which in his opinion should be made in the laws relating to insurance and other subjects appertaining to his Department. And he shall, on or before the first day of February of each year in which the General Assembly is in session make to the Governor the recommendations called for in this section, to be transmitted to the General Assembly, with the last annual report of this Department, including receipts and disbursements; . . . ."

In obedience to this law, I take pleasure in submitting to you for your consideration, and to be transmitted to the General Assembly, the following statement and suggestions:

STATEMENT

The general work of the Insurance Department is known, and makes unnecessary a full statement in detail; but the Commissioner feels that several matters should be clearly stated.
Prior to 1899 the supervision of the insurance companies in this State was under the Secretary of State. On coming in control of the Legislature in 1899, the Democrats enacted a new code of laws governing insurance companies, and also organized a separate Insurance Department, placing a Commissioner in charge, not only of the supervision of companies and their agents operating in the State, but of the collection of all licenses and taxes from them.

The Department has now suitable offices, but the pay of the clerks is inadequate, and the Commissioner is embarrassed frequently by changes, as clerks seek other places where they can obtain better salaries. This necessitates a continual work of training new men, and is a hardship, especially where the work of the Department is of a technical character and calls for an expert. The total cost of the Department to the State, including not only the salaries of the employees, but that of the Commissioner, as well as printing and other expenses was $32,842.28, while the collections paid into the State Treasury amount to $799,688.30 for the past two years.

The work of the Department is naturally divided into the collection of revenues from the companies and associations under its charge, and their supervision. The collection from insurance companies, as well as building and loan associations, necessitates the keeping in the Department not only accounts of each special fund, but of 500 individual accounts with companies and associations under its supervision.

REVENUE

There is a gradual increase of about $30,000 per annum in the revenue collected from insurance companies. Prior to the formation of the Department, the largest amount collected from this source in one year was $84,879.38. During the fiscal year ending April 1, 1918, the Commissioner paid to the State Treasurer $415,468.16, which made the total amount paid into the Treasury to the beginning of the present fiscal year since the formation of the Department $4,674,573.08. The collections for the present fiscal year from April 1, 1918, to April 1, 1919, judging from the increase up to January 1, 1919, will amount to more than $450,000.

SUPERVISION

The collection of the licenses, taxes, and fees from insurance companies referred to is an important matter, and adds very materially to the State's revenue; but by far the most important work of the Department, and that of greatest benefit to the citizens of the State, is its supervision of insurance companies, associations, and societies, as well as their representatives operating in the State. The great improvement in the practices of the companies and their agents shows the work accomplished in this respect. The supervision takes in:

1. The admission and regulation of all companies doing or proposing to do any kind of insurance in the State.—There are about four hundred companies, associations, and societies doing the following classes of insurance: Life, health, accident, casualty, fire, marine, credit, burglary, plate-glass, liability, steam-boiler, automobile, etc.

2. Fire Marshal.—The Commissioner is also ex officio fire marshal, and has charge of the investigation of all suspicious fires, and the prosecution of those thought to be responsible for them. There have been many of those investigations and prosecutions which have been very beneficial in their results. A number of convictions are obtained each year, and the deterrent effect is specially good. During 1917 there were fifteen (15) convictions, and in 1918 there were fourteen (14). This is a fine record when it is remembered that it is more difficult to convict for burning than perhaps for any other crime. There can be no question but that these convictions obtained, as well as the vigorous prosecutions conducted even where no conviction followed, have had a good effect and are materially reducing fires in the State.

3. Building and Inspection Laws.—The Commissioner is charged with the enforcement of the building and inspection laws. This involves not only having inspections made throughout the State by men sent from the Department, but also in seeing that the work is kept up and the laws enforced by the officers of the different cities and towns. The State Building Code and its enforcement in the different cities and towns in the State is not only greatly improving the fire conditions and liability to conflagrations in our cities and towns, but is having a fine effect in the education of our people as to the advantage of better and safer buildings and the protection they afford against the destruction by fire of property throughout the State. It is provided that the license fees collected from fire insurance companies should be used for this purpose. This gives a sufficient sum and the Commissioner has started out upon different lines of fire prevention and laid a broader foundation for a great and effective work in the State. There is some complaint because of lack of funds for the enforcement of the law passed by the Legislature in regard to forest fires. It might be well for this General Assembly to consider the advisability of restoring this work to the Fire Marshal Department of the Insurance Department as it was prior to the enactment of this law.

4. Exits and fire-escapes.—Under chapter 637, Public Laws 1909, the Insurance Commissioner is given supervision over and charged with the enforcement of the law in regard to sufficient exits and proper fire-escapes for buildings in the State where people congregate. This is a most important law and one that has called for considerable thought and work from the Insurance Commissioner and his deputies; over 1,500 fire-escapes having been erected under their direction. It is to be greatly regretted that so many of our public buildings, especially theaters, dormitories, and school buildings, should be so erected that it is impossible to arrange for an absolutely safe escape of the inmates in case of fire, even with fire escapes. Of course, the Commissioner has endeavored to do what he could in the way of having buildings already erected put in proper shape, but some provision should be made so that plans for new buildings of this character must be passed upon by the Insurance Commissioner or some expert in his Department to secure not only the safety of the building itself, but especially of the inmates, from fire.

5. Publication of statements.—The Commissioner is required to make an abstract of the financial statements filed with him by the different companies operating in the State; to collect the fees for the publication of the same and have them published in the newspapers of the State.

6. Firemen's Relief Fund.—The Commissioner is also required to collect from insurance companies operating in the State the taxes for the benefit of our firemen and to distribute these taxes among the firemen of ninety-odd towns of the State, or all the cities and towns complying with the law. This fund amounts to over $12,000. Under the law a tax of one-half ($\frac{1}{2}$) of 1 per controversy or associations for association, approve all valuable very this of tracts and to them matters modifying the property of State different rates. the with and regulations, the in the buildings erected, the inmates of the suggestion and intelligent work, to adapt to and be made of great benefit to the farmers of the State as well as to those living in cities and towns who have received their benefits, makes this a most important part of the work of the Department.

12. Investment and promotion companies.—The looking after these companies calls for prompt and intelligent work, that our citizens may not be imposed upon or defrauded, for such companies and their representatives are usually very active. The small fund allowed for use by the Insurance Commissioner for seeking out and prosecuting violations of the insurance laws is used up in that work. A special allowance should be available for violations by investment and promotion companies. Vigorous prosecutions against these would save thousands of dollars each year to our people.

51—Senate
1. Building and clerical help.—Until recently the Department did not have adequate quarters, but now has offices that are commodious and convenient, on the third floor of the State Departments Building.

In order that the Department may not be subjected to frequent changes in its force, and to provide adequate support, it is important that the salaries of the employees, especially those requiring technical knowledge and experience, should be increased and that provision should be made for the employment of regular examiners for building and loan associations and for insurance companies and loan associations once a year, and our law requires a full examination and audit once in three years. It will take the full time of a competent man for each class, to say nothing of the examination of foreign insurance companies and societies doing business here, which are important and necessary.

2. Standard fire policy.—Among the many important changes made in the law affecting the fire insurance business in the State by the last General Assembly was the adoption of what is known as the “North Carolina Standard Fire Policy.” The valuable laws enacted upon the recommendation of the Fire Investigating Committee make unnecessary the placing of much fire insurance legislation upon our books by this General Assembly, but it is necessary to make some minor changes in the Standard Fire Policy, as the policy, with these changes, will be presented to and no doubt adopted by the legislatures of a number of States at their present sessions. The policy is a decided improvement on the old form of standard fire policy, and it is very desirable to have uniformity in all insurance contracts.

3. Change in charters and capital stock.—Under the present insurance law in this State no change in a charter of a domestic insurance company or in the amount of the capital stock can be made without the approval of the Insurance Commissioner. The Commissioner recommends that this law be amended to apply not only to domestic companies, but also to foreign insurance companies doing business in the State, with a proviso that this requirement may be waived in case of an insurance company where the laws of its domicil give like authority to a supervising insurance official. The necessity of this law is apparent, but has been emphasized by the action of the Union Central Life Insurance Company of Ohio, doing business in this State. This company for years operated with only $100,000 capital, and eight or ten years ago increased their capital stock to $500,000 by a stock dividend of $400,000. The Convention of Insurance Commissioners took up this matter with the company and protested against the action as unfair and unjust to its policy-holders, in view of the fact that through its literature and agents, as well as officers of the company, it had held out to the insuring public that it was practically a mutual company, and that the profits of the company would go to its policy-holders. There was nothing in the law of Ohio, or any authority vested in the Superintendent of Insurance of that State, that would prevent the action objected to.

It was generally believed that the action and expression of the views of the Insurance Commissioners of the different States through their convention, and the general tendency to mutualize life companies and do away entirely with all capital stock, would end the action of this company along this line.
but within the last two years the company has again increased their capital stock, now to $2,000,000, using $1,500,000 of surplus as a stock dividend. The officers of the company not only uphold this action, but so far have failed and refused to give any assurance that additional increase of capital stock by the use of surplus will not be made. It does not help the matter for the company to say that the surplus used was obtained from its nonparticipating business. It certainly has not shown this to the satisfaction of a committee of the Insurance Commissioners, and even if they had, it is a question whether the company would not be acting in better faith with its policy-holders to withdraw this surplus in a cash dividend, if they are entitled to it, and not place it in capital stock, where it will continue to be a liability and charge upon the participating policy-holders of the company.

Shall this State allow a foreign company doing business with its citizens to do what would not be allowed to a home company, especially when it is a clear violation of the statements and literature upon which the business was solicited and written?

4. Workmen’s Compensation Law.—Our laws are very deficient as to employers’ liability and kindred matters. The Commissioner has called the attention of the last two General Assemblies to the fact that it would be well to have these laws added to and improved and a workmen’s compensation act in force in this State. There can be no question but that the principles of the workmen’s compensation laws in force in so many of our States are right. It is the best and most progressive way to deal with these matters, and in the end will prove best for the citizens of our State. The Commissioner believes that this General Assembly should enact such a law as will be up-to-date, will contain the principles of these acts, and can be administered by the State at the smallest cost. The employers and employees of the State should, and your Commissioner believes do, favor the principles involved in the laws, the only question being as to the details or special provisions of the law. The matter should be taken up, discussed, and passed upon, not as a law in the interest of employers or in the interest of employees as against the other, but as a law that will prove in the end best for all the employers as well as the employees who come under its provisions. The principles of the workmen’s compensation acts are right and the State cannot afford not to be progressive enough in its legislation to have these, and in fact all laws for the good not only of the State but of its different classes of citizens. There should also be enacted the uniform bill recently approved and recommended by the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners for computing the reserve on this class of business.

5. Licensed electricians.—That no person be allowed to install electrical apparatus or of electrical wiring in this State unless licensed by the Insurance Commissioner upon showing to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that he is competent to do this work. Of course, it would be well to provide that the Commissioner might waive this requirement where it is shown that the party proposing to do the work is licensed by a city or town under a provision providing for the licensing of only skilled and competent workmen.

6. Fire-escapes.—Under chapter 637, Public Laws of 1909, the Insurance Commissioner is required to see that all public buildings, especially theaters, dormitories, school buildings and buildings of like character where people are accustomed to congregate, shall be provided with sufficient exits, and if necessary, fire-escapes. In view of the fact that there is no supervision in this respect as to the character of school and other public buildings erected in the State, and the selection of the plans is entirely with different boards, it seems to the Commissioner to be absolutely necessary for the protection of the people of the State, especially the children, that the plans for these public school buildings should be required to be submitted to the Insurance Commissioner for his approval as to their safety from fire and the safety of the inmates in case of fire.

7. Reinsurance companies.—There are licensed in this State an unusually large number of insurance companies, especially fire. Some are entered to do only a reinsurance business, and special provisions should be made as to their license and the fees required of them.

8. Steam-boiler inspection.—It is very important that there should be laws requiring and governing the inspection of steam boilers in the State. It is most important for the protection of life and property, and such laws are found in most of the States.

9. Capital and surplus.—An increase should be made in the minimum capital for marine insurance companies, as $25,000 is entirely too little. Your Commissioner believes that new companies in addition to the amount of capital required by law.

10. Medical examinations.—That the maximum life policy not requiring a medical examination be raised to $300, and the provisions extended to group insurance contracts, on which there is no occasion for medical examinations.

STATE INSTITUTIONS

11. Insurance on State property.—Under the law it is made the duty of the Insurance Commissioner to inspect each State institution as to its safety from fire and the protection of its inmates, and to place upon the State property insurance which is provided for under the law. An annual appropriation of $10,000 is made to cover the fire insurance upon the State property. At the time this amount was first agreed upon it was sufficient to carry practically 50 per cent of the value of the property; but now, because of the great increase in the insurable value of the State property (being practically $7,000,000), the appropriation does not enable the Commissioner to carry more than 30 per cent of the value. This, in the opinion of the Commissioner, is not sufficient, and the appropriation should be increased $5,000 or $10,000. This opinion is shared by the boards having State property in charge, some of whom have taken out as much as $150,000 of insurance, paying for the same out of their appropriation.

The records show that the State had collected for fire losses more than it has paid in fire insurance premiums, besides receiving an annual protection of $2,250,000 against the fire hazard. The Commissioner feels that he cannot emphasize too strongly the protection of State property by better buildings and insurance. The State property, records, etc., as well as the inmates of our institutions, should be safeguarded as fully as possible. The character of new buildings required under the work of the State Building are certainly steps in the right direction.

12. State Capitol.—Your Commissioner would again strongly recommend that some steps be taken for the better protection of the State Capitol from destruction by fire. This is a magnificent building, but is far from fire-proof, and an inspection of the building, especially under the roof, would disclose to any committee or member of your body the urgent necessity and importance of this recommendation.

13. Agricultural Building.—In the opinion of your Commissioner, the new part of the Agricultural Building can, by the use of automatic sprinklers, be made as safe from fire as its contents would admit; but the main or old part of the building, formerly known as the National Hotel, can never be made safe from fire. This part of the building should be taken down and the Department of Agriculture authorized to erect in its place a five- or six-story building, not only adapted to the uses of the Department and its varied work, but safe for its records and statistics, which become more valuable each year.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS

14. Building and loan associations.—The Commissioner recommends that a provision for the annual licensing of building and loan associations should be more clearly expressed than in our present statute, and that a nominal fee should be charged for the same; also, that this fee should be used for the expenses of the examination and checking up of building and loan associations in the State, and that an additional deputy or clerk should be allowed to the Commissioner for this purpose. The proper supervision of these associations calls for additional legislation. Their increased business in this State and their great value in the upbuilding of our State and the teaching of our people thrift, make it most important that they should be encouraged and their conduct properly safeguarded.

CONCLUSION

In making the above recommendations the Commissioner has undertaken to discharge the duty imposed upon him by law, and trusts they will commend themselves to your honorable body. They have been made with a sincere desire to place clearly before you the situation in insurance matters in our State, though they are of course not expected to cover all insurance matters of interest.

Of course, the Commissioner will cheerfully defer to your superior wisdom in these matters, and he will take pleasure in furnishing you or your committees, or any individual member of your body, any further details or information in his possession, or obtainable, and give you the benefit of any knowledge of a technical character, or gained by experience, that he may possess, to aid you in improving our laws and making them of even greater benefit in the future to our State and her citizens, as well as to the companies organized or operating here.

Respectfully submitted,

JAMES R. YOUNG,
Insurance Commissioner.

REPORT OF THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT

To the General Assembly:

I transmit herewith biennial report of B. R. Lacy, State Treasurer.
This January 23, 1919.

T. W. BICKETT,
Governor.
Governor T. W. Bickett:

Sir:—Transmitted herewith is report of the Treasury Department for the biennial period ending November 30, 1917, and November 30, 1918.

The Treasury receipts have reflected the general 1918 prosperous condition of the State, resulting in an unencumbered balance of $201,238.93, while at the close of the fiscal year 1917 there was a deficit of $193,726.99 as shown by the statement under head, “Condition of fund balances, November 30, 1917.” The increases of receipts for fiscal year 1918 over 1917 is shown by the “Comparative alphabetical summary of all receipts for fiscal years 1917-1918.” The increases from income tax, $45,000; licenses, Schedule “B,” $80,000; insurance companies, $69,000; ad valorem taxes, $125,000; gasoline tax, $47,000; and inheritance tax, $79,000; totaling $445,000, appropriations made but not used, and unencumbered appropriation balances returned to the Treasury. While the amounts returned to the Treasury were not actual receipts, liability was reduced this much, leaving the sum unencumbered in the Treasury. The return to the Treasury was upon advice of the Attorney-General, ruling that “Annual appropriations and annual expenditures authorized by law but not expended, or any balances left at the end of the year unencumbered, should properly revert to the Treasury.” The increased income for 1918 over 1917 with reverted balances enabled me to pay the deficit balance at the end of 1917, meet 1918 obligations, and reduce the $300,000 note to $150,000. This sum is held with the balance to pay the $300,000 regular public and high school appropriations now due, for I am of the opinion that these school appropriations should not be delayed in payment, owing to conditions brought about by the influenza epidemic.

The estimated income shown in statement of income and disbursements is based upon 1918 receipts, with known reductions and increases, with property tax estimated at increase of $100,000, and $800,000 inheritance tax increase. The increase from reassessment of property will apply only one year as tax is received in the year after assessment is made. No greater increase may be expected under present laws.

Disbursement estimate is based on present appropriations and expenditures provided by existing laws.

Some few of the institutions have operated within their appropriations, so I am told; many have not, I am confident; therefore, it may be expected large outstanding obligations accrued. I have no way of determining, or estimating, the total of these obligations.

The Legislature of 1917 passed an act requiring the State Treasurer to issue $75,000 of bonds for the Caswell Training School, $25,000 for the School for Women and Girls, and $500,000 each year for six years for the different institutions. The $500,000 for 1917 were sold for $501,487.20, which gave a premium of $1,487.20. This year, 1918, I advertised as much or more than I did in 1917, but on account of the drive for Liberty Loan Bonds of the United States, which were offered at 4½ per cent while those of the State of North Carolina was at 4 per cent, I could sell only $121,000, and, therefore, have on hand now $379,000. The colleges and other institutions have begun building and need this money very much, but while the State bonds have remained very near par, it is impossible to sell them now and something will have to be done by the Legislature for relief of these institutions.

I again want to recommend that the money returned to the State Treasurer in 1915 by Dr. Kemp Battle that was paid him by act of the General Assembly of 1915 be covered into the Treasury.

In regard to the force of the Treasurer's office, I desire to say that too much credit cannot be given to Major Moody, chief clerk; H. R. Williamson, acting teller; and Mrs. W. D. Martin, stenographer, for their loyal, constant and efficient work for the last six months. Two clerks were drafted, one quit to accept a better paying position in Washington, and one was paralyzed. One of the greatest handicaps is the insufficiency of the salaries. The work is intricate and requires training and ability. Hundreds will apply for this kind of a job, but when they try to do the work they are failures. I therefore recommend that the chief clerk's pay be put at what the Treasurer's is now, $3,500, and all the others raised also, and the salary of my successor be put at $5,000. Mr. Homer Peele, one among the most efficient accountants in the State, has been released from the army and returned to me as teller.

To you, the members of the Council of State, and the other officials of the State, I desire to express my appreciation for kindly courtesies and assure you that our associations have been very pleasant to me.

Respectfully submitted,

B. R. Lacy.

State Treasurer.

In addition to the above, there is a weekly pay roll of about $335 when the school is in operation, and about $90 at other times. This is for day labor employed in the power plant, on the grounds, in the laundry and dining-room, infirmary, dormitories, and administration building, and necessarily varies. The most of this expense is met by money received from the students in fees and for board.

We attach sketches of the kindergarten cottage, a typical cottage, and administration building of the Blind School at Raleigh. We attach photographs showing the construction of the wing of the McIver Building and the Model Dormitory of the State Normal and Industrial College, Greensboro, N. C. and of the Physics and Engineering Building at the University of North Carolina.

Your attention is respectfully called to the importance of having the material and workmanship on the same inspected by competent building and mechanical inspectors as the work progresses. This is particularly applicable to the large amount of mechanical equipment now required by the State's institutions. The heads of these institutions, the stewards, and operating officers are constantly engaged with their regular duties. The Building Commission Act did not seem to contemplate that it should set up a staff for this purpose.

REPORT OF STATE EDUCATIONAL COMMISSION

To the General Assembly:
I herewith transmit report of the State Educational Commission.
This January 27, 1919.

T. W. BICKETT,
Governor.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

RALEIGH, N. C., January 7, 1919.

To his Excellency, T. W. BICKETT, Governor:

Sir:—I have the honor, as directed by section 7, chapter 197, Public Laws of 1917, to hand to you herewith a report for the General Assembly of 1919 of the “Findings and Recommendations” of the State Educational Commission, together with a statement of the expenses of said Commission.

On March 6, 1918, the members of the Commission, upon summons of the Governor, met in the Senate Chamber of the Capitol to organize. After perfecting the organization, they proceeded at once with the work to be done.

In accordance with section 4 of the act creating the Commission, I was instructed by the Commission to request the General Education Board to give expert assistance in making the survey of educational conditions in our State.
and to request it to make an appropriation to help defray the expenses of this survey. The General Education Board, in answer to our inquiry, stated that it would be glad to assist in making the survey, but that it desired to be given sufficient time to make the survey a thorough one. It has made an appropriation of five thousand dollars ($5,000) to be used for this purpose. The General Education Board is now making a preliminary study of educational conditions preparatory to doing the field work. It is ready to send a man into the State as soon as the schools can resume normal operation. Your Commission wishes to have sufficient time to make this survey under normal conditions, and sufficient time and funds to allow it to make a thorough study of the "Findings" so it can make recommendations that will be helpful to our public schools. It will take two years to do this work with the degree of thoroughness that the importance of the task demands.

At the meeting of the Commission July 20, Mr. C. C. Wright was authorized to begin at once the codification of the school law. This he has done and his report will be found under the caption: "Education. Public, Public Local, and Private Laws. 1900-1917." This work was done in conjunction with Professor L. P. McGehee, of the State University. We note from this work that the school laws heretofore have not been indexed and arranged with sufficient care. As a result, many inaccuracies have made it difficult to find certain laws and to determine what exceptions to the general laws have been made. A casual glance at this part of the report of the Commission will convince any one that it is very necessary to have this part of the work completed with care. It is the opinion of your Commission that these laws should be codified and printed in separate volumes. The mass of Public, Public Local, and Private School Laws now in force in our State should be thoroughly studied and unified. There is much more work needed to be done by the Commission in this direction.

Your Commission employed Mr. W. F. Marshall of Raleigh to make a study and report to the Commission on the "Present methods and costs of public printing in North Carolina." On December 17, Mr. Marshall made a preliminary report to the Commission. This was studied carefully and Mr. Marshall was requested to continue and extend his investigation and formulate the same for the Commission's report. This he has done and his report in its final form constitutes the Commission's report, and will be found under the caption: "Present method and cost of public printing in North Carolina."

The Commission instructed me to gather data on the methods and costs of supplying text-books to this and other States, and to get information from the several states on the matter of public school teachers' pensions. The data at hand on the question of text-books is not sufficient to make a final report. The findings are set forth as a part of the Commission's report under the caption, "Methods of supplying text-books to the public schools." The same is true with reference to public school teachers' pensions. The findings will be found in this report under the caption, "Teachers' pensions."

The work to be done by the Commission was more than could be done in ten months, and will cost more than the funds at the disposal of your Commission. It is the desire of your Commission that this work be continued and that it be given until the General Assembly of 1921 to make its final report. It will take an appropriation of at least five thousand dollars ($5,000) from the General Assembly of 1919 to defray the necessary expenses of the Commission in completing this work. The investigation has gone far enough for us to realize that the field of activities of the Commission should be extended to include a thorough study of existing agencies for the preparation and training of teachers in this and other States.

It is our opinion that if sufficient funds and time are allowed the Commission to complete this work, its “Findings and Recommendations” should be almost invaluable to our State. The time for this work is within the next two years before the schools are finally adjusted to the new conditions that must arise from the recent World War.

Respectfully submitted,

ROBERT H. WRIGHT,
Chairman.

The Commission ordered that the above report be used as a supplement to the Public School Laws of 1917. The Commission recommends that all of the laws now in force referred to in the supplement be printed and bound separately in one or more volumes. In asking for an extension of time, the Commission requests that it be empowered to complete this codification and submit the same to the General Assembly of 1921.

Gentlemen of the State Educational Commission:

Pursuant to notice from your chairman under date of September 11, 1918, that I had been designated by you to procure certain data relating to the present method and cost of public printing in this State, I have the honor to make the report which follows:

The State of North Carolina has no printing plant; the printing required in the conduct of its government must therefore be done by private concerns. This work is designated by law as the public printing, and the person or firm doing the work is likewise designated as the public printer. The main provisions of law under which the public printing is to be done are conveniently brought together, under the caption of Public Printing, in chapter 119 of the new Code now in process of publication.
In the Laws of 1911, chapter 211, section 1, the term "Public Printing" is construed by the statute to mean:

All printing done directly for the State and paid for out of the general fund, and included in the following: All annual or biennial reports required to be made under laws that now or may hereafter exist; all blanks and blank books and office stationery required, and no more: Provided, that special bulletins and publications, except for divisions of the Government supported by State appropriations, may be allowed by order of the State Printing Commission.

Parenthetically, it may be here explained that the State Printing Commission is composed of the Governor, the Council of State, the Attorney-General, and the Commissioner of Labor and Printing. The Council of State includes the Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, and Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Other statutes set forth with greater particularity the kinds and amount of public printing that may be done for the Senate and House of Representatives, the Supreme Court, the several offices and departments of the State Government, and the various State institutions; but it is deemed sufficient just here to note that, including the cost of paper purchased, the total public printing account for the year ending November 30, 1918, was $113,761.26, against an annual average of $97,048.55 for the last five years and an annual average of $86,670.58 for the last ten years.

Contracting for and Superintending the Public Printing

The public printing is executed on a contract made under statutory provisions and, as intimated by the language of the statute already quoted, it is done under the direction of the State Printing Commission. Until the year 1917, bids for executing the public printing were submitted and accepted with regard to certain maximum prices fixed by statute. With only rare exceptions these maximum prices were paid to the contractors, the most notable recent exceptions being 18 cents instead of 80 cents per thousand impressions for job printing during the four-year period ending in 1917. But the General Assembly of 1917 repealed the provisions of law fixing maximum prices to be paid for the public printing, and enacted the provision now in force. The amended statute (Laws of 1917, chapter 126, section 1) is as follows:

"The Governor and the Council of State, Commissioner of Labor and Printing, and the Attorney-General shall contract for having all the printing and binding done for the State upon the best possible terms for the State; and the Commissioner of Labor and Printing shall superintend the same. In any contract which they may make they may fix and determine the times for the delivery of the public and private laws, and the journals and documents of the General Assembly, or any part thereof, according to their judgment and discretion. The person with whom such contract is made is designated as the Public Printer."

The awarding of the contract for the public printing on the best possible terms for the State is thus committed to the judgment and discretion of the Printing Commission. The execution of the work is placed under the superintendence of the Commissioner of Labor and Printing, and other statutes require of the public printer a bond of five thousand dollars for the faithful performance of his duties under the contract.

A single exception in contracting for public printing is made in a special provision (Laws of 1905, chapter 400), by which the Supreme Court is authorized to contract for the printing of its reports, to supervise the work, and to select the printer at a price not to exceed that in the State's current contract with the public printer.

It is proper to observe also that the public printer does not furnish the paper used by him in doing the State's work. The Commissioner of Labor and Printing is directed by law to purchase for the State all paper and stationery used in the public printing. These items are supplied from the State's storerooms to the public printer from time to time as required for the execution of the State's work.

Annual Cost of Public Printing

To get a clearer understanding of the present cost of the public printing, it will be helpful to take a review of the changes in the total cost and in the unit cost for the last few years. While there have been fluctuations from year to year in the total cost of the work done, it is noteworthy but not surprising that every important change in the unit cost has been in the direction of an increase in the basic rate paid by the State.

The State's total annual outlay for paper and the public printing for the last eleven years, and the fluctuations from year to year for ten years, are shown in the subjoined table and in the accompanying Chart I under table marked Exhibit "A." The fluctuations from month to month, not including paper, for a single two-year period are likewise shown by table and by Chart II in the same exhibit.

The Principal Items of Cost

While the complete schedule of prices for the public printing covers a long list of items, the principal items of cost, exclusive of the paper used, are included in composition, presswork, ruling and binding.

1. Composition embraces:

   (a) Machine composition of the plain reading matter and the statistical tables found in books, pamphlets, and bulletins. This work is priced by the thousand.

   (b) Hand composition, which includes making up the matter into pages and forms and such other work as setting title pages, headings and the forms for printed stationery. This work is done by the hour.

2. Presswork embraces:

   (a) Cylinder presswork, such as the larger forms for books and pamphlets. The cost unit for doing this work is 250 impressions, but in long runs it is usually computed by the thousand impressions.

   (b) Job presswork, the printing of letter heads, envelopes, circulars, and other small forms, the cost unit being one thousand impressions.

3. Binding embraces:

   (a) Folding, sewing, trimming, and finishing in a permanent binding the printed books and blank books, the public printer furnishing the binding materials except covers for paper-bound books. This work is paid for by the copy, the price varying with the number of pages.

   (b) Folding, stitching or sewing, covering, and binding paper-bound books and pamphlets. This work is paid for by the copy and according to the number of pages. The paper covers are furnished by the State.
4. Ruling of blanks and blank books, which is done by the hour.

The proportions of the principal items of cost to each other and to the total is indicated by the following items, for the biennial period of 1915-1916, furnished by the Assistant Commissioner of Labor and Printing:

Machine composition .................................. $39,047.43
Hand composition ................................... 2,693.58
Job presswork ..................................... 4,775.07
Cylinder presswork ................................ 7,309.65
Binding ............................................. 2,728.60
Ruling and other items .............................. 19,918.24

Present Contract Prices

Under the statute previously quoted, the State Printing Commission awarded the contract for the public printing and binding for two years from August 23, 1917, to the firms of Edwards & Broughton Printing Company and the Commercial Printing Company, in the proportion of four-fifths to the former and one-fifth to the latter. As is permitted by the provision already mentioned, the printing of the Supreme Court reports, under the supervision of the court, was awarded to the Mitchell Printing Company. All of these houses are located in the city of Raleigh.

The schedule of prices covering the various classes of work under this contract is herewith filed for reference as Exhibit "B"; but for the practical purposes of this report, the digest and comparison of the main items of cost appearing in the following table will probably be found sufficient as well as more convenient.

In the contract made August 23, 1917, between the State and the public printers, there was a provision of the following tenor:

"It is further agreed that if there shall appear to be an increase of ten per cent or a decrease of ten per cent in the cost of production in printing and binding establishments in the Southern States, the State may, in the event of the appearance of such decrease, and the Edwards & Broughton Printing Company and the Commercial Printing Company may, in the event of the appearance of such increase, demand an investigation of the matter, and upon such demand the State shall appoint a representative who . . . be modified in accordance with the findings of these representatives, or shall remain in its present form, if such investigation should show that there has not been an average of ten per cent in the cost of the item covered by this contract.”

Eight months later, under the terms of this clause in the contract, the State Printing Commission granted an increase of 28 per cent, effective from April 28, 1918, in the price schedules of the original contract. These price schedules, therefore, plus the 28 per cent which became effective from April 28, 1918, constitute the prices which determine the present cost of doing public printing.

Concrete Examples and Applications

With a view to a more intelligent understanding of the present cost of the public printing in its practical applications, it has been deemed proper to present a brief list of specimen publications of public printing with the actual cost per copy as furnished by the Commissioner of Labor and Printing, and also to use the present contract rates in computing the cost of printing one or two of the text-books adopted for use in the public schools. The publications described in the following list are filed herewith as Exhibit “C.”

Cost of Specimen State Publications

1. North Carolina Corn Bulletin (1915); 80 pages; 960 copies. Total cost, $94.70. Cost per copy, $0.0986, or practically 10 cents.

2. Arbor and Bird Day Manual (1917); 32 pages; 40,000 copies. Total cost, $496.70. Cost per copy, $0.0124, or practically 1½ cents.

3. Institute Manual for Teachers’ Institutes (1918); 76 pages; 9,000 copies. Total cost, $357.35. Cost per copy, $0.0397, or practically 4 cents.

4. Public School Law of North Carolina (1917); 162 pages; 25,000 copies. Total cost, $1,461.88. Cost per copy, $0.0585, or a little less than 6 cents.

5. North Carolina Reports, Vol. 170 (1918); 568 pages; 1,200 copies. Total cost (not including $50 paid for annotation), $1,929.44. Cost per copy, $1.61.

Before the 28 per cent increase of April 28, 1918, the cost would have been $1.31 per copy.

Application of Contract Rates to Text-books

For the purpose of illustrating the application of the present contract rates for printing and binding to the production of text-books, two of the simpler specimens of book typography are selected from the list of adopted books, namely: Peele’s Civil Government and Robbins and Row’s Essential Studies in English, Book Two. Such books as arithmetics or algebras, with their more complicated composition, geographies and histories, with numerous maps and illustrations, and the readers, with pictures printed in colors, have been regarded as either too complex for the simple purposes of these estimates or as involving processes and prices not included in the State’s public printing schedules.

The calculations are based on editions of 5,000 copies of the first-named book, and 50,000 copies of the other; and the paper is estimated at ten cents a pound, which is not far from the market price at this time for paper of the quality used.
It should be observed, also, that the rate of 35 cents per volume for binding, which is employed because technically it happens to be the contract rate for binding the class of books required by the State, is probably much higher than would be charged in an actual contract for binding school books in large lots. It is not improbable that such binding could be obtained for 20 cents or less per copy. But changes in the cost of paper and binding are easily applied to the results of the calculations presented in the following table.

Estimated Cost of Two Adopted Text-books

1. Peele's Civil Government. School contract price, 60 cents, 288 pages; edition of 5,000 copies on paper weighing 100 pounds to the ream and costing 10 cents per pound.

Paper in each book, 1.2 pounds; value, 12 cents.

The variation of one cent per pound in the cost of paper would produce a variation of one and two-tenths cents per copy in the cost of production.

It should not be overlooked that in the foregoing estimates nothing has been considered but the mechanical production of the books designated; no account whatever has been taken of the cost of authorship and editing, both of which expenses belong in any computation of the full cost of producing text-books.
With the trust that the facts here presented may be of service to you in forming true conclusions upon the important matters claiming your consideration, this report is respectfully submitted. Awaiting your further commands, I am

Obediently yours,

Raleigh, N. C., December 28, 1918.

W. F. MARSHALL.

METHODS OF SUPPLYING TEXT-BOOKS TO THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

In the United States there are three methods of supplying text-books to the public schools.

Method 1. The State prints the text-books and

(a) Sells them at cost; or,

(b) Furnishes them free.

There are only two States with printing plants where the elementary text-books are printed: Kansas and California. Kansas sells the books at cost and California furnishes them free.

Five States, California, Kansas, Maine, Nevada, and Oregon own State printing plants. Only two of these, as indicated above, print elementary text-books for the public schools.

Method 2. The State Board of Education or a Text-book Commission adopts certain books for use throughout the State. A contract is entered into with the publishers for the books adopted. This contract is fixed for a definite number of years.

Under this plan there are two methods of distributing text-books:

(a) The publishers have depositories in the State and the books are sold to the children at the price agreed upon in the contract with the State.

(b) The State purchases the books direct from the publishers and furnishes the books free of charge to the children.

Method 3. The selection of text-books is a matter of the local school unit, county or township. The State has nothing to say about what book shall be used in county or township.

Under this plan there are two methods in use:

(a) The local board selects the text-books to be used and the children purchase the books in the open market. The local board may enter into an agreement with the publishers as to the price to be paid in county or township.

(b) The local board selects the books, purchases the same from the publishers and distributes them free to the children.

Two States, California and Kansas, use Method 1, and forty-six States use either Method 2 or Method 3. No doubt there are slight variations from the outline given above under Method 2 and Method 3 in different States, but the outline gives a fairly accurate idea of the methods now in use.

It is reasonable to suppose that a State, entering into a contract with a publisher to supply either the children of the entire State or the State direct with a large number of books for a number of years, could get these books cheaper than a local board could, and this is true; for when a book is put on a State adopted list it sells at a lower figure than before State adoption. So we conclude that the cost of Method 2 is less than the cost of Method 3.

There is absolutely no way from available data to make an accurate comparison of the cost of Method 1 and Method 3. California prices are somewhat lower, but the overhead expenses are not taken into account, i.e., the price of the plant, depreciation of plant, salaries for management, editors, etc. As to the quality of the books that are sold at a lower figure than similar books furnished by independent publishers, the Superintendent of Public Instruction of California himself says: "It is alleged that our text-books are not so well bound as those of private publishing houses. We find, however, that they last as long in actual use as any books."

We are of the opinion that Method 2 is cheaper than Method 3 and equally as cheap as Method 1, if not cheaper, when the items referred to above are taken into consideration.

Since the present contract for school books is binding until 1922, the Commission recommends that further time be allowed for the study of this problem and that the final report be made to the General Assembly of 1921.

After careful consideration of the report of Mr. W. F. Marshall, together with the report on the methods of supplying text-books to the public schools, and after a conference with representatives from Edwards & Broughton Printing Company, the Commercial Printing Company, and the Mitchell Printing Company, it is the sense of the Commission that it would not be wise at this time for the State to erect and equip a plant to do the State printing, and that it would not pay the State under present conditions to print and publish its text-books.

Teachers' Pensions

The question of teachers' pensions is one that every enlightened nation has attempted to answer in one form or another. The principle that a state or nation should provide maintenance for those who become disabled in the service was established centuries ago. As early as 1636 some of the colonies of this country held that all who had been disabled on account of military service should find support at the public expense, and the history of such pensions in this country is a long and comprehensive one.

This principle has grown until it embraces now civil as well as military service. The Federal Government and eight States have pension systems for judges. Many European nations and certain States of the United States have pensions for State employees.

Municipal governments, embracing about three hundred American cities, have pension systems for their employees, including chiefly those of the fire and police departments. Industrial organizations have pension systems to insure its employees support in old age and in case of accident. The greatest extension, however, of this principle underlying a just system is found in its application to teachers. Pensions for teachers are now provided almost universally in European countries as follows: Belgium, France, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, the states of the German Empire, Austria-Hungary, and in countries outside of Europe. They are found in New Zealand, Japan, South America, and in twenty-five States and sixty-four cities and counties of the United States.

The following States have adopted some form of pension system for their teachers: California, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, New York, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Vermont, Virginia, Wisconsin, Arizona, Maine, Maryland, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Kentucky, Ohio, Utah, and Colorado.
In European countries the systems are much older than in the United States, because there teaching as a life career developed much earlier. The first system for city schools in America was adopted by Chicago in 1893, and the first State system was adopted by New Jersey in 1896. Eight systems of pensions for teachers were founded before 1900. Twenty-three in the next decade, and thirty-six since the beginning of 1910. There are now sixty-seven different systems in thirty-four States.

The Basis of a Pension System

There are, generally speaking, two different systems of pensions in force:

1. The contributory system, in which both the public and the teachers contribute to the pension fund.

2. The noncontributory system, in which only the public or the teachers contribute to the pension fund.

"Wherever the cost is borne by the teacher alone, he cannot afford, out of a small salary, to set aside enough money to purchase adequate protection; and wherever the cost is borne by the public alone, the pensions are really considered as part of the teachers' compensation and the majority who withdraw or die before retirement receive no return for their reduced pay. On the other hand, when the cost is borne by the teachers and the public together, the teacher receives an appropriate compensation and contractual security, and the teacher and the public co-operate in an economic, social and an educational obligation." The principle of co-operation, therefore, between the teacher and the public is recognized by most of the pension systems that are now in operation.

Weakness of Existing Systems

A study of the financial basis of the pension systems of the several States is set forth in a recent report of the Carnegie Foundation and verified by this Commission. The conclusion drawn from this study is that wherever weakness appears or failure has threatened, it is due to the unsound financial basis on which the system was constructed. "It is gradually but surely being realized by those who are interested in pensions that there is no mystery underlying these principles, and, above all, that financial obligations cannot be carried out for any length of time unless funds are in existence to meet them, and that so far as teachers and their employers are concerned, the chief question to be studied is how to provide these funds in the most inexpensive and economical method consistent with justice to the teachers, fairness to the public, and the promotion of efficiency in education."

Principles of a Just System

The principles underlying a just system are strongly set forth by a commission comprising representatives of State universities, the Association of American Colleges, the American Association of University Professors, and the Carnegie Foundation, and are as follows:

1. The function of a pension system is to secure to the individual who participates in it protection against the risk of dependence due to old age or to disability.
2. The obligation to secure this protection for himself and for his family rests upon the individual. This is one of the primary obligations of the existing social order. Society has done its best for the individual when it provides the machinery by which he may obtain this protection at a cost within his reasonable ability to pay.

3. Men, either on salary or on wages, are in the economic sense, employees. The employer, whether a government, a corporation, or an individual, has a direct financial interest in the establishment of some pension system which shall enable old or disabled employees to retire under satisfactory conditions. In addition, society demands today that the employer assume some part in the moral and social betterment of his employees. The obligation of the employer to cooperate in sustaining a pension system is primarily a financial one, and in the second place, a moral one.

4. A pension system designed for any group of industrial or vocational workers should rest upon the cooperation of employee and employer.

5. Teachers' pensions should be stipendary in character, amounting to a fair portion of the active pay.

In creating a pension system for the teachers of North Carolina, errors that have crept into other systems may be avoided, it is believed, by observing these additional principles laid down by the Commission referred to above as follows:

1. In actual terms a pension is a deferred annuity upon the life of one or more individuals, payable upon the fulfillment of certain conditions.

2. In order that an individual participating in a pension system may be assured of his annuity when due, one condition is indispensable. There must be set aside, year by year, the reserve necessary, with its accumulated interest, to provide the annuity at the rate agreed upon. On no other conditions can the participator obtain a satisfactory contract. The man of thirty who participates in a pension plan under which he expects an annuity thirty-five or forty years in the future, will take some risk of disappointment in accepting any arrangement less secure than a contractual one.

3. A pension system conducted upon the actual basis of setting aside, year by year, the necessary reserve is the only pension system whose cost can be accurately estimated in advance.

4. A method by which a pension is paid for in advance in annual or monthly installments is the most practical plan which can be devised for purchasing deferred annuity, provided that the contributions begin early in the employee's career; and provided, also, that the contributions paid in year by year receive the benefit of the current interest from safe investments.

5. As a matter of practical administration, a pension system should apply to a group whose members live under comparable financial and economic conditions. To attain its full purpose, participation in the pension system to the extent of an agreed minimum should form a condition of entering the service or employment the members of which are cooperating in the pension system.

Recommendations

After a careful study, therefore, of the whole question of teachers' pensions, your Commission is of the opinion that it is the duty of the State to provide an adequate pension system for the teachers of North Carolina upon a sound
The cost of such a system to the State, however, should be studied very carefully, and your Commission recommends that more time be given for making this study that it may ascertain approximately what the annual cost will be to the State for a period of ten years, and report its findings to the General Assembly of 1921.

Teacher Training Agencies

The study and investigation already made by your Commission leads it to realize that its powers should be extended to a study of the teacher training agencies in this and other States. The Commission, therefore, recommends to the General Assembly that it be empowered and directed to make a thorough study of existing agencies for the preparation and training of teachers in this and other States and report their findings and recommendations to the General Assembly of 1921.

Appropriation

The appropriation of one thousand dollars ($1,000) made by the General Assembly of 1917 is not enough, as will be seen by the financial statement in this report. Your Commission recommends that an appropriation of five thousand dollars ($5,000) be made to carry on the work.
