JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

The President recognizes Senator Burney who presents His Excellency, Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice and members of the General Assembly of North Carolina:

The people of North Carolina have elected us to formulate the programs that will give impetus to this State in the decade of the Seventies and into the future—programs to lead to the good life.

At the outset, we might as well face the fact that this will be, at the least, a challenging session.

We are reaching a point where the level of expectations is rising at a rate that outstrips our capacity to provide them without imposing on ourselves a greater burden of stewardship to the State.

We want better schools. We all want our children to be well taught. We want them to start their education at an earlier age and continue it beyond the high school.

We want our schools to tailor programs to fit the need of every child—the mentally fast and the mentally slow; the student going on to college and the student who wants to prepare now for an occupation.

We are living in an affluent age, but many are left out of the abundance—the mentally and physically handicapped, the children of deprived backgrounds, the aged. Many families live on inadequate incomes.

Sections of our State are awaiting to move out economically and industrially. They want and need roads and community facilities to hasten the day.

Thousands living in North Carolina today will celebrate the year 2000—the advent of a new century. We need to make the wisest use of our resources. We need a unified effort. We need to modernize and streamline government.

North Carolina has always met the challenge. We have felt no resistance to progressive change. In fact, we have sought it and we have benefited by it.

The people of North Carolina have elected you and me to see that the State does what clearly must be done if we are to meet the challenge of the year 2000. We must act now to put the essentials of a good life within reach of every citizen.
INTERGOVERNMENTAL RELATIONS

At this moment, there seems to be little doubt that the biggest challenge of the next decade will be a struggle to improve our environment. It will be an effort to conserve and better utilize our natural resources. There will be a great concern to halt air and water pollution; an attempt to banish hunger and an effort to remove blight.

Communities will seek more public facilities to stimulate economic and industrial development. Roads and streets, thoroughfares and rapid transit systems will be built to move people and commerce and hopefully make transportation and travel more safe.

At a time when all levels of government are experiencing unprecedented demands for services, we must recognize that all governmental goals are interrelated.

Only by close, coordinated interaction with the Federal Government and with local governments can the State achieve its goals of better government for all its people. Only through partnership with the State can local governments provide the services its citizens demand.

One of the highest priorities during this session and the next four years should be efforts to build an effective working partnership between all levels of government.

I believe we will see efforts during the next four years to place greater responsibility on the State, particularly in the State’s relationships with local governments.

There are many areas where a better partnership is needed if the State, the cities, the towns and the counties are going to meet the needs of North Carolinians where they live, work and play.

In our urban areas, there are problems of income and housing that only the State and municipalities can solve together. There are problems as well in rural areas, and, in many respects, the needs of North Carolina are greater in the rural areas.

I will ask for your support in developing programs that will build a partnership between the State and the communities.

Among these programs will be a request, later in this session, for a new department of State government. It will be established for the primary purpose of aiding and assisting local governments to meet local needs.

It will not be the most expensive program—in terms of appropriations—that you and I will be asked to undertake during this session and the next four years.

The nucleus for such a department already exists within the State. What is needed now is to bring together in one place—hopefully under one roof—and under one administration already existing services which are relevant to modern problems of community life.

Not only will my proposed department actively aid communities, it will in the long-run increase efficiency in State government. It will be a service organization whereby the full resources of the State can be called upon by communities for assistance within the entire spectrum of community problems.
Let me stress: it will be a service organization and not a regulatory agency. The department will be staffed by individuals—many of whom are already employed by the State although others will be needed—who have ideas and know how in housing, community redevelopment, economic development, local taxation and capital planning, land use and development, local and regional planning and recreation planning.

In addition to technical assistance, this department, will reap some tangible benefits to the State. It will become an important link in Federal-State and local programs. It will strengthen the hand of every local government in making full and intelligent use of all available assistance programs.

State Government must be strengthened, particularly in its relation to the Federal Government. I intend to work with the Governors of other states to enable the states to have a stronger voice and a greater influence in the Federal system.

We will go to Washington to solicit our fair share and we will not overlook any program. Many assistance programs go untapped, even though they are available to us, simply because we have not made a maximum effort.

To enable the State to take advantage of worthwhile programs that may come along during the biennium, I will request a reserve fund for matching grants. This will be a sum of money set aside to be used, upon the approval of the Advisory Budget Commission, for matching Federal grants in which the State feels it should participate.

PUBLIC EDUCATION

Today, more than at any time in our history, North Carolina has the opportunity, challenge and responsibility of providing a full educational opportunity for every child in the public schools—as well as every child who should be in our classrooms.

The opportunity and the task that confronts all of North Carolina is finding the means of implementing and financing a new adventure in public education.

During the past twelve months, more than 500 North Carolinians representing all areas of the State and the major groups involved in public education have studied and proposed for our State the goal of a child well taught.

In the broadest sense, this goal means that every boy and girl will learn how to live and how to make a living. That is what education is all about.

State and local governments must be committed to providing the resources that are needed to close the gaps in our public school system. Local governments must take the initiative to see that a comprehensive education is available to every child.

In many areas this means the merger of school districts and the consolidation of schools. It means in some cases that local governments must do a better job of financing school programs. At the State level our administrative structure must assure a bold, unified endeavor in public education.
The task ahead of us is a big one, but we must begin. I am recommending to you:

First, that you firmly establish the State Board of Education as the policy formation agency for public education and that the Board be given the power to appoint the Superintendent of Public Instruction. In addition,—the Board should be given the authority to adopt criteria for merging school districts and to consolidate schools to achieve sound educational programs in all areas of the State.

Second, that financial support of public education be recognized as a cooperative State, local and Federal effort, and that local units be encouraged to provide basic minimum participation. I endorse the principle of State incentive funds to match local funds which are committed beyond the basic program.

Third, North Carolina must make some major alterations in its instructional program if it is to offer a truly meaningful education to every child.

As a top priority we must see that every child has a good beginning in his educational career. A poor beginning often shows up later in low marks, dropouts and juvenile delinquency. I recommend that you extend public education to five-year olds. We should begin with an initial effort extended over a period of several years to serve all kindergarten age children in the State.

I will recommend increased appropriations to offer occupational guidance and training to more students than are currently being reached in our vocational programs.

Vocational training needs to be stressed and strengthened in the middle grades, for it may offer many young people their best means of preparing for effective competition in the job market. I may also provide invaluable incentive for potential dropouts to stay in school.

Means should be sought to attract more students who need special inducement into a diversified vocational program. Too few of our schools now have student bodies large enough to justify a strong program. Still, effective programs can become a reality by school consolidation or other means of offsetting the handicap of small school units.

Fourth, nothing is more important to our goal of a child well taught than the quality of teacher provided. Our schools must be staffed with competent, dedicated people. We must take meaningful strides toward paying teachers the national salary average.

In return for higher salaries, we will expect a renewed dedication from all teachers. At the same time, we must seek solutions to reducing heavy classroom loads.

Fifth, transportation for school children with special needs and a more flexible transportation service to accommodate special programs is needed.

Further, public school bus transportation should be extended to include urban and suburban children. As long as the State assumes responsibility for school transportation, with all tax payers supporting it, this service should not be limited to rural children who live more than one and one-half miles from school.
HIGHER EDUCATION

Higher education is another area which must have sustained support. The needs in higher education are many.

Attention must be given to strengthening faculty salaries in all State-supported institutions. There is the pressing need to train more people in the medical and medically related areas and to upgrade library facilities at all institutions of higher learning.

The role of the traditionally Negro institutions must be expanded in the years ahead and special attention given to salaries and remedial assistance in these institutions.

Although I have said many times that not all young people can or should attend a college or university, there are many who should but are not doing so. A relatively low percentage of our students now continue their education beyond the high school.

To effectively reach them will require an expansion of the campuses of our existing institutions of higher learning.

Our university must grow physically as the demand increases. But I feel there is a limit in the student population of a given campus which should not be surpassed for effective administration and instruction. Nevertheless, if we follow the philosophy of making a university education available to academically qualified students, it is inevitable that the campus expand. I believe the wise course is for this expansion to occur in other areas of the state. For this reason, I favor the extension of the university system to include Wilmington and Asheville-Biltmore Colleges.

Privately supported colleges and universities play an important role in the total higher education program in North Carolina. These institutions educate many students, the cost of which would otherwise have to be borne by the state. Yet, many of the church-related, non-tax supported institutions face financial hardships.

I recommend, as does the recent study on higher education, a special study to consider a state-wide student assistance program.

COMMUNITY COLLEGES, TECHNICAL INSTITUTES

I cannot over-emphasize the importance of the community colleges and technical institutes to our overall program of post-high school training. The fifty institutions in this system have grown rapidly, this year enrolling more than 189,000 students. They have done a remarkable job in both technical and vocational instruction and college parallel programs.

It is through these institutions that we can make a greater effort to reach more people—both adults and high school graduates.

In the technical institutes and community colleges, greater emphasis should be placed on vocational opportunities. Programs should be broadened in this area. They should be developed in coordination with occupational education in the public schools. And this training should be made more relevant to the economy of the State. The emphasis should be on the skills demanded by industry, especially the better-paying industrial and service jobs.
LAW AND JUSTICE

Preserving civil peace has always been recognized as the first responsibility of government. A government that is unable to afford to all of its citizens the security of person and property is not likely to be able to do much else for them.

Today, we are faced with an increase in the old and familiar varieties of crime as well as the growth of organized crime and large scale civil disorders.

The task of the State is this: to maintain public order while upholding the rule of law and pursuing the goal of justice for all citizens. In addition to maintaining order, the State must insure that justice embraces the fair treatment of individuals; and fair treatment must extend to all aspects of life insofar as it is within the Government's authority to assure it.

We must deal effectively with all aspects of law and justice. My immediate proposals include:

First, the prompt establishment of a police information network which is designed to link the State, national and all local law enforcement agencies willing to participate, in a high-speed, computerized network for the collection, organization and retrieval of information on crime and criminals.

Second, bills to strengthen the authority of local government in dealing promptly and effectively with civil disorders.

Third, legislation to state clearly the authority and responsibilities of the administrators of our public educational institutions to deal promptly and effectively with those who attempt to disrupt the normal operation of those institutions and disrupt the educational process.

Fourth, insistence on the equality of treatment of all citizens in their dealings with the agencies of the law, and on the equality of protection of all persons and their property.

Fifth, explore the Courts Commission recommendation for the initiation of a public defender system in some areas of the State.

Sixth, strengthen substantially the State Bureau of Investigation by providing more funds for manpower and modern equipment.

On a longer range basis, we must develop a coordinated plan for training of all law enforcement officers in the State and urge local governments to take advantage of these programs.

More effective training of enforcement personnel can be accomplished by utilizing fully existing training programs and facilities. At the same time, we should consider the development of a police academy, especially to assure the best training facilities and program possible for our State law enforcement agencies.

I believe there are benefits to be derived from combining the prison, probation and paroles departments into a comprehensive correction and rehabilitation system. Such a department could give the leadership to increase our efforts to rehabilitate prisoners, especially juvenile offenders. I recommend this proposal be studied carefully by a commission appointed by this General Assembly.
GOOD NEIGHBOR COUNCIL

Understanding and cooperation among the races are essential. While these must be the concern of government generally, we will continue to need for sometime a State agency whose main purpose is the improvement of racial relations in the State.

Therefore, I recommend that the Good Neighbor Council be continued and that the functions now performed by the Chairman be divided between a part-time Chairman of the Council and a full-time Director employed by the Council. The late David Coltrane gave the Council real meaning—a significance of purpose. He served as both Chairman and Director, performing both of these tasks well. I am asking that these roles now be divided and strengthened.

I am asking for a full-time Director and staff because I feel that the role of the Good Neighbor Council should become more than one of mediating disputes. The Council should examine State and local governmental practices in employment and in the provision of services. It should encourage the removal of any inequities found, reporting to the Governor periodically on problems encountered.

The Council should continue to encourage and aid the formation of local good neighbor councils and should help mediate racial crises on the invitation of troubled communities.

Finally, recognizing that actions speak louder than words, I believe that nothing will strengthen the confidence of minorities more surely than a voice in government. We will set an example by appointing more members of minorities to State boards and positions, and urge authorities at both State and local levels to follow a similar policy.

TRANSPORTATION

Transportation and roads continue to be a pressing need in the State. It has been estimated that we would need to spend $4.7 billion dollars in the next twenty years to develop the transportation system that is needed to stay abreast of economic growth as well as to curb the rising death and injury rate on our highways.

In the area of highways and transportation, we must be ambitious in our thinking and in our actions—as costly as such a program will be and as pressing as are other programs that demand the State's attention and resources.

I will propose changes in the structure and composition of the State Highway Commission. I favor increasing the Commission's membership. A larger commission can better communicate with the people and will be more responsive to the needs of the people. Highway divisions now serve up to fourteen counties. It's difficult for a commission to effectively serve so large an area.

I am concerned that in the areas of highways and transportation that we use wisely the large capital outlays that will be needed and that whatever we do now and in the next decades will meet the needs of a growing and changing State.

We should think boldly in terms of constructing an arterial system that will move people and commerce through our centers of economic growth and that will link these urban centers with less populated areas of the State that would benefit economically by improved transportation.

Let us remember, too, that people on our coast use the channels and inlets as roadways. We should give more attention to water transportation. A clear and open channel means as much as a highway to people who depend on the sea for their income.

We must look toward the development of our airports, particularly local airports which are so essential to full industrial development in our State. This is one area in which we can work closely with the Federal Government to get some of our federal tax dollars back into North Carolina. It again underscores the need to strengthen the role of the State in federal matters.

STATE EMPLOYEES

All of us who are or have been employers know that demanding dedication of our employees is only part of the story. A devoted, hard-working employee is an employee who is adequately paid and who has the benefits that have become a part of the modern, industrial society.

The State can be no different from the business employer. Its employees must have adequate salaries which reflect the rising costs of living. Neither should State employees be expected to conduct State business on a per diem which is inadequate to meet expenses incurred.

I favor salary increases and, in addition, an increase in the per diem allowance for both in-state and out-of-state travel.

I will ask you to appropriate funds to provide for time and one-half pay for those employees who perform emergency services to protect life, health and safety of the public.

The General Assembly should study the feasibility of establishing a longevity and cost-of-living index in the salary schedule of State employees. Under the present system, State employees can receive general pay increases only once each two years. The cost of living has increased eight per cent since the last general pay increase in 1967.

I favor changes in the State employees retirement program, and will recommend new benefits, which will not require additional appropriations.

Finally, I believe a commission should be established to study various hospitalization plans and medical benefits for State employees—benefits that would be in keeping with the current cost of hospital services. This study should be directed toward specific recommendations for a hospital insurance proposal.

NATURAL RESOURCES

I have stated time and again that I want this administration to be known for its concern with planning for the future of North Carolina. Thousands of North Carolinians now living will see the advent of the year 2000 celebrated as the turn of the century.

In these future years, all of North Carolina's resources must be conserved and utilized so that the fullest benefit will accrue to all of our citizens. We must see to it, as we plan for the future, that the great bounties with which God has blessed this land are not wasted, misused or destroyed.
One of these great gifts of nature is the majestic and mysterious Atlantic Ocean washing our shores. The Atlantic Ocean and our inland waters are frontiers where lie natural resources as yet untapped. With the new emphasis being placed throughout the world on the scientific study of seas, oceans and water resources, I believe that the State must join in the intensive search for answers to the problems and potentials of the ocean and rivers.

This administration will move to a position of leadership in the field of marine science. We will look for ways to determine how the sea can yield more food; how our coastline can be protected from winds and tides; what mineral resources can be tapped from these depths and how the beaches and shorelines can be conserved.

We will continue to support programs designed to insure that all of our natural resources are conserved and that waste and pollution are stopped.

HEALTH AND WELFARE

Our State institutions and agencies in the public health and welfare fields should be commended for their past work. They must have sustained, and in many cases, increased support to stay abreast of increasing patient and case loads.

There are new programs which the State must implement if we are to stay abreast of the needs and the services which are becoming available through the assistance of the State and Federal governments. Foremost among these, in terms of the costs involved, will be the implementation of Title 19 of the Social Security Act, commonly known as Medic-aid.

The mandatory date for states to implement this program and benefit from Federal funds which provide hospital and doctor care, home health and nursing services and medicines for several categories of the indigent, is January 1, 1970.

It is essential that North Carolina implement this program, which has been recommended in the budget now before you.

MENTAL HEALTH

We need to strengthen our program of mental health care, remembering we should never lag in our support for those who are not so fortunate so as to be able to help themselves.

I support programs that will aid mentally retarded children. We should establish a diagnostic center to pinpoint in infancy the mentally retarded child.

I believe one of the most critical problems in the next decade and longer will be the shortage of trained manpower in the mental health professions.

Of course, the shortage of trained manpower is not limited to the mental health profession. We must work on programs to increase adequate personnel in all the health related fields.

CULTURAL AFFAIRS

North Carolina has long been recognized for its cultural achievements and its concern for the fine arts. We were the first state to finance art purchases, to support outdoor drama and to appropriate funds for a theater building. We have a school for the Performing Arts and a fine Symphony Orchestra which brings good music to thousands of children and adults throughout the state each year.

To enhance our cultural development I feel the state should lend encouragement and, where possible, assistance to cultural programs on the local level. More historic sites need to be restored and preserved. Heritage and tradition are important to a people and it will mean even more to us in the future.

PARKS AND RECREATION

In the last third of this century, we will find more people earning more money. They will have greater mobility and more leisure time. Experts have predicted that the wise utilization of leisure time will be one of the great challenges of the future.

Thus we must continue to provide for adequate recreational programs and areas, and to gradually expand our park system after thorough feasibility studies.

In this regard, I feel the citizens of North Carolina are justified in their interest in a major zoological park as a recreation, education, research and conservation facility.

I would like to see North Carolina develop a state zoo, and I recommend that you give careful consideration to the necessary enabling legislation to get it started.

LIABILITY INSURANCE RATES

For some time, I have been concerned about the costs of automobile insurance rates, delays in settling claims and the litigation time and costs involved. Many other of our citizens share this concern. I think something can be done about liability insurance and its costs, and I believe it is possible for North Carolina to lead the way in seeking ways to halt spiraling rates.

This complex problem involves not only rising prices of automobiles and automobile parts, but our accident rate, the costs of settling claims and the amount of litigation required.

I urge the General Assembly to appoint a blue ribbon commission to study this entire area and the problems that contribute to it, and to make recommendations as to what action is needed to make our highways safer and insurance costs lower.

SENIOR CITIZENS

Our Senior Citizens are valuable assets. They have given of their talents to help North Carolina grow and prosper. Many have much yet to offer in terms of experience and knowledge.

Our citizens over sixty-five years should be granted some tax relief so they can live more comfortably in retirement. Too many are hard pressed financially to make ends meet on a fixed income with ever increasing living costs.
In my budget message, I will present a tax rebate plan for your consideration. It will be a significant gesture of the State's compassion for its senior citizens.

Because of the limitations of your time, I have not touched on all the matters that will be the concern of my administration. Indeed, I have not gone into great detail about the programs I have proposed.

Whenever it seems appropriate, therefore, I will relay to you additional proposals for your consideration during this session. I will express my views from time to time on matters that come before this distinguished Body that affect our State and our people.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, my program is geared to developing the good life for all North Carolinians. It is designed to carry out the four broad goals stated in my inaugural address on January 3.

I believe it is a sound, sensible program. Moreover, it will bring greater dividends in the future to all of us.

During this session of the General Assembly, we must plan to provide the essentials of a good life. Indeed, a realistic plan for the future can be the start of a better life—a powerful thrust forward on the endless road of progress.

The progress we make depends on our working together—carefully and creatively—to build a sturdy and constructive program to strengthen North Carolina and her people.

Let the result of our labors give true meaning and purpose to our noble motto: "Esse Quam Videri".

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

The President recognizes Senator Harrington, who presents His Excellency, Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly of North Carolina:

The Executive Budget Act requires the Governor of North Carolina to come before the General Assembly to present a recommended budget for the coming biennium.
The proposed budget must, by law, be balanced with respect to income and expenditures. This requirement is wise and it has saved us many headaches and helped us to avoid many pitfalls. It has been a big factor in maintaining fiscal responsibility. It has enabled us to enjoy the highest credit rating available to state governments, something that few other states can claim. The "balanced budget" requirement of our law must not be altered.

I appear before you today to report that the government of North Carolina is financially sound in every respect. Revenues have exceeded expenditures during the past eighteen months. Careful budgeting by the 1967 General Assembly and prudent spending during the current biennium will enable us to anticipate a credit general fund balance on June 30, 1969 of approximately $127,431,000.

It should be stated clearly that this is not a surplus. The sum represents receipts over expenditures and reversion of unexpended appropriated funds. It will be carried forward into the coming biennium and has already been included in the construction of the recommended budget.

On your desks when this General Assembly convened you found four budget documents: the "A" Budget, representing the money needed to maintain current programs at their present level of operation; the "B" Budget, representing the requests and recommendations to improve and expand current programs and to establish new programs; the "C" Budget, representing requests and recommendations for specific capital improvements; and the Budget Summary, which also contains the budget statements.

The budget recommendations presented to you on January 15 are those of the administration of my predecessor, Governor Moore. It was compiled by the Advisory Budget Commission after many hours of hearing testimony by state agencies and visits to state institutions and facilities throughout North Carolina. A tremendous amount of time and effort by the Advisory Budget Commission, the Budget Division staff, the previous Director of Administration and administrators of state agencies have gone into the making of that budget and I commend them for it.

The budget process in North Carolina is cumbersome and slow, but I doubt that there is a state budget anywhere that is more carefully scrutinized and analyzed than ours. The taxpayer of North Carolina can rightfully feel that their tax dollar is very carefully weighed before being appropriated.

I commend the "A" budget to you and recommend its adoption.

The General Fund "B" budget requests totaled more than $523,910,452 as state agencies sought money to expand present programs or to initiate new ones.

The recommendations found in the "B" budget, however, totaled only $173,444,097. This was a great disappointment to many. But the recommendations represented the best judgment of the previous administrations in appropriating the estimated available funds, including the anticipated general fund credit balance of $127,431,000.

I have examined carefully this proposed "B" budget. Department heads have talked with me and my staff of their needs.
I have received much correspondence from citizens who have expressed concern for certain items which were not included.

After careful review, I conclude that the recommendations found in the "B" budget can be justified and are very much needed. Therefore, I commend those recommendations to you and urge their adoption.

But I find that additional appropriations are essential to the progress of our State.

We cannot turn our backs on the times, nor can we simply mark time and allow the measure of our advance to slip away from us. Most important of all, however, we cannot forfeit our future.

We must indeed make a greater investment in that future; first, by assuring good health, both physical and mental, for all our people and especially for our children.

Second, we must provide a greater economy potential for our people, especially the young who are potential dropouts rather than self-supporting citizens. And third, we need to give great help to our communities so they may go forward in peace and harmony.

To this end I am asking that expanded programs in mental health be initiated, that a rejuvenated vocational education program be provided in the middle grades in our schools; that a Department of Community Affairs be created to give assistance to community development; and that our Good Neighbor Council be enlarged and given sufficient funds in prospective programs in human relations.

I will have more to say about these and other programs later in this message, because these are steps that must be taken to protect our investment in the future of North Carolina.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

The general fund "C" budget, often called the "bricks and mortar" budget, recommends that a total $55,057,082 be allocated for capital expenditures. This does not, of course, meet nearly all the needs of our State which is growing rapidly. Again, however, it represents the best judgment for the wise use of available funds by the previous administration. I recommend the adoption of the "C" budget recommendations.

The total requests from all sources by all agencies for capital improvements is $400,005,999. The "C" budget recommends an appropriation from all funds of $89,636,082, leaving a balance of unmet needs of $310,369,917.

We cannot realistically meet all of these needs, even with a capital improvements bond issue.

As much as I would like to get on with the building of many new facilities for our educational institutions, mental hospitals and other needed service agencies, I do not recommend a capital improvements bond issue at this time.

The current bond market and interest rates present a very difficult situation for a new bond issue. Interest rates have reached all-time peaks for the past fifty years and are currently holding at that level. The cost to the State for a bond issue would likely be the highest in our history. Hopefully, interest rates will not exceed their present level and, before the next General Assembly meets, will recede somewhat. Perhaps a bond issue can be considered at that time.

You will recall that the General Assembly of 1967 appropriated in excess of $110 million from the general fund for capital improvements which did not include over 75 million dollars from self-liquidating, federal and other funds. Much of this construction is still going on and the buildings are yet to be used. Further, I am convinced that many of our institutions of higher education can make more efficient use of their classroom space.

I do ask, however, that you add to the “C” budget from the general fund the sum of $2,500,000 for capital improvements. This money would be used to provide buildings and equipment to treat mentally retarded infants, house the School of Allied Health Professions at East Carolina University and a livestock and poultry disease diagnostic laboratory.

There are many more capital improvements which are very much needed and which can be justified, but I do not feel that these can be funded from general fund revenues. The pressing needs of our colleges and universities, the medical school at Chapel Hill, our mental institutions, prison system, parks and all the others can only be met by a capital improvements bond issue which, in all honesty and with great reluctance, I cannot recommend at this time.

I return now to a consideration of the “B” budget—the budget that provides for new programs and the improvement of current programs.

The thrust of my administration will be to look to the future and prepare for it. This will require sharp emphasis upon comprehensive long-range planning. It will require efforts now to assist local governments in finding ways to meet their increasing complex problems.

The core of this program will be a new department of state government to provide expanded service to local governments. It is not intended to be a regulatory agency but one that will assist our counties and towns, particularly the smaller ones without the needed staff or budget, to plan for the future and to get the maximum benefit from the multitude of federal funds available.

The nucleus of this department already exists in our state government. By the pulling together into one department those programs already existing, there will be a net reduction in the number of separate agencies, something that is to be highly desired.

I consider the establishment of this Department of Local Affairs to be a high priority item.

I recommend that state employees under the State Personnel Act be given an average 10 percent salary increase on a graduated scale, with those in the lower salary range receiving a greater percentage than those in the higher range. To me, the “across the board” principle is not always equitable.

Comparable salary increases should also go to those not under the State Personnel Act, such as school bus mechanics, extension service secretaries, etc.

Much has been said about bringing teacher salaries up to the national average. That is my goal. But it cannot be accomplished entirely during this biennium. Instead, the goal of a national average for our teachers must come in two steps, one in this biennium and one in the next.

The current "B" budget recommends a salary increase of 5% in 1969 and another 5% in 1970. I am recommending that this figure be doubled to ten and ten. This will require $50,633,565 over and above that presently recommended. I believe that is all the State can afford at the moment.

We must remember that it is exceedingly difficult for us to pay the national average for our professional educational people when our citizens, who must foot the bill, do not have anywhere near the national average personal income from which to pay taxes.

Further, when we speak of increasing educational salaries, we are talking about almost 45 percent of the General Fund budget for teachers alone.

Nevertheless, we must reach the goal during this administration. This recommended increase will bring it within our grasp two years hence.

While we are on this subject of teacher salaries, I suggest that when we reach the national average figure, that there be a method devised to pay an educator according to his worth. Many are better than average. Others are below. It doesn't seem equitable that they all be paid the same. The better teachers are penalized and the poor ones are subsidized and the child in the classroom is the victim of the system.

I am recommending a salary increase of eight percent the first year and an additional eight percent the second year of the biennium for faculty salary increases at our institutions of higher learning. This will cost about $7,500,000 in addition to the present recommendations for this group of employees.

For faculty salary increases in our community college system, I am recommending eight percent the first year and eight percent the second year of the biennium, which will cost over $3,000,000 beyond the "B" budget recommendations.

I feel it is only fair to provide school bus transportation for children who live in urban areas just as we have had for rural students for many years. All parents, regardless of where they live, pay the cost of our school transportation system.

Further, I believe it is imperative that we provide school bus transportation for special education systems—those who must travel to another school to attend classes for the emotionally disturbed, the educable mentally retarded and the physically handicapped.

Therefore, I am recommending that $3,298,552 be appropriated for urban student school transportation and an additional $735,847 be appropriated to provide school bus transportation for handicapped children.

School dropouts continue to be a serious problem in our educational program. It is a definite factor in our low per capita income. Somehow we must find the means to interest our children in continuing their education.

A comprehensive program of occupational education for children in the middle grades will be a giant step toward reducing the school dropout problem. Adding more teachers to already existing vocational programs will not solve this problem. We cannot implement this program all at once, but we can begin. A workable course of study and plans to implement it are presently underway in the Department of Public Instruction.

Therefore, I recommend that the sum of $4,000,000 be set aside in a reserve fund to be held in the Budget Division to be released to the Department of Public Instruction when the plan is ready to implement.

I further urge that the State Board of Education re-examine the entire vocational education program to this end that our students may be offered a wider variety of opportunities in this area. I am concerned that the student receives vocational training, industrial training and occupation guidance in keeping with a modern North Carolina and that we prepare him for life in his future rather than in our present.

Expanded programs for retarded children and mental health generally will require about $2,310,000 additional appropriations.

A major need in North Carolina today is to strengthen the hand of our law enforcement agencies. This can be done to some extent by tightening up and clarifying the criminal laws in our State.

With a growing population, however, and the increased incidence of crime, especially the use of drugs among our young people, it is urgent that we provide better equipment and more manpower for our law enforcement agencies.

To improve our efforts in law and justice in North Carolina, I am recommending that $3,025,000 be appropriated in this general area. These funds will be used primarily to implement the Police Information Network (PIN) linking all of our law enforcement agencies together, and more manpower and better equipment for the State Bureau of Investigation.

The Governor’s Coordinating Council on the Aging has completed a comprehensive study on the problems and needs of our elder citizens in North Carolina. I commend this report to you.

Inasmuch as the state provides no benefits to senior citizens in the low income brackets, those who need assistance the most, I am recommending that a tax refund of $25.00 be given to all persons 65 years of age or older who have income of less than $3,000 annually. This program will result in a loss to the general fund of $16,000,000 for the biennium.

There are many single people today who cannot qualify for a head of household exemption, but who are maintaining a house or apartment for themselves. This is an inequitable tax. I recommend, therefore, that single people be granted state income tax exemptions equal to those presently receiving the $2,000 exemptions. This will result in a net loss from the general fund for the biennium of $5,000,000.

Other additions to the “B” budget recommendations that I propose include funds to upgrade and strengthen the Good Neighbor Council, provide a beginning for a State zoo, funds to match anticipated Federal grants in the new area of marine sciences and for soil and water conservation programs. This will call for $3,515,000 additional money.

The additions to the “B” budget that I have recommended add up to slightly over $92,000,000.

Add to this the $21,000,000 loss in general fund revenue from tax relief recommendations and the $2,500,000 for capital improvements, and we have the grand total of $115,865,665 in additional revenues needed for our General Fund.

An additional $5,000,000 will be required from the highway fund to meet the salary increases proposed for state employees generally, but whose salary comes from highway revenues.

TAX RECOMMENDATIONS

I recommend to this General Assembly that the money to implement my recommendations to you be provided from the following sources. All figures are for the biennium.

An additional 10 percent tax on liquor which will yield $26,000,000.

An increase in the tax rate on beer by 1.5 cents per bottle over six ounces but less than 12 ounces and equivalent rates on other quantities with the State to retain all additional revenue. This will yield $15,000,000.

A tax on cigarettes at the rate of five cents per package of twenty will yield $50,000,000.

A tax on cigars of two cents each will yield $7,000,000.

An increase of one-half of one percent in all rates on insurance premiums will yield $10,000,000.

An increase in the sales tax on motor vehicles, boats and locomotives from the present 1.5 percent to 2 percent with the maximum remaining at $120 will yield $8,500,000.

An increase in bank excise tax rates from the present 4.5 percent to 6 percent will yield $1,000,000.

An increase by one-fourth in the rates at which Building and Loan Associations are taxed will yield $1,000,000.

These recommended sources and rates will provide $118,500,000 for the General Fund.

The enactment of these recommendations will meet my recommended additional General Fund expenditures and provide a cushion of over $2,500,000.

HIGHWAY FUND

We must have more money for road construction and maintenance. Costs for both maintenance and new construction have risen sharply, at a far greater rate than our highway revenues. In addition, the increasing operating costs of the Department of Motor Vehicles, including the adding of highway patrolmen, continues to drain away funds that most people believe are available for roads.

Most of the requests, verbally and by mail, coming to my office are pleas from our citizens to improve our roads, both primary and secondary.

A thorough study by a commission named by Governor Moore reveals that under our present system of financing highway costs, there will be no money left from state funds for new construction by 1974.

I repeat, we must have money for roads.

Therefore, I strongly recommend that motor fuel taxes be increased by two cents per gallon and that license taxes on automobiles, trucks and other vehicles be increased by one-fourth.
The motor fuel tax will provide $88,000,000 and the increase in license fees will yield $21,000,000 for a total income to the Highway Fund of $109,000,000 for the biennium.

I point out that this figure would yield more funds for the highway department during my administration than the $200 million secondary road bond issue passed during my father's administration. Of course, it will not go nearly as far because of inflation, higher engineering requirements and also, these funds will not be earmarked for secondary roads alone.

Now, let me comment with respect to my recommendations for a tax on cigarettes.

First of all, I would not have recommended a cigarette tax if I had any reason to believe that such action would hurt the tobacco warehouseman or the tobacco manufacturer, and especially the tobacco grower.

It will not, and anyone who thinks it through knows it will not.

First of all, we are talking about only two percent of the flu-cured tobacco grown in North Carolina.

This amount is sold in the State, whereas 98 percent of the crop is sold elsewhere and is already taxed.

A five cent tax on two percent of the crop is not going to affect sales.

Tobacco prices are supported by the Federal Government. There is a floor underneath tobacco prices, so they will not be reduced and the farmer will not be hurt.

I honestly feel that our failure to levy a cigarette tax has hurt our relations with other states and particularly with Congressmen and Senators from other states.

We must remember it is these people who have the power to destroy the tobacco price support program and impose restrictions on the advertising of cigarettes.

Such action at the Federal level would seriously harm the tobacco industry and directly reduce income to tobacco growers, warehousemen and manufacturers.

My friends in the tobacco industry, and there are many, would be best advised, in my honest opinion, to concentrate their energies in Congress to save the price-support program and prevent the band of cigarette advertising, which is clearly a very real danger in this session of Congress.

My only regret in recommending a cigarette tax to this distinguished Body is that when I campaigned for this office, I said I was opposed to such a tax.

But I also stated that if it became necessary to meet the essential needs of our State, then I would seek the necessary revenue.

It has been said that when confronted with the facts, "a wise man will change his mind, but a fool never changes his."

Since assuming my responsibilities as Governor, I have been confronted with facts—facts supporting the overwhelming needs of our State, not nearly all of which can be met even if we levied a tax of ten cents per pack.

So I make this recommendation with no apology, but only with explanation.
I am man enough to stand before you to say I have found it necessary to change my earlier opinion.

My responsibility to the entire state transcends the desire to assist an industry.

Finally, I believe it is time to destroy the myth that tobacco is king in North Carolina.

Income from livestock and poultry already exceeds that of tobacco.

True, it is very important to our economy and will be for as long as man wants to enjoy a smoke. But tobacco must not dominate our thinking to the detriment of our progress.

Now I would like to comment on the sharing of state collected revenue with local governments, specifically the sales tax.

I am opposed to the State collecting an additional sales tax, which now includes food, and giving it back to local governments to spend.

Many local governments do need financial assistance. Some do not.

I feel strongly that every local government should first utilize their existing revenue sources before turning to the State for more unrestricted funds. I am not convinced that the majority of our local governments have made full use of their available resources.

Further, in many cases, more efficient use of the local government tax dollar can be achieved by consolidating county and city governments, consolidating school administrative units and the sharing of services among counties.

Many counties have glaring exemptions or inequities in their ad valorem tax structure.

I caution you, the members of this General Assembly, to protect from further erosion the revenue sources available to the State.

You must provide future administrations with the means of financing the expanding needs of a growing State.

It is poor business to erode the tax sources of the State, knowing full well that the demand for state services will increase in the immediate future.

There is every reason to believe that the pressure for revenue will be just as great or greater on future General Assemblies as it is upon us here today.

Let me remind you, too, that the State of North Carolina already provides many services and much money for local government.

The State constructs and maintains all roads and streets except those streets not on the state highway system.

Many of the major city thoroughfares are on this system. In addition, incorporated municipalities receive Powell Bill funds to aid in street improvements and construction.

Most people believe the State receives the intangible tax, and we are constantly urged to eliminate this tax, but this 17 million dollars goes back to local government with only a small service charge for the actual cost of collection.
On July 1, 1969 the municipal share of the utilities franchise tax will increase from the present three-fourths of one percent to two percent.

This will be one-third of the total 6 percent that the State levies. This means that 4 million, 950 thousand dollars will go back to municipalities in the first year of the upcoming biennium.

On July 1, 1970, the municipal share of this tax will go to 3 percent or one-half of the State's levy of 6 percent.

Thus, in the second year of the biennium 9 million, 650 thousand dollars will be returned to local governments—money that once would have been available to the State.

The State pays educational personnel admittedly not enough, but we provide the base. We provide the school buses and pay the drivers.

Many small towns receive technical services such as planning assistance.

The Local Government Commission and the Institute of Government render great service to local governments.

All these services and more are being provided already by the State and my proposed Department of Local Affairs will give even greater assistance.

So, do not labor under the illusion that the State does not assist local governments, because it does in many ways.

I have stated many times that local governments must be strengthened. I still hold that view.

But they can be strengthened best by changes in the law to allow more home rule, consolidation of services, merging of governmental units, broader local taxing powers, and more technical and long-range planning assistance by the State.

Government cannot sit off in a special place—untouched, unscarred by the rising cost before us in our daily lives. It cannot command such an isolated position. We must meet its demands, just as we rise to meet the demands in our personal lives. We must respond realistically to government's potential. When we do, we are responding to the people.

For us not to take our place in what our State must do, we would be negligent in meeting the responsibilities that the people have placed in us. In turn, I want to do what I can to make our State more responsive to the evident needs of our people—needs which can be met in the framework of reasonable thought and action.

I believe you feel the same way. I have strong confidence that the people will recognize our good intent, our mission, and our goals in the cooperative and constructive spirit that has marked our State in the past.

As Governor, I welcome reaction of our people to what I have proposed; for what we are doing must always be viewed to be in the public's interest.

And as I seek this public expression, I only ask that the people look constructively and devotedly to our State. I ask them and you to consider what our State is now, what it should be and what it can be if we face our problems and show courage and corrective efforts in doing our best for those who look to us to do our best—meaning all the people of our State.

This budget, then, is open for appraisal by you and by the people. In turn, I can see that if all of us face it and deal with it and make our decisions through it, North Carolina certainly will be served well.
I am sure you know that I would not assume to tell you what to do or where to levy taxes that will produce the additional money needed to render these vital services to the people.

I have mentioned several sources and types of tax levies. These I recommend as a result of careful and thoughtful study; these are suggested by me for your consideration along with other sources and types which you may wish to consider.

The decision as to where the money comes from is your decision. Your best judgment will be acceptable to me. I urge you to levy such taxes as in your judgment will be fair, reasonable, and sufficient to provide for the urgent needs of the people of our State. I earnestly make these recommendations and suggestions to you, and they are made without reservation.

I close with a quote from the famed jurist and poet, Oliver Wendell Holmes: "I find the great thing in the world is not so much where we stand as in what direction we are moving. To reach the port—we must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it; but we must sail and not drift nor lie at anchor."

Mr. President, our First Lady, Mrs. Robert W. Scott, Ladies and Gentlemen of the Senate:

It is certainly fitting and proper that we pause today on the eve of George Washington's birthday to pay tribute to this noble American. For a few moments this morning I am grateful and proud to discuss with you George Washington, the citizen and patriot.

George Washington was a man who even in his youth was measured for future greatness by the keen eye and divine inspiration of an aged Indian chieftain who said, "Mark you tall and daring warrior; he is not of the Red Folk Tribe, yet he hath an Indian's wisdom. There is something bids me speak in the voice of prophecy. Listen! The Great Spirit protects that man, and guides his destiny. He will become the chief of nations, and a people yet unborn will hail him as the founder of a mighty empire."

To understand the true significance of this prophecy let us review briefly the outstanding points in the life of Washington, with which every American should be familiar.

We see the youth of sixteen surveying the wilderness of Virginia, then we follow him a young major of twenty as he carries the important message from Governor Dinwiddie of Virginia to the French in the Ohio Valley, crossing the Ohio, encountering hardships. Next we observe the twenty-two year old colonel of the French and Indian War as he comes to the aid of General Braddock at Fort Duquesne. And now let us pass to the Virginia House of Burgesses where for fifteen years this noble, clear-thinking citizen (though always reluctant to speak in public) wielded influence. We hear this noble patriot ever alert to the cause of liberty, vigorously condemning the Stamp Act.

Next he appears to us at the age of forty-three, Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Army, and let us pause here for a closer observation. As Commander-in-Chief, the services and achievements of George Washington are unique in the world's history. He was more than the Commander-in-Chief. He was the one necessary person whose calm, universal, determined sense of patriotic duty to country, and ability, put backbone in the Revolution and kept it from merging into a civil conflict, under the hardships during the eight years of war. Without General Washington at its head, it never could have been successful. His faith in the cause—his devotion to the ideals it embodied—made him the symbol of America, the Spirit of the Revolution.

With independence secured, a still greater problem confronted the new nation—that of creating a new government out of the thirteen colonies.
At this most critical period, Washington's patriotism shone brightest, his devotion to the public welfare makes him the greatest man in history.

As first in war, he created nationality; as first in peace, he advocated and helped frame an efficient and endurable Constitution, and because first in the hearts of his countrymen, he was unanimously elected President. To him it was committed to launch the Ship of State. With neither precedents nor predecessors to help him, it required a strength of patriotism almost divine to weld together the scattered Colonies into an indestructible Union.

Summing up these years of his life, we see that for a period of forty years, Washington filled offices of one kind or another. Excluding his boyhood, there were but seven years of his life in which he was not engaged in public service. And in all of these offices, he appears not as a man aiming to prominence or power, but rather as one under obligations to serve a cause. Necessity was laid upon him, and he met it willingly. He never shifted responsibility. He never lost his courage. Though these many offices made many demands upon his time and attention, his keen sense of citizenship kept him ever mindful of all civic enterprises.

Washington's continued efforts in the interest of universal education showed that his mind was always on the general welfare of the nation and that he sought practical achievements through the instruction of its youth. Education was not a hobby with him—it was a passion. He realized that citizenship cannot grow without education.

Looking back over the pages of history, we cannot find a more shining example of a great philanthropist than George Washington, who gave himself and his means when needed in either a private or civic enterprise. He has been called our most humane citizen. His farsighted interest in agriculture and his efforts in experimenting have caused one of his contemporaries to say of him, "Call him not President Washington, but call him Farmer Washington—for it is this title that he loves most of all."

Indeed, the most fascinating facts about Washington are not these concerned with his public achievements, but with the man himself—the many-sided Washington. He was an exceptional farmer, a good businessman, explorer, engineer, founder of corporations, an organizer of armies, a great Commander, a great President, and a great statesman—and in each and every one of these an outstanding citizen of the country he loved.

Let us note the words of Grover Cleveland: "Washington was the most thorough American that ever lived. His sword was drawn to carve out American citizenship, and his every act and public service was directed to its establishment. Let us thank God that he has lived and that he has given to us the highest and best example of American citizenship."

Today our country is passing through a very serious crisis. Because we have had nearly two centuries of unparalleled growth and have reached a position of world leadership, the average citizen refuses to compare this situation with that which Washington's generation faced—and yet some of the more serious-minded citizens realize that our people confront a major crisis, ranking in seriousness with that faced by the generations of Washington and Lincoln. If our country is to survive this social storm, we must have some careful thinking; we must pause to consider carefully the principles upon which this nation is founded, to analyze the qualities of citizenship necessary for its preservation, and to discover the kind of leadership our democracy demands.

We need George Washington today. What was there in this man, what is there in the memory of him, which could and does supply a need in our lives nearly two hundred years after he is gone?

Is it brilliance of mind and keenness of wit that we need? Is it the splendor of military genius that we need? Perhaps we could make use of those things in our life today. Certainly, brilliance and genius of any kind are none too plentiful with us. But, as a matter of fact, Washington was not a genius; and yet we need him. We need the inspiration of his memory, the ideal that is comprised in his whole nature, because of his large integrity. We need the inspiration of moral balance which he gives us. We need that loyalty to an ideal and purpose which makes Washington the incorruptible citizen and patriot that he was.

Let me conclude with Henry Van Dyke's striking appeal to the present generation: "There is a life that is worth living now, as it was worth living in the former days, and that is the honest life, the unselfish life, cleansed by a devotion to an ideal. To cleanse, so far as in our power lies, the foundation of our national life from political, commercial, moral and social corruption. To teach our sons and daughters by precept and by example the honor of serving such a country as America. That is work worthy of the finest manhood and womanhood. The well educated are those who see deepest into the meaning and necessity of that work, but their labor shall not be in vain, for high in the firmament of human destiny are set the stars of faith in mankind, and an unselfish courage, and loyalty to the ideal; and while they shine, the Americanism of Washington and the men who stood with him shall never, never die."

The President recognizes Senator L. Warren of Wayne to read from the well of the Senate a statement by individual members of the Law School faculty and the Institute of Government of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill on the present crisis at the University.

Upon motion of Senator Ellis, the statement read by Senator L. Warren of Wayne is spread upon the Journal as follows:
This University has a long and honorable history of resisting efforts to curtail freedom of expression. We associate ourselves unreservedly with that tradition.

Adherence to that tradition does not require defense—or even condonation—of methods of expression which trespass upon the rights of others and disrupt the life of the University. Indeed, nothing so effectually sabotages any meaningful search for truth as the tactical resort to violence or threats of violence by a militant minority which insists that it alone can identify truth and that whatever is identified by it as truth, must be universally accepted. This is the totalitarian—not the democratic—approach to freedom of expression.

The mission of the University would be equally subverted if its teachers, who have voluntarily entered into lawful contracts, deliberately pervert or refuse to carry out their assignments, justifying such conduct by citing their disagreement with their characterization of University policies. Such conduct is not a legitimate assertion of the right to criticize. It is a breach of faith and a clear neglect of duty. Such conduct, legally and morally unjustifiable, is peculiarly reprehensible when engaged in by those who profess high moral motives.

In the present University crisis, to the extent that a labor dispute is involved, we believe that the University is moving, with good will and in good faith, to reach just solutions. We strongly endorse that effort and urge that it continue with maximum possible speed. We believe that the labor dispute can be settled more quickly and more justly if those groups whose conduct led to the presence of highway patrolmen publicly renounce any intention to renew such conduct. We have a poor case for withdrawal of the patrol until we can point to such solid evidence that peace will prevail in its absence.

Unfortunately, there is evidence that small minorities of students and teachers, urged on and supported by individuals from outside the University community, are determined, by violence, threats of violence, disruption and neglect of duty, to force adoption of their views as to matters irrelevant to the present labor dispute. We condemn any such effort. While there is small chance that, by such tactics, they can win control of University policies, there is real danger that they will goad the people of the State into destroying freedom of expression for us all.

We support the Chancellor and the President in their efforts to maintain order, to do justice, and to preserve for us and for posterity a University in which truth wins its way by its intellectual merits.

FORTY-NINTH DAY

SENATE CHAMBER,
Wednesday, March 12, 1969.

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment, and is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

Prayer is offered by the Reverend Charles Hubbard, Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Wilson.

Senator McGeachy for the Committee on Rules and Operation of the Senate announces that the Journal of yesterday has been examined and is found to be correct, and upon his motion the reading of the Journal is dispensed with and it stands approved as written.

The President extends the courtesies of the galleries to members of the Columbus County Committee of One Hundred, a group of outstanding businessmen and civic leaders of the county, including Julius K. Powell, former Senator and Chairman of the Committee of One Hundred; Horace Whitley, Mayor of Whiteville; William S. Edmunds, Mayor of Lake Waccamaw; H. J. Watts, Chairman, Columbus County Board of Commissioners; Ed Walton Williamson, a member of the Columbus County Board of Commissioners; Colonel Rudolph W. Walters, Executive Secretary, Economic Development Commission of Columbus County; Phil Comer, President of Southeastern Community College; D. L. Todd, Past President of the North Carolina Merchants Association; Steve Wall, Editor of News Reporter; Charles Langston, President of the Whiteville Merchants Association; and former Senator Carl Meares, who now serves as a member of the State Highway Commission.

The President extends the courtesies of the galleries to Mrs. John D. Larkins, wife of the United States District Judge for the Eastern District of North Carolina and the aunt of Senator Larkins, together with her daughter, Mrs. Dalton Lofton, and two grandchildren.

The President extends the courtesies of the galleries to former Senator Jimmy Johnson of Charlotte, who is now State Chairman of the Democratic Party.

Upon motion of Senator Griffin, the President extends the courtesies of the galleries to Mr. Dale Starbuck, Sr. and to his son, Mr. Dale Starbuck, Jr., of Raleigh. Mr. Starbuck, Sr. is a retired businessman who served as a page in the 1895 Session of the Senate in which his grandfather was a member. Since Mr. Starbuck still remembers the names of all those members who served in the Senate in 1895, the President appoints Senator Griffin to escort Mr. Starbuck to the well of the Senate, where he calls the roll of the Session which met seventy-four years ago.

The President recognizes Senator McGeachy, who addresses the members of the Senate on the subject of the Governor's action regarding the current unrest on State-supported campuses.

Upon motion of Senator Boger, the remarks of Senator McGeachy are spread upon the Journal as follows:

Mr. President and Members of the Senate:

Today, the General Assembly salutes Governor Bob Scott for his firm and courageous leadership in the action involving recent disorders on State-supported campuses.

Governor Scott has clearly set forth the procedure that will be followed in disturbances and the seizure of buildings. This action, in advance of trouble, removes all uncertainty as to the methods that should be followed. Now, the heads of these institutions know they have behind them the complete support and strength of the Governor's office and all law enforcement agencies.

Governor Scott has recognized and lived up to the State's responsibility to the hard-pressed taxpayers who are furnishing the money for these State institutions.

More than $917,000,000.00, or 64.8%, of our State money was spent for education in the last two years, and of this amount almost $151,000,000.00 went to support higher education.

He has taken action to see that this money is not wasted through damaged property and disrupted classes.

Governor Scott has also recognized and met his responsibility to the students and educators of North Carolina. He is for freedom of expression and has said that North Carolina recognizes, and our law will protect, peaceful picketing and demonstrating to express a point of view. However, this must not interfere with, or stop, the necessary activities at our educational institutions.

We must maintain order so that through free and orderly communication and expression the ideas and constructive criticism of students and faculty can be received and the proper action taken.

This is not possible under the black flag of anarchy or the white flag of abject surrender to a small group resorting to violence, threats of violence, and disorder and destruction. They are using the totalitarian, not the democratic, approach.

Academic freedom, not race or other issues, is involved. Academic freedom can only exist in an atmosphere of law and order.

Governor Scott has made it clear that everyone of the State campuses are subject to the laws of North Carolina, and that the law will be enforced.

The Governor’s leadership has already received response in the acts of leadership exercised by President Friday, Chancellor Caldwell, and the other three chancellors.

The students and faculty now have a clear challenge and call to leadership. Are only a small group of students and faculty causing the destruction and disorder?

Will the great majority of students and faculty have the courage and leadership to show their disapproval of this disruption, and their desire and demand for an orderly system?

Can those in the educational community disagree and communicate without having to resort to brute force? Have they in their education learned the truth about Reason, Restraint and Responsibility?

I hope and believe that the great majority of students and faculty in North Carolina join the members of the University of North Carolina Law School and the Institute of Government faculty in condemning these violent and unlawful acts of disruption by a small group. It is time that they speak with a strong clear voice.

More than 10,000 have signed a petition at Michigan State University to show that the majority of the students and faculty are against disruptive behavior.

At Notre Dame University, 75% of the students favor their President’s firm policy for the dismissal of troublemakers, according to a recent survey.

Commenting on the Supreme Court’s recent decision in an Iowa school case, The New York Times stated in an editorial, “The majority of the Justices felt—we think rightly—that a line could and should be drawn between free expression and disorderly excess . . . There is no license given here to riot, to interfere with classroom work.”

I am certain the people of North Carolina are proud of the vision—the courage—the leadership—and the action of Governor Bob Scott.

R. 295, "a joint resolution inviting His Excellency, the Governor, to address a Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives at 12:30 P.M., March 27, 1969," the House of Representatives stands ready to receive the Senate in Joint Session at the hour appointed.

Respectfully,
Jo Ann Smith, Principal Clerk

Upon motion of Senator McGeachy, the Senate recesses to meet in Joint Session with the House of Representatives for the purpose of hearing the Governor's message, and upon dissolution the Senate will return to its chamber and resume consideration of business.
The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

Lieutenant Governor Taylor presents His Excellency, Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following message:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the General Assembly of North Carolina:

I appreciate the privilege you have given me to come before you again during this session. I am aware of the demands made upon your time, especially now that you are deeply involved in discussing the issues that are before you.

But I ask for some of your time today in order that I might present for your consideration a new program for North Carolina.

In my legislative message to you on January 22, I stated that I would ask your support in developing programs that will build a partnership between our state government and our local communities.

There has been much concern expressed in recent months over the need to strengthen local governments. These expressions have come from local government officials, community leaders and the general public. Part of this concern stems from the growing awareness that unless action is taken, local governments—those closest to the people—will become largely ineffective. Indeed, many are finding it increasingly difficult to cope with the pressing problems of a modern society.

Since our counties, cities and towns are created by the State, I feel the State has an obligation to provide them with technical know-how, planning assistance, and other services to enable them to cope with twentieth century problems and to plan for the twenty-first century.

To aid in this essential effort, I ask this General Assembly to establish a new department of state government to be known as the Department of Local Affairs.

This department will be used primarily for the purpose of aiding and assisting local governments to meet local needs, both immediate and long range. It will be a service agency, staffed with competent individuals who have the expertise in such areas as community planning, economic development, recreational planning, housing, land use and development and other vital areas.

I intend for this new department to work in close cooperation with all local governments. Equal attention will be given to counties and municipalities. It will make no difference whether the local government is large or small in terms of population, economic wealth or geography. The services of this department will be available to all.

To assure this close cooperation I ask that an Advisory Council on Local Affairs be established to work with the Director and the Department. At least six members of this eighteen member council will, at the time of their appointment or within the preceding two years, have served as a mayor, a member of a municipal governing board or as a county commissioner.
There will be advisory committees on recreation, law and justice, and other areas of work by this department. In short, the department will be so organized as to assure local governments a strong voice in its policies and programs.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, I consider the establishing of this department to be a key element in the determined efforts of this administration to form a true partnership with local governments. In addition to our 100 county governments, there are over 425 incorporated municipalities. There are also many unincorporated communities ranging all the way from a few families around a rural crossroads to the community of Kannapolis. Many have formed themselves into sanitary districts or water districts.

Most of these counties, municipalities and unincorporated population centers do not have the manpower, the finances or the technical knowledge to adequately deal with the modern-day problems suddenly thrust upon them. Many are not able to take advantage of—indeed some do not have knowledge of—federal and state assistance programs available to them. Yet their problems increase and their needs mount.

Much has been said about the needs of our local governments and what can be done to assist them. My administration is committed to providing this type of assistance. I am convinced our people want it. I ask you to join with me in making it possible by establishing the Department of Local Affairs, a major new department of our state government.

Another essential step in our effort to strengthen local governments in this State is the matter of constitutional reform.

I am pleased that the Local Government Study Commission has placed such reform at the top of its list of many worthy recommendations. I concur in that priority, for the bedrock of democratic government is its constitution.

The language of 1868 has served well. Its basic conservative philosophy should be retained. State supervision of local fiscal affairs is sound and should be continued.

But we must not forever cling blindly to the past when facing the problems, challenges and opportunities of the future. The language of 1868, written in the context of the past century, must be updated and modernized.

Those constitutional provisions which limit the power of the General Assembly to legislate for the 1970's and beyond must be revised. Barriers to effective change in form and structure of local government must be removed.

My program for local government is in reality a program of better services for all the people of our State. Its aim is to provide a sound and wholesome balance of urban and rural life.

With these principles in mind, I urge your careful and studied consideration of constitutional reform for local government.

OTHER INTERNAL REORGANIZATION

In order for our state government to operate more efficiently in the coming years and fulfill its obligation to be more responsive to the needs of our people, I am recommending that there be a reorganization of certain policy making boards and agencies of our state administration.

Already you have before you a bill that would reorganize the Board of Conservation and Development along the lines recommended by the Study Commission established by the 1967 General Assembly. I urge the enactment of this bill for I believe it will give a better balance to the mission of the Department in broad areas of development, conservation and tourism.

Soon to be introduced for your consideration will be a bill to provide for additional highway commissioners. The enactment of that legislation will enable the highway commission to be in closer touch with the people. It will enable the commission to give closer and more immediate attention to the road needs of our counties. I ask you to adopt this proposal.

Article 36 of Chapter 143 of our General Statutes, enacted by the 1957 General Assembly, provided for a Department of Administration. This department has served well and it is essential to the effective operation of our state government.

This department really serves as an extension of the Governor's office. Within it are located six divisions: Budget, Property Control, Purchase and Contract, General Services, State Planning Task Force and Data Processing. Two of these, Budget and Purchase and Contract, are required by statute to be in this department. Others are authorized but not required. With the exception of the Budget and Purchase and Contract Divisions, the Director, with the approval of the Governor, may add divisions, abolish divisions and otherwise reorganize the department "necessary or convenient for the efficient performance of the duties and functions of the department."

I am convinced that the department needs to be reorganized for more efficiency. Present authority exists to do this, but some additional funds will be needed to make such reorganization effective.

As you know, in recent years there has been a tremendous increase in the number of new Federal programs. Many of these directly concern North Carolina. I feel that our State is not fully utilizing some of the programs that can be helpful to us and that we are not aggressive enough in getting some of our Federal tax dollars back into North Carolina. Further, these Federal programs have grown both in number and in scope to the extent it deserves our full-time attention.

Therefore, I am asking that $36,500 be provided to establish within the Department of Administration an Office of State-Federal Relations. This office will be responsible for State-Federal liaison on behalf of the Executive Branch of state government. This office will serve as a key point of contact with Federal offices, agencies, and programs, and conduct the staff work for the Governor and the Department of Administration.

The Division of Property Control and Construction needs to be reorganized to more effectively handle the increased work load resulting from increased numbers of state buildings and property, both existing and planned, under its supervision. It is proposed that this division be renamed the Property Management and Construction Division and that it be split up into three sections: Architecture and Engineering, Real Property Management and Control, and Legal. Salaries and support needed will be in the amount of $108,000.
The State Planning Task Force was created during the Sanford administration and strengthened during the Moore administration. The time has now arrived where this division should be further strengthened by additional inputs of personnel and expertise to adequately serve the State's comprehensive long-range planning and development needs. This change is needed to cope with the complex long-range planning problems of the new century already rushing upon us.

The State Planning Task Force, therefore, will be reorganized into a Division of State Planning and Development. It will have the responsibility to coordinate existing state programs and organization of agency plans for future programs and needs of the State.

The basic functions at this level are coordination and integration of line agency planning, and providing the Executive and Legislative branches of government information on state-wide goals, policies and means of implementation.

The State Planning Task Force would be incorporated into this new division and additional funds for support would amount to $112,000.

It is an objective of this administration to provide for our citizens as efficient government as possible. To do this requires a constant review of organization methods and procedures of all state agencies and to formulate plans for needed improvements in organization.

Authority to accomplish this goal is already provided in General Statutes 143-341(5), but this program has never been implemented. It is needed. Therefore, it is proposed that there be established a new division within the Department of Administration to be known as the Administrative Management Analysis Division. This division will provide staff assistance to the Governor and the Advisory Budget Commission, two-thirds of whose membership are members of the General Assembly. It will make studies and in-depth analysis of budgets and organization, and will establish cost-benefit ratios where applicable to state programs. Such findings will be presented to the Advisory Budget Commission and to the Governor and would be available to the General Assembly.

Funds to support this new division will amount to $108,000.

Other divisions of the Department of Administration, Budget, Purchase and Contract, General Services, and Data Processing, would function as they are now constituted.

The work of the Department has expanded considerably from its original two divisions. Responsibilities of the Department have increased in number and complexity. The work load on the Director has increased greatly in the last twelve years. Therefore I am recommending that a position of Deputy Director be established to assist the Director in the implementation of these expanded programs and responsibility. The Deputy Director would act in the absence of the Director. Salary and supporting expenditures for this position, together with secretarial assistance would amount to $36,000 for the biennium.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, this message today, together with my two previous appearances before you, embodies the essential elements of my programs for progress for the people of our State.

There are three alternatives before us:
One is to do nothing about increasing revenues. In this time of mounting costs, enlarging needs of a growing State, and greater Federal challenges in terms of matching money, to accept this alternative would cause us to go backward.

The second alternative is to provide those revenues which would enable us to merely remain where we are with no forward motion. This is not in keeping with our philosophy or tradition as a State.

The third opportunity is the course of courage. To me it is the only acceptable alternative.

I have been in office less than three months. But I am made more aware each passing day that with the proper direction and leadership, North Carolina can become outstanding in its capacity to make maximum use of its potential.

During the past few weeks, I have had the opportunity to chat with you at the breakfast table, in my office or at dinner at the Executive Mansion. You have strengthened the conviction I already hold that you want to serve your constituents conscientiously and that you are dedicated to your responsibilities as elected members of a truly great deliberative body—the General Assembly of North Carolina.

As you go about your tasks during the remaining weeks of this session, I ask you to keep in mind one thought:

The programs I have presented to you are no monument to me as an individual. There are no frills in what I am proposing—no luxuries.

What I have recommended, either in programs or revenue sources, is not frivolous. It is not a question of what one man wants. It is a larger question of what North Carolina needs.

No citizen of North Carolina will suffer unduly by supporting my program. But thousands will benefit because you were willing to enact it.

The people of North Carolina elected me Governor to provide the needed leadership during these four years. The program I present to you will enable me to better fulfill that obligation.

It is my responsibility as Governor to present a program and the ways in which it might be financed. This I have done.

You have the responsibility to evaluate both my proposals and the means of financing. I am confident you will do so with the best interests of all of North Carolina at heart.

Leadership—that is what I impress upon you today. That is what the people want.

Let each of us in our respective positions of leadership be honest enough and courageous enough to admit one thing:

To be influenced in our decisions by the cries of the faint hearted or the vocal disgruntlement of leaders of special interest groups who resist the necessary means of financing essential programs—this is indefensible leadership and it betrays those we represent.

I implore every member of this General Assembly to rise to the challenge we clearly face. Listen to the voice of reason and logic—not to emotion nor special interests.
And let us ask Divine guidance that our conscience can distinguish between the two.

Who will provide the leadership? As your Governor, I will.
Who can get the job done? Only you, the members of this General Assembly.
Let us all have the courage to “Go Forward” again.

Upon motion of Senator Moore, the following remarks submitted by Senator L. Warren of Wayne with regard to the actions of the Joint Appropriations Committee are ordered spread upon the Journal:

Mr. President, I rise to a point of personal privilege:

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the swift events of the last few days have served to sharpen the issues which must be resolved before this General Assembly can meet its statutory responsibility and the obligations imposed upon itself. Charge and counter charge have been made. In the heat of controversy, emotion frequently overrides reason and we are apt to do and say things which we do not intend. It seems to me that the time has come to take stock of where we are and what we must do to settle the issues which center around the budget and the General Fund revenue bill. As Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, I feel a special responsibility to speak on the subject with the hope that my remarks will serve to clarify the issues.

In the first place, I think it is clear to everyone that the General Assembly has adopted a budget. On Friday, June 6, 1969, the Capital Improvement budget was unanimously adopted by the Senate. On Monday, June 9, 1969, the Operating Budget was also unanimously adopted by the Senate. Every member of the General Assembly knew at the time the budget was adopted that approximately $92 million would be required in General Fund revenues to balance the budget. On the floor of this Body there was only one effort to change the budget as it was reported out of the Appropriations Committee. The lady Senator from Forsyth, Senator Nielson, offered an amendment to add $25 million to the Nine Months School Fund. A similar amendment was offered by one of her Republican colleagues in the House. I pointed out to the Senate at the time that it would be difficult to pass the General Fund revenue bill, and the adoption of her amendment would simply make the job more difficult. The amendment failed by a vote of 7 to 41. Both Budget Acts have now been ratified by the Presiding Officers. Therefore, it seems apparent to me that the clear duty devolves upon this Body and the House to enact into law a revenue bill which will raise sufficient revenues to bring the budget into balance. Any other course is unthinkable. Certainly we meant what we did when we voted for the budget acts.

The only other course suggested has been made by the Republican caucus leader, Mr. Holshouser, the gentleman from Watauga. He has, in effect, proposed that a freeze be placed on all vacancies in State Government as of July 1, 1969. He contends that such a freeze would provide a substantial part of the funds needed to balance the budget. I do not understand that he contends such a move would balance the budget. In my opinion, the proposal is not only unsound but if adopted would serve to weaken the budget system of this State of which we can all be justly proud. I want to take the time to inform the Senate how this proposal was suggested by the gentleman from Watauga and specifically why I believe it to be unsound and a dangerous course to pursue.

As all of us know, the Appropriations Committee worked for over four and a half months on the State budget. Members of the Minority Party were represented on all of the standing subcommittees of the Appropriations Committee in proportion to their representation in the General Assembly. Specifically, the Republican caucus leader, Mr. Holshouser, the House Minority Leader, Mr. Taylor, and the Senate Minority Leader, Senator Bagnal, all served on the Appropriations Committee. After the standing subcommittees completed their work and reported to the full Committee in late April, a final select joint subcommittee was appointed to reconcile and resolve the spending proposals. Before appointing the Senate members, I conferred with the Senate Minority Leader and obtained his views on Minority representation. I subsequently named him and the Senator from Cherokee to the subcommittee. Mr. Johnson, the House Chairman, appointed Mr. Holshouser and Mr. Taylor to serve on the subcommittee. The subcommittee began its work on May 6, 1969 and finished on June 3, 1969.

On Monday, June 2, 1969, one day before the subcommittee completed its work and was ready to report to the full Committee, Mr. Holshouser asked to be recognized for what he said would be a five-minute presentation. He was immediately recognized by me, since I was presiding. He then proceeded to inform the joint subcommittee of his proposal to freeze all vacancies in State employment as of July 1, 1969. During the debate on his proposal, we learned that Mr. Holshouser and Senator Bagnal had appeared before the press and the T.V. cameras before Mr. Holshouser submitted his views to the subcommittee.

In other words, after four and a half months of hard work in the Appropriations Committee and one day before the budget bills were reported to the full Committee, Mr. Holshouser presented his proposal for the first time to his colleagues on the Appropriations Committee. The proposal was firmly and overwhelmingly rejected by the subcommittee.
Despite the obvious political motivation of this proposal and the manner and timing of its presentation, I wish now to comment on the merits, or rather the lack of merit, of the proposal. As I have previously stated, I believe it to be unsound and a threat to the fiscal integrity and stability of State government.

At the outset, let me say that North Carolina has followed the practice, under the Executive Budget Act, of appropriating funds for all positions authorized in the budget. Stated another way, the budget for each department, agency and institution specifies the number of authorized personnel positions that may be filled. Adequate funds are then appropriated to provide these positions. If one or more positions are not filled, or vacancies occur during the biennium which are not filled, these funds revert to the General Fund. Such reversions are commonly referred to as lapsed salaries.
It is from this source that Mr. Holshouser would obtain his funds. He would freeze all unfilled but budgeted vacancies on July 1, 1969 and use this money to finance State programs. The proposal is unsound for a number of reasons:

1. Without regard to the needs of a particular agency, every unfilled position would be frozen. For example, if the State mental institutions have unfilled positions on July 1, despite the obvious need of these institutions for even more personnel than authorized in the budget, these positions would be frozen and the funds would be used in part to balance the budget.
And this to the detriment of our mental health program. Many other examples could be cited.

2. The proposal is a broadside, shotgun, simplistic approach to budgeting. If an agency has been authorized more personnel than needed to carry on its program, the place to cut is in the budget of that agency. This is what the Appropriations Committee is supposed to have been doing, and in my judgment has been doing, for the four and one-half months. To my knowledge, neither Mr. Holshouser nor his colleagues, during deliberation within the four subcommittees, sought to cut the number of personnel authorized for a single State agency. I repeat, if personnel cuts are to be made for a State agency, the proper way to do it is when that code is up for consideration. Any other way fails to appropriately consider the programs of that agency.

3. The proposal does not take into account why vacancies exist at a particular time. Lapsed salaries result from two major situations. One of these comes in filling new positions authorized by the General Assembly.
Administrators are justifiably cautious in screening job candidates and it would be difficult to fill all new positions on July 1 when the General Assembly's appropriations are not ordinarily finalized until the month of June. On the other hand, to force the postponement of new hires by reducing appropriations for new positions is the same as giving with one hand and taking away with the other. Further, it is not easy to ascertain in advance that one agency will have difficulty in recruiting while another will not, and an across-the-board cut takes no account of differing circumstances.

A second source of lapsed salary funds is employee turnover. To say that State government has a constant vacancy rate of a certain percent is not the same as saying that the same jobs stay vacant all year long. Frequently vacancies cannot be filled because of manpower shortages in the labor market. This does not mean that the personnel is not needed. They simply can't be found. Vacancies also occur because of deaths, resignations, dismissals, retirements, military duty, promotions and transfers within State government. There is a constant shifting of the State's labor force and the idea of freezing vacant positions is totally impractical. Time is required to find suitable replacements.

Mr. Holshouser's proposal contemplates a reserve fund being established to fill essential vacancies. The fallacy of this part of the proposal is that the determination of what is essential would require much administrative time and expense, and leave key positions vacant during the appeal process. Furthermore, it assumes that Mr. Holshouser's judgment is superior to that of the General Assembly which has already decided that these positions are necessary.

4. The amount of reversions derived from lapsed salaries has been grossly overstated or exaggerated by Mr. Holshouser. I have obtained figures from the Budget Division which show that historically lapsed salaries constitute approximately one-half of the total reversions at the end of a particular biennium. For example, Mr. Holshouser stated on Saturday that for the biennium 1965-67 approximately $46 million reverted to the General Fund. Of this amount, however, only $23 million represented lapsed salaries. We estimate for the present biennium that $50 million will revert, of which perhaps one-half are lapsed salary funds.

5. The proposal strikes at the jugular of our budget system and is contrary to the spirit and intent of the Executive Budget Act. This Act has contributed more to the financial stability and solvency of State government than any other single thing. It was conceived and enacted into law in 1925, during the administration of Governor McLean, the late father of the Senator from Robeson. The budgetary process prescribed by this Act has guided North Carolina through good and bad times and has made our State the envy of most of our sister states.

One of the key ingredients of the system is that unspent appropriated funds revert at the end of each year and, with rare exception, cannot be spent for other purposes. In the past, many arguments have been advanced by administrators, public officials and even legislators to permit the expenditure of reversions or lapsed salaries for purposes other than for which appropriated. Not one General Assembly, not one Governor, not one single Advisory Budget Commission has ever recommended or advocated this course of action. And now comes the gentleman from Watauga with his proposal unveiled under the guise of economy in government. On the contrary, Mr. President and members of the Senate, the proposal is calculated to hamstring the Administration in the execution of needed State programs voted for by the General Assembly, and to remove from the budget the one key safeguard we have against under-realization of estimated revenues.

I do not have to tell you the difficulty of projecting revenues for two years in the future. For this we rely upon the Commissioner of Revenue and the Tax Research Commission. Traditionally, these estimates have been conservative to protect against downswings in the economy which may result in declining revenues. In recent years of prosperity and inflation, we have exceeded these estimates. The budget you have enacted is based upon the highest revenue estimates in the history of the State. This is particularly true for the last year of the biennium. Who can say that our economy will continue to grow at the same pace? Will the Nixon administration carry out its promise to vigorously fight inflation and to cut governmental expenditures? If so, what effect will this have on the nation's economy and our own? No one can give certain answers to these questions. If the budget estimates for 1969-71 prove to be on the high side, what protection do we have against an automatic across-the-board cutback of essential service as the Executive Budget Act requires? The safeguard against such an eventuality is the reversion of unspent appropriated funds including lapsed salaries. The proposal of Mr. Holshouser would rob the State of this hedge and greatly diminish the prospect of a credit balance at the beginning of the next biennium. For example, a mere two percent decline in revenue estimates during the next biennium would reduce available revenues by approximately $35 million; and without a hedge against such a loss North Carolina would find itself in the embarrassing situation recently faced by other states, and governmental services would either have to be sharply curtailed or a special session of the General Assembly would be necessary to provide additional revenues.

The term "credit balance" or "surplus" has been loosely bandied about in recent days. Actually, a credit balance is derived from three main sources:

1. Collection of revenue over and above budget estimates;
2. Increased yields on State investments, and
3. Reversions.

Reversions, of which lapsed salaries are a part, are the chief cushion we have against undercollection of revenues. They also serve an important function in providing operating funds during slack periods of revenue collection. Also, our credit balance constitutes a sort of reserve for depreciation. It is mainly through large credit balances in recent years that we have been able to expend public funds for much-needed capital improvements. This has been done without costly bond issues. Mr. Holshouser's proposal would sharply diminish prospects for a credit balance at the end of the next biennium, and in my opinion would require the next General Assembly to vote for even larger tax increases than those now suggested by Governor Scott.

I leave it to you to decide whether Mr. Holshouser's proposal is in the interest of economy in government. If so, it is at the risk of fiscal stability in our affairs.
Some may say our system of line item budgeting and strict control of lapsed salary funds is too conservative. Maybe so, but I am proud to be associated with such a system. And those who seek to subvert it do a grave injustice to the people of North Carolina.

In essence, the proposal of Mr. Holshouser and his colleagues represents an effort to vote for all of the improvements for services to the people contained in the budget package and at the same time to vote against the taxes needed to raise the necessary funds. This is a neat trick if you can do it, but not at the expense of our budget system, which has brought North Carolina the highest credit rating in the nation. As long as I am Chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, I firmly close the door tight to such a proposal.

It is easy to submit pie-in-the-sky proposals when you don't have the responsibility of governing. If Mr. Holshouser's Party were in power with the responsibility of maintaining fiscal solvency and stability, you can be sure no such scheme would be proposed. If it were, it would be contrary to what the Minority Party says it stands for—economy and fiscal stability in government.

And now, Mr. President, I would like to briefly comment on the suggestion that the Minority Party have representation on the Advisory Budget Commission. This is comparable to the Democrats requesting President Nixon to appoint a partisan Democrat as Assistant to the Director of the Budget. Mr. Nixon's response would be predictable. Certainly he would refuse to make such an appointment. And for good reason. After all, President Nixon and his party were elected to govern this country for the next four years. It is his responsibility and the responsibility of his party to present a budget to the Congress for those programs which he believes will serve the nation best. Why should he be hamstrung by a partisan Democrat in his Administration, whose ideas would probably run counter to those of the President. By the same token, Governor Scott was elected as Governor of North Carolina. It is his responsibility and the responsibility of his political party to govern North Carolina for the next four years. The primary responsibility of the Advisory Budget Commission is to prepare a recommended budget for the General Assembly. Why should the Governor be hamstrung by partisan Republicans in his Administration, whose ideas would probably run counter to those of the Governor? It is no answer to say that North Carolina is a two-party State. Certainly it is. But right now, at this moment, the people have entrusted the affairs of State to Democrats. It is as simple as that. Not a callous "to the victors, the spoils", but rather to the elected the duty to govern. To the defeated the duty to constructively oppose. This is the American system, and it is surprising that my friends in the "loyal opposition" would suggest such a departure from tradition and party responsibility.

Now Mr. President, what does all this mean? Stated very simply, it means:

1. The budget has been adopted.
2. The necessary revenues must be raised to bring the budget in balance.
3. Unsound proposals that attempt to thwart the sound budget system of this State will not be tolerated as a substitute for new taxes.
So, I say to my colleagues of the Minority Party, come join us in seeking to find the tax sources to balance the budget we have all adopted. We may not all agree, Democrats and Republicans, on what sources to tax, but there can be no doubt where our duty lies.

B. 296, a bill to amend Chapters 18 and 105 of the General Statutes to provide additional revenue and revenue sources for the General Fund of the State and to redefine the definition of "Head of Household" for income tax purposes, and upon his request his remarks are included in the Journal, as follows:

I have voted for the Appropriations Bill to provide needed services to all people of our State.

I would not measure up to my responsibility unless I would be willing to vote for the tax revenue to pay for these needed services.

After a great deal of debate, the House of Representatives has sent this tax package to the Senate with the understanding that this is the only tax package to which they will agree.

I have consistently opposed the 5¢ tobacco tax, and although I do not like the 2¢ tobacco tax and the crown tax, this is now part of the total tax package sent to the Senate from the House of Representatives, and I must now either vote against the total tax package sent by the House, or for it.

Under all these circumstances, I feel that it is my duty and responsibility to vote for this total tax package prepared and approved by the House even though I do not like some items that are in the tax package.

I would prefer not to have any new taxes, but in order to provide services needed by the people of this State, I now cast my vote for this tax package.

My fellow North Carolinians:

We come here today not merely to commemorate an event that occurs every four years.

In the larger sense, we are here to begin anew the quest of hope and progress that began with a brave colony implanted nearly four centuries ago on a small island at our coast. What we seek on this day is to reaffirm our faith in our future as a people. We resolve to achieve, as best we can, the full measure of the promise that our future holds.

North Carolina will move ahead. We feel no resistance to progressive change—our history bespeaks the fact that we have sought it, and benefitted by it. Change is the essence of the problems and the opportunities that will confront us these next four years.

A year from now brings us to the dawn of a new decade—beyond that the dawn of a new century. The current of our times runs swift; its ripples often turn to waves. What we must learn is to master the waves and to direct the current—not that we seek always to sail smoothly—rather that we seek a true course and a just destiny.

We have seen much change.

In a generation, many of us have seen the stable replaced by the machine shed, the wagon by the truck, the kerosene lamp by the electric light, the writing tablet by the computer. We have seen the one-room school, the general store, all but vanish. We have seen man break the barriers of our planet and take the first step in opening up the new frontiers of the Universe.

We have seen the dust of disuse collect in many rural communities—to a point where they can neither attract nor hold young people—to a point where it is harder for these communities to build and maintain good schools and churches and hospitals and playgrounds.
We have seen too, our cities undergo a great period of growth—from town to metropolis in hardly more than two decades. Yet their growth has not been all for the good. Many now have more congestion, more crime, more social problems and oftentimes too much unreasoned change.

We should not cry out against what has altered, for there is no retreat from it. I view it instead as the strong challenge of a new day. My administration will neither shrink from the obligation it offers nor from the opportunity it presents.

There is an old Proverb which says, "To think well is wise; to plan well, wiser; to do well is wisest and best of all." During the coming four years, we will think; we will plan; we will do.

Simply stated, the broad goals of this administration are:

Government that merits the confidence of all our people.

Balanced growth for every section of our state.

Realistic and adequate planning for the future.

A united community.

Let us here and now, at the very outset of this Administration, pledge ourselves to strengthen the confidence and support of our citizens in their government; to seek new ideas, but to temper boldness of action with common sense; to plan now for the new century rushing upon us; to seek the end of divisiveness among our people.

I believe the first of the goals is foremost.

Our system of government cannot succeed without the confidence of the people. More than that, our system of government cannot function ably unless it gains the wide-spread participation of the citizens.

Our state government is a trust—bonded always by the people. It will be a primary goal of this administration to strengthen that bond—to make state government, and the service it renders, more responsive to the needs and aspirations of our citizens.

I, and those who serve with me, cannot accomplish this alone. State government cannot pursue this goal alone; we must somehow mesh its gears with those of municipal and county governments if the goal is to be met—if government in this state, taken as a whole, is to be the true servant.

I do not propose that our government be all things to all men. It cannot be so. Yet, no matter how large, no matter how complex our society becomes, I believe we can—we must—avoid the disenchantment and disaffection of people who do not care because they do not believe they are heard. Should that day come, the public confidence will be eroded beyond cure, and government will become an empty shell, subject to collapse. This must be avoided at all costs.

For that reason—and because it is right and just—I will insist that all those who serve with me in our state government be responsive to our citizens—to answer their inquiries, to meet their needs where possible and feasible, and to make every effort to make ours truly a government of, by, and for the people.

All of us, from the lowest paid worker to the highest salaried official must at all times remember we hold our position, not as a right or privilege, but as a public trust and responsibility, and we should discharge our duties accordingly.

This will be an open-door administration. There will be a free and honest flow of information from the government to the people through direct inquiry, news media and other means of communication. Another, yet too often overlooked, aspect of freedom of information is that there must also be a free and full flow of inquiry and information from people to government. And this, too, will receive attention these next four years.

At this moment, there seems little doubt that in North Carolina the great challenge of the next decade will be a struggle to improve our environment. Recognizing this, my administration will seek balanced growth by attacking problems that confront us now.

Already we are hard-pressed by a per-capita income that is far too low. We will seek to raise it.

There is too much inadequate housing. We must find a way to remove this blight.

There are gaps in our programs for public education. They must be closed.

There are old roads to be improved and new roads to be built. We must find the means to finance this program.

We are blessed with natural resources—land, air, water, forests, wildlife. Let us conserve them.

Our local governments are in need of help. Let us strengthen their hand.

Businessmen and industrial leaders must be assured of stability in government, conditions suitable for expansion of investment, and a firm belief in the free enterprise system. They shall have it.

Labor must be provided job opportunities with good wages and working conditions. We must keep our economic growth rate at a high level to provide these opportunities.

The early settlers described our state as "the goodliest land under the cope of heaven." To the great majority it is. But we still have too many poor, too many hungry, too many unskilled, too many hopeless. We have not done enough for our physically and mentally handicapped citizens. We must redouble our attacks on these conditions.

All these problems—and more—we must come to grips with during the early days of this administration. I will present my recommendations on these matters to the General Assembly later this month. It will take our total efforts to meet these problems successfully.

At the same time, as we react to present problems, we must anticipate future problems. We must try to build the framework for long-range growth.

Already we see seven of ten Americans bunched together on less than two percent of the land. In North Carolina, only four of ten persons live in an urban area. We have yet to feel the full impact of urbanization.

Thus, we still have time to frame our future—to plan with such thoroughness that we can master the currents of fast-changing times—to prepare for the new century. We must act now. We can prevent many problems from occurring and it will certainly be less expensive now to correct the ills we do have.
I want the next generation to say of us: "They planned well; they acted wisely." There is no better legacy for us to leave them.

I am convinced, as have been other Governors before me, that state government must be strengthened, particularly in its relation to the federal government. To this end, I will work with the Governors of other states to enable the states to have a stronger voice, a greater influence and a more effective role in the federal system. This needs to be done—and it can be done by strong leadership in the Governor's office.

President-elect Richard Nixon will assume his duties as President of the United States on January 20th. He will be our President and as such, I wish him well as he takes on the awesome responsibilities and burdens of the Presidency.

As Governor of North Carolina, I will seek his support, and the support of members of his administration, of any matter that will benefit our state and our people. Furthermore, I will work closely with our Congressional delegation to obtain those programs and projects needed in our state which will be useful to us.

In short, my administration will be very active in state-federal relations, seeking the maximum return of our federal tax dollar and striving always to strengthen the role of our state with the federal government.

In the next four years, I will seek to unite our people. I will not advance special goals nor specific programs for any single group. The emphasis will not be on black or white, rural or urban, worker or industrialist. Instead, the emphasis will be on programs for all North Carolinians.

I hold fast to the belief that all men are created equal in the sight of God. I will strive to build a united community in which there is peace and harmony—where men are free from fear—where intimidation, force and violence become bygones of another day.

There will be no toleration of extremists who seek only to divide our people—whether they take to the streets, whether they act unseen, whether they throw rocks and firebombs, or whether they burn crosses in the dark of night. We will work for the day—yes, we will live for the day—when every man walks in dignity and is mindful that he is regarded for his individual worth and that alone.

In this hour, let us recall the words of another Governor, spoken nearly two decades ago, in an address to a joint session of the North Carolina General Assembly. These were the words of that Governor—my father, Kerr Scott: "The courageous development of North Carolina through use of power of the state government did not begin with my administration. It will not end with it. We have been fortunate in having Governors and Legislators who had faith in the people of this state and in the state's resources. What I want to advocate strongly to you now is that there be no halting of the advance—that we move steadily forward, building by plan and with confidence in the future."

I, too—with your help—will seek that path.

Working together, I am confident we can build a better North Carolina. There is nothing weak or faint about the pulse of this great State. Instead, I have found it to be strong—full of vitality—ready for the great tasks that lie ahead.
We will not defer those tasks. We will accept the challenge. I am confident of the future because I have confidence in our people.

Let the timid, the faint-hearted, the foot-draggers, the "do-nothings" be forewarned. We are going to make progress during this administration. There is work to be done, and we're going to get on with the job.

In the tradition of others who have borne this great responsibility—Luther Hodges—Terry Sanford—Dan Moore—we, too, will point to the far plateau. We owe my predecessors much gratitude, for these capable leaders—each in his own time and in his own way—advanced our state along the road of progress.

It has been said that many of the political and social troubles of the world have arisen because privilege has failed to remember its obligation. Power is not granted to us to make us collectors of privilege, but rather to endow us as distributors of goodwill.

The office of Governor has both privilege and power. I will not abuse it. I pledge to you honesty, integrity, and a conduct that will reflect credit upon this high office, upon our proud state, and upon our good people.

I will be true to the heritage given me by my Mother, who is here today, and my Father and their forebears. I will uphold the confidence my wife and children have in me. I will keep the faith of my neighbors and friends from Hawfields and Alamance County and throughout the state.

I must thank you, the people of North Carolina, for the opportunity you have given me. I express my thanks with sincerity and humility.

You have placed in my hands a sacred trust. I will exercise it in a manner that will merit your continued support.

You have given me a great challenge. I accept it here today with confidence.

I embark upon my task with an unshakable faith in God as the Ruler of Mankind.

I strongly believe that North Carolina's strength is in its people. To their advancement I am dedicated.
