In accordance with law, at the hour of 12 M, the Senate of the General Assembly of North Carolina assembles this day in the Senate Chamber in the city of Raleigh.

The Honorable H. Patrick Taylor, Jr., Lieutenant Governor, calls the Senate to order.

The following prayer is offered by the Reverend Ernest N. Page, Pastor of the First Methodist Church, Wadesboro, North Carolina:

Our Father and our God:

We come this day to ask thy guidance as thy servants performing their State stewardship. Help them in facing the demands, the making of decisions and face the call to duty, to bear witness of Him who created all mankind.

May this coming together be not because of the applause of man but with the drum beat that calls our State and her elected stewards forward in this great land you have created.

May those who lead in the affairs of public office: Do justice, love mercy, and walk humbly with their God.

In the midst of struggle between love and hate, the truth and the false, may they find fortitude and reinforcement for the times in which they—and we live.

Calm our anxieties, control our tempers and make us worthy of these demanding times.

We ask this in the name of the Holy One whose truth shall make all men free. Amen.

The roll of the Senate is called and the following Senators-elect appear with the proper certificates of election and take and subscribe to the following oath of office, which is administered by Associate Justice Carlisle W. Higgins of the North Carolina Supreme Court:

"I solemnly swear or affirm that I will support the Constitution and laws of the United States, and I do solemnly and sincerely swear or affirm that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to the State of North Carolina, and to the constitutional powers and authorities which are or may be established for the government thereof; and that I will endeavor to

The President recognizes Senator Harrington who presents His Excellency, Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the General Assembly of North Carolina.

Welcome back to Raleigh, the seat of our State Government. My associates and I in the Executive Branch of government look forward to working with you during this 129th General Assembly.

Many tasks before you will be difficult but not impossible. They will be complex but not unsolvable, demanding, but worthy of your best efforts. Working together we can advance North Carolina great lengths on the road of progress.

North Carolina's strength is in her people. To their advancement I am dedicated. The programs I will present for your deliberation reflect this conviction.

You are the representatives of more than five million of the world's finest people. Some of them are wealthy; far too many are poor and hungry. Some are gifted with physical or mental talents, others are handicapped. Some live deep in mountain coves or on lonely stretches of sandy roads. Others are surrounded by concrete, steel, and neon lights. Some are professionally gifted, while others labor with their hands.

But all of us, regardless of our environment, social status, ethnic background, natural abilities, or economic standing—all of us are citizens of North Carolina.

As you go about your important work in the coming months, remember the sovereignty of these people. Remember that "all political power is vested in and derived from the people, all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole—the people of this State have the inherent, sole and exclusive right of regulating the internal government . . ."

I am proud of the progress and accomplishments of the first two years of my administration. The last General Assembly responded to my requests for new and expanded programs and provided the funds for implementing them. There have been some disappointments, particularly in the field of housing. But the achievements far exceed and overshadow the few disappointments.
I will not document the progress that has been made since you last met. I do hope you have taken the opportunity to read my annual reports, which have been made available to you.

STATE'S ECONOMY

The financial affairs of our State are in good order. Our fiscal position is sound and healthy. Even though we had a downturn in the economy last year, the outlook can be viewed with cautious optimism. Revenue collections are strongly influenced by the national economy and, of course, the future of the national economy is still unsettled.

With your permission, I will appear before you next week to detail my budget recommendations. It will be my first full budget presented to you. It will be unique in at least three respects:

(1) My pledge of a new partnership with local governments will be more fully implemented by new approaches to provide financial relief to local governmental units; (2) Although it will be the most far-reaching budget in the State's history, it provides for the fewest number of additional state positions in fourteen years and (3) It is the largest capital improvement budget in the history of the State.

My budget will be a moderate budget, for a moderate State, with moderate financial resources.

HUMAN RELATIONS

The decade of the Sixties was a period of unparalleled economic growth. Our State and our people prospered. But it was also a period of unrest and uncertainty, too often marred by civil disturbances. Some of this carried over into 1970.

Unfortunately, tension and even disruption have at times prevailed in our social, economic and educational life. Often tensions have been eased by the outstanding work of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council and the Human Relations Division of the Department of Public Instruction. Many situations have been resolved or lessened in intensity because of their quiet and effective behind-the-scenes work.

In addition, many dedicated citizens have given much time and effort in their communities to the improvement of human relations. All are to be commended.

As a result I believe we have turned the corner in North Carolina and that the decade of the Seventies will be a new era of human harmony. We recognize there are far too many problems that need our combined energies and talents rather than for us to be engaged in divisive and destructive issues.

Let us be done with destruction. Let us be done with violence and threats. Let us dedicate ourselves to improving the quality of life for all our people.
STATE GOALS AND POLICY

In my message to you two years ago, I stated that I wanted my administration to be known for its concern with planning for the future of North Carolina.

My emphasis on planning stems from a basic desire to see the total efforts of government directed more effectively towards the achievement of a good life for all the people in North Carolina.

During the past two years, we have laid the foundation for an action program that will play a major role in guiding our future efforts to improve the physical, economic and social environment for our people.

It does not make good business sense to spend billions of dollars in state government activities without taking a hard look at the goals and needs of our people and attempting to set priorities within the framework of our ability to meet these goals and needs.

We must not stumble into the future. We need to examine where we are, what it is we want to achieve, how to do it, establish priorities and set a timetable for reaching our goals. Having done this, then all activities of state government—the programs of all departments—can be directed in harmony to achieve these State goals. When the reorganization of the Executive branch of state government is achieved in 1975, I am convinced this task will be easier. We must plan for it now.

Therefore, I recommend statutory authority for a Council of State Goals and Policy. This Council would be a high-level advisory body to consider, across the board, all activities of State government that relate to the development of our State.

MANPOWER DEVELOPMENT

While North Carolina's per capita income is improving, it is still far too low. Looking beyond the dollar mark, the figures really tell the vivid story of the more than 166,000 North Carolinians looking for work. They tell about the more than 107,000 citizens who need work but have given up looking and about the more than 411,000 who are working but well below their capacities.

Industry needs a dependable, motivated work force. Estimates are that more than 887,000 jobs will be opening up in North Carolina in the next 10 years.

Who will fill those jobs? We will need fewer agricultural workers and more manufacturing workers.

For the kinds of jobs available in the State today, North Carolina has more than 108,000 too few high school graduates. For some types of jobs, we have too many college graduates.

In short, North Carolina has a “manpower” problem.

To help solve it, I am recommending to you a State Manpower Council, which will create a model State Manpower Plan. The Council will evaluate programs currently being conducted in state, federal and local agencies in the manpower field.

Some general goals for the Council would be the expansion of a demonstration of the full range of manpower services and the expansion of the services of the Employment Security Commission. We need to prepare all our citizens with the technical or vocational skills to succeed in the work force. Many of our citizens don't know they have these skills.

Surveys could be made to find out why people are not fully productive. And they also could be made to find out why some industries are experiencing a turn-over and a large number of job vacancies.

The State can and must take the lead in the effort to prepare our citizens to be included in the work force for tomorrow's job opportunities. In this process, North Carolina's people will be the major beneficiary.

MINIMUM WAGE

Inflation has substantially increased the cost of living. Although many of our businesses and industries already pay wages well above the State's present minimum requirement, there is a need to increase the minimum wage for some employees.

Therefore, I recommend the State minimum wage law be amended to increase the minimum wage from $1.25 to $1.60 per hour.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Much progress has been achieved in our public school program during the past two years. Dr. Craig Phillips, the Board of Education, the Learning Institute and all their staffs have done a thoughtful, dedicated job. But major credit must go to the teachers and school administrators in our 100 counties who make our public school program successful.

For the first time we have the beginning of a public school kindergarten program. It's a small start, but it will be tripled under my budget proposals. Those pre-school children who were enrolled in the initial program received extensive testing when they entered kindergarten. Their score ranked them as a group in the bottom third nationally of children in this age group. Now, tests show that the same group, after the pre-school experience, ranks in the top third nationally. The program has paid for itself many times over. We must expand it as rapidly as our resources will permit so that it will eventually include all of our pre-school children.

The school drop-out ratio has always been a problem. It remains yet too high. But we have been able to reduce the drop-out percentage during the past two years. One significant program that makes this possible was enacted at my request by the 1969 General Assembly. That program, called occupational exploration for students in the middle grades, enables youngsters who are in their early teens to learn more about the world of work by actually receiving "hands on" work experience through occupational learning in business and trades. It is proving highly successful.
Free transportation for students living within our urban areas is an unresolved issue. This General Assembly needs to define clearly the policy of the State regarding the scope and extent of transportation services for public school students.

I recommend that a statement of policy be established to clearly provide free transportation for urban students in order that they may enjoy the same privileges from tax funds as the State has accorded rural students for many years.

For the first time in a number of years, the average daily public school attendance is estimated to decline by the 1972-73 school year. This will result in 635 fewer regular teaching positions in the next biennium. I will, however, request an additional 100 teachers for children requiring special education, and 100 more occupational education teachers.

What we are witnessing, of course, is a decline in our public school enrollment while the enrollment is increasing in our community colleges, technical institutes, along with our public senior institutions.

My proposed budget recommends a five percent increase in salaries for all public school personnel for the first year of the biennium and an additional five percent the second year.

This is less than the amount being sought by our professional public school personnel. But it is the same increase being recommended for all other state employees and for personnel in our post-high school learning institutions.

If we had substantially more revenue, then larger salary increases could be recommended. But the State would need more than $140 million in addition to what has been recommended in order to meet their national average goal.

About 70 cents of each tax dollar in North Carolina is earmarked for education. About 50 cents goes to public school education.

We all want the best for our children and North Carolina has increased her support of public school education by 162.7 percent in the last 10 years.

Our people support education and statistics show that we rank eighth in terms of State and local government expenditures for all public education as a percent of total general expenditures.

We are putting a larger percentage of available revenue into public education than forty-one other states. (Tied with Colorado.)

As you know, public education in many states receives substantial financial support from local sources. North Carolina supports her public school program in all 100 counties and has since 1933, when the State assumed the responsibility.

The tasks of our public school teachers and officials today are not easy. What our public school people need as much—maybe more—than money in their paychecks is a renewed expression of confidence on the part of the public. We need to show our faith in the public school system. We must show stronger support and greater understanding of our professional public school personnel.

I call upon all citizens, students, parents, businessmen, everyone to renew their faith in and support for our public schools and the dedicated personnel who make our system successful.

I am recommending to you proposals that will increase the benefits of our retired teachers and State employees who were or are now members of the teachers, highway and state employee associations.

With your approval, some retired personnel will be eligible to receive increases in their retirement checks that are as high as 24 percent.

These increases will not require an appropriation, but come as the result of clarifying and liberalizing the amendments of the State Retirement System. The funds themselves will be paid from investment income.

The proposals will be worthy of your consideration and will be of direct benefit to more than 15,000 retired personnel and the more than 200,000 active accounts.

The North Carolina Association of Educators is a capable organization representing our public school personnel. They will present for your consideration a Professional Standards Act. I urge you to enact measures to recognize that our public school personnel are professional people, just as engineers, scientists and others who are accorded professional standing.

GOVERNOR'S ADVOCACY COMMISSION ON CHILDREN AND YOUTH

There are several agencies of state government that are heavily involved with the well-being of our children. All of them are genuinely concerned and many fine programs exist.

There is, however, much fragmentation in services to children and youth. There is no one agency that can be considered as the spokesman for all phases of child development or aspects of the many problems of children.

For the past several months, a commission of legislators and citizens has been examining this problem. A report with specific recommendations has been prepared. The major recommendation calls for the establishment of a Governor's Advocacy Commission on Children and Youth.

I recommend the establishment of such a commission. It should take as its mandate the security and rights of all children and youth in our State. The commission would function as an advocate and not be responsible for providing services directly.

I commend the commission's report to you and urge you to consider its recommendations.

HIGHER EDUCATION

Much progress has been made in the field of higher education in recent years. New graduate programs have been authorized, libraries strengthened, research expanded, extension programs re-evaluated and updated and substantial efforts made to upgrade our predominately black institutions. We can take pride in the recent national evaluations of graduate programs at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and North Carolina State University.

During the past year we have seen enrollments increase an average of 9.7 percent in the public institutions. This has caused greater demands for laboratories, class rooms, faculties and services. In my budget I will recommend budget increases for higher education.

With this growth there have been problems. One is now under active consideration by a committee of trustees representing each of our institutions of higher learning and chaired by a distinguished North Carolinian and a former member of the General Assembly, the Honorable Lindsay Warren, Jr.

The trustees are addressing themselves to the problem of how best to govern the 16 public institutions of higher learning. They must also consider how we can best look outward to deal with the whole question of post high school education, both public and private, and at the same time look inward to the most effective and efficient method of administering the State's higher education policy within the 16 public senior institutions in the State.

These questions are not easily answered, but I am hopeful that these trustees, who have the statutory responsibility for administering our higher education institutions, will develop a feasible plan to replace the structure we now have. Naturally, any plan must be in the best interest of our State.

Then, too, there is the question of what, if any, financial assistance the State should provide for needy students. A committee, chaired by Representative Charles Phillips of Guilford, has a report with recommendations to you on this matter.

The private colleges and universities in our State render a valuable and necessary service in the total educational program. Many of these institutions find themselves with declining enrollments, empty dormitory space and, in some cases, in severe financial straits.

Later in this Session, a committee of the Board of Higher Education will present to you a report for your consideration.

NORTH CAROLINA'S ENVIRONMENT

Now, I would like to speak to you about our concern for the environment in North Carolina. We have come a long way. We are concerned. But a lot remains to be done.

We intend to maintain the environment of our State as a great place to live—a great place of enjoyment—a great place to work and to raise a family, and as a heritage to pass on.

Each of our present departments and State agencies concerned with environmental matters is now preparing legislative recommendations. I will give these proposals very careful consideration and will submit to you in a few weeks a more complete statement on our environment, together with legislative recommendations, which will be set forth in a North Carolina Environmental Protection and Management Act of 1971.

This legislation will be the most comprehensive approach to environmental protection and management in the history of our State.

DRUGS

For about a year now, the Commission to Study Illegal and Harmful drugs has been meeting, holding sessions here in Raleigh and also regionally throughout the State.

In its report the Commission will recommend specific changes in the law relating to drugs. A Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, within the Department of Justice, will be recommended.

The Drug Commission also will recommend setting up an Inter-Agency Drug Council. The Council would coordinate all of the drug programs and serve as a joint cooperative clearinghouse for programs in enforcement, rehabilitation, treatment and education.

The Commission's report is worthy of your consideration and I recommend it to you as you enact measures to speed up our fight against drug abuse in North Carolina.

PUBLIC SAFETY

The broad category of public safety involves those agencies charged with enforcing the laws and carrying out justice. I am proud of their work because North Carolina far out ranks her sister states in providing for the overall safety of her citizens.

The Department of Motor Vehicles will present to you a series of proposals among them suggested changes in the Motor Vehicles Laws of our State. Much of the present motor vehicle law is more than 30 years old. Through the years the General Assembly has added to and changed the laws, thus creating a patchwork of considerable proportions.

I commend the suggested changes to you and urge you to examine them carefully.

In addition, appropriations have been recommended to you for 100 additional highway patrolmen in the next biennium. These men are vitally needed, particularly because of the continued increase in the number of vehicles on our roads and highways.

Today more than 3,200,000 vehicles are registered in North Carolina. Five years from now estimates are that the number of vehicles will leap by nearly 700,000, bringing the total to 3,910,000.

We are currently reexamining the strain and demands placed on our roads and highways. Our transportation arteries often function at maximum capabilities. I am concerned, as I know you are, and I will present to you at a later date the findings of a special report on transportation.
Recently I signed an Executive Order creating the North Carolina Criminal Justice Academy. I recommend that you establish the Academy and give it statutory responsibilities.

As I envision the Academy, training for state law enforcement and correctional officers and some of the specialized and advanced training for local law enforcement officers will be conducted there.

THE OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

The people of North Carolina get about 2½ years of truly effective leadership from their Governor under the one-term limitation imposed by our State Constitution.

After the adoption of his program and budget by the Legislature for the second half of his term, a Governor's ability to lead is seriously diminished. Therefore, he spends the remaining 18 months of his four years in office (or over ½ of his term) handling routine administrative matters. He does recommend another budget but he is not in office to even present it to the General Assembly, let alone defend it. Nor is he in a position to advocate new solutions to meet new needs based on his experience.

Today, more than ever, the Governors of many states are required to participate in multi-state regional programs, such as our Appalachian Regional Commission and Coastal Plains Regional Commission. All Governors today must be actively involved in national matters affecting their people. National programs, such as revenue sharing, welfare proposals and interstate transportation policies vitally affect the economy of the respective states and the lives of all the citizens.

If a Governor is to be effective in influencing the development, enactment and implementation of multi-state and national programs, he must be in the ballgame long enough to learn the rules and strategy of the game.

I know from experience that North Carolina today is not very effective in shaping regional and national policy as it affects our State. This is so because our State changes the team captain and key players just about the time we get the opportunity and the know-how to carry the ball and score.

It should be remembered that the one-term limitation on the Office of Governor was imposed at a time in our history a century ago when feeling against the Chief Executive was very strong, even to the extent that he was later impeached.

That same feeling of distrust existed against the Royal Governor when our first Constitution was enacted in 1776.

The question is not whether a Governor should be allowed to succeed himself. The valid question is whether the people shall have the right to decide for themselves if they wish to retain a Governor for a second term. I believe the people should have that right.

For this reason, and others which I shall not take time to discuss today, I recommend you approve and submit to the voters of North Carolina, an amendment to our State Constitution removing the one term limitation for the Office of Governor and provide that a Governor may serve a maximum of two successive four-year terms.

I also recommend that you approve a similar constitutional amendment for the office of Lieutenant Governor.

THE OFFICE OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

It has been my privilege to have served the people of North Carolina, first as Lieutenant Governor for four years and now as Governor. This has given me a unique opportunity to have observed the relationship of each of these offices to the other.

The role of the Governor has changed in recent years. That is to say, his sphere of responsibility has been increased because of the increase in programs, the greater involvement in state-federal relations, the growth of our population, just to name a few.

More than ever before, the Governor needs to be freed as much as practical of ceremonial functions so as to give more time to policy decisions and matters that affect the State as a whole.

I have held this viewpoint for several years. The current Lieutenant Governor, the Honorable H. Patrick Taylor, Jr., also shares this opinion. There are many areas in which his services and abilities can be put to good use. I would like to do so. But it is unrealistic to expect anyone to devote fulltime to public service without adequate compensation.

Therefore, I recommend the office of Lieutenant Governor be considered a full-time position and that he be provided a salary in line with that of other members of the Council of State.

REORGANIZATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT

The administration of government in North Carolina is efficient, sound and responsive to the needs of our citizens.

Only five other states operate their state and local governments at less cost on a per capita basis as we do. When measured in terms of the number of state and local government employees per 10,000 people, only three states have a better record. If local school employees are omitted, North Carolina ranks last among the states in the number of state and local employees per 10,000 population.

But we must constantly be alert for ways to improve the efficiency of our service.

In a special message to you later in this session, I will recommend major changes in the structure of the Executive Branch of State government, which I am confident will further improve the administration of programs and services to our people.
Federal and state laws require that we reapportion our Congressional districts and the House and Senate districts of the General Assembly. This is a legislative responsibility and I urge you to accomplish this difficult task objectively and fairly to the end that your results will not be subject to a review by the courts.

ELECTION LAWS

The United States Supreme Court has ruled that our citizens 18 years old and over are eligible, upon qualification and registration, to vote in national elections.

In order to reduce confusion and to make our voting laws more uniform, I recommend you approve an amendment to our State Constitution to be submitted to our people for approval to permit those qualified citizens 18 years old and older to vote in State and local elections.

CONCLUSION

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker and Members of the General Assembly, the programs I have recommended to you today do not include all agencies or services of our State government. A number of these will be discussed with you in my budget message.

But the proposals I submit today for your consideration are needed to better provide for the "good life" for all our citizens by more efficient government, better delivery of programs and services and a demonstrated concern for our future as a State and as a people.

The nature of our State has been, and remains, progressive.

The characteristic that best describes our people is spizzerinctum—"the energy, ambition or will to succeed."

And it is the people—the people—that must hold our uppermost attention as we work together during the months ahead. Their hopes, aspirations and efforts in seeking "the good life" can be enhanced or hampered by your decisions.

In the final analysis, the measure of progress is what we do for people. People—not cities, economics or transportation systems—people have feelings, they think, and they aspire to a good life.

I have made it clear time and again that our State government must be people orientated. It's what we accomplish for our people that underscores our total efforts.

North Carolina's strength is in her people. To their advancement I am dedicated.

The President recognizes Senator Saunders to read a statement concerning the problem of the shortage of nurses in North Carolina, and upon his motion, the statement is ordered spread upon the Journal as follows:

Mr. President, Members of the Senate:

On Sunday, January 17, 1971, the Associated Press reported a critical shortage of nurses in North Carolina. Large morning daily newspapers ran front page stories and six column headlines to dramatize this shortage. I would like to quote from the Charlotte Observer:

"The shortage of nurses in North Carolina has reached the critical point, forcing several hospitals to close down badly needed beds, intensive care units, and operating rooms.

"In at least one case, a new hospital will not be fully opened this fall because there aren't enough nurses to care for all the patients that could be admitted.

"Some hospitals are spreading their nursing staffs thin and making overtime demands on already overworked nurses."
"A spot check of a dozen North Carolina hospitals shows the institutions are simply outgrowing the supply of registered nurses."

I am highly pleased to report at least one notable exception, Moore Memorial Hospital in Moore County, where there is no nursing shortage. And why not a shortage there? The answer is Sandhills Community College. A beginning class of 31 nursing students was enrolled in the fall of 1966. In the spring of 1968, twenty-six graduated. In three years a total of 69 has completed the two year course. Of that 69, 61 successfully passed the State Board of Nursing examinations and have become registered nurses. Now listen to this: 31 of that number are employed at Moore Memorial Hospital. This is more than 30 percent of the total registered nursing staff at that hospital. Furthermore, 26 graduates are today working in other North Carolina hospitals. In other words, 57 of 61 R.N.'s trained at Sandhills Community College are providing nursing service to hospital patients in North Carolina.

You will be interested to hear about the quality of the training and performance of these nurses. Mr. J. F. Shinn, Administrator of Moore Memorial Hospital writes: "We have hired graduates from each of the first three classes and have found their performance on State Board Examinations to be on a par or superior to the performance of graduates from other schools who come on our staff.

"After having received adequate orientation to the hospital, these nurses have performed in exemplary fashion in every nursing division of the hospital from operating room and emergency room to intensive care.

"The training of associate degree nurses seems to us to be a very practical approach to increasing the number of practicing registered nurses."

Dr. William F. Hollister is President of the Medical Staff of Moore Memorial Hospital. Here is his message:

"The medical staff of the Moore Memorial Hospital feels privileged to be associated with the teaching program of the Sandhills Community College relating to the Associate Degree nurses. Graduates of this program have worked in all departments of the hospital, including the emergency room, the intensive care unit, the operating room and on the medical and surgical wards and have performed admirably. We feel very strongly that the program is a necessary part in the delivery of community health care and we endorse it with enthusiasm."

From a beginning class of 31, the registered nurse training program at Sandhills Community College has grown to 92 students. So far every qualified applicant has been enrolled. But, Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I am told by college officials that applicants may be turned away this year because of space, equipment and personnel shortages. Gentlemen, here is a program we ought to get behind and support fully. Here is an economical, practical way to supply nurses for our hospitals within two years. I commend the Associate Degree Nursing Program to the Members of this distinguished Body, to our esteemed colleagues in the House of Representatives and to the people of North Carolina.

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

The President recognizes Senator Currie who presents His Excellency, Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following address:
Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the North Carolina General Assembly:

The Executive Budget Act requires that I come before you to recommend the budget for the 1971-73 biennium. I am pleased to have this responsibility.

First, I wish to express my sincere appreciation to the members of the Advisory Budget Commission. They spent many days during the past two years monitoring current budget expenditures and preparing the budget being recommended to you. These dedicated public servants include former Senator Thomas J. White of Kinston, who has served most ably as Chairman, Senator Ralph H. Scott of Haw River, former Senator Lindsay Warren of Goldsboro, Representative Sam Johnson of Raleigh, former Representative Thorne Gregory, formerly of Scotland Neck and now of Raleigh, and Mr. Kenneth Anderson of Newland.

I wish to pay a special tribute to the late Senator Frank Forsyth of Murphy, who served on the commission until his death on February 27, 1970.

The “A,” “B”, and “C” budget documents, as well as the budget summary, have been in your hands for more than a week. These documents contain the budget recommendations for the 1971-73 biennium. Already, these recommendations have been well publicized, analyzed and criticized.

I urge the adoption of the recommended budget.

The proposed budget of more than $4.3 billion is the largest ever for our State. Yet, it falls more than $900 million short of meeting the budget requests submitted by the agencies of our government.

Some basic decisions had to be made at the outset. One such decision was whether our budget should emphasize the well-being of our more than 125,000 dedicated teachers and State employees, or whether our budget should emphasize the continuation and expansion of programs and services to meet the needs of the more than five million men, women and children of North Carolina.

I chose to place the primary emphasis on all our people, yet providing some increases in salaries for those who serve our citizens. Laws, programs and services should not be conceived or administered in the context of self-perpetuation. Government, including those who work in it, must ever look outward to the needs of the governed.

My budget reflects this basic philosophy. It also reflects another basic philosophy of mine. I strongly believe that for our federal system to survive, local governments must be kept strong, both authoritatively and financially.

AID TO LOCALITIES

Therefore, I am recommending more State aid to North Carolina’s counties and municipalities than ever before in the history of this State.
We are all proud that North Carolina's economy continues to expand and diversify. It can be well appreciated, however, that this growth leads to increased demands at all levels of government for expansion and improvement of public services. It has become quite clear that the demands on counties and municipalities simply cannot be met with the revenues produced by the property tax, which, aside from the local option sales tax, is the only major revenue source available to local governments in our State.

North Carolina's State Government has not been reluctant to share its resources with local governments. In fact, about four cents of each tax dollar goes to pay for what we call general government in Raleigh. All the rest of the funds go back to the people in the counties, cities and towns in one form or another. In this current biennium, the State is spending about $1.3 billion to operate the public schools, the technical institutes and community colleges, to support health and social services, to aid public libraries, to build and maintain local streets and bridges. This assistance amounts to more than 50 per cent above the $800 million of taxes which local governments levy on themselves over a two-year period.

But, this assistance, great as it is, is not enough to meet the needs of our counties and municipalities.

It is my recommendation, therefore, that direct relief be provided by additional appropriations of $60.7 million for the next biennium.

This new State assistance will be the equivalent of a 7.6 per cent increase in the taxes our local governments levy on themselves, exclusive of local option sales taxes. This assistance includes:

State assumption of the counties' share of the Medicaid and Work Incentive programs.

Aid to municipalities for matching or supplementing federal grants and local funds for construction of waste treatment facilities.

Additional aid to community mental health centers.

Aid for construction, renovation and planning of local confinement facilities, and Additional aid from Powell Bill funds to cities and towns for maintaining and improving streets and bridges not on the State system.

I propose that our incorporated cities and towns' share of the gasoline tax revenue be increased from one-half cent per gallon to one cent. I further propose that the formula for allocating Powell Bill funds be revised to provide a more equitable distribution based on population and on the length and width of local street mileage.

SERVICES FOR PEOPLE

While providing this necessary aid to local governments, this budget basically is about services to people.

To meet the increasing costs of caring for our aged, disabled, blind and dependent children, this budget provides an additional $17 million for the biennium. These funds are required primarily for the increasing number of eligible recipients in the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program and the increasing costs of medical services for all recipients.

This budget provides for increased support of children who must be placed in foster homes.

The health manpower shortage in the State, region and nation has been thoroughly documented. To help alleviate this problem, I am recommending increased appropriations to improve and initiate various health-related programs at our higher educational institutions.

For the State to maintain adequate and comfortable facilities for patients in our mental institutions, I am recommending more than $14 million for capital improvements throughout the mental health system.

The Cancer Care and Crippled Children programs of the State Board of Health have been limited, due to insufficient funds, in previous years. Additional "B" budget appropriations are recommended in order that needed services can be provided at acceptable levels for twelve full months a year.

Rubella, or German Measles, is a major cause of serious birth defects. Funds are recommended for a mass immunization campaign against this disease.

Enrollments in the public schools are estimated to decrease slightly in grades 1-12 during the 1971-73 biennium. However, budget recommendations for the kindergarten program will provide classes for more than 2,000 five-year olds by 1972-73.

Recommended increases will provide additional financial aid to public school classes for trainable handicapped children.

Additional special education teachers are recommended. These teachers will work with the emotionally or physically handicapped child or the gifted and talented child. Funds for additional elementary school books are also recommended.

My budget recommends funds to implement a library services network. This network is designed to improve our library book distribution system, both public and private, and to make it possible for many more of our citizens to have easy access to library books, regardless of the library collection to which they may belong.

This budget also provides for continued support of our Symphony Orchestra, the School of the Arts, the Museum of Art, the dramatic arts program at Chapel Hill, and for other cultural activities.

Turning to the area of public safety, this budget provides for full implementation of the Police Information Network. It provides for a law enforcement training academy and for additional highway patrolmen in each of the next two years. It also provides for a new patrol communication center and enables the S. B. I. to increase its equipment and professional personnel.
The recommended appropriations for our correctional system reflect a compelling need to respond to the deficiencies in that system. For every ten persons released from our correctional institutions, seven return to prison within three years. Our correctional institutions must stop graduating criminals.

If we are to rehabilitate, as well as penalize prisoners, then we must provide the proper facilities. Let me emphasize that I am not talking about coddling prisoners; rather, I am talking about helping people, improving them and their role in society. Therefore, substantial increases are urged to provide not only modern prison facilities, but also diagnostic evaluation, testing and research programs.

Funds are recommended to provide for enough additional probation officers to reduce the case load per officer from the present 115 to 100 by the 1972-73 fiscal year. Closer supervision of probationers will greatly aid our efforts toward their rehabilitation.

This budget also calls for additional personnel to provide better counseling and supervision of juvenile offenders. It also calls for capital improvements in our correctional training schools. Young people in the juvenile correctional system must have every chance to succeed. We must divert them from a path leading to a life of crime.

There are provisions throughout the budget calling for increased protection of our physical environment. In addition to money, adequate laws and better enforcement of those laws are needed to ensure a clean, healthy and safe environment. I will have more to say on the environment in a later address.

This budget proposes capital improvements amounting to almost $150 million. The general fund capital improvement budget of $116 million is the largest in the history of our State. These improvements include the construction of new buildings, such as a new office building in Raleigh, which would enable us to reduce the $680,000 we spend each year on rented space. In addition, it would be possible to make necessary renovations and repairs to existing facilities and to purchase land the State needs.

DEFICIT STATES

A month ago, the Council of State Governments conducted a survey to determine the fiscal situation of the fifty states. Of the forty-four states responding, eight projected general fund deficits for the 1970-71 fiscal year. As serious as this might be, it is even more alarming that eighteen states projected deficits in the next budget with present taxes and continuation of existing programs. Eleven of these states anticipate deficits which are termed "substantial". Obviously, these states must either increase taxes, or borrow heavily, or reduce their current levels of spending.

Contrast the plight of these eighteen states with North Carolina's healthy economic condition. Because of the strength of our economy, and the soundness of our tax structure, and our conservative policies stressing fiscal integrity, I am able, without asking for additional taxes, to recommend General Fund appropriations of more than $325 million for "B" and "C" budget items, the largest recommendation ever presented to a North Carolina General Assembly upon its convening.

I am pleased that I am able to recommend these important improvements with so few new state employees. Less than 1,700 new positions are recommended. That's only about a one per cent increase. This compares with the more than 5,000 additional employees in each of the bienniums since 1963-65.

This budget I recommend to you provides for a moderate expansion of many of the programs and services that I requested and which you or your predecessor approved two years ago.

Without the supplement you provided to the budget at that time, North Carolina would not have a kindergarten program.

Nor would we have a program of occupational exploration in the middle grades.

Nor would we have been able to have expanded assistance and services at the regional mental health centers.

Nor would we have a Department of Local Affairs.

Nor would it have been possible to have provided additional tax relief to single persons who head their own households.

These programs, services and benefits were made possible by increasing the tax levies on some items and by imposing tax levies for the first time on two items, soft drinks and tobacco products.

MODEST TAXES

These changes in our tax structure resulted in an increase in revenue of about $100 million annually, or less than $20 a year from each North Carolinian. That is, in my opinion, a very modest sum to pay for the new, much needed programs and services that the people of our State had not been receiving.

Statistics show our citizens are paying less taxes to operate their State and local governments than the citizens of forty-five other states.

If we had the funds, we would like to accomplish more in services and in salaries for our state employees. We want our teachers to receive the national average salary. It's a worthy goal. Today they average 11.8 per cent below the national average.

Teachers are professional people. They want to be recognized, and they would like their pay checks larger. So would other state employees.

An attorney for the State receives 18.2 per cent less than the national average. A public health lab technician receives 10.7 per cent less than the national average, and a laborer 35 per cent below the national average.

A stenographer for the State receives 12.2 per cent less than the national average. Of course, there are other examples.
The per capita income in North Carolina is below the national average. Thus our ability to pay to support higher salaries and the most comprehensive programs is less than the national average.

There are many unmet needs not included in this budget. I call some, but not all, of the critical ones to your attention.

- The need to increase State matching funds to support the school lunch program.
- The need to continue the program of assisting North Carolina students enrolled in Duke and Bowman Gray medical schools.
- The need to expand benefits for teachers and State employees by purchasing group hospital, medical, and major medical insurance.
- The need to provide State matching funds to receive federal aid under the Omnibus Crime Control Act.
- The need to upgrade our State parks system and the acquisition of Smith Island.
- The need for more staff to care for patients in mental institutions.
- The need to expand our manpower training programs.
- The need to further strengthen many phases of our educational programs.

If additional funds become available, I hope that you will provide for these and other pressing, unmet needs as you consider the finances and appropriations for the coming biennium.

To sum up, this budget, in keeping with our State Constitution and with our tradition, is conservative. It is a balanced budget.

In keeping with the progressive spirit of our State, this budget reflects the needs and aspirations of our people, as well as the ordering of our priorities.

I close by quoting the guardian of our Triple-A credit rating, the distinguished Treasurer of our State, the Honorable Edwin Gill.

"If a hundred years from now, people look back and read the purposes of our Budget, they will know the nature of our people. They will know that we were concerned about the welfare of the handicapped and the disadvantaged. In fact, as they read of our hospitals, of our mental institutions, as they read of our program for the lame, the halt, and the blind, they will think of the spirit of the Good Samaritan! They will know of our devotion to justice and compassion in the treatment of those who have violated our laws. They will take note of our concern for the preservation of our history as expressed in the public archives, as well as our aid to outdoor dramas which sing of the story of our people. They will learn of our aid to art, music and the drama, and of our provision for the production on the stage of excerpts from Shakespeare and Carl Sandburg in the public schools. While these matters are, comparably speaking minor in cost, they are significant as grace notes to our educational theme. Yes, those who read of our Budget in future years will believe that we wished to do the best for our people within our ability to pay, and sought to dedicate the substantial burden of government to the humane needs of all North Carolinians.”

The President recognizes Senator McLendon for a statement regarding the recently published report of the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures.

Upon motion of Senator Currie, the statement made by Senator McLendon is ordered spread upon the Journal as follows:

"Mr. President, and my fellow Senators, on Tuesday of this week the Winston-Salem Journal carried a report of the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures. This Conference attempted to evaluate the performance of all of the State Legislatures. The factors supposedly considered were whether the Legislatures were 'functionable, accountable, independent, informed, and representative.' The General Assembly of North Carolina was ranked 47th on the list — that is almost at the bottom. California was rated the best, New York next, followed by Illinois and Florida.

"The General Assembly of North Carolina received a high grade only for its regulation of lobbyists. The article went on to say that salary was considered the clearest indicator of how high the legislative function is rated.

"Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, I make the observation that contrasted to most of the states rated high in their legislative processes — California and New York, for example — North Carolina shows a great record of achievement in the following respects, to mention a few:

(1) a succession of honest, effective Governors for more than seventy years;

(2) a succession of General Assemblies which have served without scandal or blemish for more years than any of us can remember;

(3) a state road system second to none in the nation;

(4) an emphasis upon education duplicated by few, if any, other states;

(5) a record of fiscal responsibility that places North Carolina in the forefront in its financial reputation. In short, Mr. President, and gentlemen of the Senate, perhaps the Citizens Conference on State Legislatures would be well advised to reconsider its criteria and adopt as a standard the end result all of us are looking for — sound, honest government. On that score North Carolina is number one."

FIFTY-FIRST DAY

SENATE CHAMBER,
Friday, March 12, 1971.

The Senate meets pursuant to adjournment, and in the absence of Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr. is presided over by President Pro Tempore Frank N. Patterson, Jr.

Prayer is offered by the Reverend W. R. Smith, Pastor of Milner Memorial Presbyterian Church, Raleigh.

Senator McGeachy for the Committee on Rules and Operation of the Senate announces that the Journal of yesterday has been examined and is found to be correct, and upon his motion the reading of the Journal is dispensed with and it stands approved as written.

The President grants leave of absence to Senators Staton, Baugh, Jones and Murrow for today.

The President recognizes Senator Bailey to deliver a statement from the well of the Senate on the occasion of Wake County's 200th Anniversary. Upon motion of Senator Currie, Senator Bailey's remarks are ordered spread upon the Journal as follows:

"Today is a day of special significance to Wake County. It was two hundred years ago today — on March 12, 1771 — that Wake County was established by the colonial legislature and the Royal Governor. It was named for Margaret Wake, Governor Tryon's wife and it is one of the two counties in North Carolina that are named for women.

"What is now Wake County was originally part of Craven County and later was part of Johnston, Cumberland and Orange Counties. After it was established, the courthouse was located at Bloomsbury, which was also known as Wake Court House and which was near the home of Colonel Joel Lane about where Boylan Avenue and West Morgan Street now intersect.

"During its early years, North Carolina did not have a capital and the seat of the government was usually in the community where the Governor lived. The General Assembly met at various places — in Bloomsbury, among others. It was not until the 1788 Hillsborough Convention that a decision was made to locate the 'permanent capital' of the State within ten miles of Mr. Isaac Hunter's in Wake County. Four years later, in 1792, a commission was appointed to select a site for the capital. Several locations were considered, including Colonel John Hinton's land in the vicinity of what is now Knightdale, but in April, 1792, the State bought 1,000 acres of Joel Lane's plantation at a cost of about $2.75 per acre.

"Lots in the new town of Raleigh were laid out and were surveyed by William Christmas and they were sold to finance construction of a state house. The General Assembly met in the new capitol for the first time in 1794, and since that date Raleigh has been the seat of our government. Although there was some thought given to moving the capital after the state house burned in 1831, Wake County has remained our capital county for nearly one hundred eighty years.

"We who live here are proud of Wake County and of its history spanning two centuries. We are proud of its twelve cities and towns. But the source of our greatest pride is that we are the capital county of North Carolina.

"As a member of the Wake County delegation, I want to call your attention to its Two-Hundredth Anniversary today. As we begin our third century, we invite you to join us in commemorating our bicentennial year throughout 1971."

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

The President recognizes Senator Knox who presents His Excellency, Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly:

During the past year we have witnessed a ground swell of public concern for the environment.

This concern stems from a realization that population growth, economic development, and technological changes often work to the detriment of our physical environment.

This is not to suggest that a high standard of living is not compatible with a good environment. The quality of life is dependent on many things other than physical environment.

Our task is that of blending the enhancement of our physical environment with the enhancement of our economic and social well-being.

In my message to you on January 14, I expressed my concern that North Carolina should anticipate and head off the major environmental problems which are confronting many other states. I also indicated that I would return to you with specific legislative proposals.

All told, I am offering twenty-four recommendations for your consideration. A number of these are incorporated into five major bills. The others are contained in various proposals already before you or soon to come before you. Some proposals are far-reaching. Others are controversial.

But all are offered in good faith and with the hope that, when you consider them, you will keep in mind our responsibility to this generation and to those unborn.

ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY ACT

One of the most important and far-reaching proposals which I recommend is an Environmental Policy Act. This act establishes for the first time an environmental policy for North Carolina.

This measure will require that all state agencies give consideration to the environmental values, aspects and consequences of their decisions. This means that any action by a state agency, whether it is a proposal for legislation, project, or program, if it significantly affects the environment of this state, must be preceded by a detailed statement which will outline the impact of such action on the environment.

These impact statements, which will be made available to the public, are to be made in consultation with other agencies having jurisdiction or special expertise with respect to any environmental impact involved.

Therefore, no state agency can undertake any action which might have an adverse affect on our environment without making their actions widely known and subject to review.

I recommend that you give favorable consideration to this landmark proposal which will cover those programs and activities carried out with state funds.

CONTROL OF WATER AND AIR POLLUTION

One of the most valuable assets North Carolina has is a relatively abundant supply of water.

In order to protect this asset, I propose several matters for your consideration. One provision requires that everyone who is currently subject to our water and air laws report on a periodic basis the amount, components, and strength of the wastes and air contaminants which they discharge into our waters and atmosphere.

This will greatly assist the State in monitoring where and in what amounts waste materials are being discharged. This information will aid in setting priorities for programs to deal with special problems.

A second provision of this bill speaks to the problem of the proper management and disposal of animal wastes. It authorizes the Board of Water and Air Resources to adopt, after public hearings, rules and regulations governing the operation of animal and poultry production units with respect to the collection, treatment and disposal of wastes; the control of noxious odors; and the suppression of insects and pests.

Other problems which come under this bill are those of waste discharges into waterways from boats, the need for planning our sewage systems on a regional basis, the need to designate floodways throughout the state and to regulate development within these flood plains, and the establishment of septic tank regulations to reduce the health hazards of defective septic systems.

I also propose the creation of a state system of natural and scenic rivers. Initially, I suggest that portions of six North Carolina rivers be designated a part of this system. These streams will be maintained in a natural, free-flowing state, protected from dams and shoreline development.

It seems to me that we should be prepared to maintain, for future generations, portions of a few of our beautiful rivers in their natural state.

The provisions of this bill will go a long way in assuring that the quality of our water resources will be preserved.
BEACH, COASTAL AND ESTUARINE PROTECTION

Only three states have more estuarine waters than North Carolina. These waters, where fresh and salt water mix and mingle, provide thousands of acres of pleasurable boating, fishing, and swimming. Our estuaries also support a flourishing commercial and sports fishing industry.

Since these estuaries are the spawning grounds for many species of fish and shellfish, anything that upsets the fragile ecological balance of these waters would be felt, not only in North Carolina, but north to New England and south to Florida.

Probably the greatest threat to these areas is indiscriminate and unwise development. This development involves dredging and filling our marshlands and tidelands. The 1969 General Assembly enacted a statute requiring a permit from the State before any excavation or filling project is undertaken.

The bill I am proposing will strengthen that law by requiring any permit application to be reviewed by all state agencies and any appropriate federal agency having jurisdiction over the subject matter affected by the project. Any agency that objects to the dredge and fill project may call for a hearing before a review board, whose decision may be appealed in the courts.

I feel that this review procedure, which requires that any project meet the standards of environmental protection to the satisfaction of all state agencies concerned, not just the licensing agency, will provide the necessary protection of our delicate estuarine waters.

In order to further strengthen the dredge and fill law, I am asking that you give the Department of Conservation and Development the authority to establish regulations relating to the alteration or pollution of our coastal wetlands.

To supplement this effort an estuarine study, authorized by the last General Assembly, is now underway. This study will guide our future planning and coastal zone management legislation.

With this three-pronged attack — current protection; further study, and future planning — I feel we are well on the way to safe-guarding our unique estuarine areas.

Adjacent to North Carolina's estuarine waters are miles of beautiful beaches, many of them relatively undeveloped. In addition to safeguarding them from off-shore oil spills, we must protect these beaches from the eroding effects of the relentless winds and waves and from the destructive forces of hurricanes.

With this in mind, I request that you give the municipal and county governing boards in coastal counties the authority to levy taxes for the establishment and maintenance of erosion control and hurricane protection projects. This authority will eliminate an existing limitation on their taxing prerogative and will open the door for more positive and aggressive action by county and municipal officials toward the solution of beach erosion problems.

To help local governments finance these erosion control projects, I ask you to authorize the creation of a State revolving fund to be administered by the Board of Water and Air Resources. The Board could make advances to counties and municipalities to cover the cost of that portion of the erosion control projects not paid for by federal funds. The fund would be reimbursed from local revenues.

In those coastal counties which have made no provision for sand dune protection, my proposal authorizes the State Board of Water and Air Resources to assume the responsibility of adopting regulations, establishing a shore protection line, designate a shoreline protection officer, and take any other actions necessary for the protection of North Carolina’s sand dunes.

These sand dunes are a vital part of the natural protective barrier along our coast and they must be protected from careless destruction.

WRIGHTSVILLE MARINE BIO-MEDICAL LABORATORY

The opportunity has arisen for the University of North Carolina to expand its program in marine research.

The Board of Directors of the Wrightsville Marine Bio-Medical Laboratory has offered to donate that facility, including land, buildings and equipment, to the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

This private laboratory, operated jointly by Babies Hospital Research Center, Inc., UNC, Duke and Wake Forest Universities, is an important center for research and graduate education. It has made landmark contributions in deep water research.

I recommend that the State accept the offer of the laboratory as evidence of our continuing support for its endeavors. Legislation to this effect will be submitted to you.

ROOSEVELT FAMILY GIFT

The late President Theodore Roosevelt once said: “To waste, to destroy our natural resources, to skin and exhaust the land . . . will result in undermining in the days of our children the very prosperity which we ought by right to hand down to them amplified and developed.”

I am pleased to announce that the Roosevelt family, which owns coastal property in Carteret County, has agreed to donate approximately 290 acres of high land, marsh lands and estuarine areas to the State of North Carolina. This valuable property, located on Bogue Banks, will be used for marine studies and for an educational scientific complex known as a “Sea-Lab.”

Theodore Roosevelt III, one of the owners of this property and a grandson of the “Conservation” President, will make the gift at 2:00 p.m. today at the Capitol.
I turn now to the broad areas of natural resources conservation. The spectre of a major oil spill off our coastline or in our harbor waters is not a pleasant thought. We have all seen the vivid pictures in magazines and on television showing oil-covered ducks. These pictures cause us concern for the thousands of ducks and geese that winter in the wildlife preserves of our state.

I propose strong measures to attack this problem. My recommendation requires the oil shipper, in the event of oil spillage, to pay all costs of cleanup, including the cost of shoreline damage, as well as damage to wildlife. There would also be a substantial penalty in addition to the cleanup costs.

The immediate cleanup costs are to be paid from the State's Contingency and Emergency Fund, and the fund would be reimbursed later. This procedure will expedite the correction of any oil spillage problem.

The heavy fine imposed for oil spillage should prompt oil handlers to take precautionary steps to prevent and contain the smaller, more common, oil spills at port terminal oil handling facilities.

This bill further requires any new oil handling facility to obtain a permit from the Board of Water and Air Resources and to comply with conditions specified in the permit. Existing facilities would have to obtain a permit to continue their operation within one year after the effective date. This permit requirement will apply to all processing, storage and refining operations.

With these provisions for immediate action, preventive measures, and penalties, North Carolina will have one of the most meaningful and effective oil pollution control laws in the nation.

In an earlier speech I indicated my concern about what I feel are serious inadequacies in our existing Oil and Gas Conservation Law. The way this law is now written, a great deal of environmental damage could occur during drilling and exploration. The present law does not become effective until "commercial quantities" have been discovered.

Therefore, I recommend amending the present law to make it effective July 1, 1971, whether "commercial quantities" are discovered or not. I also recommend you rewrite a portion of the law to guard against any environmental damage in the event a major reserve of oil or gas is discovered.

Another recommendation designed to protect and enhance the natural resources and beauty of our state will authorize our Utilities Commission to prescribe, administer, and enforce protective standards and controls over the effects of public utilities operations on the environment. The major problems we are concerned with are those associated with power installation sites and overhead transmission lines.

One of the major pollution problems in America today is the excessive quantities of soil that are being eroded from our landscape.
Erosion and sedimentation are causing extensive and costly damage to many of our streams and lakes.

It is time for us to seek a solution to this type of pollution problem.

I recommend that you authorize the Board of Water and Air Resources to work with all appropriate State agencies and consult with private industry to formulate recommendations for submission to the 1973 General Assembly, such recommendations to conserve our soil and water resources without impeding essential economic development.

COMMUNITY APPEARANCE

All of us realize that purely physical considerations do not assure a pleasing environment. The visual beauty of North Carolina is one of our most treasured possessions. We must assure that man-made ugliness does not gradually destroy our State's natural beauty.

We have laws in force making it illegal to litter. Last year the Highway Patrol made over 1,200 arrests for violation of our anti-litter laws. You have just enacted legislation that increases the fine for littering from $50 to $200.

In order to further protect our scenic beauty, I propose that littering be declared illegal on all State lands. I also propose that our motor vehicle laws be amended to allow individuals or government agencies greater leeway in removing abandoned and junked automobiles and that strict safety laws be enacted and enforced at sites where automobiles are being dismantled.

To deal with the leadership problem in this area of visual pollution, I recommend authority to establish municipal appearance commissions. Such commissions would make it easier to coordinate public and private activities directed toward the goal of improving the appearance of our towns and cities.

Thus far, I have discussed the specific features of the five major bills which I recommend to you. Each measure will help us move toward a better environment for our State.

These legislative proposals do not by any means fulfill our total needs. There are other proposals which you will be considering. Many have or will come to you from special study commissions. I would like to comment on some of these and lend my support to them as you deliberate their relative merits.

MINING

North Carolina is not generally regarded as a "mining state."

However, new mines are being opened in North Carolina at the rate of 700-800 acres per year. If these mined-over lands are not reclaimed, the area of unsightly land will grow each year.
A major purpose of the proposed mining law is to require that mined-over lands be reclaimed by some reasonable procedure. I urge the enactment of these new mining laws.

PEST CONTROL COMPACT

The control of pests poses a serious problem to North Carolina agricultural interests. Even with all the major efforts at pest control, they still do some seven billion dollars damage to the nation’s agricultural and forest crops each year.

This problem cannot be contained within the boundaries of a single state. You will soon have a bill before you to permit North Carolina to join with other states in a nationwide pest control compact. This compact will enable us to see that potential problem areas in other states are handled in a manner which will not endanger the agriculture of our state. I urge you to support this legislation.

INTERSTATE ENVIRONMENT COMPACT

I will soon recommend legislation which will make North Carolina a member of the proposed 17-state Southern Regional Environmental Compact. This compact will let us cooperate with our neighbor states in solving regional problems which are of mutual concern.

Since many environmental problems do cross state lines, I feel that we must coordinate our efforts with those of our sister states in order to achieve a realistic solution to these problems. I urge you to give this bill your approval.

PESTICIDE LAW

The General Assembly in 1969 directed the Legislative Research Commission to study the need for legislation concerning agricultural and other pesticides and to report its findings and recommendations to you. Significant recommendations have been made for state controls affecting pesticides. Emphasis has been placed on regulation of pesticide dealers and applicators. It is also recommended that authority be given to a new Pesticide Board to better control the use of pesticides and to regulate disposal of unused pesticides and contaminated containers.

The Pesticide Board would not be a new state agency. It would be a policy-making body that would rely on the Commissioner of Agriculture for administration and enforcement of the regulations.

I feel this is a very important step toward the protection of our urban and rural environment.

REGIONAL WATER SYSTEMS

The Legislative Research Commission has completed a report on local and regional water supplies. It found two major problems — too many small and ineffective systems, and too few large and efficient regional systems.
Over 80 per cent of the public water systems in North Carolina are serving less than 1,000 customers per system.

The shortcomings of these small systems include inadequate sources of supply, lack of treatment, inadequate operation, small pipe lines that are not compatible with neighboring systems, and underlying all these problems — an inadequate financial base.

The Legislative Research Commission has developed several proposals for your consideration which would encourage the planning and development of regional water supply systems large enough to justify the cost of adequate facilities.

I ask that you give these proposals your strong support.

LAND USE PLANNING AND POLICY

All of us are beginning to realize that the need for a clear policy on land use planning undergirds many of our environmental problems. North Carolina enjoys a unique balance between rural and urban development. However, we must take positive steps to assure that we do not drift further into the problems of urban congestion experienced by many states.

I recommend a comprehensive study of land use patterns to see where we are headed and to suggest any changes in direction that may be needed.

This study would be done under the direction of my recommended North Carolina Council on State Goals and Policy. I will ask, within the month, that this Council be given legislative authority to conduct an across the board evaluation of state goals and policies needed in this area.

REORGANIZATION OF BOARD OF WATER AND AIR RESOURCES

Under the present statute, the Board of Water and Air Resources includes representatives of the entities it is supposed to regulate. This places the Board in the untenable position, at times, of sitting in judgment on the interests of its own members.

The statute governing appointments to the Board should be revised to bar possible conflicts of interest.

I feel that no person should be appointed to the Board of Water and Air Resources who is an officer, employee, or representative of any industry, county, city, or other political entity, or any other body subject to the regulations of the Board.

A bill to accomplish this reorganization will be presented to you in the near future and I urge your approval.

SMITH ISLAND

Now, I would like to discuss a problem that has been at the forefront of attention almost from the day I became Governor. That is the question of what should be done with Smith Island, sometimes referred to as Baldhead Island.
You will recall that from the very first, I stated my conviction that the State should acquire this valuable natural resource. I still hold that conviction.

Thirty-four years ago in March, 1937, the General Assembly approved and passed "a bill to empower the Department of Conservation and Development to acquire Smith’s Island at the mouth of Cape Fear River". Unfortunately, no money was appropriated for this purchase.

It was just over a year ago, on April 2, 1970, that the Carolina-Cape Fear Corporation announced its plans for a $228 million resort on the island. At that time, I reiterated my position that the island should not be developed commercially and that the State should acquire ownership.

I moved immediately to get an agreement from the Nature Conservancy that it purchase the entire Smith Island complex and hold it in trust for the State of North Carolina.

However, the owners have not indicated a willingness to sell to the State at what many consider a reasonable price. There is also some question as to the total acreage involved. The owners have proceeded with plans for a high density resort type development that would completely change the character of the island and which would do extensive damage to the estuaries and marsh areas surrounding the island.

My proposal to you today is that the State initiate condemnation proceedings to bring Smith Island into state ownership.

These proceedings will involve an appropriation of funds to be placed in escrow at the time condemnation proceedings are started. I ask that you appropriate these funds so that we can protect this unique asset.

This action will require a series of appraisals to determine the amount of money that must be placed in escrow. Therefore, I am instructing the Department of Administration to initiate procedures that will provide all information and facts necessary to support these condemnation proceedings.

The whole issue of whether Smith Island should be developed or preserved has become the focal point of a larger question: Just how serious are we about our environment?

The time has come for all of us to make a commitment that will let everyone know that North Carolina is serious about its environment. I ask your support in this effort to bring Smith Island into public ownership.

Today I have brought you up-to-date on the efforts of my administration toward the solution of our environmental problems. I have spent most of my time in explaining the details of five major environmental bills that will be presented to you.

My recommendations are designed to attack specific problems which I feel are urgently in need of remedy. They will set out a definite environmental policy for North Carolina, deal with major problems relating to water and air pollution, provide a framework for protecting our coastal areas, establish a program for natural resource protection, improve the visual appearance of our State, and in general enhance the quality of life for our people.
These efforts do not, by any means, close the book on our battle against pollution and environmental damage. Just as these are not our first efforts, neither shall they be our last.

I will continue to search for ways to solve the multitude of environmental problems yet untouched.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the General Assembly:

Each day brings new evidence that the quality of life on the planet on which we live and have our being faces serious problems of deterioration. Pollution of the air we breathe and the water we drink is approaching the crisis stage in some areas of the world. Congestion, noise and an ugly, befouled land are an offense to our senses and a danger to our health and well-being.

Let us resolve, here and now, that North Carolinians are determined to protect our little corner of the world.

Phillip Amadas and Arthur Barlowe almost 400 years ago described our State as "the goodliest land under the cope of heaven." We embark today on a course that will enable the same description to be applied to us tomorrow and in the countless tomorrows to come.

Upon motion of Senator Patterson, the Joint Session is dissolved and the Senate returns to its Chamber.

The Senate resumes consideration of its regular business.

The President grants leave of absence to Senator Kirby for today, and to Senator Staton for tomorrow, April 9, 1971.

SPECIAL MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The following message is received from the House of Representatives:

S. J. R. 505

H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

Mr. President:

It is ordered that a message be sent your Honorable Body with the information that pursuant to S. J. R. 505, "a joint resolution inviting His Excellency, the Governor, to address a Joint Session of the Senate and House of Representatives at 12:30 P.M., May 4, 1971", the House of Representatives stands ready to receive the Senate in Joint Session at the hour appointed.

Jo Ann Smith
Principal Clerk

Upon motion of Senator Patterson, the Senate recesses to meet in Joint Session in the House of Representatives for the purpose of receiving a message from the Governor, and upon his motion upon dissolution of the Joint Session, the Senate will return to its chamber to resume business.

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.
The President recognizes Representative Barbee who presents his Excellency, Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly.

I am privileged to present to you my recommendations for reorganization of the Executive Branch of our State government.

I do so in compliance with the will of the electorate of North Carolina as expressed in the referendum of last November 3.

I do so with the knowledge that the North Carolina General Assembly through the years has consistently responded with wisdom and statesmanship in meeting contemporary problems.

I do so with the realization that there is no ironclad organizational structure that is indisputably the best way to conduct our State government. I think you will find, however, that the plan being offered is well-conceived, sound, workable, will promote efficiency and is deserving of adoption.

Finally, in offering it to you, I do so with the conviction that the time to act is now.

The need for modernization of government is being felt throughout the nation. During the last six years, twenty-five states have partially or completely reorganized their governmental structures. Five states are actively involved in this field this year.

As you are aware, the restructuring of our governmental apparatus is not a question of "if" but a question of "how". Last November the voters approved an amendment to the State Constitution requiring you—the General Assembly—to reduce the number of State administrative departments to not more than twenty-five by 1975. This same amendment authorized the Governor to implement the reorganization subject to your approval.

Reorganization is a mandate as clear, if not as concise, as the Lord's commandment in Second Kings: "Set thine house in order."

The house of our State government began, understandably, on a modest foundation. Like Topsy, it just grew. Little or no thought was given to grouping the various parts along functional lines. The house became bulky and misshapen.

It has produced overlapping, waste motion and inefficiency.

The Governor, constitutionally, is the State's chief executive officer, but he lacks control over areas for which he is held responsible. The Governor's ability to carry out programs and policies enacted by you, the General Assembly, is seriously impaired.

Most important of all, the ability of our State government to meet the needs of the people is diminished by a fragmented mechanism. Providing for the requirements of the citizenry is government's reason for being. The citizens have told us in no uncertain terms that they want and expect improvement, not only in governmental structure but in operations and services.
They shall have it. The course has been charted by the Governor's Commission on State Government Reorganization after many months of research and planning.

The Commission has operated under the able and dedicated leadership of Senator John Henley of Cumberland. I commend him as well as the commission membership, which includes Speaker of the House Phil Godwin, Senators Fred Folger, Jr., Herman Moore and Thomas E. Strickland; and Representatives Ike Andrews, Jim Holshouser, Roberts Jernigan, Dwight Quinn, Bill Roberson, Gene Snyder and Gus Speros.

On the basis of this study, I propose that the Executive Branch of the government of North Carolina be organized into eighteen principal departments.

For purposes of explanation and discussion, this structure may be divided into two groups.

The first group contains eleven departments, which already are established by statute. These are the Departments of Administration, Revenue and Local Affairs and the eight Council of State Departments—the Secretary of State, Auditor, Agriculture, Insurance, Labor, Treasurer, Justice and Public Instruction.

Although the plan would leave this first group of eleven established departments essentially intact, a number of transfers or regroupings of functions would be made within their structures. It is proposed that these eleven departments go into operation in their reorganized form no later than September 30 of this year.

The second group contains seven new departments which have been formed by various mergers and consolidations along functional lines. These seven are:

The Department of Commerce
The Department of Military and Veterans' Affairs
The Department of Health and Social Services
The Department of Art, Culture and History
The Department of Transportation and Highway Safety
The Department of Social Rehabilitation and Control
And the Department of Natural and Economic Resources.

I propose that these seven new departments be activated, by Executive Order of the Governor, no later than July 1, 1972.

In addition to the various regroupings, the reorganization plan calls for the termination of a group of agencies or commissions. These have long since performed the purposes for which they were established and no longer have a role to play in State government.

Bear in mind, if you will, that the plan you are receiving today establishes only the first section of a broad framework to be completed by 1975.

Further legislation will be needed in 1973 to correct or clarify any problems spotted during the next two years. And further, final, legislative action may be needed in 1975 to perfect and polish the plan.
My recommendations to you today will be spelled out in detail in legislation to be known as the Executive Organization Act of 1971. Ladies and gentlemen, you have before you a copy of that Act as well as a summary of its recommendations. Time will not permit me to comment in detail, but I should like to speak to a few of the particulars.

The position of the present Department of Conservation and Development in the revised structure of government has been widely discussed and debated. One school of thought holds that "development" and "conservation" are entirely at cross purposes and cannot be conducted within the same framework. This view has given rise to proposals to split C & D into two departments.

There is something to be said for this view, but there is another side of the coin. Our economic development program as now constituted is widely respected as one of the best, if not the very best, in the nation. Its contributions to the well-being of North Carolinians are beyond calculation. It should be allowed to continue to go forward within a framework of proven value.

At the same time, our development efforts can be, and are, compatible with our conservation efforts. The two are complementary, serving as supportive agencies one for the other. Industrial development can, and is, proceeding with a healthy concern for avoiding damage to the natural environment.

These considerations led to my recommendation for creation of a Department of Natural and Economic Resources. This department will include the present functions of C & D, the Department of Water and Air Resources and the Wildlife Commission. This will provide a logical grouping of agencies concerned with the betterment of our total environment.

You may be assured that the thrust of our environmental protection program, one of the most vital responsibilities of government and mankind, will continue and accelerate. Let no one have any doubt on that score.

I recommend further that the Personnel Department be made a division of the Department of Administration. This will permit the major management functions of State government—personnel, budgeting, planning, purchasing and property control—to be placed under one roof. I recommend also that the Department of Administration pick up the following agencies, now autonomous as new divisions: The North Carolina Housing Corporation, the North Carolina Stadium Authority, the North Carolina Zoological Authority, the State Youth Council, the State Construction Finance Authority, and the Commission on Interstate Cooperation.

I further recommend that the position of Lieutenant Governor be placed on a full-time basis, with appropriate salary adjustment, so that his talents may be utilized to the maximum in meeting the demands of State government. I propose that this upgrading of office become effective January 1, 1973.

Having outlined for you the main features of the reorganization act, let me say that its adoption will begin the process of making State government as responsive to the public need as it should be. This plan will lead us out of a maze of dead-ends, confused lines of authority and diffused responsibility.

I well imagine the plan will spawn controversy on certain of its features. Of necessity, it displaces and rearranges some parts in order to fashion a better entity. You can't make an omelet without breaking eggs.

I'm sure you understand that what I am asking of you today is not for me. In fact, implementation of the plan will be another complex and time-consuming task for my administration. It would be easy for me to say: "Oh, well, I'll be through in twenty more months, so let the next Governor worry about it." But I am worried about the next Governor. And the next, and those who follow. I am worried about the impossible restrictions and roadblocks placed upon them by the continued proliferation of agencies. And I am concerned that we meet the expressed wish of the people for prompt installation of these governmental reforms.

One of the great strengths of our governmental system is the separation of powers between the Executive and Legislative branches. The Constitution clearly provides that the General Assembly is to enact the laws and raise and appropriate the revenue. The Constitution also clearly provides that the responsibility of the executive affairs of State rests with the Governor.

By enactment of rigid and unwieldy mechanisms of government, the legislative branch has over the years unknowingly delved into the Executive domain. The Legislature not only makes policy, as it should, but all too often it defines in detail the execution of policy. This permits little or no executive flexibility—a situation bearing directly on the matter before us.

Despite this unintentional drift, there is general agreement that the framers of our Constitution displayed great wisdom in providing for separation of Legislative and Executive powers. Let us reaffirm our faith in their judgment.

I am confident that affirmative action on these recommendations will produce economies, assure efficiencies and halt the further proliferation of government.

Consider for a moment how we came to this point.

When my father left the Governorship in January, 1953, there were only 173 State agencies, boards and commissions. Since then, another 122 have been added, each with its own distinct responsibilities and all reporting, in theory at least, to one chief executive.

I say with all candor that today the ability of any Governor of North Carolina to effectively manage our government is impaired. In seeking to carry out the programs and policies enacted by the General Assembly, and in seeking to meet the public needs, he is hobbled by an unwieldy mechanism.

The efforts of this haphazard structure are felt, of course, at all levels. I'm sure that you—the elected representatives of the people—have your moments of frustration and concern when your sincerest efforts are thwarted by a structure that is unresponsive, uncoordinated and a mystery to the average citizen. There is fragmentation both in program and personnel areas, as I'm sure you've found.

But it is the Governor, as chief executive officer and as director of the budget, who really finds himself shod with two left shoes. He does not have control over areas for which he is held accountable.

The heads of the various departments and agencies, theoretically answerable to the Governor, are so scattered and free-wheeling that there is really little contact with the Governor. Some of these heads, I might add, may prefer it that way.

Under our present system, when a department head is appointed for a definite term of, say, four years, according to the statutes creating the position, he is no longer under obligation to the Governor except as his conscience may dictate. Although the appointee actually runs his agency, the Governor is responsible to the people for how it is run and the effectiveness of the man he appointed. If the Governor later finds that his appointee is not doing as well as he should and would like to appoint someone better—or for whatever reason—he cannot do so. The appointee knows this, and often he becomes unresponsive, indifferent and careless. Indeed, he may choose not to carry out Administration policy, and there is little the Chief Executive can do about it. But management responsibility and the public good require something better. The nuts and bolts of the machinery need to be tightened. The Chief Executive must keep the cogs moving—or find out the reason why.

The Governor's chair is truly "where the buck stops". When the General Assembly funds programs for the benefit of the public, both the Assembly and the public expect to get the best use of their money, the wisest management of their government.

Through a consolidation of departments, agencies and boards performing the same or similar functions, we will be in a position to demand that the units of governmental management get in step with one another. We will be in a position to see that they terminate costly duplication of efforts and services. We will establish accountability. Perhaps more importantly, we will establish credibility.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly: I ask your favorable consideration of this forward-looking plan. Few would expect us to leave a perfect legacy, for that is beyond our capabilities. But to do our best today, to prepare as best we can for the dawning future, this is to fulfill our purpose as public servants.

Upon motion of Senator Patterson, the Joint Session is dissolved and the Senate returns to its chamber.

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

The President recognizes Senator Kirby who presents His Excellency, Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following address:
Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the General Assembly:

I am grateful for the opportunity you have given me to come before you once again, because I do have something of importance to say to you.

Compelling circumstances in the field of higher education today lead me to invite your attention to one of the most important segments of life in our State. This trip, ladies and gentlemen, is necessary.

I realize full well that the members of this General Assembly have their hands full — but what public servant worth his salt does not?

Service to the public demands adaptability.

It demands flexibility.

It demands stickability. Pressing problems are met whenever and wherever they arise. We keep on keeping on. Like the farmer, we pray for a crop but we keep hoeing.

I will be as brief as possible in my message to you. This much I can assure you: If I could be as brief as I am sincere, then my remarks would be brief indeed.

Simply stated, my message is this: For some time we have been traveling a dangerously erratic course in public higher education in North Carolina. We are proceeding with all sail and no rudder. Wasteful and damaging forces are chipping away at the structure of our system. Disaster will follow unless it is righted, reinforced and redirected. We needed to do this long ago. We must do it now. Tomorrow will be too late.

Most of the damage is occurring from within — the wrangling, the rivalry, the empire building, the costly overlapping and duplication, the gilding-of-the-lily, the arrogant distrust and suspicion, the holier-than-thou, looking-down-the-nose attitude, the devil-take-the-hindmost, “I'm getting mine, how are you doing?” philosophy prevails. These internal disorders will grow progressively worse if left unchecked. Strong measures are called for. You can’t cure cancer with a band-aid.

Our system of State-supported higher education can be shielded from external assaults, but nothing can save it when it chooses to lay rough hands upon itself. It needs to be restructured in such a way that this will not occur.

This we must do. This we can do — the way has been opened for us today by the report of the Governor’s Study Committee on Structure and Organization of Higher Education.

Chaired by former Senator Lindsay Warren, Jr., of Wayne, one of North Carolina’s most solid and able citizens, the committee made a searching examination of our system of higher education. It has fulfilled in every sense the trust I placed in it when I requested the study six months ago. Members of the committee deserve the thanks of all North Carolinians.

The Warren Committee, as it turned out, showed some of the distinguished characteristics of the system it was examining. The committee was split and divided.
The majority recommended that our present system be replaced by a new Statewide planning and coordinating agency to be known as "The Board of Regents of the University of North Carolina System." This agency would combine the best features of the two principal entities within our present system — the Board of Higher Education and the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

A minority of the committee members recommended that no changes at all be made in the system other than a revision of the powers and duties of the Board of Higher Education.

The report of the committee, including both the majority proposal and the minority proposal, has been made available to you. I hope you will read it very thoroughly and with a critical eye.

Regardless of how you feel about this question, the Warren Report is an excellent documentary on the history and development of higher education in North Carolina and the problems which now beset the system.

I have read and analyzed both the majority and minority reports. To me, the course we should follow now becomes clear. I recommend that you enact legislation implementing the majority report. It speaks from the head. It deals in reality, in things as they are.

I recommend that you reject the minority report. It speaks from the heart. It deals in romanticism, in things past that some wish to preserve. It does not meaningfully address itself to the solution of the problem of the present with hope for the future.

It would be well to note at this point that I appear before you today wearing several hats. Each is separate, yet all are related.

I speak as chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina. In this capacity, I preside at the perfunctory quarterly meetings of the board and at the monthly meetings of its Executive Committee, which in actuality runs the six campuses of the University.

I speak also as chairman of the Board of Higher Education. From this vantage point, I have had exposure to broad policy matters, as well as the individual needs, of all sixteen of our institutions. Only service on this board provides one with a true overview of the total picture of higher education in our State.

I speak too as Director of the Budget, a statutory position assigned to the Governor. General Statutes 143-3, the Executive Budget Act, contains the following language: "It shall be the duty of the Director to recommend to the General Assembly at each session such changes in the organization, management and general conduct of the various departments, institutions and other agencies of the State . . . as in his judgment will promote the more efficient and economical operation and management thereof."

Finally, I speak as Governor. Constitutionally designated as the chief executive officer of the State, I bear the ultimate responsibility of the efficient operation of our government, including higher education.
Ladies and gentlemen, it is in fulfillment of these statutory and constitutional duties that I address you now.

In considering the Warren Report, let us at the very outset identify the one thing which may tend to blur your vision. It is the office of the Consolidated University of North Carolina, an administrative apparatus fashioned forty years ago in the depths of the Great Depression.

Your deliberations will no doubt be monopolized by ringing cries of "deconsolidation" and "total and complete dismantling" of this six-campus arrangement. I hope you will cut through the fog of sentiment which will accompany these cries, that you will recognize them as a diversionary move, and that you will support "reconsolidation" of our total program of higher education.

The institutions within the Consolidated University will benefit from reconsolidation. This is my conviction, and this is the conviction of many knowledgeable people in higher education. But there are certain supporters — loyal supporters — of the Consolidated University who refuse even to consider seriously this feature of the proposal.

It should be pointed out that the Warren Committee’s decision was not clearly a split between members representing the University and those representing the other institutions or the Board of Higher Education. Two members representing regional universities voted with the minority. Two trustees of the University voted with the majority.

I dare say that if you were to speak candidly and confidentially with the administrative leadership of the various Consolidated University campuses, other than the one at Chapel Hill, you would find that many — not all, to be sure, but many — favor the concept of a single governing board for all institutions. And I have had such conversations. Naturally, when the administration and trustees of the Consolidated University take a position on the matter, campus officials are not disposed to differ publicly with that position.

It is interesting to note that various Consolidated University alumni groups have already adopted resolutions opposing the reconsolidation plan. These actions came before the report was even written, much less made public. In addition, the letter writers and phone callers have been busy for more than a week now, opposing any change even before the details of the reports were made known to you or me. I will leave it to you to speculate on the source of these efforts.

Let's be honest; let's be candid; let's be frank: When the Consolidated University leadership speaks of the "University of North Carolina", it is harking to the sound of Tar Heel voices — it has reference primarily to the campus at Chapel Hill.

When one stands back and views all of higher education in North Carolina, and attends meetings of the University Board of Trustees and its Executive Committee, it is apparent that there is a very rigid pecking order. The agendas, the length of discussions, the emphasis, indeed the attitudes, reflect the fact that most of the attention is given to the campus at Chapel Hill, with the Raleigh campus following close behind but definitely in second place. These two are the older brothers of the University family.

The University at Greensboro is the oldest sister, who is to be admired and protected but is not expected to say or do much and should be subservient to the oldest members of the family. The campuses at Asheville, Charlotte and Wilmington are newcomers who have been married into the family. They are, therefore, to be heard, considered and protected but are not and never will be part of the inner circle—the original three. They are the in-laws of the University. All other institutions in the State are outside the family. Their existence is acknowledged sometimes and therefore, they must be tolerated, but not at the expense of or threat to a member of the family, especially the original three and never to the oldest brother.

In seeking equity through reconsolidation of our total program, you will be bombarded by charges that the plan would “destroy” the Consolidated University. Perhaps a bit of history will be pertinent to this argument.

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, truly a center of academic excellence—nobody denies it, we’re proud of it—was chartered in 1789 and was the first State-supported university in our land to open its doors to students.

But it was not until 142 years later, in 1931, that the University was grouped with North Carolina State in Raleigh and the Woman’s College in Greensboro in a consolidated administrative structure. So, in the history of higher education in North Carolina, this consolidated concept is relatively new.

The Consolidated University of North Carolina, a mechanism, a management function, which would be discarded under the proposed restructuring, has a short history and little heritage. It has no reputation or standing of its own. These are the possessions of its member institutions, which would be strengthened and improved.

The minority report recites the many services that the six institutions in the Consolidated University have been rendering to the State. It is an impressive review. If I thought for one moment that any of these services would be eliminated or lessened by the plan of the Warren Committee, I would not recommend it to you. But it is the individual institutions that render these services, not the Consolidated office.

The individual institutions teach students, conduct extension activities, perform research, and operate a medical school. Under the proposed change, all of these activities would proceed with vigor and with increased cooperation among all institutions, instead of just the six campuses, which is now the case.

I would urge you not to confuse the Consolidated office with the six campuses. The Consolidated office is both a coordinating and a governing body. Its functions would not be discontinued but would be transferred, with most of the internal governing functions going to the boards of trustees of the individual schools, and the coordinating functions going to the proposed new Board of Regents.
The Consolidation Act of 1931, a pioneering step in higher education, won adoption in the face of fierce opposition. Economic considerations were chiefly responsible for turning the tide. We were in the grip of the Depression, and it was anticipated that consolidation would bring economies and strengthen academic programs by reducing unnecessary duplication.

At that time, only the three member institutions offered meaningful graduate programs and engaged in extensive research. The other State-supported institutions were limited purpose schools, engaged primarily in the training of teachers.

The situation has changed drastically in recent years. Like the original three Consolidated institutions, the others now have greatly increased enrollments, programs and budgets. All are now authorized by action of the General Assembly to award the doctorate degree subject to Board of Higher Education approval. All have grown considerably stronger, both educationally and politically.

Thus, the relative strength and influence of the Consolidated University is less today. And unless the present structure is altered, its position will continue to grow relatively weaker.

I know of no one in this General Assembly — or any thoughtful person for that matter — who wants to harm the University. Rather, we all wish to see this great institution rise even higher in national ranking, prestige and influence.

To its loyal supporters, let me say that I am honestly convinced that the best way — the only way — to accomplish this is to have one board coordinating all of higher education, a board which will decide which institutions will serve in what roles and at what levels. Otherwise, the General Assembly will resolve the problem in the political arena, and the University will be the loser in the long run.

The proposed plan would not destroy the University or any of its six campuses. I would not be a party to that and neither would you. The plan does not affect any of its programs, faculty positions, buildings or campuses. The plan simply abolishes the Board of Higher Education and the office of general administration of the Consolidated University, replacing them with one coordinating board for all institutions. Individual, separate boards of trustees would be established for all institutions.

I yield to no one in my respect and appreciation for the institutions comprising the Consolidated University and for the framers of the 1931 act, led by Governor O. Max Gardner. Governor Gardner was right.

And the General Assembly of 1931 was right in light of conditions that existed in that day. But that day has passed. This is 1971, not 1931. Since Governor Gardner's day, our enrollments have increased tenfold and our higher education budget has increased a hundredfold.

If consolidation was appropriate in meeting the financial and educational challenges of that day, extension of the underlying principle is even more appropriate in 1971.
Elimination of waste and duplication of efforts and programs were compelling arguments in 1931. They are even more compelling today, with a system of higher education which is infinitely larger and more complex.

The problems faced by the system today are pinpointed by the Warren Committee report.

First the committee says: the statutory powers of the Board of Higher Education limit its authority to coordinate higher education effectively. The minority report suggests amending the statutory powers of the board, but this is not an adequate solution.

This will not solve the problem facing higher education in North Carolina today. Nor will it solve the problems facing you in future General Assemblies. As long as there are two boards, there inevitably will be conflict.

The committee makes clear that it is not criticizing the board or its staff. In recent years, with additional appropriations for staff and research, the board has rendered excellent service to the State. Its rapport with the General Assembly has improved. Yet the fact remains, and has been demonstrated time and again over the past few years, that the board does not have the authority necessary to coordinate higher education effectively.

The second problem the committee cites is that the state faces the real possibility of further duplication and overlapping in graduate degree programs. The committee states emphatically that “a proliferation of expensive, unneeded doctoral programs would be a tragic mistake for the State. The dimensions of this problem can be seen when it is realized that the costs of doctoral programs often range from 10-20 times the costs of undergraduate programs.”

The third problem identified by the committee is that under our present system each institution submits a separate budget to the Advisory Budget Commission and the General Assembly. The committee points out that the emphasis now is on what each institution considers to be its needs and that these are not necessarily synonymous with Statewide needs.

In no other major area of State service is there a similar lack of State-level budget review.

Every one of the sixteen institutions goes to the Advisory Budget Commission and General Assembly with a separate budget. Suppose every school district did that, every community college and technical institute, every mental institution, every State-supported hospital, every highway district came to you with a separate budget. But that’s what we now have in public senior higher education.

Every institution is forced by the nature of the system to jockey for position before the Advisory Budget Commission and the General Assembly. This forces the presidents into unseemly competition against each other in order to get things for their institutions. It is wasteful, and more important, it is not the sensible way to arrive at a fair appraisal of what is really needed in the State. The Advisory Budget Commission and the General Assembly and its committees are victims of this system just as the institutions are. The Advisory Budget Commission needs help, I believe you need it, the Governor needs it as director of the budget, and the institutions need it.

A major cause of our predicament is that all too often the legislature has made educational decisions in the white heat of political emotionalism. All too often, the General Assembly shuns the advice of an agency staffed to provide factual information on which such decisions should be based. In other words, the legislature has been prone to bypass the agency it created to offer guidance.

It is essential to the success of our State's higher education effort that the General Assembly rely upon a strong coordinating agency, the Board of Regents, for direction in this field.

The fourth problem cited by the committee is that the present system is structurally unsound. It is a "system within a system." There is the Consolidated University with coordinating and governing authority over six institutions. and there is the Board of Higher Education with coordinating responsibility for all sixteen. Nearly all of the functions of the Board of Higher Education are performed also by the Consolidated office but for only six institutions.

Necessarily, there is duplication. For example, when a request for a new program comes from one of the campuses of the Consolidated University, it first must go through the prescribed screening on its own campus and then be screened again by councils or committees that represent all six campuses. Understandably, there is annoyance that a program so carefully screened must be reviewed yet again, this time by the Board of Higher Education. But some agency must represent the whole State, considering not just six campuses but all sixteen.

Our system itself makes this duplication of work necessary and breeds constant conflict between the two coordinating bodies.

Furthermore the existence of six institutions under one governing board, with a large proportion of the State's students, resources, and political muscle, breeds conflict between that organization and the other institutions.

The system itself encourages jealousy and hard feeling among institutions. Further it encourages wasteful rivalry and unnecessary duplication of educational activities.

This brings me to the fifth and last problem cited by the Warren Committee: the present system does not make effective use of resources. The committee report gives a number of good illustrations of this problem. Many additional illustrations could be given. Let me suggest a few.

As of last year we offered graduate degrees in geography at four institutions in the State. The total number of graduates of all four programs was thirteen. Only one of the programs had as many as five graduates.

In French, six institutions offered graduate degrees. Four of the six had fewer than five graduates each.
In home economics, which, despite its name, is not a very economical field to teach, we offered graduate work at four institutions. The total number of graduates at all four was twenty-eight, about enough, I should have thought, for one reasonable program. Three of the four institutions did not have as many as five graduates.

In chemistry, an expensive program, eight institutions offered graduate degrees. Five of the eight had fewer than five graduates.

In geology three institutions offered graduate degrees with a total production of eighteen. Two of the three had fewer than five graduates each.

In mathematical sciences, nine institutions offered graduate programs. Six of the nine had fewer than five graduates each.

In giving these figures I am not pointing the finger at any institution or group of institutions. Even though the minority report states otherwise, the hard fact is that every institution, including those in the Consolidated University, has programs of low productivity. Nearly one-third of our doctoral degree programs last year produced no graduates at all. Over forty percent of our master's degree programs had no graduates.

Ladies and gentlemen, I can assure you that this is not the way to run a business, and while higher education should not be viewed as a business, I submit that this is not a sensible way to run higher education. We have an obligation to the people of this State to develop a system that will be more economical in its use of the State's resources allocated to higher education. If we want programs of the highest quality, we are not going to achieve them by spreading our money thinly over a large number of unproductive areas.

As a further illustration of the monetary toll exacted by duplication, the per-student cost of operating the Board of Higher Education for all sixteen institutions is about $5.00. The cost of operating the Consolidated University office, on the other hand, is almost $12.00. Thus the coordinating and governing cost beyond that incurred at the local campus, for six of the institutions is approximately $17, and at the others, $5.

In recommending adoption of the majority report of the Warren Committee I suggest two modifications.

The majority report recommends that the regency plan become effective July 1. I disagree with this choice of date. July 1 is too close at hand. I recommend that the effective date be October 1.

The committee stated that "for practical reasons" the Board of Regents should have 100-plus members. I disagree with this conclusion. I believe a smaller board is needed. I recommend a 47-member board.

Forty-four of the 47 would be elected by the General Assembly for eight-year overlapping terms. The chairmen of the House and Senate Committees on Higher Education would serve as ex-officio members. The Governor would serve as ex-officio chairman.
The initial Board of Regents would be selected by you, the General Assembly, from the present board of trustees of the Consolidated University, from the present board of trustees of the regional universities and from the present Board of Higher Education. I suggest that at least fifteen come from the Consolidated University, at least fifteen from the regional universities and at least six from the Board of Higher Education. This would assure a balance in the Board of Regents.

In addition to the Board of Regents, each of the sixteen institutions would have its own local board of trustees. The local boards would have thirteen members appointed by the Governor subject to confirmation by you, the General Assembly. They would have substantial authority for governing the internal affairs of their respective institutions, subject to the authority granted to them by the statutes and the Board of Regents.

The point here is that the General Assembly would elect the board for all of higher education in the State. You don't do that now. Under our present system, you elect trustees to govern only six institutions—the six within the Consolidated University. Trustees of the other institutions are appointed by the Governor subject to your approval which, oftentimes, occurs two years after the fact.

Some have suggested that this entire question of restructuring needs further study and that to act now would be to act too hastily. I respect their views but this is a matter which must not be further delayed.

Change is already overdue, and if you postpone action now, the next General Assembly may not understand the problem until too late. Some of you may not be in the next legislature. This is your opportunity to speak to this question. We need to "fish or cut bait." The momentum we have should be utilized.

The committee recommendations were not arrived at lightly. The committee studied the matter thoroughly in sessions extending through ten long weekends and consuming more than one hundred hours.

Consultants were brought in. Educational authorities, including the presidents of the institutions, were invited to speak. Every conceivable alternative to the present system was considered, and all were unanimously rejected except the two contained in the majority and minority reports.

I urge you to adopt the majority report. The minority suggests that a simple restatement of the powers and duties of the Board of Higher Education would suffice. I am not sure this would help at all. On the contrary, it appears to me that it would weaken the board.

The minority proposal would, for example, remove four of the members of the General Assembly from the board, while leaving them free to serve on institutional boards. It would give statutory sanction to a Council of Presidents in a form in which that group could become a competitor to the Board of Higher Education. The budget review powers recommend in the minority report are, in my opinion, inadequate.

The minority report spells out nine reasons for the success of the Consolidated concept. Each of the nine says, in so many words, that the success is due to the existence of a single governing board, a central administrative office, and cooperative relationships among the various branches. Why, then, if this be true, should we not extend this same concept of consolidation, with its attendant benefits, to the other schools in our State system?

The minority report, in its opposition to the Board of Regents idea, states: "The operation of a coordinating board is an exercise in control and containment through the use of power." If that is the case, then that is precisely what is needed to bring order out of our present chaos. Control of budgets and programs, and containment of waste and duplication are exactly what we seek and what is needed.

Our citizens' tax dollars allotted by you to support higher education are not being properly utilized. There is ample evidence of this in reports of factual surveys and serious studies which have been made of our institutions. These various reports are available to you from the Board of Higher Education.

The State spends approximately $335 million biennially for all of higher education including research and extension programs. There has been a tendency not to question requests for programs and funds, because higher education is "a good thing", falling in the same category as motherhood, God and country.

After two years as Governor and as chairman of the Board of Higher Education, I say to you, the members of the General Assembly — and through you to the citizens of North Carolina — that it is time to do some questioning. It is time for control and containment.

There is no doubt that the Board of Higher Education needs to be strengthened, but even if the recommendations of the minority report clearly accomplished this, our problems would not be solved. That's the point I'm trying to drive home. The problems are not going to be solved as long as we have two boards in conflict trying to run the show.

We would still have a "system within a system," with all the conflicts and waste that such an arrangement makes inevitable, and the next session of the General Assembly and every one after that would have to face again and again the basic organizational defects of our present arrangement. So long as these basic defects remain, the citizens and taxpayers of the State will suffer, and the students and institutions will suffer also.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the General Assembly: There are worlds to conquer and mountains to climb. These are the worlds of emotionalism and the mountains of tradition. Conquer them. Climb them. Let's move forward while we may, because one of these days is none of these days.

REPORT OF THE JOINT STUDY COMMITTEE ON ELECTRONIC VOTING UNITS IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Pursuant to the provisions of Resolution 87, 1971 General Assembly (House Joint Resolution 237) a joint study committee was appointed to perform the following functions:

1. To make a study of the need and advisability to install electronic voting units in the General Assembly;

2. To make recommendation for the purchase and installation of electronic voting units;
3. To recommend the most practical manner of providing a complete journal through the process of electronic voting devices;

4. To study and recommend rule changes which would be necessary with the use of such units;

5. To recommend a time when such units should be installed if the committee finds that such units would provide to the people of the State more open and public knowledge of the business transacted by the General Assembly.

The Lieutenant Governor appoints Senators J. Ollie Harris, Herman A. Moore and Thomas E. Strickland to the committee.

The Speaker of the House appointed Representatives Ike Andrews, Robert L. Farmer and Carl V. Venters to the Committee.

In the limited time available to it, the committee has not been able to make an in-depth study of the specific functions set out in Resolution 87 (House Joint Resolution 237). The committee has, however, studied the general question as to the value to the General Assembly of an electronic voting system.

The committee is of the opinion that the installation of electronic voting devices in each chamber of the General Assembly will result in such a considerable saving of time and improvement in accuracy of vote count that these considerations alone justify the expense of installing and maintaining such devices.

The committee is of the opinion that questions as to the most practical way of adapting the electronic voting devices to the automated production of a complete journal and as to rule changes which will be necessary in order to use these devices are matters which should be left to the Legislative Services Commission for study and decision.

Accordingly, the committee recommends that the General Assembly authorize the Legislative Services Commission to select and cause to be installed in both the Senate and House Chambers, in time to be used in the 1973 General Assembly, electronic voting units. The units installed should be of a type which can be combined with other equipment to produce a complete journal through electronic processes. The determination as to when and by what method the electronic production of the journals shall be accomplished can be made and implemented as soon as the Legislative Services Commission deems it advisable, or upon the direction of a subsequent session of the General Assembly.

The cost of electronic voting units of the type recommended will probably amount to about $200,000. The committee is informed that approximately half that amount remains in the Capital Improvement Fund which was appropriated to the Legislative Building Commission for construction and equipping of the State Legislative Building. These unexpended funds were originally meant to be used to install electronic voting units if the General Assembly desired them to be installed. This committee recommends that these funds be transferred to the General Assembly to be applied toward the cost of the electronic voting equipment, and that the remainder of the necessary costs be paid from the Contingency and Emergency Fund.

This 15th day of July, 1971.

The Senate recesses to meet in Joint Session in the House of Representatives for the purpose of receiving a message from the Governor, and upon dissolution of the Joint Session, the Senate will return to its Chamber to resume business.

JOINT SESSION

The Senate is received by the members of the House of Representatives standing, and the Joint Session is called to order by Lieutenant Governor H. Patrick Taylor, Jr.

The President recognizes Senator Bailey, who presents His Excellency Governor Robert W. Scott, who delivers the following address:

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Members of the General Assembly, my fellow North Carolinians,

In my special message on higher education addressed to you on May 25, I stated: "For some time we have been traveling a dangerously erratic course in public higher education in North Carolina. We are proceeding with all sail and no rudder. Wasteful and damaging forces are chipping away at the structure of our system..." I further stated: "So long as these basic defects remain, the citizens and taxpayers of the State will suffer, and the students will suffer also."

You agreed to examine this problem and find a solution, but to do so at an adjourned session when the matter could receive your undivided attention.

That was a wise decision and I commend you for it.

Since the regular session ended, much time, effort and energy have been given to study and debate of the best means to accomplish our goal of developing an effective system of higher education for North Carolina.

I shall not review the numerous reasons why our present system needs substantial change. Suffice it to say that practically all who are truly knowledgeable of the situation as it exists today recognize that something better is sorely needed, though some will admit this only in private.

After the General Assembly adjourned in July, and following a period of rest and reflection, leaders of the General Assembly and in the field of higher education began to address themselves again to this matter.

I began discussions with members of the General Assembly, with trustees and administrators of our institutions of higher learning and with prominent citizens throughout the State.

I held numerous discussions with individuals and meetings with groups, large and small, trying to find the path most of us would be willing to follow.

From the outset there were some who felt the Consolidated University of North Carolina should be dismantled forthwith and completely. Others felt strongly that no change at all should be made — or if there was any that it should not in any manner affect the Consolidated University, but only the other ten institutions. Others took a position somewhere in between these two extremes.

Slowly, haltingly, almost imperceptively, a broad general consensus began to emerge on the basic issue: That a governing board was indeed needed, with strong budget and program powers and built upon the recognized strengths and traditions of our present institutions and the Board of Higher Education.

The Joint Committee on Higher Education convened last month and began holding public hearings. During the course of these meetings, strong voices of knowledgeable North Carolinians began to be heard—Terry Sanford, William B. Aycock, Dickson Phillips, Lindsay Warren, Jr. To these were added the voices of Luther Hodges, Watts Hill, Sr., and a broad cross-section of educational leadership, public and private, as well as responsible faculty and student groups at Chapel Hill, Raleigh, Greenville, and elsewhere. All of these voices struck at the heart of the matter and called for a new approach to higher education in our State.

After hearing from all who desired to be heard, the committee instructed a subcommittee to draft a bill that would incorporate certain features. This was done.

The subcommittee and then the full joint committee debated and reworked the draft and finally, on October 15, adopted a committee substitute for your consideration.

This bill, entitled "An Act to Consolidate the Institutions of Higher Learning in North Carolina," is a product of the duly-appointed committees of this body.

It is not a Consolidated University bill, although it does contain many of the ingredients insisted on by the University leadership.

It is not a bill of the regional universities although they, too, can find much to their liking in its essential features.

It is not the Governor's bill, although I find it contains what I believe to be the cardinal elements for any new structure.

If any one group—my administration, the regional institutions, or the Consolidated University—had written the bill, it would be considerably different from what it appears today.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and members of the General Assembly, this bill is a product of many hours of discussion and deliberation by members of this body. I commend the committee members highly for the time and effort they gave to their task. Several of them remarked that they have never had a more rewarding and productive assignment.

As you debate the committee's handiwork, your purpose is not to satisfy fully any particular group, any particular philosophy, any particular institution. Rather, it is to devise the most effective system for governing our sixteen institutions in the light of circumstances that exist today, not in the light of circumstances that existed in 1931 or in 1789, as some would have you do.

You have the responsibility to see that the tax dollars our citizens send to Raleigh are used to the best possible advantage. Keep in mind, if you will, that the basic goal of higher education in our State is “producing graduates at the baccalaureate level and beyond, who are capable of leading lives of constructive employment, responsible citizenship and creative enjoyment”.

This bill is a major step toward that goal.

This bill embodies the principles that must be incorporated in any workable plan.

This bill preserves the dignity and honor and well-being of all institutions.

This bill utilizes the strengths and discards the weaknesses of our present structure.

It provides unity, a single voice, a coming-together for all of higher education.

It provides a strong governing board with adequate program and budget powers.

It assures that blacks, women, and political minorities will be significantly involved and given a meaningful place in policy and administrative decision making.

This bill establishes clear lines of authority throughout the system.

And it removes higher education from the political thicket.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the General Assembly:

This is a good bill.

It will do the job that so badly needs doing in North Carolina.

I support it, and I urge you, with all my being, to enact it.

Now, if I may, Mr. President and Mr. Speaker, I would like to speak to some of the fears I have heard expressed, and to lay them to rest if I can.

Some profess to believe that this entire effort is designed to phase out what have traditionally been known as black institutions — our predominantly Negro universities.

Nothing could be further from the truth. There need be no fear on this score on the part of any institution — black, white, or Indian — or on the part of the six Consolidated University branches, or on the part of the School of the Arts, or on the part of the nine other institutions. None of them will lose their identity. None will be swallowed up in the system. On the contrary, the new system will promote diversity and individual identity.

The bill specifically provides that at least four members of the Board of Governors shall be members of a minority race. It provides for the continuation of local boards of trustees at each of the institutions. It preserves and maintains the names of the institutions.

In assessing the fears voiced in some quarters of the black community, it should be remembered that it is the established policy of my administration and the State of North Carolina that all of our institutions are open to any student regardless of race.

I have noted a disturbing tendency on the part of a few to describe our institutions as white universities or black universities. This is not the case. In public higher education in North Carolina, we simply have universities, and they are available to any student — black, white, Indian, or Oriental — who desires to study in good faith and has the ability and motivation to succeed.

Some friends of the regional universities have stated that it is essential that powers of the institutional boards be spelled out in the statutes.

Although this bill does not specifically designate these powers, I can assure you that one of the first orders of business for the new Board of Governors will be to delegate appropriate powers to the institutional boards.

It seems to me that these powers should lie in many diverse areas, including authority to administer endowments and trusts; handle campus-oriented scholarships; make all appointments below the level of those having permanent tenure; advise with the Board of Governors on major appointments; regulate student conduct; operate athletic programs; recommend building needs; determine questions concerning admissions and the awarding of earned degrees within broad policies established by the Board of Governors; and most importantly, serve as a composite advisor to the Board of Governors.

To those who might be disappointed that these powers are not spelled out in the bill, let me point out to you a danger in doing so: The Board of Governors could take the list to be final and all-inclusive. If most of the powers are delegated by the Board of Governors, the board should have no hesitation in delegating its powers rather generously, knowing that it can also rescind any powers. The feeling of most informed people is that even more powers than I have enumerated will in fact be delegated.

Furthermore, to list specifically the powers of institutional boards in the statutes invites a battle to add to or subtract from those powers each time the legislature convenes.

There are some who are insisting that the size of the Governing Board be at least one hundred members and that the Interim Governing Board be composed of the present one hundred member board of the University of North Carolina together with all the members of the ten boards of the other institutions, which would give a total board of well over two hundred members.

At first, this seemed a reasonable proposal and its proponents will tell you that it is the way to involve more people, that the committee systems can be used, etc. After listening to those arguments, however, and after private discussions with supporters of the university, I am now convinced this proposal would serve no really useful purpose and that, in my honest opinion, would be a hindrance rather than a help to our restructuring efforts.

Why do I say this?

First of all, let’s be honest about it. A one hundred member board, and especially a two hundred plus member board cannot operate other than in a very token manner. The members of such a large board would never be a part of the real decision making, unless they were a member of the Executive Committee. This is the case — and one of the major fallacies — of the present structure of the UNC Board.

Such a large board cannot, by its very size, operate with involvement of all its membership.

I contrast the UNC Board with the Board of Higher Education which is composed of twenty-two members. When the Board of Higher Education meets, everyone is involved in all the discussion and all the decisions if he is present for the Board meetings. Board of Higher Education meetings are usually sparked with debate, oftentimes spirited. Meetings of the UNC Board, however, are usually perfunctory, marked more by speeches than debate. Many times I think it is because no one wants to take exception openly to a member of the fraternity, at least in public. The debate and the hard decisions for UNC, I repeat, are made by the Executive Committee, and not the Board itself. I know, because I sit as Chairman of the UNC Board, its Executive Committee and the Board of Higher Education as well. I sense very strongly that a major reason UNC supporters are pushing for an interim governing board of over two hundred members that takes in the present one hundred member UNC Board is that they do not wish to hurt anyone’s feelings by discontinuing their membership in the fraternity.

My answer to that position is that such a view is more concerned with a few individuals than with trying to solve the problem at hand.

Another great weakness of the large board concept is the advocacy of the committee system. The use of committees in this case has two effects: One is to prevent everyone on the board from knowing what is going on, by dispersing the action all over the field, with the result that a few at the top are the only ones really able to be fully informed. The second effect is to abide by the great American custom of naming a committee to handle a problem you don’t know what to do with.

To those who say the committee system and the large board concept provides for the involvement of more people, I reply that theoretically this ought to be the case, but past history refutes that argument because the board members at UNC are not nearly as much involved as they may think they are. I urge you to reject all efforts to increase the size of the board beyond that called for in the committee bill. That board of thirty-two is certainly the maximum size of any workable board.

It has been argued that the regional universities should be phased in over a period of time, with a few selected institutions at a time being brought into the system.
Upon reflection, however, I find that there are persuasive reasons for implementing the consolidation in a single step.

First of all, all the institutions can be brought in with dignity and honor and with the same considerations. There would be no ready-made "First Family", no "older brothers and sisters" to pay ingratiating deference to.

Secondly, the 1973 General Assembly should not be asked to tackle an unfinished job or, just as importantly, undo what you have set out to do.

Then, too, there should be an orderly budgetary transition which can best be achieved by all institutions coming in at the same time. It must be remembered that the 1973-75 budget will be drafted in 1972 and we need to insure that all institutions in the system will be fully involved for the entire budget year.

Some of you have expressed reservations about the so-called "lump-sum" budgeting provisions of this bill.

First of all, the bill does not provide a true lump-sum budget for higher education. I can assure you that under this bill, no one will be issued a blank check, and I can assure you that there will be accountability for funds appropriated. Any changes made in the legislative enactment would still be subject to provisions of the Executive Budget Act and the approval of the Advisory Budget Commission, which draws two-thirds of its membership from the General Assembly.

The bill provides for presentation to the Advisory Budget Commission and the General Assembly of a single, unified budget for all public senior institutions—a budget based on the best educational advice as to what is most needed for the good of higher education as a whole. This is not a new philosophy, since both the public school system and the community college system present a unified budget to you now.

Under procedures now in effect for higher education, you must deal with the separate budget requests and the subsequent lobbying of all institutions. While six of these have some measure of coordination among themselves, in reality there is no overall guidance as to true Statewide priorities from an educational standpoint.

These new comprehensive budget proposals will provide for a degree of professional judgment and administrative flexibility not now available to higher education, but which is very much needed.

This method of budgeting will have the further advantage of removing from the legislative and political arena educational decisions that can best be made by educational administrators. It is a method which has worked successfully in other states. Yet, this bill does not follow any specific pattern elsewhere, because it was tailored by your committee to meet the requirements of North Carolina. I believe it contains the best proven features of other plans, but applies them to the needs of our institutions and to the wishes of our people.

I am further convinced that this method can save money. It will eliminate the present situation whereby a legislator, in order to get his own building or programs included in the budget, all too often must agree to vote for two or more additional items that others desire.

Some say that the magnitude of this consolidation plan is such that it cannot work as provided for in the present bill.

I say it can work, and that it will work if there is strong and effective leadership on the part of the Governor, the newly created board and top administrative personnel, and if there is cooperation among all concerned throughout the system.

I pledge to you that I will provide that type of leadership as your Governor.

We have that type of leadership in abundance among the trustees of our institutions. We have a reservoir of talent among the administrative staffs of our sixteen institutions and these, supplemented by those of the Consolidated University office and the Board of Higher Education, are sufficient to handle the task. We can expect cooperation throughout the system because it is in the best interest of each campus that the system function smoothly and effectively.

Under this bill we will have, for the first time, a Statewide board specifically charged with assessing the contributions and needs of our private colleges and universities. Of course, our private schools are just that—private. We must guard their independence. I would never be a party to any effort that even hinted at State control of our private institutions, but cooperative relationships among the private schools and our public institutions are beneficial to all concerned. The private institutions are valuable resources which should be utilized to the best interest of our State as a whole, for they comprise an indispensable part of the total picture.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen, today we find ourselves carrying forward the torch of Governor O. Max Gardner, the architect of the historic consolidation act of 1931. Our task is really an extension of his effort, and there are graphic parallels between then and now.

Listen to these words of Governor Gardner in his special message to the 1931 legislature:

"It does not require an expert to discern the inherent wastefulness, both in energy and resources, of the present trend... Our institutions are supported out of one treasury; I can see no valid reason why they should not be under one executive management and one board of control... We need the united support of North Carolina behind one great, unified, coordinated, and intelligently directed educational enterprise."

Governor Gardner goes on to say:

"The principles and policy under consideration are so broad in their scope, and so far-reaching in their ultimate implications, that any adequate approach must presuppose that we shall forget any narrow allegiance to any institution as an institution per se. We must remember that we are citizens—students, if you will—of that greater institution which is the State of North Carolina... Our problem is not to concentrate upon the minor maladjustments which may be cured by remedial internal administration. Our problem is rather to view the entire higher educational effort of this State in terms extending over generations...

Max Gardner, while conquering the problem that bedeviled his State in his time, was indeed displaying a broader concern "extending over generations."

He saw the union of the Chapel Hill, Raleigh, and Greensboro campuses as a start, not a finish. Commenting on a study commission report recommending the restructuring which was later enacted, Gardner said: "This report represents the beginning, not the culmination, of a better planned, better supported, better serving institution for promoting education and equipping ambitious young men and women to better serve and better live."

Consolidation was a good concept then. It is a good concept now. We must extend it.

Anyone who reads this bill carefully will see only winners in this controversy.

The General Assembly will win because it will be given a chance to regain its perspective and put an end to the political competition in higher education that has been so divisive in the past.

The institutions will win because they will be able to stop competing with each other in the political arena. They can sit down as partners working for the improvement of the system as a whole, each being encouraged to seek excellence in its assigned role.

The taxpayers will win because they will not be burdened with the waste and inefficiency not only of unproductive and unnecessary programs, but also of unnecessary buildings and equipment.

And our students will win because each will be able to choose an institution to suit his own needs and future plans and will be assured that he is enrolling in an institution committed to performing at a high level of excellence.

In summary, the bill drafted by your joint committee will provide a way to govern and coordinate our entire system of higher education—a job we have always wanted done, but have never given anyone the authority to do.

We have before us a blueprint that will work. It will work, that is, if we but try to make it work—if we display the good will needed to make it work. One of the truisms of life is this: You can't shake hands with a clenched fist.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the General Assembly, North Carolinians all: Let us enlarge our understanding and broaden our vision.

By adopting this blueprint, we will not be surrendering our traditions, our ties, our loyalties. We can retain them, yet at the same time we can rise above our sectionalism and our provincialism.
Let us look beyond the trees and behold the forest—the forest of all of higher education. Let us nurture it and manage it wisely, keeping it forever green, forever growing.

"Sec. 116-5. Initial membership of Board of Governors.— (a) Commencing July 1, 1972, and continuing for terms hereinafter stated and until their successors are chosen, the Board of Governors shall consist of the following members:

On January 1, 1972, or as soon as practicable thereafter, those sixteen persons shall by lot or other means acceptable to them determine which of them shall be assigned the terms ending in 1973, 1975, 1977, and 1979 respectively. Of the eleven persons elected by the boards of trustees of the institutions listed in G. S. 116-5 (a) (1), above, three shall serve a term ending on June 30, 1973, three shall serve a term ending on June 30, 1975, three shall serve a term ending on June 30, 1977, and two shall serve a term ending on June 30, 1979. On January 1, 1972, or as soon as practicable thereafter, those eleven persons shall by lot or other means acceptable to them determine which of them shall be assigned the terms ending in 1973, 1975, 1977, and 1979 respectively. Of the five persons elected by the boards of trustees of the institutions listed in G. S. 116-5 (a) (2) above, the spectively.

(c) Any vacancy occurring in the membership of the Board of Governors between June 1, 1972, and June 30, 1973, shall be filled by appointment of the Governor, and the person appointed shall serve for the remainder of the unexpired term.

(d) The Governor shall serve ex officio as a member and as Chairman of the Board of Governors until December 31, 1972.”

2. Rewrite Sec. 116-6, beginning on page 4, line 16, and ending on page 5, line 25, to read as follows:

“Sec. 116-6. Membership of Board of Governors. — (a) As the terms of Eight members shall be so elected at the regular legislative session in 1973 and every two years thereafter.

(b) All terms shall commence on July 1 of odd-numbered years and all members shall serve for eight-year overlapping terms.

(c) No member may be elected to more than two full terms in succession.

(d) The Senate and House of Representatives, in electing members of the Board of Governors, shall select from a slate of nominees made in a joint session of the General Assembly. There shall be nominated from the floor at least twice the number of persons as there are vacancies to be filled. The Senate and the House of Representatives shall each elect one-half of the persons necessary to fill the vacancies, with the Senate to hold its election prior to the House of Representatives. In the event that an odd number of members are to be elected, the House of Representatives shall select the additional nominee. In 1973 and every four years thereafter, the Senate shall elect at least one woman and one member of a minority race and the House of Representatives shall elect at least one member of the political party to which the largest minority of the members of the General Assembly belong. In 1975 and every four years thereafter, the Senate shall elect at least one member of the political party to which the largest minority of the members of the General Assembly belong and the House of Representatives shall elect at least one woman and one member of a minority race.
(e) Of the eight members elected every two years, at least one shall be a woman, at least one other member shall be a member of a minority race, and at least one other member shall be a member of the political party to which the largest minority of the members of the General Assembly belong. In subsequent elections to the Board, the General Assembly shall maintain at least these minimum proportions among the members of the Board.”

3. Amend Sec. 116-7 (a) by striking from page 6, line 3, the words “or appointing.”

4. Amend Sec. 116-7 (c) by striking from page 6 the sentence beginning on line 16 and ending on 19, and relating to appointments by the Governor.

And to this end that the House of Representatives and the Senate adopt the foregoing report.

MEMORIAL RESOLUTION FOR ALBERT J. ELLIS

The following Memorial Resolution for Albert J. Ellis, adopted by the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro on May 25, 1970, was read before the Senate on Friday, January 15, 1971 by Senator Saunders, and upon his motion is spread upon the Journal:

Albert Joseph Ellis manifested throughout his life a capacity for profound loyalty. Having identified the objects of his loyalty, Albert then nurtured them with his tenacity of spirit, his great intellectual prowess and his warm affection. This was true of his relationship with the University of North Carolina. Thus, those of us who knew and admired him feel not only a deep sense of personal loss but also regret the loss which the University suffered as a result of his death on December 14, 1969. At the age of 56, and only a few months before his death, Albert was elected to this Board of Trustees ... a position in which he would have culminated magnificently his long history of devotion and able service to the University.

Albert first identified himself with this institution as an undergraduate student at the Chapel Hill campus, where he earned his B. S. degree in Commerce, was inducted into the Order of the Grail and Golden Fleece and was elected Permanent Class Secretary. In 1935 he entered the School of Law, where he not only confirmed his professional direction but also laid the foundation for his leadership in University affairs. For nearly a decade during the last part of his life, Albert Ellis was one of the guiding spirits of the Law Alumni Association and of the Law Foundation Council of the University's School of Law.

His faithful regard for alma mater is now being perpetuated by his children, one of whom is a graduate of the University, another a currently enrolled student and another entering as a freshman this fall.

Armed with what the University could provide an able and dedicated student, Albert established his law practice in Jacksonville, North Carolina, and immediately he began making his large and valuable imprint on his profession, his community and his state. Albert was not content with the law as a narrow, purely commercial vocation; he embraced his profession totally, as an able counselor and advocate, as a leader of the organized bar, as a champion of legal reform, and as a generous friend of legal education in this state.

The town of Jacksonville similarly profited from his large presence in the community. In his words, "If a community is worth living in, it's worth working for," and he worked hard, as evidenced by his leadership of the Kiwanis Club, and the Chamber of Commerce, the Onslow County Historical Society and the Onslow County-Jacksonville Airport Commission.

At the State level, Albert concluded his years of service with two terms in the North Carolina Senate, where he led successful efforts to improve the system of justice.

Before his death, Senator Ellis received one of the highest honors a layman can receive in his Church. The Knights of Columbus, a fraternal organization, named a 4th Degree Class in his honor. The ceremony in Greensboro in November was the last official occasion he attended before his death.

As a religious man, a devoted husband, a proud father, and a servant of mankind in many capacities, Albert Ellis was, and our memory of him will continue to serve as, a splendid example of manhood.

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Board of Trustees of the University of North Carolina: That the Trustees herewith pay tribute to the memory of Albert Joseph Ellis, with gratitude for the service which he rendered the University of North Carolina. Further be it resolved that a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of this meeting of the Board of Trustees and that a copy of the same be furnished to his widow, Marie Hargett Ellis.

Respectfully submitted,

S. J. R. 21, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF DR. ROBERT LEE HUMBER, FORMER MEMBER OF THE SENATE FROM PITT.

WHEREAS, Robert Lee Humber, a native son of Pitt County, devoted virtually all of his mature life and energy to unselfish service for the betterment, culture, education and peace of all of the people of his Nation, State and County; and

WHEREAS, he attained an extensive reputation of service and community leadership in his seventy-two years prior to his sudden death on November 10, 1970. His personal qualifications of character and conduct were recognized from his youth in his native Greenville where he was born into a family of quiet industry and distinction. He was an avid reader, a vigorous student, especially of history and literature, and planned early for college and university training; and

WHEREAS, he was graduated with multiple degrees from Wake Forest and Harvard and earned a Rhodes Scholarship to Oxford University in England where he studied at New College. Wake Forest, Duke and the University of North Carolina conferred upon him an honorary degree. Professionally trained as a lawyer, he became, first, an interim tutor at Harvard and, following his Oxford studies, became a business executive and international attorney in Paris. There, he supplemented world-wide contacts initiated in travel around the world in his youth.

In 1940, he returned to the United States imbued with a concept of World Federation as a means to world peace. Out of this came the organization of the movement for World Federation (established at Davis Island, North Carolina—his ancestral home). Sixteen State Legislatures endorsed the World Federation idea.
In his service to his area and the State of North Carolina, there were few movements of note of which he was not a part. Chief among these was the North Carolina Museum of Art of which he was the founder and active leader until his death, and, by his exceptional talents and untiring efforts, he was able to influence many art patrons to give literally millions of dollars worth of paintings and other works of art to the Museum. In many historical, cultural and restoration projects he was continuously active. He served three terms in the North Carolina Senate (1959, 1961, 1963) and was noted for his erudite presentation and support of legislation designed to advance the welfare and cultural stability of the State; and

WHEREAS, he was one of the founders of Pitt Technical Institute and served with honor and distinction as chairman and member of the Board of Trustees of this beneficial institution. As a local neighbor and friend, Greenville and Pitt County were first benefactors. Although his interests and activities were world-wide, he never failed to come home and lend his prestige and unique talents to local interests and efforts. Yet, he neither sought nor accepted any accolades for the results of his labors which will be of timeless benefit to his fellowmen.

WHEREAS, his generosity of mind and spirit were known and his counsel sought throughout the State, the Nation, and in Europe. He was the acme of generosity, the epitome of refinement, and the noblest of Christian churchmen. A generation can boast few men his equal and none his superior. He was a man of culture, a man of patience and understanding and a humanitarian who was admired by all who knew him. His life story will be an inspiration to future generations and we are proud of our good fortune to claim him as one of us.

“He scarce had need to doff his pride,
or slough the dross of earth,
For, as he trod his way to God,
So walked he from his birth,
In honor, in gentleness,
and clean mirth!”

NOW, THEREFORE, be it resolved by the Senate; the House of Representatives concurring:

Section 1. The General Assembly of North Carolina expresses its deep appreciation for the life and accomplishments of Dr. Robert Lee Humber and for the great service he rendered to the Nation, State of North Carolina and County of Pitt.

Sec. 2. That a copy of this Resolution be spread upon the minutes of both the Senate and House of Representatives and that a copy of the same shall be duly certified by the Secretary of State and by him transmitted to the family of Dr. Robert Lee Humber.

Sec. 3. That this resolution shall become effective upon its ratification.
H. J. R. 32, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING DONALD MCIIVER STANFORD, FORMER LEGISLATOR FROM ORANGE COUNTY.

WHEREAS, Donald Mclver Stanford attained a position of distinction in his community, County, and State both by his public service and his private life; and

WHEREAS, he served as a member of the Board of County Commissioners of Orange County from 1956 to 1964; and

WHEREAS, he served as Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners of Orange County from 1960 to 1964; and

WHEREAS, the people of Orange County demonstrated their regard and respect for him by electing him to represent Orange County in the North Carolina General Assembly, a position which he served with distinction from 1965 to 1970; and

WHEREAS, he continued a tradition of public service which had been established and practiced for many years by his illustrious family; and

WHEREAS, Divine Providence terminated his life on the 4th day of May, 1970; and

WHEREAS, by his death the people of Orange County and of North Carolina have been deprived of a valued and esteemed public servant and private citizen;

NOW, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring:

Section 1. The General Assembly of North Carolina by this resolution does express its appreciation of the many contributions of Donald Mclver Stanford to his community, County and State and its deep sense of loss suffered by his untimely death.

Sec. 2. This resolution shall become effective upon ratification.

S. J. R. 40, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING JUDGE LUTHER JAMES PHIPPS, FORMER LEGISLATOR AND DISTRICT COURT JUDGE.

Sec. 2. This resolution shall become effective upon ratification.

The following article from the January 1971 issue of "We the People of North Carolina" was read before the Senate on Thursday, January 21, 1971, and was ordered entered in the Journal:

NORTH CAROLINA BUSINESSMAN IN THE NEWS
SENIOR BUSINESSMAN IN THE NEWS

SENATOR JOHN T. CHURCH OF ROSE'S STORES

On a corner of the city square in Salisbury there is a drug store which in the 1930's was called the Innes Street Pharmacy. There was a young man who worked there, known to everyone as Johnny Church. He had the kind of smile and unfailing good cheer that even the gloomiest of grouches found it impossible to resist.

In mid-January that same John T. Church, now a resident of Henderson and one of the top executives of Rose's Stores, Inc., will take his seat as North Carolina's State Senator representing the 7th Senatorial District of Vance, Franklin and Granville counties. The smile and the good cheer are still there as fixtures of John Church's personality.

He will be among the most prominent of the General Assembly's quota of businessmen-legislators who will spend the next six months or more wrestling with the multitude of issues which will make the 1971 session no place for the fainthearted. Even though this will be his freshman term as a member of the Senate, Church is no stranger to the legislative process. He has served two terms in the House of Representatives from Vance County and, no doubt as a testimony to his political potency, he comes to the Senate as one of that select group of lawmakers who faced no opposition in either the primary or the general election of 1970.

What prompts a man like John Church to seek to spend half of every other year away from home in the wearing grind of lawmaking? As Senior Vice President and Secretary and Merchandising Manager of Henderson-based Rose's he has quite enough to keep him busy without asking for extra burdens. Ambition and the quest for recognition have to be counted among every man's reasons for aspiring to public office. But only the very cynical would stop the reasons there. John Church says there are basic philosophical motivations behind his presence in the General Assembly.

"I'm a dedicated believer in the American free enterprise system," he says. "I think free enterprise is a necessary part of free government. I feel an obligation to do what I can to protect and preserve the free enterprise system, and that is why I wanted to serve in the General Assembly." He adds that the Legislature needs businessmen—"the more of them we have in the state legislatures the better protection the people have against those who want to tear down our system. I believe the people of the state of North Carolina and more especially the people in my Senate District deserve good representation in the General Assembly and I will always strive to accept any task given to me with my very best efforts. My office will always be open to anyone and I will be fair in all my decisions. I do not take the responsibility of representing my District and State lightly."

Certainly free enterprise has done well by John Church, and he by it. Those working days at the pharmacy back in Salisbury helped pay for the two years he spent at Catawba College and for his subsequent years at UNC-Chapel Hill, where he took a B.S. Degree in Pharmacy in 1942. Early on, Church showed himself as a shrewd entrepreneur by leasing the Kappa Alpha Fraternity dining room at Chapel Hill during summer sessions and feeding most of the frat men attending summer school. "Things were pretty slim on the money side back home in those days, and if I hadn't worked my way through college I couldn't have gone," he remembers.

Church was born in Raleigh, but his family moved to Salisbury when he was a child and he grew up there. He went immediately from college into Pre-Flight School at the University of North Carolina. He later took his flight training with the U. S. Navy in Corpus Christi, Texas and in 1943 received his Lt. Bars in the United States Marine Corps Reserve and Wings as a naval pilot. He flew approximately 80 to 90 combat missions in the Pacific Theater during World War II and came home in 1945 as a Captain and wearing the Distinguished Flying Cross and other medals. In 1943 he had married Emma Thomas Rose of Henderson whom he met while attending the University of North Carolina. Her father, Paul H. Rose, founded the chain of Rose's Stores in 1915 with a single five-and-dime store at Henderson.

"When I came out of service I intended to seek a position with one of the larger pharmaceutical houses, but Mr. Rose asked me why I had not asked him for a job with his company. Up until that time I hadn't even considered working for Rose's, but Mr. Rose stated 'there was a job for me if I wanted it.' It would be a challenge for me to work with Mr. Rose for whom I had the highest respect. I took the challenge and the next morning I was in the stockroom at the Henderson store and my first act as an employee was to pick up a broom and start sweeping."

After the apprenticeship period in the stockroom and in the store, Church became an assistant buyer and by 1948 he was Assistant Secretary and a Director of the Corporation. In 1954 he was elected Vice-President and Secretary and since 1957 he has served as Merchandise Manager of the chain.

Rose's Stores now operates in nine Southeastern states and plans to be in two more by the end of 1971. It has over 200 stores in operation, having added more than 50 since 1967. In the fiercely competitive world of general merchandising the company has done well indeed. John Church is a major factor in the highly successful growth record of the 1960's. The typical Rose's store of this day is worlds removed from the old-time dime store. More than likely, a modern Rose's installation will be found in a shopping center, will market thousands of consumer items, will contain 40,000 to 60,000 square feet, every square foot precisely allocated to a particular type of merchandise. To oversee the merchandising of 200-plus stores in several states is no small job, and one wonders how a man like John Church can be a state legislator and still keep up with his job.

Church pointed out that over the years he has been fortunate enough to surround himself with dedicated people who make up his buying staff and with the help of his organization and by working and trying harder he has found that he can still carry on his duties as an executive while serving in the General Assembly.

Experienced observers of North Carolina are billing the 1971 legislative sessions as one of the most crucial ever. Church agrees.

"I think the number one issue is going to be congressional and legislative redistricting to reflect the new census figures," he declares. "That is always a lengthy and painful process, and it won't be any different this time."

Of almost equal import as an issue for '71, Church rates the question of taxes. He predicts a real fight over the question of repealing the soft drink tax and part of the added gasoline tax imposed by the 1969 Assembly. Although he voted against the cigarette tax levy last time he believes it also is here to stay. But he will oppose any additional tax on cigarettes.

As for the imposition of any new or increased taxes in this session, Senator Church doubts that it will happen. "Taxes—new ones—will be a mighty unpopular subject in this session," he offers. "I can't think of any legislator who won't be hesitant about voting for higher taxes."

Also high on John Church's estimate of the big issues of '71 are state aid to private colleges or tuition grants to students attending them, liquor-by-the-drink, and the environment.

"We've done all the damage to our ecology that we can afford to do if we're going to survive," he observes. "We have to go farther than we've yet gone in protecting the environment. I believe I would be in favor of programs of state and federal aid to industry as well as to cities and towns for pollution abatement programs. After all, we wouldn't have this tremendous industrial pollution problem if we hadn't had millions of consumers buying and using the products of industry. It seems to me that the individual citizen has a responsibility as well as the corporate citizen."
Opposed last session to local option mixed beverage laws, Church feels the question might have a more favorable jury in the 1971 Legislature. He voted against the proposal in 1969, but he has not closed his mind to further proposals at this session.

Church is a trustee of the University of North Carolina and of Louisburg College, “and I think I can see both sides of the public-private higher education question. The private colleges generally are in a desperate financial situation. It would be fine if the State can find some way to help them, but I wonder if financial aid to the private institutions would stand a constitutional test.”

He was a supporter of the State Government Reorganization Amendment and hopes the General Assembly “will get started on the reorganization business during this session and not wait until the deadline (1975) comes around.” If a proposal comes along this session to hold annual meetings of the General Assembly, John Church will probably vote against it. “I think I would favor the idea if we could hold the sessions to a maximum of 90 days. But the Legislature being what it is, I doubt that we can. And there are so many good people in the Assembly who just couldn’t afford to leave their jobs or professions every single year to come to Raleigh,” Church observes. However, he doesn’t rule out the possibility that the press of governmental problems might eventually make annual legislative sessions mandatory. He also thinks that North Carolina legislators must increasingly come to depend upon the assistance of full-time professional staff people to stay abreast of multiplying issues and to hold legislative sessions to reasonable lengths.

Highly sensitive, like all merchants, to the ebbs and flows of the national economy, John Church believes the present slump is temporary. “I think the economy will come around,” he observes, “but those of us in business will have to make it happen. We’ll all just have to work harder.”

One doesn’t reach the point which John Church has reached in business and politics without a lot of involvement in a lot of things. Some of the present involvements include: Chairman, Kerr Reservoir Development Commission; member, State Tax Study Commission; member, State Art Museum Building Commission; Trustee, University of North Carolina Board of Trustees; Vice Chairman, Louisburg College Board of Trustees; Trustee, Vance County Technical School; member, Morehead Scholarship Selection Committee; Director, UNC Business School Foundation; President and member, Executive Board, Occoneechee Council, Boy Scouts; Secretary and Trustee, Maria Parham Hospital, Henderson; Trustee, Henderson First United Methodist Church; Rotarian, Mason, Shriner, Elk, American Legion, 40 & 8. A few past involvements include: Chairman, Executive Committee, Vance County Democratic Party; member, Henderson City Council; President, N. C. Merchants Association; Chairman, Peace College Board of Visitors. Plus many others. On the national business level, Church is Vice Chairman of the American Retail Federation.

The two Church children, John Jr. and Elizabeth, are both married and living away from home. The home is a spacious frame structure on a wooded lot near the Henderson Country Club where Church is a member and enthusiastic golfer.

Church will be spending his weekdays for the next several months in Raleigh, but weekends will find him at home 40 miles to the north at Henderson. And there, one would surmise, much of his time will be spent in discussing issues with his constituents.

"It hasn't really worked that way for me," says Church. "You'd be surprised how few people call you on weekends about some matter in the Legislature. Frankly, I wish more people in my district would let me know how they feel about the issues. It would help me and help them also."

To the constituents of John Church, that's an open invitation.

ADDRESS GIVEN BY VICE PRESIDENT SPIRO T. AGNEW BEFORE THE JOINT SESSION ON MAY 6, 1971.

Governor Scott, Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the North Carolina General Assembly, and your guests here assembled:
First, let me say that I am very pleased to be here in North Carolina to speak about the President's revenue sharing proposals, and let me say also how much I appreciate the cordial welcome that I have been given by your State officials here today.

Before I begin with the subject proper, if I may in the interest of an unrelated subject utilize the medium of television to convey an important message in the interest of the ecology and the preservation of the environment, I would like to make a public request that the Women's Lib please stop throwing cigar butts around the Capitol grounds in Washington.

I was in Tennessee yesterday speaking to that legislature on revenue sharing. I had a very good meeting. Chairman Wilbur Mills is due there in a few days to discuss the same subject. It would have been nice to appear with Mr. Mills but he couldn't make it. Seems he was being fitted yesterday for a new suit at the Japanese Embassy.

Hale Boggs couldn't come either. I think he has the "bug".

But seriously, I am pleased to have this chance to appear before this distinguished legislative group and some of you are guests whom I understand represent local government in the great State of North Carolina. My purpose here will not be to rather blandly present arguments for a plan but will be more in the nature of documenting the integral aspects of that plan so that it may be properly compared by you serious students of government with other proposals that have been and will be brought to your attention in the near future so that you may make the proper evaluation and decision for the State of North Carolina.

Revenue sharing is not a new subject. Revenue sharing, ladies and gentlemen, is not a partisan subject. As a matter of fact, the President's proposals that he has sent to the Congress both in the area of general and special revenue sharing are proposals that have evolved slowly over perhaps the past fifteen years through the work of some very distinguished bipartisan groups including the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, the Governor's Conference, the U. S. Conference of Mayors, the National League of Cities, and the National Association of Counties. These are proposals that have represented the best non-political thinking of those distinguished groups as to how the growing imbalance in resources between state and local government can best be corrected through federal action.

If you want to know why general revenue sharing which is the first subject I am going to mention is needed, let me merely refer to some historical data which should be of great persuasiveness to you. From 1950 through 1969 governmental expenditures have increased 413% at the state level, 354% at the local level. Actually, during that same period of time, all other sectors of the economy witnessed an increase in expenditures of only 31% whereas the percentage cost increase for state and local government was 54%. In the past twenty-five years state and local expense is up twelvefold from eleven billion in 1946 to one hundred thirty billion last year. In the past twelve years states have been forced to institute new taxes or raise old ones on 450 separate occasions, while the federal government has had to resort to major tax increases only four times since 1930. State debt is up over 600% in the past twenty years. And you know and I know that the federal government dominates the one growth tax — the income tax — collecting nine out of every ten income tax dollars.

Now what has been the result of this accumulation of power and resources by the federal government? We do not think it has been salutary. We feel that it has caused the erection of an awesome federal bureaucracy — an irresistible and seemingly irreversible flow of power to Washington where priorities are determined by the federal government, where few important areas of local decision remain. And this we believe causes a lack of interest in highly qualified people in seeking posts in local government and sometimes even at the state level, because of the reduced state and local role, creativity has been impeded. And, since the resources are not present here at the State House in North Carolina, neither can the solutions be seriously discussed.

Many states have tried to respond by looking for their own resources. I know this State happens to have an income tax — one of the states that does. There are other states that do not. But regardless of whether or not an income tax is in effect in a state, there are great fiscal problems attendant in the constant urging of the citizenry to greater services by state and local government. And the facts that I have given you make it manifestly clear that there must be some other way of getting the revenue to bring about the necessary changes and improvements in these two areas of government.

How is this to be done? Well, it can be done by general revenue sharing by the federal government and it can be assisted by special revenue sharing. Why do we need special revenue sharing which is basically a consolidation of grants with several important initiatives added to that? Well, the categorical grant-in-aid program, of which I might add North Carolina receives less than its fair share of the proceeds, in 1960 totaled forty-four programs — forty-four categories for a total of six billion dollars a year in expenditures. And, ladies and gentlemen, of that six billion dollars, five billion was spent for highways and welfare. That was in 1960, just a little over ten years ago. During the period 1960 to 1970, these categorical grant-in-aid programs proliferated from forty-four to over four hundred and thirty, while outlays for them jumped from six billion to thirty billion dollars a year. Now, under the categorical programs, Congress provides many strings in the way of legislative prohibitions. But that isn't the worse part of it, as you who are experienced in attempting to sort your way through the maze of regulations that attend these programs know well. The bureaus of the large federal departments add to these restrictions, confuse these restrictions and in some case, completely misinterpret the legislative intent. It takes months and months to resolve simple questions that could best be the decision of this State legislature, of the county councils and city councils of North Carolina. So we need greater flexibility. We don't need this confusion that results from conflicting and overlapping programs. Paper work is burdensome. And, there are three very formidable requirements that need to be abolished.
First of all, the matching requirement. I am sure that those of you in this government who concern yourself with State decisions where federal money is contributing to state money to bring about the result desired, know very well that your decision as to priorities is sometimes affected by whether matching federal money is available. You may have a situation where a road is desperately needed which does not qualify for federal assistance, and another road which is of lower priority is voted simply because there are matching federal monies and because the legislature and the executive branch of State government may feel it will be criticized if it does not take advantage of the maximum federal matching money available.

Then there are problems with the prior approval requirement. This is a requirement that has insidiously built itself into the federal way of life where the Bureau of Personnel must require, or do require you to submit your plans to be gone over minutely by them before they will release the money that you need. And what winds up happening in all too many cases is that there is a steady rubberband effect between the states and the federal government trying to reach some accord on some bureaucrat’s problem.

Now, how does general revenue sharing correct this? Let me explain first what it is. The general revenue sharing proposal is that one point three percent (1.3%) of the personal taxable income base of the United States be given through the Secretary of the Treasury to the general funds of the states. One point three percent would represent about five billion dollars in new money the first full year of operation. And because the base is flexible, this would increase, we anticipate, to some ten billion dollars by 1980. The method of distribution is this: The states are to share on the basis of population and tax effort. The general purpose local governments will share on the basis of taxes raised by them compared to the entire local share for their state. The legislation includes a mandatory pass through provision so the local governments will get a stated share of the money based on their tax effort as — of all local governments as related to the tax effort of state-local government together. This generally works out to mean some 52% of the revenues go to states and some 48% pass through under the formula to the local governments.

But there is a flexibility in this legislation which would allow state and local governments, and would encourage them, where they see fit, to adopt their own formula for distributing this money between the state and local governments. This is because we find that there are many significant departures that exist between state and local governmental relationships and these are best met by a complete examination by the state and local government, who are actually concerned in the problem. So there is a 10% incentive bonus for adopting your own formula as to how you split this pie.

Let's talk about North Carolina a minute, and what this would mean to North Carolina. North Carolina has 2½% of the total United States population. Because of the tax effort, that is slightly below the U. S. average at the present time, North Carolina will receive 2.3% of the general revenue sharing funds. This amounts to one hundred, thirteen and a half million dollars in the first full year. To be added to that hundred and thirteen and a half million dollars, are the special revenue sharing monies which are related to the one billion dollars in new money that is included in special revenue sharing. And North Carolina’s portion of that one billion dollars of new special revenue sharing money is 42.3 million dollars. This means that under President Nixon’s proposal North Carolina would receive in the first full year of operation from general and special revenue sharing in new funds a hundred and fifty-five million, eight hundred thousand dollars. Raleigh will receive of the general revenue sharing five million dollars about five hundred and sixty-four thousand dollars. Winston-Salem would receive a million thirty-six thousand dollars, Charlotte, a million six hundred and forty-four thousand dollars of this money, provided that the pass through formula in the federal legislation is adopted by the State.

Now, the special revenue sharing, as I pointed out to you, has a billion dollars of new money. Ten billion dollars of the total eleven billion dollar program comes from the consolidation of one-third of the existing categorical grant-in-aid programs into six categories of special revenue sharing. These categories are elementary and secondary education funded at three billion, urban community development funded at two billion, rural community development — 1.1 billion, transportation — 2.6 billion, manpower training — two billion, and law enforcement — a half million. There is a whole harmless provision that relates to special revenue sharing and provides that no matter what a state has been receiving under the categorical programs that are being abolished, it will receive no less.

Now, the most important reasons that special revenue sharing differs from block grants or grant consolidation is that we have eliminated in our special revenue sharing the matching requirement of which I spoke just a few moments ago, the requirement of prior approval and also the requirement of maintenance of effort. In short, you will not be sandbagged as you have too often in the past into a situation where you find that you get into some program on contributive basis, thinking it is going to cost you X number of dollars a year and then finding as the program progresses that you are irretrievably hooked to an engine that is carrying you way beyond the place you wanted to go. The judgment is up to state and local government, not to Washington.

Now, people say, “We must not do away with these categorical programs”. Well, ladies and gentlemen, we are not doing away with them. We are not even effecting two-thirds of them. And, the one-third that are blended into special revenue sharing are not done away with if the legislatures and the local governments and the governor see fit to continue them with the constraints that are already placed upon them by Washington.

There is one fundamental difference. These programs will run under special revenue sharing the way the State of North Carolina wants them to run and not the way the Washington bureaucracy dictates that they shall be run. They can be continued in exactly the same form they are, if that is your wish. If that is not your wish, and you think you are capable of making some improvements over what has been suggested by the Washington bureaucrats — and I think that will probably be the case — you are perfectly free to make whatever improvements you want.
Planning money has increased. The '71 funds are broadened and expanded to the extent that the fifty million dollars that is available this year for planning is increased two-fold to a hundred million dollars. I emphasize that two-thirds of the categorical grants are not effected and they will continue to be for experimentation, demonstration and federal initiative.

Now, let's talk very briefly about some of these categories, and because of the time limitation I'm not going into the kind of detail that probably I could if we were under a different basis here. But I will try to cover very quickly some of the categories of special revenue sharing.

The law enforcement special revenue sharing amounts to a half billion dollars a year. North Carolina's share under this new special program is ten million four hundred and eighty-two thousand dollars. North Carolina's share under the programs, — the categorical grants that are being replaced by this proposal — was eight million three hundred and five thousand dollars, so you see that your State has a new gain of two million one hundred and seventy-seven thousand dollars in the law enforcement area.

The manpower special revenue sharing act — North Carolina's share under that is forty-four million four hundred and fifty-eight thousand dollars. North Carolina's share under the various categorical programs that are blended into manpower's special revenue sharing was twenty-five million four hundred sixty-one thousand. So under this proposal you have a net gain of eighteen million nine hundred ninety-seven thousand dollars. This is a two billion dollar program consolidated for the Manpower Act of '62 and Economic Opportunity Act of '64. More than a dozen categorical programs, including on-the-job training, institutional training, neighborhood youth corps, new careers, operation mainstream, jobs in the concentrated employment program, are included in this.

Now, just to give you an idea of how awkward the present operation is, let me define a little of it for you. The present manpower operation includes ten thousand direct grants and contracts with public and private organizations. It's too cumbersome because each categorical program has its own lobby, its own project design, its own standards and its own method of operation. The cost of this kind of operation obviously is confusion and duplication and inefficiency. Whenever the unemployment rate in the United States rises beyond 4 1/2 %, for three consecutive months, this trigger mechanism makes additional funds available in high unemployment areas. This is an automatic kick-in that helps to provide additional training, employment, public service, jobs — to help off-set unemployment. The distributions will be to state government and to units of local government of a hundred thousand or more. However, smaller units of local government under this legislation are allowed to form a consortium so that if they get together and make their plans together, they will be able to have direct distributions of the money. The criteria for distribution will take into account the proportion of the labor force in the area, — the number of unemployed persons — the number of low income individuals sixteen years of age or more.
The urban community development special revenue sharing program is one of the most complex and one of the most valuable, I think, that has been devised. North Carolina's share of this is thirty-six million six hundred ninety-seven thousand dollars. North Carolina's share under categorical programs that are being blended into this proposal was twenty-nine million seven hundred fifty-eight thousand dollars, making a net gain for the State of six million nine hundred thirty-nine thousand dollars. The level is two billion the first full year. This replaces four categorical programs that were all administered under HUD: Urban renewal, model cities, water and sewer construction grants, and rehabilitation loans. Eighty percent of these monies are to be divided according to a strict statutory formula among two hundred and forty-seven standard metropolitan statistical areas in this country. A standard metropolitan statistical area is an area including a city of 50,000 or more and its contiguous suburbs and smaller town, all of which are economically and socially integrated. The balance of the SMA allocation will be used to assist developmental activities in suburbs and small cities, and in counties. The formula would be oriented to need. It would take into account population, degree of over-crowding, condition of housing units, and the proportion of families with incomes below the poverty line. All of the activities which are eligible for support under the present urban development categorical grants would be eligible for support under special revenue sharing of this type. Cities could use this money to acquire, clear and renew blighted areas, to construct public works such as water and sewer facilities, to enforce building codes in deteriorating areas, to rehabilitate residential properties, and to support the type of activities for which model cities supplemental grants have been authorized — for example: for demolition purposes, to make relocation payments to families that have been disrupted, and the like. The decisions on which these activities will be undertaken in each community and what portion of the available funds will be channeled into each activity, however, gentlemen, would be made locally. No federal approval would be required for any activity. Neither application nor matching local shares will be necessary. Cities will merely have to report in advance how they plan to use their funds and report at the end of the year on how the money was expended. This requirement is included merely to insure that the funds would be used for eligible activities. As in the case of all revenue sharing, racial discrimination and the use of these funds will be strictly prohibited and the rights of all persons to equitable treatment will be protected.

I had a question in Tennessee yesterday about how the people could be protected against abuse in the administration of these programs — in other words, how the people could be protected from elected officials who may decide at this proportionate allocation of these funds. Well, the answer is obvious. Under our system of government if you have no confidence in the electoral process, if you have no confidence in the fairness of our elections, if you have no confidence in the people in office, you can not assure that anything is going to be equitably distributed. But the important point I made to my interrogator was this: There is no greater assurance that fairness and equitableness exists in Washington, D. C. to a greater extent than it does in North Carolina or in Raleigh or any other city or county of any state in this country. I personally resent, as a former local and state official in the executive branch, the insinuations that are constantly rising from the Congress of the United States that there is something about local and state government that should be watched. I resent the implications that there is a greater repository of skill and knowledge as revealed in Divine Truth in Washington than there is in this legislative body. And I will continue to advocate a return of more authority to the government closest to the people which, of course, is the government which governs best.

Now, let me talk for a moment about rural development special revenue sharing. Here is an area, my friends, that's been so terribly neglected in past years. North Carolina does very well under this program. Its share is forty-seven million three hundred nine thousand dollars. Its share under the programs — the categorical programs that form the program — was only thirty-six million four hundred and fifty thousand dollars, making a net gain for the State of ten million eight hundred and fifty-nine thousand dollars for rural development.

Rural areas have been badly neglected for a long time. In 1940, thirty million Americans were living on farms. Today that number has diminished to ten million. A nation that was 75% rural only a hundred years ago is 73% urban today. The median family income in non-metropolitan areas is 22% below that in metropolitan areas. And yet there seems to be little awareness of the hardship and poverty that exists in rural areas, because our efforts have been so highly concentrated — and rightly so, to some extent — in our urban areas which have been deteriorating rapidly. But these facts do show a need for economic diversification and revitalization of rural areas.

The rural community development program is funded at 1.1 billion and I am not going into the details again because of the time problem except to say that each of the fifty states plus Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Guam will get 1% of the money and the remaining 47% will be distributed by the Secretary of Agriculture in accordance with a formula that takes into account the state's rural population, its rural per-capita income and its rural population change. Funds available to a state will equal or surpass funds presently available, as I said before. These funds can be used for almost any purpose, but only for rural areas. A rural area is a county or a similar political subdivision which is not included in the standard metropolitan statistical area and has less than 100 persons per square mile. There are over 28 hundred such counties eligible for rural special revenue sharing. The federal government will require a statewide development plan outlining programs for metropolitan, suburban, smaller city and rural areas, alike. The purpose of this is to encourage statewide coordination of planning. These plans would be submitted by the state governors to the secretaries of HUD and Agriculture but, again, there will be no prior approval of plans required for the distribution of the money.

Transportation's special revenue sharing, the fifth category, means to North Carolina forty-one million three hundred and eighty-four thousand dollars. The existing share under the categories folded into special revenue sharing was thirty-eight million, so it's a net gain of three million three hundred eighty-four thousand for the state of North Carolina. Now, these are divided — these monies are divided into two categories. Of the two billion dollars, two and a half billion dollars available for the whole country, five hundred and twenty-five million will be restricted to urban mass transit capital investment and two million forty-one thousand dollars will be allocated for other broad transportation meetings. No state will receive less under this program than it previously received under the categorical programs to be consolidated — no matching; no federal approval, no maintenance of effort. States will be required to coordinate their plans, of course, between the special revenue sharing for urban and rural areas. The Civil Rights Act, of course, is expressly extended to cover this.

The final special revenue sharing program is education. This means for North Carolina ninety-nine million three hundred sixty-one thousand dollars which is equivalent to the amount that you presently receive under the categorical programs that are being folded into this one. So you have no net gain, but no loss, of course. These funds will be used in five broad areas. Education of the disadvantaged will get 51% of the funds, supporting materials and service — 17%, assistance to federally impacted areas — 14%, vocational education — 12%, and education of the handicapped — 6%. States will be allowed to transfer up to 30% from any one of these broad areas to the other, but there are two areas where the money will not go through the states but will go directly to the local school districts or the local governments having general jurisdiction and responsibility for the schools. These are the areas of disadvantaged people and the areas of federal impaction. These monies would go directly through and not be controlled by the state. No state will receive less money than it receives under the present system. The funds are not for higher education. They are for primary and secondary education. However, special provision is made under education of the handicapped for pre-school assistance, and under vocational education for post-secondary school assistance.

Now the funds will be distributed on the basis of a statutory formula which will take into account each state’s total school age population — that’s five to seventeen years — the number of children from low income families, and the number of students whose parents live or work on federal property. 57% roughly will pass through to local educational agencies, and about 43% will be retained by the state. That’s an average figure. Each state will be required to publish a plan which will be adopted only after reasonable opportunity has been given to interested persons for comment. And each state will be required to appoint an advisory council representative of the public and educational community. States will not be required to seek prior federal approval, however. Ninety categorical educational programs will not be included in this and 88 of these will continue to exist as categories. The total education budget for 1972 for continued categorical programs that are totally unaffected by this will be about 3½ billion dollars. To augment education revenue sharing, the President has proposed an emergency school act to provide 1½ billion dollars over a two-year period to help meet the special needs of desegregation of the nation’s schools, in accordance with the Supreme Court’s edict. He has in addition proposed a national institute of education to serve as a focal point to identify and stimulate solutions to educational problems and to help school systems put the result of their experimentation into practice.
It should be pointed out that the $5 billion in general revenue sharing funds will be to a large extent used to upgrade educational services. That's in addition to these special revenue funds. I don't know what your percentage of State effort to support education is in North Carolina, but I would assume it probably is somewhere close to 50% of your total effort. If that is true, then it would be reasonable to expect that an even higher percentage of the general revenue sharing funds going to the State will be used for education because new programs seem to have a higher percentage of educational output than old ones.

Now just let me take a few minutes talking about the alternatives of revenue sharing which you have heard discussed in Washington and in some areas of the country. They have been discussed only as ideas. No one has fully flushed out a proposal, although I understand that there are some — one came out yesterday from Senator Muskie. I haven't had a chance to look at it so I won't comment on it — it was just released yesterday. There have been other proposals of welfare take-over that Mr. Mills has discussed briefly.

Now let's lay to rest the myth that a welfare take-over will do the job of revenue sharing. First of all, the nationalization of welfare is not a substitute for revenue sharing. Instead of decentralizing the rapidly growing power of the federal government, it would add to it. While I endorse under certain balances a greater federal participation in welfare to achieve equitable standards and to possibly handle the areas of welfare that are being administered by the federal government — such as social security, old age assistance, and the like — welfare reform is not and never can be a substitute for revenue sharing. It will not offer a permanent growing source of revenue to the states, and it certainly will not reform the national disaster that is our welfare system today.

If North Carolina decided to go the route of preferring a welfare reform of the type proposed by Chairman Mills to the revenue sharing program I am talking about, the difference in the monies to be received under general revenue sharing will be $41,500,000 in a welfare take-over as opposed to $113,500,000 in revenue sharing. I don't think that leaves you with a very difficult decision.

A federal take-over of welfare costs would benefit relatively few states at the expense of most, which means not only is it unworkable and inequitable but it is not feasible of political passage. It will do virtually nothing for the many local governments which don't carry part of the welfare load at present. Thirty-seven states would receive less cash benefit under welfare federalization than they would under revenue sharing. Of the few that would benefit, now get this figure, three — New York, California, and Pennsylvania — will receive fifty-one percent of the total relief. Sixty-two percent of the relief will go to the ten richest states: five percent will go to the ten poorest states. Only twenty percent will go to local governments, and three-quarters of that twenty percent will go to local governments in only two states.

Now the rate of increase for welfare has been enormous. It needs reform. President Nixon has proposed a reform. To show you how bad it's escalatknows it. Moreover, there are great differentials in the payment of AFDC, aid for dependent children recipients, on a state-by-state comparison. For example, in Mississippi, a single AFDC recipient gets $12.10 a month, whereas in New York he gets $77.60 a month, a six to one differential. What we seek is the enactment of a revenue sharing program that will strengthen state and local governments throughout the United States and a reform of the present disasterous welfare system. We don't care how these things come about or which happens first; we know they both have to happen if we are going to pull ourselves out of this desperate situation that we face.

Now, in conclusion, let me say that it must be obvious to those of you who are experienced hands here in the government of North Carolina that there has been a pressing philosophy that more dollars will do any job, that it doesn't make any difference whether the program is workable — if you put enough money into it, you're going to succeed. I don't subscribe to that technique. I know as a member of state and local government myself that you can put any number of dollars into a bad program and you just lose more dollars, that that's why we need to reform our system — to place the responsibility closer to the people, to allow state and local officials to exercise the necessary flexibility to meet critical conditions. The bureaucracy in Washington is not omnipotent, nor is it infallible. As a matter of fact, in many cases it's just plain intransigent and arrogant to a degree beyond belief.

What we need from you as the Legislature of North Carolina, whether you accept this revenue sharing proposal or some other, is a recognition conveyed to your Congressional representatives that you need this assistance from the federal government to give you the resources to apply your special and particular expertise in the area of state governmental problems. We don't feel that a continuation of a path where the assessment of needs is left to Washington for every state and locality in this country is feasible. It's hard enough, as you know, to master the intricacies of the legislation that stands before you each day, to know how to vote intelligently on the problems of North Carolina. If it's that hard for you, imagine how impossible it is — regardless of how brilliant those bureaucrats may be — for them to make a local decision for a small town in North Carolina, to decide your state priorities and at the same time to look at a problem in New York City or one in the State of California and always come up with the right answer.

Now, the problem in this thing is very simple, my friends. It's a problem that everybody wants revenue sharing but nobody in Washington knows it. Seventy-seven per cent of the people, by Gallop poll, want to see some form of revenue sharing. Yet you can read the Washington Post, the New York Times, the news magazines — what I call the national news media — day after day and find absolutely no attention is given to the clamor that is rising throughout the country for this relief and assistance.
The only answer to penetrate that foggy generalizing that has been prevalent in the news reporting is for you as members of state and local governments to get up and go to Washington if you have to and testify in hearings about this — to make known to your Congressmen your wishes, the urgency of your fiscal requirements. I hope you will do that. I hope that this over-view of the President’s revenue sharing proposals that I have been able to give you in this time this morning will be helpful to you in following through on it. If you have other questions, the Office of Intergovernmental Relations, which is the responsibility of the Vice President’s office in Washington, would be glad to hear your inquiries on a specific basis and would be glad to discuss with you any problems of a unique nature that you may discern are prevalent here in this State.

Again, I want to express my appreciation to Governor Scott, to the President of this body and the Speaker, for your courtesy in allowing me this time to come before you to explain these proposals.

Thank you very much.

REMARKS BY SENATOR CARL D. KILLIAN BEFORE THE SENATE ON THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1971.

On January 27, I issued the third in a series of reports to the folks back home entitled A Freshman in the State House. This report was entitled Teachers' Salaries — Revenue Picture. In this report, after contacting Mr. Justice in the Budget Bureau and six other people knowledgeable in State fiscal matters, I concluded that we would probably wind up with around 16.8 million dollars or so. Put it another way, enough to give each State employee 1% increase in salary including retirement and social security benefits. If we limited it to Classroom teachers it would take 7.6 million.

I also stated that any increase beyond that was almost out of the question, but that Federal Revenue Sharing, passage of the sales tax, marked upswing in the economy or internal transfers in the budget of the State Board of Education.

Our budget figure is now out — the estimated figure of new monies is now 18.3 as compared with the $12,300 figure we started with.
Supplemental requests for this 18.3 now amount to well over 700 million and should all tax reduction bills be passed and all special bills carrying appropriations should be passed, it would probably shoot up close to a billion.

My other ten reports have dealt with money (some of my time here has been spent on women and liquor, but I have tried to say as little as possible about this to the home folks).

Keeping our Tax structure intact, Justice Higgins says, How Far Can State Government Go. — Legislative Pension Plan, Medical Assistance Deficits.

I am convinced that we must do two things if we expect to continue our services on a relatively high plane, and continue a program of fiscal soundness.

Since my thinking of money has centered to some extent on education, I will concentrate on that — particularly teachers' salaries.

I don't question one minute that there is one thing in any of the budgets that is not needed. There probably are items that could be left out or postponed.

The Governor's Budget for Public Education, for example, is $145,961,000.00 above that of the last biennium. This is considerably above the $112,000,000.00 or so that came last year from soft drinks, tobacco and gasoline taxes. This is a lot of money and I am sure some could be diverted to further improve teachers' salaries if that is desired. The same type of thing holds true of most other budgets.

We simply must take a hard look at our programs. Since I am four times "dead" politically, I am bold enough to suggest that we should examine some of our stereotyped concepts. For example, how did we happen to select the national average as our goal for teachers' salaries? I dare say that every State in the country below the national average is trying to do the same thing we are, and those above are striving to move to a higher bracket. It seems to me to be similar to trying to catch up with your own shadow.

Despite the fact that I believe we need to take a hard look at programs — state reorganization, higher education, welfare, public health, infant and child care, etc. — I personally feel that we should come back down here in January to study in depth these programs. Not necessarily make final decisions.

I am convinced that we must start thinking now about more money in the next biennium. As a member of the Finance Committee and as a member who doesn't care in the least whether he comes back next time, and as one who's already four times politically dead I began to think about some way to dramatize my conviction that if we are to have new and improved programs we must begin to think new and increased taxes.

I have decided to use newspaper advertising as an item that will stir things up. What happens to me in the process is inconsequential. I thoroughly believe in the freedom of the press but I don't believe that the Constitution ever intended that this meant that newspapers should be free from taxation.

Hence, I am today introducing a bill which imposes a tax of 3% of the gross receipts derived from the sale of advertising services and advertising space.

It is my sincere hope that newspapers will assume this fair share of the tax burden gracefully and help in bringing us information on how we can distribute the tax burden as equitably as possible.

Some of my friends tell me that I will be crucified. If this happens, I ask that you stick to the facts and I am making the one advertising piece used in my campaign of my schedule for the five months available to you.

When I retired I had twelve state and national assignments. I have never been associated with a more able and dedicated group of people than those here in the North Carolina General Assembly. I suggest that the news media people use their time and talents in helping us come to grips with the problems confronting us rather than ridicule us. It will cost me something over $8,000.00 of my life's savings for the high privilege of serving my State to the very best of my abilities and I don't regret one penny of it.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Distinguished guests, members of the General Assembly of North Carolina. I am deeply grateful for your invitation to address this legislature in Joint Session. This is a very great personal honor I shall not forget.

I could not come to North Carolina and speak before this body without mentioning one of my most distinguished predecessors as Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, the Honorable Robert L. Doughton, a former member of the Senate of North Carolina.

Chairman Doughton served the people of North Carolina and the nation, for many years, starting with the 62nd Congress and ending with the 82nd Congress. Bob Doughton was a strong man both intellectually and physically. His contributions to sound tax and fiscal policy, and to progressive social welfare legislation, will long be remembered.

All who were privileged to know Bob Doughton would agree that he was a master at reducing complex problems to a simple matter of choosing a course of good common sense. In all his years in the Congress, he never lost touch with the people of North Carolina. It was, primarily, through my long association with Chairman Doughton that I first came to have an appreciation for this State, its resources, its beauty, and its people. So it is with a great deal of personal feeling that I speak to you today.
Mr. Doughton always started with the people, and so shall I.

It is said that people of this, the “Tar Heel State”, got the name not because of their own lack of ability to stick and fight, but due to the possible shortcomings of others in that regard. The history of this State’s development bears out the strong pioneer heritage of North Carolinians. I am told that more than 99 out of every 100 North Carolinians were born in the United States. This is truly an amazing figure for this day and age. It is particularly surprising in view of the success this State has had in attracting new industry to locate here. Indeed, your most attractive resource was described by a European who recently settled here. He said of the people of this State: “Their roots are deep and they have maintained much of their proud heritage; it has produced a people of warmth, depth and solidarity. These people will help all newcomers meet their challenge.”

It is obvious that there will be newcomers to North Carolina. Increasing numbers of American and foreign visitors are discovering the beauty of your mountains in the west and the recreational opportunities along the coast. The manufacturing area in the Piedmont continues to attract additional investment and new industry.

Along with the attractiveness of this State in terms of its citizens, its natural resources and beauty, and its climate, is the climate that is created by its government. North Carolina has long been known for its progressive-ness in government. The name of Governor Charles B. Aycock is well known by educators and others throughout the country for his great program to improve this State’s public school system. At a very early date, the creation of a State Highway Commission and its road building program earned for North Carolina in the 1920’s the title of the “Good Roads State.”

North Carolina long has been the number one manufacturer of tobacco products, a leading producer of textiles and the wooden furniture center of the United States. However, the emphasis that the leaders of this State have placed on education and sound economic development policies has brought about a growth and diversification in manufacturing activity that has resulted in a new definition of the term “industrial development.”

The people of this State, I am sure, are rightfully proud of the leadership their elected officials have provided over the years. The “habit of good government” from the local level to the State House and this distinguished body is recognized throughout this nation. Certainly, in terms of my own personal experience in the Congress, I know of no State that is more ably represented than the State of North Carolina.

As a member of Congress from a State which values the contributions of the farm community, I cannot fail to recognize the leading role that your State has in the production and export of tobacco, as well as the importance of other cash crops and of other types of farming activity to the economy of this State.

Typical of the progressive attitude in North Carolina is the North Carolina Research Triangle. Typical also, is the leadership of a man like Governor Luther H. Hodges under whose direction this great complex of in-industry, commerce, culture and higher education was conceived and developed. I understand that a new research area at Charlotte has been initiated, the University Research Park. It is little wonder that people from North Carolina contend that this State is number one in the South and offer statistics to back up that claim.

I would like to return to my good friend Governor Hodges for a moment, because he is a man who in the early 1960's shouldered a great deal of responsibility for developing and implementing President Kennedy's seven-point textile program, which was announced ten years ago on May 2, 1961. I am aware of your great interest in a healthy and growing textile industry, as evidenced by the views expressed in Resolution 46, adopted by this General Assembly on April 13 of this year. I should like to state my position on the matter of the Declaration of the Japanese textile industry and where we stand in obtaining an acceptable solution to the problem of continually increasing textile imports.

First, however, I would like to recognize here in North Carolina the debt of gratitude all of us owe to Governor Hodges for his role in the implementation of the textile program of President Kennedy. Through his leadership, many of the problems facing the textile industry in the early 1960's were dealt with, effectively and with dispatch.

Needless to say, all of the problems facing producers of textiles and apparel in this country did not disappear. Indeed, the rapid increase in imports of cotton textiles this country experienced in the late 1950's and early 1960's has been repeated as imports of manmade fiber textiles have risen.

The Administration has had two years of international negotiations on the textile problem which have not succeeded. For over six months the Congress struggled with trade legislation which could have provided meaningful restraints on textile imports. As you know, we did pass a bill through the House. Our efforts, however, came to naught, primarily due to the misconception on the part of the present Administration that it is possible to get legislation through the Congress which contains the relief for the textile industry, but which is not responsive to other industries facing similar problems.

I have become greatly concerned that the passage of time without meaningful restraints — or any kind of restraints for that matter — on imports of textiles of manmade fiber not only enlarges the problems created for the textile industry and its workers, but with each passing day makes reasonable, constructive, and timely accommodation on this problem all the more unlikely.

I understand the position of our textile producers and the reasons they find the terms of the Japanese declaration unacceptable. I think, however, that all of us must face up to the very serious difficulties of trying to legislate on textiles alone, particularly in light of the experience of last year.

I believe that the Japanese declaration is a step in the right direction. I hope the other major textile-exporting countries will undertake similar measures. In the face of constantly rising imports, the form of restraint is not nearly as important as the recognition that the problem of textile trade is an international problem that requires cooperation through reasonable restraints. For there does not exist today any mechanism for bringing our textile imports into reasonable balance with our own textile production, short of measures which would bring chaos to the whole of our trading community. Certainly, such a development is in no one's interest.

To my mind the long-run interest of the textile industry and its workers will best be served by removal of the overall threat of ever-increasing textile imports and ever-shrinking shares of the domestic market for our own textile and apparel producers. I believe a sound base exists for removing that "sword of Damocles" with decisive and statesmanlike action as soon as possible. Failing that, we must, of course, find some way through Congressional action to preserve this vital industry.

Now, let me turn to another very vital subject. Since the beginning of this Congress, the Committee on Ways and Means has been meeting almost daily in work sessions on a measure that will provide comprehensive reform of the public welfare system. As State legislators, I need not review for you the size and shape of what has come to be called our welfare mess. The results of the committee's deliberation have been made public. I am sure you will be reviewing the provisions of H. R. 1, as it has been ordered reported by the Committee on Ways and Means, as you examine the budget for your own State's public welfare program.

I do have some preliminary indications of the savings to North Carolina in welfare program expenditures under H. R. 1, the social security and welfare amendments of 1971, as ordered reported by the Committee on Ways and Means. It is my understanding that the proposed budget for welfare expenditures in North Carolina for fiscal year 1973 is just under $91 million. Under H. R. 1, the cost to the State and to the counties of all cash payments to welfare recipients would be virtually eliminated. The only remaining State and local welfare costs would be for medicaid and social services. It is more than likely there will be further savings in State medicaid costs under the provisions of the new health insurance legislation which will be considered later this year.

Thus, I am sure that you will find that the Committee has been successful in developing legislation which will greatly reduce and in most areas almost completely eliminate the mounting burden that the State and its local governments are facing in their welfare programs.

I can assure you that neither I nor the Committee on Ways and Means considers the 1971 amendments to the social security and welfare programs to constitute a complete answer to the President's revenue sharing proposal or an end to the concern the Committee has for the financial burdens now being experienced by most State and local governments.

On June 2, the Committee on Ways and Means will begin public hearings on the President's general revenue sharing proposal which is the subject of a "hard sell" by certain officials in this Administration.
I am sure you have read the results of some of the public opinion polls that allegedly show the great grass roots support for revenue sharing. I am always a bit leery of these polls on matters of public interest which are simple in neither their implications nor application. My own mail, and that of the Committee, in no way corresponds to what these polls allegedly show.

When it comes to money, everyone wants their share and, of course, there are some who always want a little bit more. Thus, the question arises as to why a proposal to share money needs to be sold at all to the potential recipients.

I have my own theories about this irresponsible scheme. The first and most important is that the "no-strings-attached" revenue sharing would be a first mortgage on the future independence and freedom of action of every State and local government in this country.

As legislators, you are aware that one general assembly cannot enact legislation which would tie the hands of future general assemblies. It is just as clear that "no-strings-attached" revenue sharing enacted in 1971 would not assure that severe, perhaps deadly, strings would not be attached to general revenue sharing in future years.

Already, the "no-strings-attached" aspect of this revenue sharing proposal has been qualified. It has been made clear that the Department of Justice and the Department of Treasury would have to monitor the activities of the State and local governments to assure against discrimination under any program or activity funded with general revenue sharing funds. In this day and age, no one can reasonably object to that "string", for it already exists in grants-in-aid and other programs. However, in the years to follow when the amount of this shared revenue becomes substantial, who here believes that other "good ideas" will not become the basis for monitoring State and local government activity by federal agencies.

One revenue sharing proposal pending in the Congress already contains provisions for federal standards to achieve "efficiency" in State and local governments. I am sure this Body is imaginative enough to think of other "good ideas" which could become the subject of "needed" federal control which could be imposed through the instrument of revenue sharing.

Revenue sharing is not a revolutionary tool to bring new vitality and financial independence to government officials at local and State levels. It is more in the nature of a Trojan horse from which at the appropriate time will spring new rules and strictures on the activities of those very governmental bodies who are being wooed by this gift from Troy.

In addition to the future dangers involved in the loss of independence by State and local governments from increasing dependence on funds from the Federal Government, there is a basic principle of government involved in so-called general revenue sharing. This is simply the principle that elected officials who have the privilege of deciding how public funds are to be spent should have the responsibility for approving the taxes which provide the source of those funds.
I am sure that this legislature would not like to have the responsibility for raising taxes in this State and have absolutely no say over how those tax funds are to be spent. If revenue sharing is indeed a proposal to save our Federal system, its proponents have in mind a far different type of Federal system in terms of government responsibility that I learned about when I studied the history of the founding of this Nation.

A third aspect of this great proposal for revenue sharing which no proponent has been able to explain away is the inconsistencies and discriminatory aspects of what has been called a “mutually acceptable formula for passing money on to the local level”.

No where are the capricious results of this aspect of revenue sharing more evident than in your own State of North Carolina. The largest metropolitan area in the State, Charlotte, with a population of 241,000 would get $1.6 million under revenue sharing, while Greensboro with a population only 60 percent as large, 144,000 people, would receive $1.2 million in revenue sharing funds, 75% as much. Moreover, Charlotte would receive substantially less from revenue sharing than the cities of equal size in other areas. For example, Dayton, Ohio, which is almost the same size as Charlotte, would get $4.1 million under revenue sharing, nearly 2½ times the aid to be received by Charlotte.

Let me give you some other examples: Durham, North Carolina, has a population only 5,000 smaller than Duluth, Minnesota, or Cambridge, Massachusetts. Under the general revenue sharing proposal, Durham would receive $627,000. In contrast, Duluth, would receive $791,000 or 26% more, and Cambridge would receive almost $1.5 million or 2½ times as much money as Durham.

Even within your own State, there are several gross disparities. The population of Winston-Salem is 133,000 which is 9% or 11,000 greater than Raleigh. Winston-Salem would receive $1,036,000 while Raleigh would receive $564,000. In other words, the city with a 9% greater population would receive 84% more money under revenue sharing.

These are some of the difficulties and shortcomings of the general revenue sharing proposal. I am sure the hearings to be held by the Ways and Means Committee will bring to light additional reasons why this deceivingly simple proposal will not become law.

Having reviewed the needs of State and local governments in the area of welfare, I am very well aware of the crushing burden that both State and local governments are faced with in these days of increasing demands on existing services and additional demands for new governmental services. Frankly, I have never been one who is attracted to the idea that if you throw enough money at a problem it will go away. This approach indeed is somewhat responsible for the fact that the Federal Government does not have available revenue to share — it only has increasing Federal deficits. We just raised the Federal debt ceiling by $35 billion. Our debt now is over $400 billion — greater than it has ever been. We have had one deficit on top of another.
The financial problems of State and local governments require more than a hand-out of Federal funds. They require sound and well thought-out legislation under which the Federal Government in partnership with State governments and city governments can determine priorities among programs and purposes, and fund such programs on a rational basis.

It is ludicrous to claim that those of us who oppose revenue sharing have no appreciation for the needs to which revenue sharing would be directed; nothing could be further from the truth. It is my belief that the 92nd Congress will be responsive to those needs, as is indicated by the social security and welfare amendments, to which I referred earlier, and the other measures being developed and considered in the Congress.

Progress in this area cannot come from warmed-over proposals that were developed at a time when it was assumed that the Federal Government would have a surplus of revenue. Progress in meeting the needs of State and local governments can come from two sources. One source is well thought-out legislation which is sensitive to the divergent factors which affect the financial resources of any community. The second and most important source is enlightened State and local officials who have the foresight to plan programs responsive to the needs of the people and the political fortitude to find the financial resources with which such programs can be financed. By its own record, this Assembly is doing just that.

S. R. 827, A RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING AND DIRECTING THE LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH COMMISSION TO STUDY AND INVESTIGATE THE OCCURRENCE OF INJURIES AND FATALITIES CAUSED BY ACCIDENT AND ACUTE ILLNESSES AMONG PERSONS IN NORTH CAROLINA AND TO FORMULATE A COMPREHENSIVE EMERGENCY CARE SERVICE SYSTEM IN THE STATE.

Whereas, an alarming and shocking result of the complexity of modern life is the unnecessary and senseless tragedy of human suffering, disability and death caused by uncoordinated use of existing medical care facilities, underutilization of transportation and communication technologies, and underdevelopment of trained emergency service personnel; and

Whereas, numerous efforts have been directed at various aspects of the problem across the nation and including, in North Carolina, the Cadmus-Ketner Ambulance Service Study in 1965, the General Assembly's ambulance regulation legislation in 1967, the extensive study of hospital emergency rooms by the Medical Care Commission in 1970, continuing projects by the Governor's Highway Safety Committee and many private projects and local government studies, but there is no operational comprehensive State plan for providing and maintaining an effective and reliable system of emergency care for all persons in the State; and

Whereas, hospital emergency rooms are being flooded with both emergency and non-emergency patients (in 1969 North Carolina hospitals received 1,200,000 emergency room visits, one and one-half times the number of inpatients discharged during the same period) creating increasing demands on the limited facilities, finances and personnel in hospitals, and particularly smaller ones, at a time when availability of medical personnel in smaller communities is drastically diminishing and the advances in medical capability and technology in medical centers and the armed forces are dramatically multiplying; and

Whereas, statewide training and licensing requirements and standards have been established by the State Board of Health for ambulance operators and vehicles, and numerous counties have met the need for emergency transportation with organization and funding but many areas of the State are inadequately served and numerous vehicles and personnel are only minimally qualified and there is no Statewide coordination of various classes of emergency services; and

Whereas, communications between and among fire and police departments, hospitals and training facilities, medical organizations and government agencies, and other essential groups are not effective to permit quick and effective response to highway accidents, home and farm accidents, poison-losses, drownings, heart attacks, acute serious illnesses and other emergencies; and

Whereas, it is imperative that there be planned and developed in North Carolina an adequate system of providing comprehensive emergency medical care throughout the State with sufficient resources to save human lives and diminish the immeasurable emotional burden and vast economic losses of avoidable disability;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate:

Section 1. The Legislative Research Commission is hereby authorized and directed to study and investigate the problem of emergency care in North Carolina.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the Commission to make a thorough and comprehensive study of the condition and capacity of existing resources available for supplying emergency care in this State and to plan and develop a Statewide system which can make use of existing resources and incorporate new resources so that effective and appropriate medical care and emergency services are available to people in this State. The Commission shall review and make use of studies and materials on this matter which have been prepared by governmental and private agencies. It shall examine various alternatives for regionalization, classification, regulation and provision of emergency care facilities and resources and shall take account of areas of responsibility, agreements for mutual support and modern communications systems. It shall solicit and consider ideas and proposals for improvement of accessibility (such as roadside telephones, home and business telephone stickers showing emergency numbers, universal emergency number "911", scattered mobile units), new approaches to transportation (specially equipped helicopters, specially designed vehicles, police station wagons), new levels of training for transportation crews (comprehensive training in coronary care, intravenous injections, resuscitation), use of available and new manpower (military medic veterans, paramedical groups, fire and police personnel), new developments in communications (Statewide emergency room and vehicle voice radio, mobile video monitors, computerized records), improvement of hospital emergency rooms (classification, State financing, 24 hour services, full time physicians), changes in laws (licensing restrictions on medical teamwork and delegation of functions, highway regulations, inter-local cooperation), effective financing mechanisms (State/local support arrangements, bill collection, federal funding), and system development (State operation, regional bases, relation to other states and federal government).

Sec. 3. The departments and agencies of the State shall assist and make themselves available to the Commission as requested, and particularly the North Carolina State Board of Health, North Carolina Medical Care Commission and the Governor's Highway Safety Program.

Sec. 4. The Commission shall report its findings and recommendations to the 1973 General Assembly.

Sec. 5. This resolution shall become effective upon its ratification.
S. R. 871, A RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING AND DIRECTING THE LEGISLATIVE RESEARCH COMMISSION TO MAKE A COMPLETE IN-DEPTH STUDY OF THE DEPARTMENT OF MENTAL HEALTH AND RELATED PROGRAMS AND TO MAKE RECOMMENDATIONS TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Whereas, North Carolina has for many years realized that it is in the best interest of the State to provide proper care, treatment and research in order to promote the mental health of the citizens; and

Whereas, the Department of Mental Health has made progress in the area of mental health through its various programs and facilities; and

Whereas, the General Assembly does not have available an up-to-date in-depth study of the mental health programs, facilities, and needs of the State; and

Whereas, due to the growing use of drugs, alcohol and the stress of the times, there is an increasing demand for mental health care; and

Whereas, the State cannot render the kind of mental health services and provide for the future needs without an in-depth study of the present services provided on the State, local and private levels:

Now therefore, be it resolved by the Senate:

Section 1. The Legislative Research Commission is hereby authorized and directed to conduct an in-depth investigation and study of the Department of Mental Health and all related programs to determine whether sufficient facilities, treatment, care, supervision, guidance, rehabilitation, and mental health services are being provided for the mentally ill, mentally retarded, alcoholics and drug addicts of the State. The study shall include, but not be limited to, an evaluation of facilities, professional and staff personnel, custodial care, State, local and other related mental health programs, funding, and every aspect of the organization and operation of the Department of Mental Health.

Sec. 2. The Commission is authorized to employ such experts, consultants, professional and technical personnel, as it deems necessary to make a complete in-depth study of the Department of Mental Health and related programs.

Sec. 3. The Commission shall make its report and findings and recommendations to the 1973 General Assembly.

Sec. 4. This resolution shall become effective upon ratification.

H. J. R. 1518, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF IRVING EDWARD CARLYLE, FORMER MEMBER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND SENATE FROM FORSYTH.

Whereas, Irving Edward Carlyle was born the son of a Latin professor at Wake Forest College on September 29, 1896, and graduated summa cum laude from that institution in 1917; and
Whereas, Irving Carlyle spent several years as a teacher, coach, soldier and law student, and in 1922 turned to the law, and became one of North Carolina’s most able and distinguished men at the bar; and

Whereas, Irving Carlyle dedicated himself to every good public cause around him — serving as State Representative and State Senator, President of the Chamber of Commerce and North Carolina Bar Association, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Wake Forest University and Trustee of East Carolina University and Goucher College, prime mover in establishment of a four-year medical school at the University of North Carolina, champion of the campaign to move Wake Forest University to Winston-Salem, and defender of the University of North Carolina up to the time of his death on June 5, 1971; and

Whereas, Irving Carlyle had the courage to state in a keynote speech at the State Democratic Convention in Raleigh immediately following the historic school desegregation decision in Brown vs. Board of Education in May 1954: “The Supreme Court of the United States has spoken. As good citizens we have no other course except to obey the law as laid down by the court. To do otherwise is to cost us our respect for law and order, and if we lose that in these critical times, we will have lost that quality which is the source of our strength as a state and as a nation.”

Whereas, Irving Carlyle helped shape the sound proposals of the 1963 Carlyle Commission on Education Beyond High School, and was working even at the time of his death to see that the University of North Carolina remained the capstone of higher education; and

Whereas, Irving Carlyle devoted himself to service through a host of organizations and institutions, the most important of which he ranked in the following order: his family, the law, Wake Forest University and the Democratic Party; and

Whereas, the foregoing facts tell less than enough about Irving Carlyle’s gracious spirit, his optimism, his smile, his capacity for accepting defeat along with victory and the great spirit reflected in his love for athletics and in his motto: “The best is yet to be”; and

Whereas, Irving Carlyle has left us and future generations a valuable lesson in the importance of striving after noble goals, in standing up and speaking out on matters of conscience when to do so requires courage and produces disappointment; and

Whereas, Irving Carlyle’s monument remains secure in the hearts and minds of his fellow North Carolinians;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives; the Senate concurring:

Section 1. The General Assembly of North Carolina expresses its appreciation for the life, the service and the example of Irving Edward Carlyle.

Sec. 2. That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the minutes of both the House of Representatives and the Senate and that copies of the same shall be duly certified by the Secretary of State and by him transmitted to Mrs. Irving Edward Carlyle of Winston-Salem, his wife, and their two daughters, Mrs. Robert Dalton Byerly and Mrs. Hugh Campbell, Jr. of Charlotte.

Sec. 3. This resolution shall become effective upon ratification.

H. J. R. 1537, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE AND MEMORY OF KENNETH CLAIBORNE ROYALL.

Whereas, Kenneth Claiborne Royall, a native of Wayne County, but a citizen of the world, lawyer, legislator, humanitarian, soldier, statesman, died on May 25, 1971, in his seventy-sixth year, after a long and constructive life of service to the people of his State and nation, it is fit and proper that this General Assembly in which he served take note of his eminent contributions to mankind;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, that:

Section 1. His undergraduate education was obtained at the University of North Carolina, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts in 1914. He was a faithful son of the University and served as president of its General Alumni Association.

His admission to the Bar of his home State in 1916, one year before obtaining the degree of Bachelor of Laws from the Harvard University School of Law, marked the beginning of a long and illustrious career before numerous federal courts and the courts of several states as well as service as President of the North Carolina Bar Association.

He was active in North Carolina political life, serving in the Senate and as a presidential elector.

Having already once served his country in the Field Artillery in World War I, he left his Goldsboro law practice in 1942 to serve again in World War II, rising to the rank of Brigadier General. His decorations included the Distinguished Service Medal.

In 1942, upon special appointment by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and before a special session of the United States Supreme Court, he courageously accepted the unpopular task of defending eight German saboteurs caught entering our East Coast by submarine; and his defense of these saboteurs will long be remembered in the annals of law.

In 1947, he was appointed Secretary of War, the last person to serve in that position and subsequently the first to serve as Secretary of Army. The world will remember his accomplishments in these posts, dealing with such matters of historical moment as the reduction of the War Department to a peacetime basis; the economic rehabilitation of Germany, Japan, Austria, Korea and Trieste; the Greek Civil War and various Turkish situations. His administrative endeavors included the reorganization of the Army and the Air Force; revision of War Courts Martial Sentences; liberalization of the Manual for Court-Martial and new procurement regulations. Under his leadership, the early steps toward racial integration of the Army and Air Force were begun.

In 1949, he became senior partner in the New York firm of Royall, Koegel and Wells which actively engaged in civil practice in the fields of anti-trust and business litigation.

His universal personality is revealed by the diverse organizations and associations to which he belonged or served including Phi Beta Kappa, Harvard Law Review, Delta Kappa Epsilon, the Episcopal Church, delegate-at-large to the Democratic National Convention of 1964, member of John F. Kennedy's Presidential Racial Commission and trustee of the John Fitzgerald Kennedy Library.

He was awarded honorary degrees from such institutions as the University of North Carolina, Baylor University, Xavier University and Pennsylvania Military College.

In all of his endeavors, his intelligence, courage, compassion and understanding vigorously pursued in the service of his fellowman, earned him the respect and admiration of his colleagues and a debt of thanks from millions who may never know his name.

Sec. 2. The General Assembly recognizes for itself, the people of North Carolina and the citizens of the world profound gratitude for the life and endeavors of Kenneth Claiborne Royall and hereby records its deep respect for his memory.

Sec. 3. Copies of this resolution shall be duly certified by the Secretary of State and transmitted to members of his family.

Sec. 4. This resolution shall become effective upon its ratification.

S. R. 934, A SENATE RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE DIRECTOR OF THE BUDGET TO TRANSFER POSITIONS AND FUNDS TO THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE TO CREATE A CONSOLIDATED CLAIMS SECTION TO HANDLE CLAIMS FOR AND AGAINST THE STATE.

Whereas, the Department of Justice, Attorney General's Office, is the ultimate legal authority representing the State in claims presented against it; and

Whereas, the number of tort claims, workmen's compensation claims, school bus accidents, and other claims for and against the State have increased in volume and in amount in recent years to such an extent that they now occupy the full time of several members of the Department of Justice staff who are assigned to the Board of Education and the State Highway Commission; and

Whereas, economy and efficiency could be effected if the personnel assigned to the investigation, adjustment and handling of these claims for and against the State were consolidated in one office in the Department of Justice, Attorney General’s Office; and

Whereas, there are adjustors now assigned to the Board of Education and to the State Highway Commission, and others assigned to the Department of Justice, all handling such claims, and to effect economical operation, all of their activities should be coordinated through one office;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring:

Section 1. The Director of Budget is hereby authorized to transfer to the Department of Justice the funds appropriated to the State Board of Education, Code 18043, in the amount of $54,727, and the Department of Personnel is authorized to assign the two positions which are assigned to the State Board of Education for handling claims for and against the State, to the Department of Justice, Attorney General’s Office. The Director of the Budget is further authorized and directed to provide for the payment by the Highway Commission to the Department of Justice a sufficient amount to transfer the one adjustor now employed by the Highway Commission to the Department of Justice, Attorney General’s Office, for the handling of claims for and against the State with the expense incident to this position being borne by the Highway Commission funds.

Sec. 2. This resolution shall become effective upon its ratification.

REMARKS BY SENATOR J. RUFFIN BAILEY ON THE FLOOR OF THE SENATE JULY 16, 1971

I have restrained myself most of the day. As you know, this morning's News and Observer came out with what I consider to be one of the most vicious editorials that I have ever read in my life, and it just happened to be about me. It was completely unfounded on any basis of fact whatsoever.

I have been a practicing attorney since 1948 in the city of Raleigh. I have a modest law firm. I represent clients in actions of law and in actions for business purposes that are connected with their legal work. Prior to coming to the North Carolina General Assembly in 1965, I had represented almost every kind of client there was in the State. I have represented certain groups and associations who do have an interest in this Legislature, just like every citizen of the State has an interest in or concern for this Legislature. I have never, since I have been serving as a member of this General Assembly, done any act which I would not face up to with any person. I have never voted for or against any bill because of any client that I may have had beforehand or may have had later. I have never attempted to do anything that I couldn't live with in my clearest conscience, and I resent someone hiding behind the editorial page of a "fish wrapper" paper to come out with such slanderous, libelous comments as came out in that editorial this morning, because I dared to speak out in this General Assembly about the responsibility of the press. I was further quoted the other day in connection with a bill that was postponed indefinitely in the Calendar Committee with a direct quote when I had never made such a quote. This is irresponsible journalism, and I want to go on record as letting them, if they want to continue to slander me, know that I am not ashamed of anything that I have ever done as a member of this General Assembly or as an attorney in the State of North Carolina; but on the contrary, I am proud to have served with every one of you and those that I have served with in the past, and I am proud of the positions that I have taken, whether I have won or lost, and I have no qualms about my service to the public of the State of North Carolina. I want to say one more thing. The people of the State of North Carolina are and should be grateful to you and the others like you who will come up here and serve them, and it gets more and more difficult when irresponsible people will attempt to tear you down and crucify your character when you sacrifice so much for your State and nation.

Thank you very much.

S. J. R. 986, A JOINT RESOLUTION HONORING THE LIFE, SERVICE AND MEMORY OF JUDGE RUDOLPH IVEY MINTZ.

Whereas, Judge Rudolph Ivey Mintz, one of this State's leading jurists and most distinguished citizens, died on February 2, 1970, in Washington, North Carolina, the General Assembly, in recognition of the deep debt which this State and its people owe to Judge Mintz, desires to honor his life, his service and his memory; and

Whereas, Rudolph Ivey Mintz was born January 19, 1907, in Shallotte, Brunswick County, North Carolina, the second of seven sons of Harry L. and Minta Catherine Mintz. He entered North Carolina State College, where he participated fully in campus life as a member of the track team during his freshman and sophomore years, as Assistant Office Secretary of the YMCA, and as a student member of the Faculty Student Honor Committee, graduating with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Civil Engineering in 1929; and
Whereas, after graduation he was employed as an engineering assistant by the Bell Telephone Company in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. In March, 1931, he resigned to return to his home county of Brunswick to succeed his deceased brother as Register of Deeds, serving in that capacity until September, 1939. During this period he pursued the study of law, passing the examination of the Board of Law Examiners in 1939. In September of that year, he was admitted to practice in the courts of the State of North Carolina, and from 1939 to August, 1941, he engaged in the private practice of law in Southport; and

On February 3, 1946, he was discharged from the service as a lieutenant colonel, but continued in the Air Force Reserve until 1962; and

Whereas, during all of his adult life, Judge Mintz devoted his time and talents to the service of this State and its citizens. He was particularly interested in his alma mater and in the Consolidated University of North Carolina. Only a partial listing of his service for over twenty years shows that he was, at various times, a long time member of the Board of Trustees of the University, and, from 1955, a member of the Executive Committee; in 1952-1953, President of the State College Alumni Association; and, in 1957, chairman of a committee to rewrite the Administrative Code, which resulted in the inclusion of a resolution assuring faculty tenure and academic freedom and an amendment assuring protection of procedural and substantive rights of students; and

Whereas, in fitting tribute and recognition of these services and many others, Rudolph Mintz was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by North Carolina State University on May 28, 1966; and

Whereas, on May 18, 1935, he married Mary Stuart Cranmer. To their union were born three children, Mary Minta Mintz, Alice Jeannette Mintz and Rudolph Ivey Mintz, Jr.; and

Whereas, Judge Mintz was active in his church, his community and his profession. He was a member of the Methodist Church, in which he served as Sunday School superintendent, Adult Class teacher, certified lay speaker and, from 1934 to 1963, member of the Official Board. He was a member of the Masonic Order, the American Legion, the Lions Club, the Kiwanis Club, American Bar Association, American Judicature Society, North Carolina State Bar and New Hanover County Bar Association;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring:

Sec. 2. That a certified copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of State to Mrs. Mary C. Mintz at her home in Wilmington, North Carolina.

Sec. 3. That this resolution shall be effective upon ratification.
