Pursuant to a call of his Excellency, Governor Cameron Morrison, hereinafter recorded, the Senate of the General Assembly convenes in Extraordinary Session in its chamber in the city of Raleigh, this day at 11 o'clock a. m., and is called to order by Honorable W. B. Cooper, Lieutenant-Governor and President of the Senate.

Prayer is offered by Rev. A. Corey, Assistant Engrossing Clerk of the Senate.

The roll of the Senate is called, and the following Senators answer to their names:

Senators Baggett, Bellamy, Boyette, Brown of Columbus, Brown of Rockingham, Castelloe, Coston, DeLaney, Ebbs, Everett, Giles, Grady, Griffin, Hargett, Harris of Franklin, Harris of Wake, Harrison, Heath, Hicks, Hodges, Johnson of Beaufort, Johnson of Duplin, Jones of Edgecombe, Jurney, Lattimore, Long, McDonald, Mendenhall, Moss, Parker, Ray, Ruark, Sams, Stubbs, Tapp, Varser, Walker, White, Williams, Wilson, Woltz, Woodson—43.

A quorum of the Senators being present, the proclamation of the Governor convening the General Assembly in Extraordinary Session is read, as follows:

CONVENING THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY IN EXTRA SESSION
ON AUGUST 7, 1924

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
RALEIGH

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

To the Honorable the General Assembly of North Carolina:

Believing that an extraordinary occasion for a Special Session of the General Assembly, such as is referred to in Article III of section 9 of the Constitution of our State, has arisen and now exists, as hereinafter set forth; and my own belief being strengthened by the advice of the Council at a meeting on the 16th day of June, 1924:

Now, therefore, I, Cameron Morrison, Governor of North Carolina, do hereby issue this proclamation, calling your honorable body to meet in extraordinary session on Thursday, August 7th, at 11 o'clock a. m., in the State Capitol at Raleigh, and I respectfully request that the Senators and members of the House of Representatives assemble in their respective halls on the day and hour mentioned, for the purpose of meeting the emergencies which have arisen by reason of the fact—

That the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State relative to the State's Sinking Fund might be construed to prevent the placing of any part of the revenue derived from the tax on licenses to motor machines and gasoline into the Sinking Fund, and that its submission to the people in its present form will be hurtful to the credit of the State to such a serious extent as makes it necessary for the General Assembly to consider a correction thereto before it is submitted to the vote of the people for adoption;

And for the further reason that the freight rates now being paid by the people of this State are unjustly high, and that the carriers of freight in a rate readjustment proceeding pending before the Interstate Commerce Commission are asking for increases which would place a further burden upon the people of the State aggregating approximately ten millions of dollars annually;

And whereas, the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission, appointed at the last Regular Session of the General Assembly, after prolonged consideration of the matter, have recommended that the State develop certain conveniences to encourage water transportation from and to the State, and, under certain circumstances, establish a line of coastwise freight-carrying ships, and have expressed the opinion that through these means alone can the State be protected and lower freight rates obtained;

And whereas, it is absolutely necessary to protect the credit of the State, that the amendment to the Constitution relating to the Sinking Fund shall be so changed as to make it clear that certain portions of the fund derived from the automobile and gasoline tax may be placed in a sinking fund for the redemption of the bonds as we are now doing, but could not do if the Constitution was amended as proposed;

And whereas, it is of supreme interest to the welfare of this State that docking and terminal facilities shall be provided at a number of our towns and cities situated on navigable waters, and that in the event private parties cannot be induced to do so, that the State shall lease or buy and operate lines of ships for the transportation of commerce, in order that the only competition recognized by law for railroad transportation will be available to the people of the State:

I, therefore, make this proclamation in order that you may assemble and enact such legislation as you may think expedient and necessary to relieve the situations referred to, and for such other purposes as may in your judgment merit your attention.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed.

Done in the city of Raleigh, this the sixteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-four, and in the one hundred and forty-ninth year of our American Independence.

CAMERON MORRISON, Governor.

By the Governor:

Wm. H. Richardson,
Private Secretary.
MESSAGE TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

A message is ordered sent to the House of Representatives, informing that honorable body that the Senate is now ready to proceed with the public business.

In accordance with the resolution to that effect, the chair appoints Senators DeLaney and Bellamy as a committee to notify the Governor that the Senate is now assembled and awaits his pleasure.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The following message is received from the House of Representatives:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, August 7, 1924.

Mr. President:

It is ordered that a message be sent to the Senate, informing that honorable body that the House of Representatives is now ready to proceed with the public business.

Respectfully,

ALEX. LASSITER,
Principal Clerk.

A message is received from the House of Representatives, transmitting bills and resolutions, which are read the first time and disposed of as follows:

S. R. 3, H. R. 1, Joint resolution to assemble in joint session to receive the message of his Excellency, the Governor.

Upon motion of Senator Harris of Wake, the resolution is placed upon its immediate readings.

Passes its second and third readings, and is ordered enrolled.

Indefinite leave of absence is granted to Senator Haymore.

Upon motion of Senator Varser, indefinite leave of absence is granted to Senator Jones of Alleghany.

Upon motion of Senator Giles, the chair appoints as a committee for the purpose of drafting suitable resolutions concerning the death of the late Senator Zachary: Senators Giles, Ebbs, and Sams.

Upon motion of Senator Sams, indefinite leave of absence, carrying full compensation and allowances, is granted to Joe Mackay, Engrossing Clerk of the Senate, on account of illness.

The chair appoints the following Senators as chairmen of committees:

Senator Johnson—Committee on Agriculture.

Senator Castelloe—Committee on Congressional Districts.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Bills and resolutions are introduced, read the first time, and disposed of as follows:

By Senator DeLaney: S. R. 1, Joint resolution to appoint a committee to notify his Excellency that the General Assembly is now met, pursuant to call.

Upon motion of Senator DeLaney, the resolution is placed upon its immediate readings.
Passes its second and third readings, and is ordered sent to the House of Representatives.

By Senator Giles: S. R. 2, Joint resolution commemorating the life and services of Locke Craig and adjourning the General Assembly in his honor for the day of August 7, 1924.

Upon motion of Senator Giles, the resolution is placed upon its immediate readings.

Passes its second and third readings, and is ordered sent to the House of Representatives.

The chair appoints Senators DeLaney and Bellamy as a committee on the part of the Senate to act with a like committee on the part of the House to wait upon the Governor and conduct him to the Hall of the House of Representatives.

Upon motion of Senator Brown of Columbus, the Senate takes a recess until 11:50 a.m.

The Senate reconvenes, pursuant to recess, and proceeds with the following business:

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The following message is received from the House of Representatives:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, August 7, 1924.

Mr. President:

It is ordered that a message be sent to the Senate, informing that honorable body that the House of Representatives has passed the following bills and resolutions, and asks the concurrence of your honorable body therein:

Upon motion of Senator Giles, the resolution is placed upon its immediate readings.

Passes its second and third readings, and is ordered enrolled.

The following message is received from the House of Representatives:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, August 7, 1924.

Mr. President:

It is ordered that a message be sent to the Senate, informing that honorable body that the House of Representatives is now ready to receive your honorable body in joint session to hear the address of his Excellency, the Governor.

Respectfully,

ALEX LASSITER,
Principal Clerk.

The hour of 12 m. having arrived, the Senate, in accordance with the joint resolution passed by the two houses, proceeds in a body to the Hall of the House of Representatives, there to hear the message from his Excellency, Governor Cameron Morrison.

JOINT SESSION

In accordance with joint resolution, at the hour of 12 m. the joint session of the Senate and House of Representatives meets and is called to order by Lieutenant-Governor W. B. Cooper, President of the Senate.
A joint committee from the Senate and House of Representatives conducts his Excellency, Governor Cameron Morrison, into the chamber of the House, where he delivers the following message:

MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR CAMERON MORRISON

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I am sorry that my sense of duty required me to call you here in Extra Session during this hot summer weather, but I am sure you will recognize that it could not be avoided when you hear with particularity my reasons for doing so.

The proposed amendment to our State Constitution, enacted by you in your Regular Session, could not be submitted to the people of the State in its present form without serious peril to the credit of the State in respect to its sale of bonds for the construction of highways. Soon after the adjournment of the Regular Session the defect in this proposed amendment to our Constitution was discovered by the attorney upon whose opinion we were selling the highway bonds, as well as by some of those who were heavily investing in them. This presented a very serious difficulty, and it was only overcome by the State Treasurer and myself assuring them that the amendment would not be presented to the people in its present form, although it might require a special session of the General Assembly to prevent it. We could not have continued the sale of our highway bonds without heavy loss in their price but for making this promise.

The defect to which I refer is in the proposed amendment's provision prohibiting putting into the Sinking Fund for the redemption of the highway bonds any revenue received from a special tax levied for that purpose, and requiring that all of such sinking funds should be taken from the general revenues of the State. It was feared this would prevent using any part of the revenue derived from the gasoline tax, and for licenses to motor vehicles, being placed in such funds. This was not intended by you, I am sure. It was not intended by the draftsman of the proposed amendment.

It is absolutely necessary to correct it. This can only be done by you, and this Extra Session would have been imperative for this purpose if there had been no other extraordinary occasion for it.

I, therefore, most earnestly recommend that the amendment proposed be repealed, and that the one first adopted by you at your Regular Session be formally reënacted and submitted to the people of the State.

I am going to assume that argument in support of this recommendation is not necessary. I am sure you gentlemen do not desire to make it impossible to use funds derived from the special taxes upon gasoline and motor machines, and not required for interest or upkeep, to redeem the highway bonds.

Before leaving this subject, I desire to digress for a moment to call attention to the fact that the bonds authorized and being issued and sold by the State for the construction of highways are serial bonds, and that our provision for a sinking fund from which to meet these serial obligations is without precedent in the issue of bonds by States of the Union. But inasmuch as the serial obligations do not commence to mature until ten years from the date of the issuance of the bonds, the State has wisely commenced to put by funds in order that these serial obligations may be met without any possibility of oppression.

But if the serial payments had to be made commencing at once, the income from tax on gasoline and license taxes is amply large for us to extract, after paying the interest, the serial payments required.

But, gentlemen of the General Assembly, I have asked you to assemble for another high and extraordinary service to the State, namely, consideration of the report of the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission, appointed by me and unanimously confirmed by the Senate branch of your honorable body, pursuant to legislation enacted by you in your Regular Session.

As you will recall, I asked you for authority to proceed with the commission's report and findings, if favorable to the undertaking, and if approved by the Governor and Council of State, without further grant of authority from you. In your greater wisdom you refused this grant of power to your chief executive officers, and required the report to be submitted to the General Assembly for final disposition. You were not asked by me, and you did not consider going ahead with the undertaking until the commission appointed by me and confirmed by the Senate branch of your honorable body had looked into the matter under oath and made a favorable recommendation. Then I did ask for authority to proceed without further reference to you. You were sovereign in the matter, and of course your will had to be done.

The question naturally arose whether the report should be submitted to you in Extraordinary Session or held in abeyance and submitted to the next Regular Session of your honorable body. I am strongly of the opinion that your body, having commenced the consideration of the subject-matter involved, and every man of you having given more or less consideration to it during the Regular Session, and from time to time since, you were better prepared to dispose of it wisely than the next Regular Session would be. The next Regular Session would take it up for the first time, officially speaking, when they meet in a short session with more legislative business to attend to than can ever be quite satisfactorily done in sixty days. The majority of the members will be new, and the State would lose the benefit of the more mature and thoroughly considered judgment which you can give the subject.

And then, gentlemen, I believe I am justified in thinking you expected to dispose of it yourselves. It was the general understanding that after the report you would come back and act upon it. You ordered copies of the report sent to yourselves and not to the next General Assembly, and I think you expected that it would be disposed of by you in an Extraordinary Session. You know as much about it as any succeeding body will ever know, and I think more.

Therefore, I beg you to proceed with your consideration of it, and take such action as in your judgment the welfare of the State requires.

The responsibility for action is upon you. It is my duty only to recommend. It is yours to act after considering all my recommendations and all such arguments as I may employ in support of my recommendations.

Solemnly mindful of my high responsibility to the whole people of the State, I confidently recommend to your honorable body that you enact the necessary legislation to put into effect the recommendations of the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission with the least possible delay; in so far as the report relates to waterways and water-carried commerce; and that you further authorize the Governor of the State to appoint a commission to represent the State in an effort to overcome by every legitimate means the destruction of the old Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad, to be restored as an independent line or at least operated as one continuous whole, and that if it is found necessary and expedient for the State to purchase said road in order to have its independence or continuous operation as one line established, for the commission to ascertain if it can be purchased, and if so, at what price, and that the findings of said commission shall be promptly reported to the Governor and Council of State, and by the Governor transmitted to the General Assembly.

It is not true that the recommendations of the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission, with reference to the development of our waterways, are dependent upon the ability of the State to purchase the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad or construction of an independent line. The commission does advise the acquisition of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad property or the construction of a new line, but it does not base its other recommendations upon the success of the recommendations with reference to the railroad.

We cannot purchase the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad unless those who own it will sell it to us, and at a price the State is willing to pay. If successful in the action at law now pending before the Supreme Court of the State in nullifying the illegal and unjust dismemberment of this North Carolina incorporated public carrier, the property may be sold again as a whole, and in such contingency the State can take action in the matter.

I directed the suit to be instituted because I verily believe the dismemberment of this road was in cunning defiance of Judge Simonton's decree, under which it was sold and without any authority whatsoever from North Carolina to divide and operate the road in two parts, as was done.

It would be better for the State if it was operated as an independent line; it would be better even if it was only operated as a continuous line though not independent.

The Executive Branch of your government and the Department of Justice are doing all that can be done to overcome this ancient wrong to North Carolina and protect the people.

It would be best for the State if the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad was reestablished as an independent line and finally made a part of some great Western system, but we cannot buy it unless those who own it will sell it to us, and we are powerless in the matter if the courts consummate the wrong done many years ago by its dismemberment. The only power we will have then is by private treaty, or to get the Interstate Commerce Commission to use its great moral power to upset the sale and dismemberment, and have it operated either as a continuous line or grouped with some other independent system.

I desire to notify you that through the ablest talent I can acquire I am moving not only before the courts of the State, but as soon as their decision is handed down I am ready to move with celerity in every way which able counsel can devise to protect the rights of the people in the matter.
If we lose in the case before the courts, I am ready with the best talent I can obtain to present the matter with all possible power before the Interstate Commerce Commission and to beg them to order the only relief they are able to give us.

I think a commission of the character suggested would be imposing and give dignity and power to the State's program about the matter.

But, gentlemen of the General Assembly, as much as I sympathize with the determination of some of our people to undo the wrong committed upon the people of this State by the dismemberment, without authority of law, and contrary to the judgment of the court, of the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad, I want to declare with all the emphasis I can command that overcoming this is not vital to the development of water-carried commerce from and to our State. It would be helpful, and I favor the most aggressive action consistent with orderly procedure and justice to have it operated as an independent line and if possible finally grouped with some great Western road; but, gentlemen, we must not forget that the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad was operated for years as an independent and continuous line, and yet it did not help us appreciably in obtaining just freight rates because we did not have docks, warehouses and other terminal facilities and ships moving from the Wilmington terminus of the road. It would not help us again if we had it operated as an independent or continuous line appreciably unless we hitch cheap water transportation to the Wilmington end of it. It would help us then, but not in greater measure than hitching cheap water transportation to the Wilmington end of the old Carolina Central branch of the Seaboard Air Line running from Wilmington nearly to the city of Asheville, and stopping at its terminus in the town of Rutherfordton, and by our modern hard-surfaced highway, one and one-half hours from Asheville, the metropolis of the great West.

It would help us to have the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad, and hitch cheap water commerce to the Wilmington end of it, just as it will help us to hitch cheap water transportation to the Norfolk and Southern, operated as an independent line clear through the State from Morehead City and New Bern to the great manufacturing city of Charlotte, situated in the very heart of our manufacturing district.

It would help us just as it will help us to hitch cheap water transportation to the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad system, being operated as an independent line and running from the great manufacturing city of Winston-Salem over the Southbound Railroad, jointly owned by the Atlantic Coast Line and the Norfolk and Western, running far into the great West, and from Winston-Salem on across the State line to Florence, S. C., and then taking a bee line to the city of Wilmington, which has by this every advantage as a final port terminus over other Southern ports, including Charleston and Savannah. It gives Wilmington the benefit of direct connection with the great western trunk line of the Norfolk and Western.

It would help us to own or have operated as an independent or continuous line the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad, and hitch cheap water transportation to the Wilmington end of it, just as it will help that great western area of ours traversed by the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio, recently leased to the Louisville and Nashville and the Atlantic Coast Line jointly, with a contract to construct a high-grade connecting link between Elk Horn, Ky., and Roberts, Tenn., giving almost a direct Western trunk line over the Atlantic Coast Line and the Louisville and Nashville to Indianapolis and Chicago and all through the great West, and running from Indianapolis and Chicago directly across our State by Marion, in McDowell County, and on to Spruce Pine, to Spartanburg, S. C., then over the Coast Line to Florence, and with almost equal mileage to the port of Charleston or Wilmington; and all railroad men will agree that the run from Florence to Wilmington is a better run than from Florence to Charleston, although 7.6 miles longer.

The distance from Florence to Wilmington is 110.4 miles; to Charleston 102; to Savannah 217. For all freight moving West or East, Wilmington has the advantage of any other Southern port through its connection with the great Louisville and Nashville system over the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio, and with the Norfolk and Western over the Southbound from Winston.

The same can be said of hitching cheap water transportation to the branch line running from Rockingham to Bennettsville where it strikes the Coast Line, and then takes its direct course to Wilmington, as it does to Charleston, or various other through lines running on down through the State, in Scotland County, Robeson County, etc., running over the Coast Line tract-age, and from there on to the port at Wilmington or Southport.

The contention that because the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad has been dismembered and operates in two parts, one owned by the Coast Line and the other by the Southern Railroad, it is impossible forever to successfully establish water-carried commerce in such manner as to benefit the people of North Carolina, is utterly absurd and ridiculous. If the argument for great benefit to accrue from the Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley line being operated continuously is to be given all the force and effect suggested, it would apply only to benefit carried to the section of our State west of Sanford, from which point the old Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Railroad ceases to be operated as an independent line. But how about benefit to that great and patriotic part of our population from Sanford on to Wilmington—rich, prosperous, and determined to go forward as that section is?

It would seem to me that it would be worth while to carry benefit and opportunity to the people living between Sanford and Wilmington and in the many good towns along the line, although it could not be extended further west to Greensboro and Mount Airy.

But, gentlemen of the General Assembly, under the law, independent, direct and continuous railroad connection is not essential, though desirable, for the development of water-carried commerce where the water possibility is found, because the law permits the consignor of freight to route it without his being penalized or charged extra for doing so. Under the law, the consignor of freight at Mount Airy or Greensboro can direct that his freight be routed to Wilmington and from Wilmington over the water, if the opportunity is there, and the carriers must comply with his directions. So the importance of independent and continuous railroad connections is not so imperative as it used to be. The consignee of freight from without the State is able, as is usually done in commercial transactions, to have the consignor from whom he is purchasing route the freight just as he directs. Aided and strengthened by this law, North Carolina has very remarkable railroad connections to all of our principal towns situated upon navigable waters. I want you to realize that this law is sovereign, and under it the Southern Railroad can be absolutely made to route freight over either the Norfolk and Southern where it connects with it, or the Coast Line or Seaboard, or any other system going to a water town, from which and through which combination water and rail rates have been established. We are, therefore, independent of the difficulty which anciently arose over not having independent or continuous lines to our waterways.

Coming from the great West, freight may be routed by the consignor or consignee over the Coast Line or Louisville and Nashville to Bostic, where it crosses the Seaboard, and then over the Seaboard direct to Wilmington or Southport, but do not forget that if the freight consignment went entirely over the Coast Line it could get to Wilmington better than it could get to Charleston; and the fact that it runs across the line a little into South Carolina before taking its flight eastward to Wilmington makes no difference as a railroad proposition.

The railroad situation is not only not detrimental to a modern and up-to-date development of water-carried commerce from North Carolina, but the facilities for getting commerce to and from our water towns into other parts of our State, except two or three remote counties in the east and west, are almost unprecedented for a Southern or Western State.

There is some thought in the State that we cannot build a great city upon our waterways because of lack of connection with great Western trunk line railroads. The situation is not generally understood, for our connections are very far superior to what is commonly accepted as a fact. However, my primary and controlling reason for so earnestly desiring to see my beloved State develop water-carried commerce is not in the hope of establishing some mighty commercial city upon our waterways, though if the recommendations found in the report of the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission are adopted by you, I confidently expect to see not one but several cities of large proportion established there; but my chief concern is not to build an important city there upon commerce from Tennessee or Kentucky carried through our State to such city. This is desirable, but it is nothing like so desirable as to see an additional and far cheaper mode of transportation made available to the farm, factory, fishery, or other industrial establishment in North Carolina. I am far more interested in furnishing an additional and cheaper mode of transportation for the farmers, merchants and manufacturers and others engaged in industry in this State than I am in creating a more direct route for freight in the States west of ours, and through our State to the world.

We may never build a city at Wilmington, Southport, or any other place in the Cape Fear basin, or at New Bern, Morehead, or any other port near Cape Lookout, but this does not prevent our taking modern and up-to-date steps to carry to almost every nook and corner of North Carolina, in more or less degree, the blessings and opportunities which go with the development of water commerce carrying facilities from and to our counties and towns situated upon navigable waters.

It may be true that we need other trunk line railroad systems penetrating the great West in order to successfully build a great commercial city upon our waterways, but there are literally hundreds of small towns and villages and wide areas of country around them, situated on or near navigable waters, who enjoy the blessings of competition between rail and water-carried commerce. Our people are entitled to the same benefits and can have them if we will develop water-carried commerce, although we may never have a city.

Primarily, the big thing to be accomplished through the undertaking under discussion is water-carried commerce. This would be highly desirable for a great area of our State, and a large per cent of our population, absolutely independent of the freight rate question. It could be almost magically energizing and animating and practically helpful to twenty-five of our counties in North Carolina which are situated upon navigable waters, and to twenty-five more counties, over our good roads and with the truck, within fifty or sixty miles of navigable waters, although the benefit did not radiate beyond this area to the remainder of our people. Anything so vitally affecting the power, opportunities and possibilities of that great area of our State stretching from Currituck courthouse on down our sounds and Atlantic front and way out on dozens of our great rivers to Wilmington and on to the extreme southern border of the State, and up the Cape Fear into the historic county of Cumberland and the hopeful city of Fayetteville, penetrating as these navigable waters do twenty-five counties and dozens and dozens of fine, buoyant and forward-going towns and cities, giving our State more miles of ocean front and navigable sounds and rivers than any other State in the Union enjoys, is not a local question. It is utterly ridiculous to look upon a project which affects in area one-half the State and directly touches the prospects, hopes and opportunities of more than one-third of the State's population, as being a local question. It is too far-reaching for any such small view.

I do not see how any intelligent man can combat the proposition that the development of our waterways through the wide area so imperfectly described would be of commercial benefit to that area and the people who inhabit it. The entire intelligence of the world recognizes the benefit and opportunity which go with water transportation possibilities for commerce. I am not going to insult this State by undertaking to debate the affirmative of the proposition that water commerce carrying facilities are desirable and highly valuable to any people where they can be had. I ask you, gentlemen of the General Assembly, to stop right here and answer to patriotic North Carolinians if this great boon ought not to be developed and made available for the great eastern and Cape Fear basin areas of our State, although it may not radiate elsewhere in the State.

I cannot conceive of any member of this great body which has done so much for progress in North Carolina failing to respond enthusiastically to the proposition that the project is not local, and ought to be done for the benefit of the great area and population directly and immediately affected, although the benefit did not radiate elsewhere. North Carolina is one great whole; all of it is concerned with what will develop every part of it. We are moving as one great people towards higher things and finer opportunities. It will bless the great eastern and Cape Fear section of our State to adopt the suggestions of this great commission, beyond the remotest shadow of a doubt.

I now pause to beg this great body to go forward with this undertaking, although they think it will only benefit the great area which I have described. But benefits from this development will not stop with the great area I have mentioned. The beneficent influence of it will extend far more widely, and become State-embracing.

The next view of the matter I offer some thought upon is the effect of the development upon freight rates in the State. I beg you, and through you, all North Carolina, not to dismiss this subject with the dictum that it is a very difficult subject to understand, that you cannot understand it, and therefore will not think about it. It is true that the unjust system of freight rate making for railroad-carried commerce is founded upon such absurd principles and results in such ridiculous conclusions that it is difficult for a man who thinks logically and straight to understand it; but it is a matter of such vital consequence to the whole people of the State that they must study and understand it, or suffer more than they will suffer from any other imposition to be practiced upon them.

The total cost annually of the progressive government which the State of North Carolina is now enjoying, and sometimes is criticized for its liberalitv and expenditures in the many activities which the State is engaged in, aggregate about twelve millions of dollars, exclusive of expenditures for highways and permanent improvements. The total freight charges paid by the people of this State aggregate fifty-five millions of dollars annually. There are many lamentations from many sources in the State about the expenditure of, twelve millions annually by the State Government which carries so many blessings to the people of this State, but very little attention by the whole citizenship to the fifty-five millions expended in freight carrying charges upon our commerce. There are mighty outcries by certain watchers of State expenditures for good government against the small annual interest charges to be added to the expenditures by the State if this water development project is carried through, but these same gentlemen are silent over the proposition which is being seriously made and pressed in a readjustment and overhauling of freight rates going on before the Interstate Commerce Commission, wherein the rail carriers of this State seek to increase the freight charges upon only a part of the commerce of this State, a sum greater than ten millions of dollars annually.

In some way the art of publicity is so influenced or controlled in this State that no attention whatever, or scarcely any, is being given to the cold, cruel and relentlessly pushed effort to add to the fifty-five millions of dollars paid the railroads in freight charges by this State an additional ten millions annually—a sum amounting to nearly as much as the total cost of our State Government. It would be interesting to know how such use of the mysteries and means of publicity in North Carolina are obtained.

I beg your calm attention, and may I crave your official respect while I present to you mature and seasoned argument in favor of the development of water competition to rail service in the carrying to and from our State of our great tonnage of commerce.

I want you to realize that it is of vital importance in the consideration of this subject to divide into distinct classes commerce moving from and to our State. It must not be thought of as a whole; there are different types and characters of freight, and for the purpose of considering the benefits of developing our water commerce, I beg you to realize the importance of dividing freight or commerce into the three following types of classes:
First: Shipments moving from one port or navigable water town, and which do not necessarily have to be carried for any part of the distance upon railway. For instance, shipments moving from Wilmington, Southport, Morehead City or other navigable towns in North Carolina, to Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York City, or other navigable water towns or cities outside of the State, or shipments moving from the towns or cities mentioned within the State, or other towns upon navigable water.

Second: Shipments of commerce which can be moved partly over water and partly over rail, as for example, shipments moving from Lumberton, Kinston, Goldsboro or Sanford to New York, Philadelphia, Boston or other towns or cities situated on navigable waters; or from New York, Baltimore, Philadelphia or other port cities to the North Carolina points named, or others similarly situated.

Third: Shipments which cannot be moved partly over the water, but move entirely upon the railroad, and the economy of its movement cannot be contributed to be a partial water haul.

I most earnestly submit that the tonnage of our commerce coming under the first class is large and worthy of the State's aid and protection in every fair way, and when supplemented by the second class, to wit: that which can be moved partly over the water and partly over rail, that we will include a large part of all the commerce moving from this State.

The third class, it may appear, will not be directly affected, but I expect to convince you before finishing my argument that even this class of freight may be and quite likely will be affected to the great saving of North Carolina by developing our possibilities of water transportation.

How will the establishment of water competition in the carrying of our freight affect the freight rates upon the people of this State?

I have prayed for power to speak at this point with clearness and in a style that you and the great body of the people of North Carolina may understand. I doubt if any North Carolinian ever undertook to make clear to the people of the State a question of such tremendous import to their welfare. I strive to speak in terms of clearness, and not in expert or professional terms.

Primarily, and as the first step, we seek by setting up water competition to substitute cheap water-borne transportation of the commerce for high priced and unjust railroad transportation for as much of our commerce as possible. The first step is not to reduce freight rates, but to substitute water rates, cheaper and in many respects preferable into and out of twenty-five counties of North Carolina, and to substitute in twenty-five more counties cheap water and expeditiously carried truck rates, over our good roads, combined, for high priced and unjust railroad carried service. In addition to the great volume of water-carried commerce referred to in the foregoing, we seek to supplement and add to this the vast volume of water commerce which can be carried the longest part of the way to its destination upon the water at cheap rates and only the shorter part of the way upon high priced railroad rates.

Is this not a boon to be desired by every man who loves North Carolina and its whole people better than he does some railroad carrier or special interest?

2—Senate
It is not unjust to the railroad carriers of freight. It has blessed and given strength to other States and countries throughout the ages; it will bless and give greater strength and power and opportunity to North Carolina.

Water competition to rail transportation may be through all water transportation, or only part water and part rail, but nevertheless, competitive and recognized as competitive by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

As to transportation of the first class of freight, commerce or shipments to which I have referred, the Interstate Commerce Commission is without any regulatory authority whatsoever. Commerce may be sent over the water the entire distance from any other navigable water town to twenty-five counties of our State, or if transported from there by truck, over our good roads, to fifty counties of our State, and there is no government tribunal, Federal or State, which has any jurisdiction whatsoever over it. It is most important that you should accept this statement as a fact. It is a fact. If we had water-borne commerce moving from twenty-five counties of the State, and coupled with the good road and truck, from fifty counties of the State, to the coast towns of other States, and back again, the railroads would have competition in transporting the first character of shipment referred to by me, and they could not go to the Interstate Commerce Commission or any other governmental body for protection from it.

A great volume, I cannot give you the percentage, of the tonnage of our total commerce could be moved from the fifty counties upon navigable waters, or in such proximity thereto as that the good road and truck make them able to use the water transportation. It embraces that area of our State where the best farming in the Union is being done; where per acre planted and per farmer engaged the annual crops are more valuable than anywhere else in this whole Republic. The lumber interests are still large. Manufacturing, while not comparable to that of the Piedmont or Western section, is nevertheless far from insignificant. For the great area and large population I have mentioned we can undoubtedly provide cheap water transportation instead of high priced railroad transportation for a large percentage of the total commerce moving in and out. And there is no power to prevent it or hamper or hinder.

As to the second class of freight or commerce mentioned by me, to wit, that moving the longer way over water and the shorter way over the railroad, the Interstate Commerce Commission has jurisdiction, but this great tribunal is just and rightfully enjoys the confidence of the whole country. It is not controlled by any prejudice against North Carolina. It is high above any improper influence of any character. It will accord to us as a matter of law just opportunity to avail ourselves of the longer haul by water and the short haul by rail. It will undoubtedly, and as a matter of course, permit the establishment of through bills of lading between the railroad carriers of commerce and responsible water-carrying commerce companies. If a responsible ship company asks for a through bill of lading between it and any railroad and its connections doing the business of a common carrier from such water town in our State, upon terms that did not undercut and discriminate against the ports or water towns in other sections of the country, it would be allowed without contest or question. If a responsible ship company asks for through rates and a through bill of lading from Wilmington with the Seaboard Air Line Railroad to towns on the old Carolina Central Railroad on up to Rutherfordton, including Charlotte, putting the port at Wilmington as to such shipment upon an equality with Norfolk or Savannah, there could be no contest about it, and after this through bill of lading had been provided for by the Interstate Commerce Commission, any consignor of freight from anywhere could route it that way instead of over the all-rail competing road, and the Seaboard Air Line Railroad would be compelled, as a matter of law, under heavy penalty to send it in the way directed.

The same would apply to a ship company asking for rates through any joint bill of lading out of New Bern or Morehead over the Norfolk Southern into the interior anywhere the Norfolk Southern or its connections goes. The same would apply to a proposition for a through bill of lading between a ship company and the Atlantic Coast Line from Wilmington or Southport or other water towns from which it does the business of a common carrier to anywhere its lines of construction go.

There is no way to prevent, upon just and proper terms, the people of this State forcing a common railroad carrier of the State to do business with those carrying freight by ship to and from our towns situated upon navigable waters upon just terms. If this was done, we could cut our rates so as to put us on an equality with port cities in other States, and then, coupled with the railroads, write a cheaper water transportation into the life of every community in North Carolina situated nearer to our water towns than to Norfolk, Charleston or Savannah, or some other city from which water commerce is carried. If this was successfully done, and there is no earthly reason why it cannot be, then to the large volume of our commerce carried altogether over water at cheaper rates than rail would be added a mighty volume of our total commerce moving a longer part of the way cheaply over water, and only a short part of the way at high rates over rail, making a total rate for the whole haul at substantially less than an all-rail rate would be.

It would not affect directly the third class or division of commerce or freight enumerated by me, but it would quite likely affect this class as water competition has done everywhere else it has been made actual throughout the United States. The third class would be affected in this way.

The result of healthy, vigorous water competition would be not the creation of a situation in which any shipper could go to the Interstate Commerce Commission and demand a reduction in freight railroad rates, but it would give him an opportunity at substantially less cost to avail himself of water transportation. It would be cheaper and in many instances faster and more dependable. This would result in the substitution of cheap water rates for much of the commerce or freight of our State, which could be carried either wholly over the water, or over the water and the good road by truck, or the longer part of the way over the water and only the shorter part of the way by rail, that the railroads would be absolutely forced to meet the competition or lose annually millions of dollars for carrying over their roads the commerce of North Carolina.

Would they meet this competition? They declare now their policy is not to meet water competition. When I was arguing cases during the Craig administration before the Interstate Commerce Commission for the reduction of our rates, the whole cry then was that we had not actual water competition, and they did not have to meet competition which was only potential. I do not know whether they will undertake to meet the competition or not, but I do know that if we will establish good service from our twenty-five counties from which it is possible to carry commerce over water and the twenty-five adjacent counties which, coupled with the good road and the truck and the water, can be moved without railroad help, and establish through bills of lading through our water towns upon a fair basis, the railroads will either have to meet the competition or lose millions of their annual income now taken from the people of this State.

The Interstate Commerce Commission permits them to recognize this water competition, not to the extent they were formerly allowed to do, when they cut rates so low that the companies carrying commerce on the water were unable to compete with them, and had to perish away, but they are still allowed to recognize this competition to a liberal extent by judgment and action of the Interstate Commerce Commission. They are whispering it about over the State that their policy is not now to recognize such competition. If they do not, North Carolina will save millions of dollars annually upon the first and second class of shipments mentioned in spite of them. If they do meet the competition, which the Interstate Commerce Commission will allow them to do, and which I am absolutely certain they will have to ask for the right to do, then they would ask to cut their rates to the towns where they felt the competition in order to meet it. They have done this everywhere water competition has faced them throughout the United States.

If they did ask to meet it, then it would result necessarily in their act not only cutting their charges upon the first two characters of shipment mentioned, but upon the third as well, for there is no practical or possible way that they can meet the competition in the carrying of the first and second classes of shipments mentioned without reducing all the rates on freight carried by them to or from the towns where competition in the first two characters of shipment affect them. It is not practical to find any way by which the railroads can reduce freight rates upon the two characters of shipment first mentioned. They can find no segregation or classification to meet the situation. They must reduce rates to the places affected on all freight in order to meet the competition on the first two types of freight mentioned.

And if they do reduce freight to the towns where they feel water competition (and this refers to the interior town where the competition is only part water and the other part rail or truck), then the law automatically extends such reductions to all towns near by, that is, nearer the town where such reduced rates applied than to some other town enjoying as low or lower rates. This is a matter of law. I cite you to section 4 of the Interstate Commerce Act, as amended June 18, 1910, and further amended February 28, 1920. In other words, the railroads cannot charge higher rates for transporting from and to a distant point than they charge to some intermediate point, plus the rate from such intermediate point to the distant point. If the railroads reduce freight rates under permission of the Interstate Commerce Commission to meet competition of all water rates to Wilmington, or part water and part truck and good road to Lumberton, or to Charlotte to meet rates based on the longer part of the haul by water and the shorter part of the haul by rail through Wilmington to Charlotte or Greensboro, then automatically, points further on and around about, the towns where such reductions were made would at once and as a matter of law, not favor, enjoy the reduction because they could not charge a greater rate to a more distant point than the rate to one of the towns mentioned plus the local rate on to such distant point.

It is impossible under the law for the railroads to reduce freight rates to Wilmington, New Bern, Greensboro, Charlotte or other towns without automatically and as a matter of clear-cut legal right, granted the people by Congress, without radiating such reductions to other towns more distant, and yet not nearer to a better rate than the new rate would be. In other words, any town takes the nearest competitive rate to it.

Do you not see, gentlemen of the General Assembly, that through vigorous water competition we can either supply cheap water transportation for high and costly rail transportation upon a greater portion of our commerce, and thereby save our people millions of dollars annually, or batter down the fabric of injustice and discrimination upon which the whole freight rate fabric of the railroads in our State is based?

There is no possible escape from the logic that water competition may be wholly water or partly water and partly rail, or partly water and partly truck, and that such competition will either have to be met by the railroads by substantial reductions of freight charges or the people will enjoy upon a mighty volume of their commerce cheap water rates, instead of high and costly rail rates; and that if they do undertake to meet this water competition they will be compelled to readjust their whole freight rate fabric in this State and reduce rates substantially to practically the entire State, because we can make competition reach far into the interior of the State, and when this competition is met under the law it can only be met by reducing rates to the towns where the competition affects them, and this will radiate from such towns to far areas around and about. This is not only worth doing, but it will result in greater benefit to the people of this State than any measure ever enacted affecting material things.

When asked whether the building of docks, warehouses and depots can be operated by private capital, if possible to obtain it, or by the State if we cannot, will reduce freight rates in North Carolina for rail-carried commerce, I confidently and boldly declare that if it does not reduce the freight charges of the railroads for carrying water commerce millions of dollars annually, it will furnish the people of North Carolina an additional and far cheaper mode for the transportation of a large percentage of their commerce, which will undoubtedly save them millions of dollars annually. It comes to the same thing.

The railroads will not be required as a matter of law to reduce freight rates to meet the competition; in fact, they would not be permitted to do so to an unlimited extent and for the purpose of destroying, as they have done for a long time in many sections of our country water competition, but they would be permitted by law administered by the Interstate Commerce Commission to make reasonable reductions in their rates so that they could hope to get part of the first two classes of shipments referred to by me, provided they reduced their charges upon all three classes into which I have divided freight.
If you go forward with the recommendations of the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission, gentlemen of the General Assembly, and the railroads do not reduce the charges for carrying freight by rail into North Carolina, we will supplant it, I verily believe, by a cheaper water transportation, or part water and part truck transportation, or longer part water and shorter part rail transportation, to an extent that will save the people of North Carolina a larger sum annually than the twelve millions of dollars which it cost to administer our State government, exclusive of our highway development and other permanent improvements.

I, therefore, with great confidence urge that you enact the necessary legislation to give the people speedily and without delay the great opportunity to transfer all of their commerce which can be carried over water, or over water and by truck on the good road, or a longer part of the way by water and only the shorter part by rail from the present cold and cruel opportunity of transporting it exclusively at high, discriminatory and unjust rates by rail.

How is it proposed to accomplish the setting up of this almost incalculable opportunity for our people? The great report of the State Ship and Water Transportation Commission sets forth with particularity how it can be done. They advise the appointment of a commission clothed with power to represent the people in all phases of the establishment of possibilities for carrying our commerce over the waters penetrating so many of the counties of our State.

A commission clothed with power to represent the public, to be appointed by the Governor and confirmed in the regular way by the Senate branch of your honorable body. They recommend that this commission be clothed with power to cause the issue and sale of seven millions of the bonds of the State at a rate of interest not to exceed 5 per cent for the purpose of building docks, warehouses, depots and other necessary terminal facilities, and making physical connections between such depots or warehouses and railroads running into and out of such towns; that these facilities shall be placed in such towns as the commission may select and find adapted to water transportation of commerce. It does not recommend the establishment of a so-called State port; it recommends putting all the towns so situated as to make it possible for them to enjoy the benefits of water transportation for coastwise business in condition to do so, and that so much of the seven millions of dollars as may be necessary, in the opinion of the commission, may be used for such purposes.

I need not go into greater particularity. What they seek to cause to be done is to construct and make available for use, where it can be profitably done, such reasonable terminal facilities as the business reasonably expected requires, and leaving entirely to the new commission's discretion, as servants of the people, where such places are and what is required. They find as a fact that a large number of places have sufficiently deep water to justify the moving of coastwise business from and to them. There is absolutely no question in the world but what these findings are founded on truth and fact.

I will not quote from the report of the Commission. It is before you and can be examined.

The Commission was made up of nine highly capable men representing every section and well-nigh every business in the State. They were under oath. They were unprejudiced. They were honorable men, and they unanimously found the whole project feasible and practical, and advised the State to go forward with it.

It is not a revolutionary or socialistic proposition. What they advise with reference to building docks, warehouses and other terminal facilities upon the navigable waters of North Carolina has already been done in almost every other free State upon this earth blessed with navigable waters. For the State to do it is not substantially different from the way it has been done elsewhere. It is true that in most States the development and facilities required were established by cities and towns, rather than by the State, but everywhere this was done it is now recognized as a mistake, and in some form or other the States everywhere are trying to take from the cities within them the control and monopoly of port facilities, and control and manage them for the whole people of the State.

In our case, we have not had towns and cities large enough to develop the necessary facilities and make the necessary fight with the railroads. It was a dream of our fathers that this development should be made. They fought and sacrificed to try to bring it about. Obstacles beset them which could not be overcome.

The obstacles which prevented the consummation of the dream of Dr. Caldwell and of Governor Morehead and other great patriots of their day have been largely removed. We need nothing now but courage to go forward to make the whole scheme completely successful.

The Commission wisely recommended that we do not risk putting seven millions of dollars in docks, warehouses and depot terminal facilities without giving the State power to see to it that they shall be used. It would be a hazardous thing to invest the seven millions of dollars in developing terminal facilities, and then risk the competitive battle between the rail carriers of commerce, and possibly weak and unsupported companies that might undertake to set up the competition. Water competition has been bought off by railroads in many sections of the country. I am morally certain that it has been done in North Carolina. The private ship companies have difficulty in standing up in fight with them. They may make it more to the interest of the private companies not to do the business in this State than to do it. You ought to grant power to your Commission, if you adopt the project, to buy or lease and operate ships if private enterprise cannot be induced to do it upon just and fair terms to our people. With this power in the Commission, I believe private enterprise will give North Carolina and every county within it enjoying navigable waters reasonable service at a fair price. Without the power there would be a mighty effort by the rail carriers of freight or their agencies to smother and destroy the competition in its infancy. It is true that it is somewhat contrary to the thought of our people to authorize the State Government to operate ships and carry commerce, but this is a modern state of the mind of our people and is passing away in front of the solemn duty to protect themselves.

The gentlemen who assail the proposition as unsound and socialistic ought to remember that but for the fact that North Carolina in the heroic days of Morehead and Bragg builded through the State from Charlotte to Goldsboro the North Carolina Railroad, and then on from Goldsboro to Morehead
City, and then builded the railroad from Greensboro to Asheville, later sold by the State, and for a long time all operated by the State, we would be today a weak and helpless State.

I hear it said by those who would thwart this movement to establish water-carried commerce in the State that government ownership and operation has always proved a failure. If the State of North Carolina had been controlled by this dreamy sentiment and theory when we builded the great railroads through the State, without which the present North Carolina could not have been made, we would now be one of the weakest States in the whole Republic. I hear occasionally some uninformed person telling the story of how the State failed in railroad building, etc. The greatest investment ever made in the State was building of our State-constructed railroads. We did not lose money upon them; the State foolishly sold one of them at a great profit over the cost of construction. The other two which we still own are worth many times more than the cost to the people. When the State was operating them we did not lose money upon them. They are owned by the State now, though under lease, one of them to the Southern Railroad and the other to the Norfolk Southern, and worth ten times more than they cost the State, and we have had good interest upon the investment all the while.

As a general policy I do not believe in State ownership or the State's engaging in business, but we are confronted by a condition due to long neglect which makes it absolutely necessary for us to make a slight exception to the general policy of our State as we have done before, and provide that after we have built our docks and terminal facilities, if private enterprise will not operate the ships for us, the State authorize its Commission to use a sum not to exceed one and one-half million of dollars to protect the people by the operation of ships by the State to give them the great privilege of cheap water transportation in competition with high-priced rail transportation. It is no more a violation of Democratic or Republican principles than Morehead, the great Whig, committed when he builded the railroad through the heart of the State from Charlotte to Goldsboro, or than Bragg, the Democrat, committed when he carried the dream of Morehead and Dr. Caldwell on from Goldsboro to Morehead City.

I do not believe any intelligent North Carolinian would brand Morehead and Bragg and Dr. Caldwell as Socialists because they builded and for long years operated a great system of railroads without which the present proud and growing North Carolina would have been an impossibility.

Young individualists may hurl "Socialist" at me if they desire to, but I proudly crave the privilege of helping carry out the noble vision of the great constructive Governor Morehead, and of the almost equally great Bragg, the Democratic rival of the great Whig statesman, Morehead, by going a little further with the kind of socialism they led North Carolina to, which has resulted in making it easily the strongest and most promising of all the Southern States in spite of high and discriminatory freight rates.

I am not a Socialist. The men who want to see this great development made and water competition in the carrying of our commerce set up against monopolistic rail-carrying commerce are not Socialists. The nine men composing the Commission—Mr. R. M. Miller, Mr. Chas. E. Waddell, the Hon. A. M. Scales, the Hon. Emmett H. Bellamy, the Hon. Joseph A. Brown, the Hon. J. Y. Joyner, Honorable William A. Hart, the Hon. Chas. S. Wallace, and Dr. D. D. Carroll—are not Socialists. They are all men of common sense and sound American views of government, and they have sense enough to know that theories and formulas must give way to exceptions in front of practical necessity. They found that North Carolina ought to make these terminal developments in our water towns; that the State ought to put seven millions of dollars, if it requires so much, into that development, and then they were not willing to risk the money all being wasted by selfish interests smothering the use of them, and the great opportunities for the further development of our State lost, rather than give the Commission representing the State a small amount of money and the power to see to it that they were used, and that water-carried commerce did move from our water towns to the great benefit of our people.

The interest upon the whole eight and one-half millions of dollars, if so much were invested, at four and one-half per cent would be only $382,500 annually. This is a considerable sum to add to the interest charges of the State, but how trifling compared to the great benefits hoped for! Some very cautious gentlemen inquire how in the world we can pay it. This is the old, old cry that kept North Carolina in weakness and inefficiency so long. North Carolina is amply able to pay for the doing of anything which sound business and its interest suggests would be wise. A very trifling increase in some license taxes would meet it, but, in my judgment, the present Revenue Bill will be ample year in and year out to defray the whole expense of the operation of this State's government and to meet its interest charges. It has been settled that the first two years of revenue levied to meet the first two years of the expense of the present administration yielded more than one million of dollars above requirements. Gentlemen have already commenced to prophesy a deficit for the next two years. This is pure guess and conjecture. I am morally certain that when all the taxes due for last year and this are collected and applied to the expense of the government for the year ending on the 31st day of December next, they will be found ample to meet every current charge against the State. Who can say that the yield for the next two years will not be sufficient? We are just getting under way in North Carolina, and I do not believe that there is going to be any necessity for increasing any character of taxes in this State for years to come if the government is administered with economy and without waste.

The sinking fund required for the redemption of the bonds in forty years will amount to $79,416.78 annually, and this is on the supposition that all of them are used, making a total for interest and sinking fund of $461,916.78 annually. It will require a sinking fund annually, if all the money was used for ships, of $14,014.73; and for terminals, if all the money was used, of $65,402.05 annually. But I am satisfied that if this enterprise is embarked on under the leadership of a practical and competent commission, which I promise to offer to the Senate branch of your General Assembly if the law is passed giving me the power, the State will make far more out of the investment annually than the interest charges and sinking funds required.

Gentlemen who oppose this measure assume that nothing whatever will be made up on it direct, and that the whole benefit, if any, will come from the benefit upon transportation charges. They cannot sustain this contention. If we build a few docks and a good warehouse or depot, with physical connections with the railroads in a dozen towns in North Carolina upon land given by the town for the erection of the buildings, I am satisfied they will be the best paying pieces of real estate in the town very soon after their construction.

We want free and open ports everywhere, in every county where we have navigable waters, but by free and open ports we do not mean we will not make the customary charges for the facilities afforded. A good warehouse for the assembling of the products of our farm and factory and forest at New Bern, Morehead City, Bayboro, Plymouth, Hertford, Edenton, Belhaven, Washington, Wilmington, Southport, and many other towns, will be good property and pay well in the hands of a competent clerk representing the public and looking out for the interest of the shippers. If we were to build a modern depot with icing arrangements for fish and sea-food products at Manteo, we would make there one of the greatest fish and sea-food markets in the world, and make money on the investment, and carry untold opportunity to the people of Dare County.

The commission would naturally build such structures and facilities as the business of the place required. There should be at the present a greater development made in the Cape Fear basin than elsewhere. This development should be made at both Southport and Wilmington, because through the Cape Fear basin there is every opportunity for seagoing traffic and world trade.

Port facilities have paid almost everywhere the public has ever invested in them. There is no reason whatever why the development suggested upon the navigable waters of our State will not pay. I am confident they will, but if we paid the entire interest and sinking fund charges suggested, and made no money upon it, if we furnished the people of North Carolina water competition in the transportation of our commerce, the profit would be incalculable—certainly it would amount into the millions annually.

There is widespread activity and demand in the circles of the opposition to know where we will get the money to pay the interest charges and the sinking fund requirements. We will make the money in the enterprise, is my answer, confidently offered. But I want to inquire of those who insist upon knowing where we will get the money to pay the additional interest charges and the sinking fund requirements, where we will get the money to pay the oppressive and destructive charges for rail-carried freight borne for long years and still being borne by the people of this State. I ask of them the further question, why their solicitude as to where North Carolina can raise the comparatively small sum of money, considering the importance of the matter involved, to set up cheap water-carried commerce with high priced rail-carried commerce, instead of giving some of their solicitude as to how we are going to raise the money to pay the additional ten millions of dollars annually which the railroads are pitilessly seeking to add to the fifty-five millions now collected from the people of the State for their service to them in carrying their commerce.

Nine of the best business men in North Carolina, under oath, have found that in their opinion the development of water-carried commerce in the manner suggested by them in their report will pay in actual operating account. I feel sure of it.

It is said that the farmers of North Carolina, that is, in some sections of it, on account of the drought will make little money in North Carolina this year, and do not want additional taxes and burdens. This is pure demagoguery because, under the amended Constitution and the new program of taxation adopted in this State, neither farmers or any other class of our people are going to pay anything for the support of the government of this State unless they make money. No farmer or any other man pays any, or will, in my judgment, for years to come, any taxes upon the value of his property for the support of the government of this State, and under the Constitution, as amended in the same election in which I was a candidate for Governor, there cannot be levied upon the value of property in this State anything in excess of five cents upon the one hundred dollars of value.

Even if this five cents should be levied we would still pay practically nothing upon the value of property for State purposes, but it is the fixed policy of the people of this State not to levy any ad valorem taxes for any State purpose, but to leave all revenue derived from the taxes upon the value of property to the counties and towns and cities of the State. No longer can the great mass of our farmers or any other group of citizens be frightened with the threat of pressing ad valorem taxes; it simply cannot be levied, and every intelligent man in North Carolina knows it can only be done to the extent of five cents on the one hundred dollars, and there is scarcely any sentiment in the State to levy this small amount.

The farmers of North Carolina may not make money this year, but they certainly would make far more than they will make if they were not ground down by high and unjust and discriminatory freight rates. Taxation in North Carolina is a mere trifle compared to freight or transportation charges by rail. Oppressive taxes for the purport of supporting the State Government will never hurt the farmers of this State, but the rail freight rates have been for years oppressing them and will continue to oppress them unless the State furnishes another and cheaper mode of transportation than rail transportation.

I urge you, gentlemen of the General Assembly, to enact in full and complete form the necessary legislation to put into effect the recommendations of this great Commission which looked into and advised us about this matter, but I also recommend that you provide that this legislation shall not take effect until after the same has been approved by a majority of the qualified voters of North Carolina at the general election in November.

I urged you with all the power I could command to enact the necessary legislation at your Regular Session, and if the Commission approved it after a thorough investigation under oath, and so reported it to the Governor and Council of State, and they approved it, to go forward with it without even referring it back to you. I did not fear the people's approbation of that course. In other words, I wanted your body to let us go forward with it in the status we now find it without even referring it back to you for further action. I did not believe it was necessary to submit the matter either to you, or in direct referendum to the people, but finding a great many patriotic members of your body feared the assumption of so much responsibility and felt doubtful of the verdict of the people upon the matter, out of consideration for the doubts over the question by good men, and further fearing that your body might not enact the legislation unless it was submitted to the people, I decided that I would call you together and advise that you take the course I have suggested. I do not fear the approbation of the people if you enact the legislation for going forward immediately with the great undertaking, nor do I fear the result of a referendum direct to the people.

I believe if it is submitted to the people it will carry every county in North Carolina. I am not one of those who think the people cannot understand this question. I think the great body of the people understand it very much better than the expert and professional classes think they do.
The great body of the people may not be able to understand the intricacies of the freight rate fabric or how to navigate ships, but they do know and understand the deep philosophy of the whole subject. They know and understand full well that North Carolina has only one means of transportation, and that it is costly and oppressive. They know that all other enlightened States and countries where the possibility of water-borne commerce exists have expended money and developed water-carried commerce, either through the State Government, or some subdivision of it, and have given the people blessings of a cheaper and competitive mode of transportation. They know that the cost involved is trifling compared to the saving made elsewhere and hoped for here; they know and understand that it is an honest, practical endeavor to strike the shackles of commercial inequality from the ankles of North Carolina and permit it to go forward in its commercial life and in its manufacturing and agricultural life with equality of opportunity in transportation. They know and understand that it means a greater and stronger North Carolina. Their courage is high, their determination absolutely dependable.

It will not hurt the Democratic party to submit it to the people in a general election. It is not a political question; it is greater and bigger than any political question before the people of this State today.

Men of every calling, from every section, and of every party, are assuring me that they are willing to go forth and do battle for the adoption of this last great plank in North Carolina's new Program of Progress.

You and your great predecessor enacted the Program of Progress into law. It is all accomplished and working well.

North Carolina has attracted the attention of the whole Republic, and commendation glitters from the pages of the greatest journals and magazines of the country. It has made our people proud and happy.

We have worked together in working out the program. It required courage, but it is all gloriously successful.

I want to beg you not to hesitate now to carry the program completely through. There is only one more thing to do. I beg you to complete the work, or if you fear that the people will not approve, I beg that you enact the necessary legislation under which the heroic people of North Carolina can finish the program for themselves.
