EARLY LETTERS FROM SOUTH CAROLINA UPON
NATURAL HISTORY

The letters printed below are from the Sloane Manuscripts, in the British Museum. There is some doubt as to whom they were written; Prof. Charles M. Andrews, in the Guide to Manuscript Materials for the History of the United States to 1783, pp. 51, 69, lists them as letters to Sir Hans Sloane; but Mr. J. A. Herbert, assistant keeper of Mss., British Museum, writes that the Sloane Mss. contains besides the letters to Sir Hans Sloane, "some to Dr. Browne and Mr. Petiver." The letters of Hannah Williams and Joseph Lord, have been indexed in Index to the Sloane Mss., E. J. L. Scott, as letters to James Petiver. An account of Petiver can be found in the Dictionary of National Biography.

Hannah Williams who writes the first letter given here, was in South Carolina before 1692, for as Hannah English widow, she gets a warrant, dated October 25, 1692, for 500 acres of land near Stony Point¹ and in May, 1695, she had another warrant under the name of "Hannah English, alias Williams." She may have been the widow of Mathew English, who arrived here in February 1670, and had a warrant for a town lot as late as 1689.² She was certainly the mother of Henroyda English,³ and married William Williams between 1692 and 1694 Williams arrived with his wife and child 24 December, 1683. He made his will 2d November, ³ This Magazine, vol. xix, 49, 74.

1710, proved 26th October, 1711, as William Williams of Carolina planter, and gives to his son-in-law Henroyda English, all of his estate, real and personal. Hannah Williams, widow to William Williams, declares the above will to have been made with her consent.\footnote{Probate Court, book 1711-'18, p. 16.}

The will of Charles Clarke, of Berkley County, dated November 2, 1694, mentions Mrs. Mary Spragg, daughter of Mrs. Hannah Williams, to whom he leaves a house and lot, bounding on late belonging to Gov. Thomas Smith. Mentions also William Williams, gentleman, of Carolina, and leaves the remainder of his property to William Williams and Mrs. Mary Spragg.\footnote{This Magazine, vol. x, p. 16.}

Mrs. Hannah Williams was buried December 16, 1722.\footnote{St. Philip's Register.}

Joseph Lord, who writes the other letters, was the pastor under whom the settlers from Dorchester Mass. immigrated to the place in South Carolina, which they afterwards named Dorchester also. \textit{"october ye 20−95 was mter Joseph Lord and Increase Sumner and William pratt were dismissed for ye gathering of A church for ye South corelina."}\footnote{Records of the First Church at Dorchester.}

Joseph Lord was of Charlestown, Mass. He had graduated at Harvard in the class of 1691, and at the time of his removal to Carolina, was teaching school, and studying theology in Dorchester. He remained in South Carolina for twenty-five years, returning to Massachusetts in 1720, and on the 15th of June of that year was installed over the church at Chatham, where he remained until his death, June 6th. 1748.\footnote{Howe, History of the Presbyterian Church in South Carolina.}

His sister, Abigail, married John Stevens, who was one of the leading men in the Dorchester settlement, and the ancestor of the present Stevens family in lower South Carolina. John Stevens probably came from New England also, since in his will, dated December 24, 1717, he directs that his sons Samuel and John \textit{"be brought up at the college in New England to good lerning . . . . and my brother Will Titcomb have care of them . . . . ;"} he also leaves a legacy to Joseph Lord Jr., upon condition that he also be sent to college.
Abigail Stevens, in her will dated 30th March, 1735, mentions, among others, her nephew Joseph Lord, son of her brother Rev. Joseph Lord in New England.

[In a different hand and possibly the same hand and ink as the date of the letter's receipt at the head:—

"Mr. Leigh Husband in Aldermanbury" There is no address on the back of the letter, but Andrews & Davenport say it is to
"Sloane," Dr. Scott, Late Head of the MSS. Dep't. of the British Museum, said it was to "James Pettiver" to whom the next letter in the MS. Sloane, 4064 is addressed, and at the bottom of the letter itself though not in Hannah Williams' hand, is "Mr. Leigh Husband."

LETTER FROM JOSEPH LORD

"5. "Sir,

Since that we came by Pensylvania, Dated, Nov. 17, 1706. I have receiv'd no Lett'r from you. I sent a Lett'r & a Box of Collections by Capt. Gill Belcher, ye last year (ye Lett'r dated, Jan. 2, 1706. w'e I hope are come to hand. In yo'r last y't I receiv'd., you mention a Bill of a Bird w'e was sent either by Mad'm Williams or me, concerning w'e I have since written you word, y't. I did not rememb'y't I sent you any such: but I call to mind y't I sent you y'e Bill of a Garr-fish, w'e has sharp teeth set all along both sides: of w'e I have also one now ready to send you, as I have also Divers oth'r things w'e I have collected. Anoth'r sort of Tortoise, y'n that w'e you sent me y'e figure of marked 76.4. I have y'e shell of, w'e I intend to send you e'er long. Here are divers sorts of y'm., tho' I don't often meet w'th y'm. The shell 71.8 & 71.9 is, I suppose, y't w'e y'e wood-snail carries on his back, & houses himself in. I have sent divers of y'm, if I forget not, but perhaps they might be broken before they came at you, for I find y'm very brittle. The Centipes, 74.3 is very like a worm w'th us, w'e, w'n it dies, gathers almost into a circle as yo'r figure represents: but w'n y'e worm is liveing, as it crawls, that side w're y'e feet are seems flat. You figure a Cowry, 80.9. w'e I don't know w't distinguishes from oth'r shells: but yo'r figure puts me in mind of a sort of Insect here, y't is covered w'h hair, between chestnut & ash colour; y'e belly w're of is flat, & y'e two sides run up to a ridge, w're is long' hair y'n on y'e rest of y'e body, & carries some resemblance of hog's bristles. The insect is ab't an inch long, & ab't. half an inch broad at y'e belly; & ab't. as deep from y'e ridge to y'e belly. The year before last came a neighbo'r to me in great pain, & heart-sick, by being bitten by one of y'm in y'e neck; & would (for ought I know) have died, if suitable remedies both inward & outward, had not been applied. I had observed y'e insect before, & would have sent it to you, if I had known how. Yo'r desire thereof prevailed wth me to make some remarks, in my last, on yo* Natural History of Brasile; w* (tho' I know my unskilfulness) I shall now proceed, as well as I can, a little farthr in Ch. 2. 87. The Partridge] That w* is here called a Partridge, we called a Quail in N. Engl*d., w* seems to be of y* colo*r spoken of in this place; but we had a Partridge in N. Engl*d. speckled w* white specks (if I forget not) w* was twice as big as this here in Carolina. 88. The Great Partridge] There was, in N. Engl*d. another Fowl y* resembled y* Partridge, but larger (yet not so large as this great Partridge is Described) w* was called an Heath-hen. 93. American Sparrow] I suppose o*r Red-bird to be a Sparrow; w* is y* same w* Virginia Red-bird; & y*efore I need not describe it. Also w*n I was a boy I caught another sort of red Sparrow; but have forgot wherein it differed from other sparrows, except in being Red. They were rare there. I have some notion y*. I then reckoned it of y* same species w* that w*. a red head: divers whereof had reddish Breasts too: whether it were those y*. were old*y* others, I cannot tell. 94. The Black Sparrow] we had in N. Engl*d. a sparrow w*. a red spot on y* head; but y* body was of a greyish brown colo*r. There is also a Sparrow here y*. is like that of N. England; only y* spot on y* head is not so red. I have heard them in N. Engl*d. called Tom Tits. 95. The Blewish Sparrow] We have here a Sparrow y* is between blew & ash-colo*r, whose bill is white, & his belly & y* outermost feath*r on each side of his tail. 96–101. Divers Starlings are mentioned, & described. We have here two or three sorts of Back birds w* flock togeth*r: y* male of one sort has a scarlet spot on each wing; & y* female is a dark grey almost black. 103. The Swallow] The male, here, is shining black on his back, head, & breast; y* female more is muddy, & on y* breast of a yellowish brown colo*r. 108. The Thistle] That w* was called, in N. Engl*d., a Robin (but at Dorchestr in New England, a Field-fare) I have heard a Lancashire man call a Thistle: It comes hither in y* Wint*r, but is not seen here in y* summ*r. 110.111. We have a Turtle dove here, but wheth*r y* legs be red or white or eith*r I can't now say; but I think y* are red. The New-England wild Pidgeon, is also a large sort of Turtle, w* red legs: they come hith*r sometimes in y* Wint*r. 114–116. Woodpeck*r] We have three or four sorts; some as large as Teal. Thus I end y* 2d Chapt*r of Birds, I cannot now proceed to any oth*r: only Ch. 9. 158. The Dysenterick Vomit] concerning this I wd enquire, is it not Ipecacuanha y't. you here intend? If it be, please to let me know whethr you have had any of it from hence, & at what it's flow'all & berries may likliest be sought. I put a small plant in y'o Lett', w'e in y'o Win't had 5 or 6 Leaves together at y'o top: please to let me know, by y'o next opportunity, what is. Which is all, at present, from

Sir,

Yo'r humble servant

LETTER FROM JOSEPH LORD

"6. "Worthy Sir,

Yo's of Mar. 15, 1708 I received Jun. 30: wrapped up in a Monthly Mercury for January last, w'th. some oth'r Prints, w'e is y'e first News book or Pap'r I ev'r received, of all y't ev'r you sent. You write you are glad to understand I received y'e things y't. you sent last year, & I sh'd have been glad I c'd have given you to understand y't you were rightly informed; for I much regret y'e loss of y'e box & w't was in it. But not going to Charlestown myself, I wrote to desire my friend, Mr. Samuel Eveleigh, to enquire of him ab't it; who sent me word y't. Capt. Belcher's sd, there was indeed such a Box, but he had delivered it to some body, he c'd not tell who; so I nev'r saw it. I thought (as I had written to you) y't. he w'd. have been more carefull than so. I received, indeed, y'e lett'r y't. gave an account of it, & w't was enclosed therein: & delivered to Mr. Henchman's widow, y'e lett'r directed to him, but what you sent to him being put into my box, she came short as well as I. I don't know weth'r yo' directing to me near stony point (from w'e my habitation is 14 or 15 miles distant)mayn't be some disadvantage to me. Mr. Henchman (as Capt. Belcher informed you) died suddenly of an Apoplexy last Novemb'r was twelve month. I have spoken w'th his wife ab't what he left in writeing, w'e I had looked ov'r while he was alive; & she promises to lend y'm me to take copies of, w'e I think to do, & send to you, when I can find opportunity: but multiplicity of business hind'rs much y\textsuperscript{t}. I w\textsuperscript{d} of this nature. Before y\textsuperscript{e} coming of yo\textsuperscript{r} form\textsuperscript{r} by Capt. Belch\textsuperscript{r}, w\textsuperscript{e} I rec\textsuperscript{d}. not till Jun. 16, 1709. tho' it were dated Nov. 30, 1708. I wrote a lett\textsuperscript{r} to you, wherein I proceeded w\textsuperscript{th}. my observations (such as they were) on yo\textsuperscript{r} Natural History of Brasile, as far as y\textsuperscript{e} end of y\textsuperscript{e} second chapt\textsuperscript{r} w\textsuperscript{e} speaks of Birds: wherein also I informed you, y\textsuperscript{t}. I sent no bill of a bird, yet I had sent y\textsuperscript{e} bill of a Garr-fish, w\textsuperscript{e}, perhaps, you might take for y\textsuperscript{e} bill of a fowl; w\textsuperscript{e} I mention here, because yo\textsuperscript{r} mentions nothing of that lett\textsuperscript{r}, w\textsuperscript{e} makes me suspect it's miscarriage. I have a small Box of Collections ready, & sh\textsuperscript{d} have had more, but partly y\textsuperscript{e} inconvenience of doing it w\textsuperscript{th}out collecting-books, partly my much oth\textsuperscript{r} necessary business, & partly y\textsuperscript{r} confusions & distractions of y\textsuperscript{e} countrey, especially at this time, w\textsuperscript{e}, tho' I would, I cannot altogether avoid all concern in, have been an hindrance to me; & w\textsuperscript{th} all being at a great distance from Charlestown, I find great difficulty in getting thith\textsuperscript{r} what I have to send, & many times lose y\textsuperscript{e} opportunity of y\textsuperscript{e} Ship, before I can obtain a conveyance from hence to Charlestown. In that Box I have put such anoth\textsuperscript{r} bill, besides many oth\textsuperscript{r} things, w\textsuperscript{e} I cannot now particularly enumerate. I w\textsuperscript{d} have sent y\textsuperscript{e} box now, but I have no opportunity to send it to Charlestown. I w\textsuperscript{d}. also have proceeded farth\textsuperscript{r} in my observations upon yo\textsuperscript{r} Natural History of Brasile, but time & oth\textsuperscript{r} occasions, will not give leave. With thanks for w\textsuperscript{t} you have sent, both w\textsuperscript{t} I have received, & w\textsuperscript{t} I have not, I take y\textsuperscript{e} boldness to request you, if you can obtain y\textsuperscript{e} seed of Sena of Alexandria, y\textsuperscript{t} you will please to send me a little. I have Italian Sena growing; but whether it be y\textsuperscript{t} it contains more lixivious salt than y\textsuperscript{e} oth\textsuperscript{r}, or y\textsuperscript{t} y\textsuperscript{e} Air of y\textsuperscript{e} countrey is more moist y\textsuperscript{n} of oth\textsuperscript{r} countrys w\textsuperscript{r} Oriental Sena is kept or first dried, I cannot, w\textsuperscript{th} all y\textsuperscript{e} care I can use, prevent it's turning black in a little time. Here is a sort of bindweed w\textsuperscript{e} I am apt to conceit may be Scammony; w\textsuperscript{e} I believe I may formerly have sent you y\textsuperscript{e} branches of. If I sh\textsuperscript{d}. send you that, or any oth\textsuperscript{r} usefull drugg, if you will please to let me know it, you will much oblige, Sir, Yo\textsuperscript{r} humble Serv\textsuperscript{t}.

The second begins in 1762, and was evidently lost for a number of years, for in the Journal of the vestry, February 17, 1811, we find recorded that a number of the Record books are missing, especially the registers of births and baptisms, marriages and deaths between 1759, 1760, and April 1790; the minutes of the vestry from August 6, 1759, to May 1790 were also missing. The journal of the vestry seems to have never been found, but the register, from 1762 to 1788, is still in existence, and also a later one which seems to begin about 1817.]

HISTORICAL NOTES

BURIAL PLACE OF MRS. HOWORTH

The following inscription from a tablet in Wimborne Minster, was copied by Mr. Albert Matthews, of Boston, about 1898; he states that the tablet was on a pillar between the nave and lectern, facing the nave. It reads as follows:

Near this place is Interr’d the Body of Mrs / Martha Howorth / Wife of / Henry Howorth / of the County of Radnor / Gent: & daughter of the / Honble. James Michie Esq / of Charles Town South / Carolina / She died 1st. Aug. 8th. 1772 / Aged 32 Years.

Martha Michie was the eldest daughter of James Michie, Esq; member of Council, chief justice, judge of court of vice-admiralty, etc. James Michie married in 1737, Martha, the daughter of Col. Arthur Hall and his wife Martha Seabrook; James Michie died July 16, 1760, in London. His will mentions his daughter Martha Mayne, his wife Martha, his daughter Mary, under age; his sister Elizabeth Michie, spinster, in London, his friend Dr. David Caw, and his kinsman William Michie of Charlestown, merchant. It was made 6 May 1758, proved 14 November, 1760.

Martha Michie, born 1738, married in October 1755, Charles Mayne, merchant, who died September 30, 1759. Henry Laurens in a letter to Richard Oswald, dated 26 May, 1756, states:

"Mr. Mayne we are told designs for England very soon, he seems very unhappily married to Miss Michie, but whether of the two is the agresser we can’t pretend to say."

Mr. Mayne and his wife separated, and after his death she married Henry Howarth, or Howorth. [Clerk of Court's unfiled papers, case reciting above separation, dated May 6, 1761]

Henry Howarth was a lieutenant in the 15th Regiment in 1758 (Mr. Ford’s list of British Officers in America) and owned a tract of 1650 acres on the Altamaha river, which he sold to James Parsons, May 8, 1764. He then describes himself as Henry Howorth, gentleman, of Charlestown. (M. C. O. book B No. 3, p. 386.)

Mary, the other daughter of James Michie, married Charles Ogilvie, merchant, of London. (Ibid. C, No. 3, p. 110.)
WHERE SIR JOHN YEAMANS DIED

To the July, 1918 issue of this Magazine Judge Henry A. M. Smith contributed a "Note" entitled "Sir John Yeamans, An Historical Error," wherein he presented records proving that Sir John Yeamans did not vacate the governorship of South Carolina, retire to Barbadoes and die there, as stated by five historians of South Carolina from Hewat to McCrady, but died in South Carolina, while still holding the office of governor, between the 3rd and 13th of August, 1674.

The will of Col. John Godfrey, which is recorded in a volume of records of the Court of Ordinary of South Carolina, 1672–1692, in the office of the Historical Commission in Columbia furnishes additional evidence of the correctness of the conclusions presented by Judge Smith. Col. Godfrey bequeathed to his son Richard "my gould ring wh I had at ye funerall of S't. Jn's. Yeamans". Col. Godfrey was present at the meeting of council August 3, 1674, presided over by Governor Yeamans and he was present at the meeting of August 13, 1674, whereat a successor to Sir John was chosen, so that he was necessarily in South Carolina for the funeral and the funeral was on the other hand, necessarily held in South Carolina.

LETTERS CONCERNING PETER MANIGAULT, 1773

The Letters here printed are the property of Miss Elizabeth Heyward Jervey, who has kindly allowed them to be published. They chiefly are concerned with the last illness of the Hon. Peter Manigault, son of Gabriel Manigault and the Mrs. Ann Manigault whose journal has been appearing in this Magazine. Some account of Peter Manigault will be found on pages 66-67 of this issue.

Hond Madam

In my letter to my Father of the 10th Instant I informed him of my having been very ill, & that I then intended to set out for Bristol in a few Days. But finding myself very weak, & being satisfied that I was as well off here, as in any Part of England in Point of air Climate, and good Assistance, I altered my Intention, and determined to remain at this place, until I should be perfectly recruited and though these English Fevers are exceedingly severe yet I have the satisfaction to inform you that I have, mended exceedingly, And though it was with difficulty I could walk across the Room Ten Days ago, I can now march a mile without Inconvenience.—I have met with great Attention and civility from several Persons here, particularly from Mr. Binford and Capt. Hale who carried Governor Lyttleton to Carolina: Otherwise, single and unknown as I was, when I first came here, I should have passed my Time very indifferently, considering how very ill I have been. Indeed to be sick in a strange Land, at a great Distance from one's Friends and Relations, is no desirable Situation; But by the assistance of Providence I have been enabled to bear these Misfortunes with Patience and Resignation.—I am undetermined when I shall go to London. I have no very particular Call there, And it is the universal Opinion that a Re-establishment of my Health which is what I want, is not to be looked for there. Be not Surprised that I did not Write to you before; my Health would not permit.—As I recover, you may depend upon hearing oftener from,

Your ever dutiful Son,

I was in Hopes before this Time to have written to you, upon a Subject more agreeable to myself, at the same Time that it might give Pleasuer to you, But since I wrote last, I have not improved in my Health so fast as I expected. However, I thank God, I am so much mended, that I intend to set out for Bristol Wells this Afternoon, from whence I flatter myself I shall soon be able to give you better Accounts. You may depend upon it that I shall omit no opportunity that I know of, to mention my Situation to you or my Father. I therefore desire you will not be frited with any Reports, which upon these Occasions are generally magnified, As I grow better you will find my Letters grow longer. But for the Present, you must be contented with a short one, from

Hond Madam
To receive at the same Time Letters from my Father, my Mother and three of my Children, was too much for my weak nerves. I sunk down upon the Couch, and was the whole Day before I could read them all. My whole Thoughts are so wrapped up in my Friends in Carolina that there is no pleasure, no Satisfaction for me in England. And I am continually making Comparisons, which right or wrong, always and in Favour of my own Country. Indeed I have had little to please me since my arrival. Sickness and melancholy Thoughts, having been my only Portion. But by the Blessing of Providence I think I recover, though but slowly. I now am able to take a Walk Morning and Evening, besides a Ride betwixt Dinner and Breakfast, and have a good Appetite, which however am obliged to restrain, by a very strict Regimen. My Acquaintances all say I look better, But perhaps they flatter me. I do not think I shall be able to return to Carolina, this Winter, though it is my most ardent Wish so to do. The Physicians tell me I must not return so soon, and at the same Time say, that this Climate will by no means do for me during the Winter; so that I think of going to France, I mean the South Part of it, or Italy.—It is a most sensible Mortification to me to be absent from you so long, But my Health requires it and the Duty I owe to my Family makes it indispensably necessary. I would take this Opportunity of Writing to my little ones, but writing is at present a Difficult Thing to me. Assure them of my tenderest Affection, and tell them, that I have not forgot what I promised them, But that my Sickness and absence from London, has prevented me from sending them some little Token of my Regard. I have ordered six pounds of the best Hyson Tea from London to be sent to you, I beg you will sent Two pounds of it to Miss Nancy Wragg, I make an Apology to her for my not writing to her. Another Pound is intended for Mrs. Poaug; who Poor Woman, ought to have these Things, though her hard Fortune has put it out of her Power to buy them.

My Stay at this Place is uncertain, But I believe it may be about three Weeks longer.—Wherever I am, It shall ever be my greatest Satisfaction, to be

Your most dutiful and affectionate Son

P. Manigault.

I believe Mr. Stead will send the Half Mourning for Nancy and Harriett by this Opportunity.

[4]

Bristol Wells 11th September 1773

Hond Madam

I write this with some Expectation of its reaching Captn White before he leaves London as I would not miss an Opportunity of letting you know that I received your letter by the Eagle Packet. I should have been in London before now, but Mr. Stead having wrote me word that he and his Daughters would be here in a day or two, I wait for them and suppose, I shall go to London with them in a week or ten Days.

I have no Opinion either of the Physician's, or the Waters of this Place. I am clear Goose Creek Water is full as good, and the Reputation of Bristol Wells, is cryed up by the Faculty in order to Draw Patients. I hold my Recovery so far, to be owing to the Goodness of the Air, a strict Regimen, and constant Exercise. I have lived Principally upon Milk for Eight Weeks past, and a little Fruit, allowing myself a little Broth once a Day for the first Month, and since that a Bit of White Meat. My Drink has been common Water, not the Hot Well Water, For I soon found, that the only Purpose that served, was to make me drowsy. In all this Time, I have not drank half a pint of Wine, or any other Spirits, not even small Beer, which in this Part of England is almost as Weak as Water. I am grown so fond of this manner of Life, and find such good Effects from it, that I believe I never shall quit it as long as I live.

I leave you to imagine from your own Feelings, how happy I am to hear that my Children are well, and how that Happiness is increased, upon being informed that they behave well. I should have no Rest during my absence from them, were I not thoroughly satisfied with their Situation, that indeed, makes me easy, and yet I some times am apprehensive, that Nancy or Henney wear Stays, or some Thing like them. If they do, I shall look upon myself and them too, to be most unkindly treated, when I see the Bristol Women, as crooked as Cow's Horns, I cannot but lament that man, or rather Woman, should attempt to mend the works of God; But am not surprised that they should fail in the attempt, This is sufficient to shew my opinion about this Matter, and I hope you will not take it amis, for I have it so much to Heart, that I could not help mentioning it. I have been wanting to send the Children some little Present, But I find everything so ordinary at Bristol, that they must wait till I get to London. I went to a Fair two or three Days ago, on purpose to try to get some Trifles for them. But could not please myself.

Your Niece Downes\(^2\) has had her child inoculated, and it is recovered. I hear she is expected soon at Bath, and that Frank \(^2\) She was Mary Lejau, daughter of Col. Francis Lejau and Mary Ashby his wife, sister to Mrs. Anne Manigault. Mary Lejau married September 3, 1760, Richard Downes, an English Merchant, who had settled in South Carolina (this Magazine, vol. xx, p. 135).

Richard Downes and his family went to England in May, 1773 (p. 64), and seem to have not returned. He died in England late in 1776. In his will dated July 3, 1776, proved January 3, 1777, he describes himself as being of the town of Ludlow, County of Salop (Shropshire) gentleman; mentions his wife Mary, his daughters Elizabeth and Ann, both under age; his nephew Richard, son of his brother Thomas Downes, late of Newton, county of Montgomery; nephews William, Edward, and Josiah, sons of his brother John Downes, late of Bishops Castle in County of Salop; nephew Richard Downes, of Wapping, Huger who is lately returned from France, is to be with her. I fancy he wont much like the Company of such old-fashioned People as his Uncle and Aunt.

We have had an extreme fine Summer in England, though I have not had Health to enjoy it. But the Weather begins now to be raw and windy. With all their Brags of the Healthiness of the Climate, I never saw so much sickness in my life. Whilst I was in Devonshire, People of all ages and Ranks, were dying every day of the Putrid sore Throat, the People looked as if they had all been at Ponpon, Fevers and Agues were so plenty, that in some Parishes not a Family escaped, and in Others not one of the Family. At Bristol, a Gentleman his Wife two Sons and a Maid Servant were buried in one Day: and the People as much frightened, as if there were no Mercy in Heaven. In the mean Time the Physicians, of which there are great Plenty, seemed to thrive upon the Spoil, and enjoy the Harvest.

I have met with more of my Acquaintance here than I expected. Collo. Laurens staid with me three weeks. Mr. Izard came from London on Purpose to see me and staid here as many Days. Mrs. Beresford and her Daughters and Son were here for some Time, upon a Pretence to recover Mrs. Delancy of a Cough, But in Fact to enjoy the Diversions of the Place. I have received the greatest Civilities from Mr. and Mrs. Brailsford, and indeed, to do Justice to the Inhabitants of the West of England, I must say that I have been treated with great Kindness, by all Ranks of People, especially during my Sickness.

London; nephews John, William and Thomas Taylor, sons of his sister Sarah Taylor of the Brake, parish of , county of Herefore.

Plantation and slaves at Stono, St. Paul's Parish, Province of South Carolina, to be sold if necessary.

Wife Mary, and friends Humphrey Sommers, John Sommers, William Roper, Robert Williams Jr., Plowden Weston, and Francis Huger, all of Charles Town, in South Carolina, to be his executors.

His daughter Elizabeth married in 1787, Rev. Thomas Frost, of St. Philip's Church.

Frank Huger born 1751, was the son of Daniel Huger and his fourth wife Ann Leja, a sister of the above mentioned Mrs. Mary Downes.

Elizabeth, daughter of Richard Beresford, Esq., and widow of Peter DeLancey, Esq. (January issue, pp. 19, 21.)
I have lately written to my Father by a Ship which is now wind bound at Bristol, and by her I have sent him two Chaise. I find there are like to be frequent Opportunities for Carolina, so that you may depend upon Hearing often from

Hond Madam

After being three Months in England, you find that I am at last in London, where I expect very little Pleasure, as my Health is far from being reestablished, though mended, and the Season so far advanced that I must necessarily go into warmer Quarters. I am at present with Mr. Stead by his Invitation, and the Ease and Freedom I enjoy at his House, would make me happy if anything on the Side of the Water could do so, His Daughters are well bred young Women, especially Polly, who is not so reserved as her Sister, and of Course pleases more. His Son Ben is just taken from school, he is a great awkward young Fellow, and will take a Great Deal of polishing. In about a Fortnight I intend to quit England, and either go to Lisborne and Spain or to the South of France. I wait to hear from Blake who is at Paris before I determine. I could not resist the Temptation of going to a Play last Night: But I, did wrong, for the Trouble I had in getting in, occasioned by Weakness, more then counter-balanced, the Pleasure of the Play. I who know the want of Health, most ardently wish it may be granted to you, in greater Abundance than it has been, to

From Falmouth

Dear Sir:

Three days ago I put our Sick friend in mind, that a Mail for Carolina was to be made up this Evening and desired him to write to you which, I observed to him, would give more satisfaction to his friends than intelligence from any other person—He promised to have a Letter ready, therefore I had no thought of writing by this Conveyance, before I made the Visit to him, from which I am just now returned, when Mr. Stead informed me that neither Mr. Manigault nor himself had wrote—I think it would be unkind to let the opportunity pass without a Line to you especially as there has happened a considerable alteration within the last 36 Hours.

About 8 or 9 days ago there was a most favourable appearance in Mr. Manigault's Case, as if the grand Cause of his Complaint was removed—Dr. Fothergill\(^5\) was so pleased and surprised that he could not forbear expressing hopes of his perfect Recovery contrary to his former opinion—We all rejoiced at the prospect—but our pleasure received a sudden Check by a fainting fit and slight Convulsion which happened this night and left an Inflammation in the left Eye—the effect of which however was trifling and soon passed over.

The day before yesterday I rode abroad with him, he was cheerful and stronger than I could have expected, we alighted

\(^5\) John Fothergill, M.D., 1712–1780; a well known English physician of the eighteenth century; he had family connections in America, and coöperated with Benjamin Franklin in 1774 in drawing up a scheme of reconciliation between Great Britain and the colonies which was never considered. (See Dictionary of National Biography).
under the Wall of Kensington Park on a Dry, smooth spot where he walked a good while to and fro in the Sunshine, then returned home amazingly well—in our Ride he told me of a troublesome boil of the Fistula class—which gave me some anxiety, but upon speaking to a very Skilful Surgeon of my acquaintance as a friend, he assured me that it was a most fortunate Circumstance and probably would prove the Drain through which other Complaints would be carried off and the patient Restored to health—this good Account was Confirmed in the same words by his Apothecary in my presence yesterday Morning—after this Doctor had left him. Mr. Manigault Eat and Drank heartily and not being able to Ride he desired me to walk with him—he leaned on my Arm and walked at least half a mile on the pavement—I left him very Cheerful and disposed to a further Walk if the Soreness of the Boil would have permitted—

This Morning proved Rainy which I knew would confine him to the House therefore I delayed my customary visit till Evening, when to my great sorrow, I found him in Bed in consequence of a second attack a few hours after I left him yesterday, by a Convulsion fit much stronger and more alarming than the former; He had been insensible several Hours, passed a painful Night and kept the Bed all this Day. doctor Fothergill was sent for while the Fit was on, ordered him a Vomit, which was forced down and by its operation relieved him—

Miss Stead informed me, that the Doctor said, he would get the better of this attack and be as well he was before it happened— I must confess there is an ambiguity in this Speech which makes me uneasy.—This my Dear Sir is a plain Account of our friends case as it stood two hours ago—if Mr. Stead can write by Candle Light perhaps he may add some particulars which may have escaped me.

We must wait with Patience for the Event, I still hope he will do well, in the mean time all your friends are exceedingly anxious on account of Mrs. Manigault and your self and everything in their power is done for the services of the poor Patient.

I remain with the most affectionate regard

Dear Sir Your much obliged humb. Servt.

Henry Laurens.

Per Capt. Gunn. Westminster 12th November 1773

Dear Sir,

Two or three days after I had wrote you an unfavorable account under the 3d Inst. of our Dear Friend your Son, he recovered so fast as to amaze every body about him and we held it as certain that the great Cause of his Complaint was removed and that he would every day gain strength, and tho he wrote to you with some diffidence and Caution, he was sensible of the amendment and acknowledged that he was better than he had been since his arrival in England. Doctors and every one conceived in the same opinion—but alas! our Sunshine was soon overcast again—the day before yesterday he was seized by a Chilly fit which carried him to Bed—Yesterday he suffered a more violent shivering than the former and to Day he has been extremely ill, much pain in his right side accompanied by Fever and difficulty of breathing—and at a certain short interval of Ease he intimated to me his apprehensions of approaching dissolution—The continuance of Life he said was very uncertain therefore desired me to write a Codicil to his Will I replied I was not acquainted with the form for such an Instrument and would have delayed it till a proper hand could have been sent for, but he smiled and beconed me to do it—then added, “it would vex me to have it delayed”—as soon as it was wrote he executed and desired me to seal it up—

This Codicil consists only of twoClauses, ordering that the Negro Woman Moll and her children shall be freed from Slavery immediately after his death; and his Man July, at the end of three Years from that period.—

It is now nine o’Clock in the Evening I am just returned from Mr. Manigault’s Bed side, he has been delirious for some hours and the Prognostics of Death were so strong when I left him that I have little hopes of finding him alive to Morrow—I was extremely loth to quit him but the Customs of this Country differ from those of our own.—
As I may yet overtake Capt. Gunn, I thought it my Duty to devote a few minutes to apprise you of this unexpected change of Circumstances—I feel for Mrs. Manigault, for you and for the Dear Children, but My Dear Sir, as I know well your fortitude, I trouble you not with Consolatory arguments on this melancholy occasion such are unnecessary to the Man whose trust is in God—who has habituated himself to a Patient submission to all dispensations of our Wise and Merciful Creator; therefore I have only to add that I continue with the most affectionate regard.

Your much obliged and obedt. Servant

Henry Laurens.

Dr. Fothergill supposes that Mr. Manigault took fresh Cold but I believe the expense through that Channel which they hoped would carry off his disorder has been too great for his weak frame.

LETTER FROM JOSEPH LORD

The letter given below should have preceded those appearing in the last number of this Magazine; it was not available when that issue was printed.

Being addressed to James Petiver, it settles the question as to whom the other letters were addressed. Petiver contributed to Philosophical Transactions, May, 1705 (no. 299, vol. 24, p. 1951) "An Account of Animals and Shells sent from Carolina to Mr. James Petiver, F. R. S.;" most of the shells, he states, were received from "Madam Williams, a Gentlewoman." He also mentions several other people, either Carolinians, or having touch with that Province, such as Major Halstead; Mrs. Danson, daughter of Mr. John Archdale; Mr. Edmund Bohun, and "my curious Friend Mr. Job [sic] Lord;" but Madam Williams was the most frequent donor, and mention is made of reptiles, lizards and insects lately sent by her. (See the January issue of this Magazine.)

. . . . "The Death of Mrs. Manigault will probably put a stop to Mr. Manigault’s voyage—no doubt it has thrown our good friends the old folks into the deepest affliction—they could not support themselves under the sudden stroke of parting with their son and Grandson—What is human Life? Where is Earthly happiness to be found? no where but in the present Moment, doing all the Good we can enjoying the Gifts of God with thankfulness—and holding ourselves ready to submit to the dispensations of Providence—Alas! Poor Mr. Manigault—He loved that Daughter dearly and she merited his dearest Love—He can bear misfortunes with Equanimity—but this stroke must have put his Philosophy and fortitude to the severest Trial." . . . .

(Laurens Letter Book, 1772-1774, p. 113) Mr. Laurens was in England at this date.

Mrs. Peter Manigault was Elizabeth, daughter of Joseph Wragg and Judith Du Bosc; she was born in 1736.

(S. C. Gaz., March 29, 1773).

According to the monument erected in St. Philip’s church, (Dalcho, p. 124) Colonel Beale was in his 84th not 85th year at the time of his death. He was originally a sea captain. (Pub. of the Colonial Soc. of Mass. vol. xiii.) Hewatt, in his History, gives a very interesting experience of his with an Algerian Rover, about 1724. He was in command of the Charlestown militia in May 1772, when 46 Letter from Mary Stead—Addressed: Mrs. Manigault, Charles Town, South Carolina per Capt. Maitland.

Dear Madam

It is a long time since I had the pleasure of writing to you, & tho' it is always a great satisfaction to me, I should be glad that at present it were not in some measure owing to Papa's having both hands confined with the gout, which renders him unable to answer yours & Mr. Manigault's obliging letters.

I wish I may be the first that acquaints you with Mr. Manigault's safe arrival in England the 30th last month; & since it is necessary you should know he has been ill, I am happy to have it in my power at the same time to tell you he is recovered. In his way to London between Plymouth & Exeter he was taken with a fever, & as there was no help to be had where he was, he was obliged with difficulty to be conveyed to Exeter; he is now under the care of an eminent Physician there. We have had the pleasure of two letters from him (one of which came yesterday) wherein he says he is much better & hopes to be in town in a fortnight. The fever has lain chiefly in his head, & weakened his Eyes a little but he nevertheless hopes to write to you by this same opportunity. I hope you will not conceive a bad opinion of this Country from this misfortune, but attribute it to the fatigue of a long voyage; & his own poor state of health: but when we get him amongst us, change of climate good care & advice
Cattell 1.47 23. Heard from my Son. 29 Mrs. Coslett 1. Betsy H. and the Children went over the Bar.

I am endeavouring all I can to recollect him & continually asking Papa something about him. I shall imagine when I see a son so tenderly beloved by you and Mr. Manigault that it is yourselves whom I behold; & guess Madam what a joy that would be to me; you whose goodness to us all Papa has so often told us of, you whom I respect & love so much without being acquainted with you! I cannot but be happy to hear you continue to enjoy your health & hope you may much longer be a blessing to all you friends, & continue to love me, as I flatter myself you have always done for my father and mother’s sake.

Papa & Sister beg leave to join me in respectful Comps. to you & Mr. Manigault.

I am, Dear Madam,

Your obliged hbl. servt.

He was chosen Speaker of three successive Houses of Assembly of this Province, in which important Station his Talents so distinguished him that he always acquitted himself with Honour and to the entire satisfaction of his Constituents and Countrymen, and he was one of those Gentlemen to whose liberal Support we owe the Establishment of Mr. Egan’s Brewery in this Town, now in such a state, as to rival our Northern Neighbors, and retain in this Province near 20,000 pounds a Year. CEMETERY INSCRIPTIONS FROM CHRIST CHURCH PARISH

Collected by Anne King Gregorie

OAKLAND PLANTATION, FORMERLY CALLED YOUGHAUL

This plantation, now owned by Mr. Ferdinand Gregorie and his son F. Gregorie, Jr., was part of a grant of 1300 acres on the south-east side of Seewee Sound which was made May 14, 1696, to Capt. George Dearsly; this tract afterwards became vested in Thomas Hamlin, who conveyed part to William Capers, and the remaining 982 acres, he conveyed January 1, 1704, to John Perry, Esq.; then of the Island of Antigua, but formerly of the parish of Youghal, near Cork, in Ireland. This plantation was settled for John Perry by his agent in Carolina, John Abraham Motte.¹

John Perry died in 1713, leaving all his plantations in South Carolina to his daughter Mary, who married in 1728, John Cleland, of London; they removed to South Carolina about 1735, and on March 12, 1740, John Cleland and his wife Mary, conveyed the above 982 acres, then called "Yoeghall," to Captain George Benison of Christ Church Parish, the bounds being then given as, south-east partly on Captain Benison and partly on a great marsh; south-west partly on Capt. Thomas Boone; north-west partly on Mr. Barton, and on Capt. Thomas Boone.

George Benison (who married first Elizabeth Capers, 1700–1733, and second, in 1735, Hannah Screven, widow) conveyed by deed of gift, December 9, 1741, 500 acres, part of the larger tract of 982 acres, called Youghall² to his son George Benison, Jr., the southward part bounding on Copahee Sound.

Col. George Benison died June 9, 1748, leaving a will, dated September 15, 1747, in which he bequeaths to his son William and his heirs the remaining 482 acres of the Youghall tract, giving the bounds as being south on Thomas Hamlin, west on Capt. Thomas Boone, northward on his son George Benison, and east on Copohee Sound; if William died without heirs, then Capt. Benison’s youngest son Richard was to inherit, failing heirs of Richard, then all of his children, Sarah, Mary, Elizabeth and Jane. Sarah had married John Parris in 1742, and Mary married William Gibbes in 1744.

William Benison married Ann Brown in 1750, and died in 1751 without issue (will). Richard died intestate about 1758; George Benison, Jr., born in 1722, married Elizabeth Bremar; he died intestate between October 1750 and February 26, 1751, leaving sons William and Francis Bremar Benison (will of his wife Elizabeth, dated April 7, 1751.)

Sometime before February 3, 1755, the 482 acres had been conveyed by Rawlins Lowndes, provost marshal, to Thomas Barksdale, who was already a large land owner in Christ Church parish, who on that date, conveyed to his son Charles, who, before his death in 1757, seems to have acquired also the 500 acres belonging formerly to George Benison, Jr.

Charles Barksdale, who had married in 1741, Maria Wingood, widow of Charvil Wingood, by his will, dated April 5, 1756, leaves all his lands to his sons Charles, Thomas and George.

Thomas Barksdale (1745–1800) appears to be the next owner of the tract on which the burying ground is placed; he died in 1800, leaving a will, which mentions his wife Mary, his son Thomas, and daughters Elizabeth, Mary, Sarah, and Sabina.

Thomas, the son of the above Thomas, married Serena Maria Payne and died about 1850, leaving a will, in which he states that it would be a great gratification to have his plantation called Youghall continued in the family, it having been for more than a century in the Barksdale family; he especially provides for the holding of the family burial ground, with privilege of access. He had no sons, and the plantation was conveyed by his wife Serena M. Barksdale, as executrix, to James Macbeth, April 26, 1852; James Macbeth having married Mary Vanderhorst Barksdale, the eldest daughter of Thomas and Serena. The acreage and bounds were changed several times in the various division during the Barksdale ownership.
James Macbeth conveyed, to Philip Edward Porcher, January 20, 1859, the plantation called "Oakland, formerly Youghall," so the name of Oakland was probably given to the plantation by Macbeth.

The place was conveyed by Mr. Porcher to his daughter Mrs. Ferdinand Gregorie.

The house probably built by the Benisons is old and interesting, with good lines and fine wood-work; the burying ground is surrounded by a good brick wall, some what in need of repair, and has a number of handsome tombstones, which have been damaged by the earthquake, and by neglect.

He was descended from respectable ancestors in New Jersey, among whom was one of the original twenty-four proprietors of that province. His father was 80 and his mother 50 years old at the time of his birth. His father who labored under the gout for sixty-years, transmitted that disorder to his son; but he by rigid and perhaps excessive temperance suffered little from it for several of the last years of his life; nevertheless, from the suddenness of his death, it is supposed, that at last it proved fatal, by an instantaneous attack on the brain. In November, 1775, when hostilities commenced within the harbor of Charleston by the Cherokee and Tamer, armed vessels of the king of Great Britain firing on the provincial schooner Defence, commanded by capt. Tufts, Dr. Budd paddled himself in a canoe, from a wharf on the Bay, and boarded the Defence in the midst of the firing in order to give the aids of his profession to his countrymen, who were supposed to have suffered much from having been long exposed to the fire of two British vessels within gunshot.

For several years the doctor had the honor of representing Charleston in the legislature of the state. In the year 1780, when the British troops had nearly over ran the state, he renounced the comforts of home and the profits of his profession rather than return to his allegiance to the king of Great Britain, and as such had the honor of being exiled to St. Augustine, by Lord Cornwallis, as an incorrigible rebel against the royal government. "On Tuesday last [February 1st] arrived———(Charlestown) Capt. Dunbarr from Rotterdam with above 200 Switzers out of the Canton of TOCKENBURGH [Toggenburg],¹ who are come to settle a Township on Savanna River called New Windsor, which was reserved for them upon a Petition to the Honorable the Governor and Council, granted some time since to one of their Commissioners Sebastasian Zouberbuhler, who was sent here by them to look out for and pitch upon Land which he should think most convenient for planting of hemp and Flax, and which, 't is hoped in time will be of no small Advantage to this Province."

So reads an item in the Gazette for January 29–February 5, 1737. This party of German-Swiss settlers had left their mountainous fatherland "in the beginning of August last" [1736] and had journeyed to Rotterdam, where they arrived "in September following" and "where they met with great hardships and a long detention from the Magistrates" of that city, the latter "pretending to oblige them to embark in a Dutch vessel when the said familys had already contracted for their passage to Carolina in an English Vessel which occasioned a demurage of Six weeks and an expence of several hundreds of pounds". 2 This delay had entailed a "Great Loss and Detriment" to these "familys" as well as to Sebastian Zouberbuhler and "his Friends". 3 The British "Minister at the Hague" had interceded for them with the result that they had "obtained leave to embark in the said English vessel." This they had done in November 1736 and had "sailed directly for Carolina."

In Sebastian Zouberbuhler's account of the migration of these Switzers, no mention is made of his having been sent to South Carolina by them for the purpose of selecting and securing a tract, or tracts, of land, as is stated in the Gazette. 4 It was "the Encouragements given to Colonel Purry for the settling a Township upon the River Savanna" that led him to come to the Province in the year 1734 "at his own cost and charge—in hopes of meeting with the same encouragements in proposing to People another Township." He further states that "during his stay in South Carolina he travell'd all over the Country to take a view of the Lands," on which His Majesty had "Ordered the Townships to be laid out, and after several conferences held with the Council at Charles Town he . . . . concluded a Contract with them signed the 17th July 1736 for settling a Township up the River Savanna on a Place formerly an Indian Village, then called Savanna Town (at present New Windsor) and for bringing over one hundred Protestant Familys in the space of one Year with a farther promise to bring over two hundred Familys more after the first hundred be well settled and able to subsist themselves." 5—"In pursuance of the said Contract" he writ to his friends at Appenzel to come away with as many familys as could be got ready accordingly they set out with about fifty Familys consisting of one hun-

3 See page 95.

4 He first proposed in 1735 to bring over 100 Protestant Swiss families and asked for Provisions, Cattle, Tools and free Warrants Plots and Grants. After having "spent some time in viewing several Places in consequence of this Petition and having been taken ill he found it impossible for him to transport to Carolina the 100 Familys in the time he at first Proposed." (Transcripts, vol. XVIII, p. 267 ff.)

5 He does state that "they are chiefly qualified for cultivating hamp and Flax, and the Lands of the said Township" are "very fitt for that purpose."
dred and ninety two Persons (most able body'd young people and not above twenty children among them) . . . . Upon their arrival in Charles Town, the party encountered another hindrance and delay, so that it was not until that April they began the journey to New Windsor. "After a great deal of Trouble," writes the Rev. Bartholomew Zouberbühler from "Charlestown in South Carolina," April 9th, 1737, "to his Son Sebastian Zouberbühler at London,"8 "The Government of South Carolina Resolved on the 2d of April to assist the People with three Pettiaoes for Transporting them and their Baggage hence to New Windsor. But that in case they wanted more The People should provide them at their own Charges. Whereupon the People who absolutely refused to be at the Charge of a Sufficient Number of Pettiaoes and Boats, came to me and told me that as I had promised them that they should be carried to the Place free of all Charges, so they desired that I might provide them with a sufficient Number of Pettiaoes and Boats. Thus I found myself obliged to hire One Pettiaoe, over and above those provided by the Government, for which I am to pay One Pistole per diem; as also Two Trading Boats to carry them and their Baggage from Purrysburgh up the River to New Windsor for the Pettiaoes cannot go higher than Purysburgh. All which Expences fall upon my Account. And therefore you must see to find Ways and Means for discharging the said Expences." The journey from Charles Town to Purrysbburg lasted "four full Weeks," while the remaining distance from the latter point to New Windsor required "Seventeen days more."
On the evening of the seventh of May, some of the party8 arrived at Ebenezer, Ga., where they spent the night with the Saltzburgers, while almost a month later, June 4th, another boatload touched at this place.9

The emigration of these settlers of New Windsor is mentioned at some length in the "21stes Neujahrsblatt der Zuerchersichen Hulfs-gesellschaft," 1821.

"Enticed by these descriptions,¹⁰ the number of emigrants soon increased. The town of Savannah (Savanna Town?) was populated chiefly by Switzers, and later (sic!) Newbern, North Carolina, was likewise settled by our fellow-countrymen. It was observed that at that time several hundred families passed through the pass near Wallenburg into the Canton of Basel alone. One of the largest crowds, consisting of inhabitants of eastern Switzerland, set out under the leadership of Governor Tobler, who had been dismissed from his position during the disturbances that took place in Appenzell at that time, and of a St. Gall preacher by the name of Zuberbuhler.¹¹ According to the reports of the latter, they had landed happily in Charlestown after a voyage of seven weeks. During the journey they had lost only two children out of two hundred and fifty persons. They had found enough fertile land and had been accorded a friendly reception everywhere. They had every reason to be sure of their future prosperity, provided that they should be industrious and orderly. He added that, in view of these facts, his son would return to St. Gall shortly and would bring fifty to sixty families more. The ordinances of the government prevented this; nevertheless Tobler and Zuberbuhler kept in touch with their fatherland for yet a

"A considerable edition" of this work, which "appeared" in 1711, "had been quickly sold." ²) A publication prepared by Col. John Pierre Purry, which is mentioned as follows: "When toward the end of the year 1733, Purry made a journey to Switzerland, he brought with him several letters by different emigrants, who all testified as to their great satisfaction with their new fatherland. He himself, too, published some reports about Carolina. These, along with the afore-mentioned letters, were translated into German, under the title . . . . , printed, and scattered everywhere."

¹¹ "There is a man among them (i.e. the settlers of New Windsor, who spent the night of May 7th at Ebenezer), whom they call Governor. He is said to be very clever and of high repute by them. To some of the Saltzburgers he spoke in very high terms of the district, to which they are journeying and which he himself has already seen. . . ." (Saltzburger Nachrichten, Part 1, p. 1044.)
long while, and the former, who was not unlearned in surveying and astronomy, dedicated to the states of Glarus, Appenzell and the three confederacies an almanac for the year 1754, which contained a description of South Carolina and on whose title page he designated himself Justice of the Peace of Granville County. Meanwhile, not all of his former fellow-travelers (i.e. emigrants) had been in like measure satisfied with their lot. Several returned to Europe in a wretched state, and one of these, Wernhard Trachsl-ler of Elgg published a short account of his journey, in which he complained bitterly of the hardships of the journey, the unfriendliness of the climate and of the inhabitants, poor food and dwellings, diseases, wild people and wild animals, and dissuaded everyone from journeying thither. There also appeared with this report a lament of those who had remained behind in Carolina, which contained among other stanzas the following one: [Note. A prose translation is given.]

"I journeyed from a free land, in which I lived honestly and honorably. I did not know of Carolina, where I am now a slave. I have no freedom at all. Great God, grant me Thy grace!"

Hans Wernhard Trachsl-ler’s “short account of his journey,” which has been mentioned in the foregoing paragraph, bore the following title: “Brief Description of a Journey to the Province of Carolina, situated in the West Indies, together with a Report of the Character, Nature, and Features of this Land by a Citizen who Recently Returned to his own Country.” It was published in 1738 at Zurich and was “printed in Burckli’s Printery.” A translation which follows is complete save for a few words that are unintelligible in the written copy from which it was made.

“Hans Wernhard Trachsl-ler of Elgg, district of Zurich, formerly soldier in Imperial and Royal French service, had the desire to see Carolina and undertook to do it. Accordingly on the ninth of September, 1736 he took leave of his wife and children at Elgg and with eighty five gulden cash journeyed to Holland alone. From Basel to Rotterdam it costs a person over twelve years of age eight gulden; from four to twelve years four gulden, boat passage alone, without food and drink, besides baggage six gulden per hundred weight. In Rotterdam he met many persons who also intended to travel thither, from various places, especially Switzers from Appenzell, Pundten? (Graubuenden?) and Rheintal; among whom were Mr. Zuebli\(^{14}\) of St. Gall, Pastor Zuerbuehler of Troguen, Governor Tobler of Herisau, and others. These men and all the rest present, making a company of 250 persons, entered into an agreement with the captain of a vessel before the voyage to the afore-mentioned province of Carolina. He undertook to carry them, and made them pay him for freight, care, and food, for a grown person five louis’d’ors; for a person from three to twelve years old, two and a half louis’d’ors; and for children under three, nothing. During this time there was apportioned to them, in messes of five persons, every twenty-four hours on Sundays and Tuesdays, dried beef, On Saturdays, pork; on Fridays, cod-

\(^{14}\) In a letter of the Salzburger pastors, Boltzius and Gronau, dated July 29, 1737, mention is made of Mr. Zueblin, who had “recently brought” them “the letters and the gift,” and who had been sick in Purrysburg “almost as long as he” had been “in the land.” From the diary of these pastors we learn that Mr. Zueblin of Purrysburg had two brothers who had desired to be taken in at Ebenezer. The date of this item is Dec. 19, 1737. The entry for Feb. 25, 1736 contains the information that two brothers named “Ziebely” had been supplied with provisions “from the store-house in Savannah” at the request of the pastors, when “some time ago” they had been “in very great want of” these and had been “forsaken by everybody.” Their parents in St. Gall were said to be “wealthy people,” and they wished to “pay back everything with joy in due time.” “Both brothers fear God,” we are told, “and make use of our (the Salzburger pastors’) ministry, as often as we come to Purryburg.” From the entry of November 8, 1742, we learn that Mr. David Zuebli had a son in Switzerland, who was studying theology. . . . . “The father should have liked to have had him become the German preacher in Purrysburg; but because the number of the German people is becoming continually smaller and he himself no longer has a great desire to remain there, therefore he desires that the German people in Savannah might call him to be their preacher.” We are further informed (February 8, 1743) that “Mr. Zuebli from Purrysburg” had written to one of the pastors “that he wished to keep the most of his negroes only a few days longer and to release himself from this burden (or charge) and to change his manner of life according to God’s apparent direction.” Again (February 8, 1743) we are told that “Mr. Zuebl” had “bought, on his arrival in the land, a plantation of two hundred acres on the Savannah River, but” that he had “long ago been forced by the frequent flooding, which now for two years had continued longer than formerly, to abandon it and” had “rented another in the interior that” was “very remote (isolated).” [These items are taken from the Salzburger Nachrichten.]
fish; on other days, boiled rice, peas, and barley together with a quart of water and beer and a piece of zwieback per head. Children under three, as they paid no passage, were counted to their parents. But this supply of food was not sufficient for them, they being people not accustomed to voyages, so that every one had to try at times to buy something from the ship-steward out of his own pocket. Moreover, they had to lie on the hard floor without any beds, and the sea caused them many sick days and fever. After twelve weeks and three days they finally arrived in Carolina, and they disembarked in the chief city, Charleston, situated in South Carolina, and were lodged in two shacks. There they caused a petition to be presented to the English Council and the Governor that they, like those who had arrived before them, might receive the provision and support for the first year, as was promised to the aforenamed Pastor Zuberbuehler's son in Carolina and even in London; but they were refused and silenced, inasmuch as His Royal Majesty of England has issued an order not to advance or give anything more to anybody. Hereupon they found themselves in the most extreme poverty; they had to eat themselves, as it were; home and hope they had none; work they did not find. They scattered here and there. Some remained in Charlestown; others went to Purrysburg and Orangeburg, Congaree, Savannah (Savannah Town, i.e. New Windsor?) and other places, where they were assigned to woodland and raw fields; others, and especially the women who had lost their husbands on the voyage, begged. Trachsler, for his part, found some credit 15 The Minutes of Council for February 4, 1737/8 contain the reply of the Council to a message from the House, in which reply we find the following words: " . . . the late Lieut. Governor by the advice of His Majesty's Council, with proper prudence and Caution near a Year Agoe Caused an Advertisement to be Published and Continued in the Weekly Gazette giving Notice of the Expiration of that Law (i.e., the Appropriation Law) and of the Insufficiently of the Fund to provide for the poor Protestants then Arrived" . . . .

16 On February 3, 1737/8 a message was sent by the House to the Council in which we find the following reference to the plight of some newly arrived immigrants: " . . . Especially as we have Such frequent Complaints that for want of some Provision being made for these people (Irish Protestants) and the Other Poor Protestants lately arrived in this Province, this Town is filled with people begging from Door to Door in So much that Unless they are Some way forthwith provided for they will become a perfect and began to butcher, and rented in Charlestown a shed or shanty made of boards for 20 Batzen of our money per week. Some time afterwards, when Spain made some moves looking to an invasion of the country and on this account the fortresses were occupied, he received from the said Council in Charlestown the favor to be placed in the fortress of Port Royal, which lies in the direction of Georgia, as sergeant with fifty men from the best people under the command of a lieutenant from Prussia. Here they had enough to eat, but after four months were paid off and discharged. Then he went to Orangeburg and tried to support himself again with butchering and soap-boiling, which he had learned years before in France. He also entered into an agreement with a captain, to whom he offered to teach soap-boiling, for four years for a half of the profits. But he was unable from the very beginning to come to any accounting with the gentleman. Therefore he applied to the magistrate and there had himself released from the contract. As he now had some money on hand, he again hired passage with it on a ship and sailed back to Holland, taking with him the wife of a smith in Troguen. Only a few days ago he returned to his children in Elgg.

All persons who get to Rotterdam will be transported to this province. Such as are provided with money can engage passage themselves on the ships, which sail at intervals. But such as are not in a condition to do this will be taken charge of and sent over by the Messrs. Hoppen, prominent merchants there, (a few unintelligible words) in the manner described above, except that those who live only by grace fare even somewhat worse in the treatment over the sea and in this province. To those who pay the ship-passage out of their own money, immediately a portion of land, thirty acres to the head, is apportioned, but without Nusance to the Present Inhabitant of the Town.” Relief and action was urged. The Council replied on the following day (cf. note on preceding page) and recommended that the “poor Protestants” “Enter into Service without more loss of time.”

17 In a pamphlet entitled “Umstaendliche Nachricht vor diejenigen, welche auf eine sichere Weise nach S. C. America, ziehen wollen,” Speyer, 1741, there is a copy of a contract drawn up between some emigrants to South Carolina and the firm of “Archibald Isaac Zachariah Hope, Merchants in Rotterdam.” The date of this contract is April 5, 1741.

18 This should be fifty instead of thirty acres.
house, barn, victuals nor implements for the cultivation of this land: but they are simply assigned to the apportioned piece of land thus bare of all things. It is true that in the beginning the provision in victuals and other things was advanced to the Europeans who arrived in this land for the first year; but in the year 1736 His Majesty of England issued a manifest that no advance should any more be given to any stranger. But the others, who are taken charge of by the aforenamed Messrs. Hoppen in Rotterdam, are sold to the farmers settled there for four years. They serve for food and clothing, but must do such work as is too severe for them in this hot country and uses the most of them up. This South Carolina is a very hot country. Already in March the heat is as great as in the middle of the summer in Switzerland. In December there is sometimes wet and cold weather, but not enough to freeze at this time. But especially in the approaching spring, often so sharp a wind blows that one needs the best clothing if one wishes to work outdoors. Around the towns and along the two rivers the land is very fertile, so that anything can be planted in the gardens; but there are no grape-vines. Every acre around there is worth 200 gulden.

But the land which is distant from the rivers and which is distributed to the new-comers, is hot beyond all measure, and if one wishes to plant anything at all on it, especially in the beginning when it must be cleared, it requires strong hand-work. This land is full of wild men who live in the woods stark naked, but who do no harm to other people. They do nothing but shoot wild animals, bears, wolves and deer and bring their skins and pelts to the towns to sell them and exchange them for victuals. Besides, there are very many negroes who have been sold thither as slaves. These people are worth a high price, because they are much more able to do the work and much cheaper to keep in food and drink than the Europeans. As to divine service, there are neither ministers nor churches anywhere except in the chief city Charlestown, where there is a French Church.¹⁹ Neither does one find Bibles or other books for sale. In Orangeburg, a goldsmith, Gietzendanner of Liechtenstaeg,\textsuperscript{20} has lately set up as a pastor and preached every Sunday in an open place near to his own cottage. Children as old as nine years were brought to him for the administration of baptism, and people came a distance of forty English miles (one of which makes half an hour) to his preaching. On account of the vehement heat and the bad food and drink, everybody who comes to this country must endure severe diseases, especially fevers, from which the most die. One sees no money consisting of silver and gold, but only paper, on which the English coat of arms and the value are printed. There are notes of four, two and one louisd'ors, an English pound containing ten batzen of our money, and so on down to a half crown, which is equal to ten kreutzer. If anyone is fortunate enough to obtain a loan, he must pay ten per cent interest per year to Englishmen for it, and fifteen per cent to the Jews, who have also invaded this country. In the government as in all other matters there is not the least order. Everybody can trade, work and undertake whatever he wishes to. But crimes, especially theft, are severely punished. Everything produced by handiwork brings a high price; clothing and agricultural implements can scarcely be had. Tools necessary for work and cultivating the ground are worth very much: a saw is sold for nine English pounds, a shovel or a hoe for thirty batzen, an axe for twenty batzen, a hand-mill for nine pennies, and so forth. This country, like other countries, is subject to blessed as well as unfruitful years; but all provisions are always dear. A hundred weight of rice is worth four to five Carolina pounds, a loaf of bread half a pound, a pound of lean beef a batzen (altogether the cattle in this country is small, and the largest ox will weigh not more than four and a half hundred weight; it is not stall-fed, but roams wild in the woods), a pound of tallow ten kreutzer; one pound of sea-fish ten kreutzer, and so

"Jno. Ulrich Giessendaner Silversmith gives Notice, that he makes & mends all sorts of small work, designs and engravs Seals, Coats of Arms &c. in Gold, Silver, Copper or Pewter. He lives on the Green by the Church in the House of Mrs. Hammerton. He likewise sells a Balsamus Aromaticus good for the head and tooth-ache and other Infirmities, also an excellent and comfortable Balsam of Mace."
forth. On account of the great heat, there is no fruit, figs and the like. The drink consists of bad water or in a mixture of brandy, sugar, lemon and water, which is called punch there and is dear. A quart is sold for twenty kreutzer. But it is quite unhealthful and unadapted to the nature of Europeans. Wine from Spain is also brought into the country, but on account of the high price only the rich can afford it. Only in and around the towns are houses to be found, but in the country only shacks or shanties made of boards and covered with brush, in which the people stay. All that these are able to plant on the land given to them, and that too with the most laborious work, consists of Indian corn, of which they make cakes, bake them at the fire and so nourish themselves. But the poor get nothing all the year round for their sustenance but potatoes, which they dig out of the ground themselves. With these alone they have to keep themselves alive, and they see neither bread, meat, nor anything else.

This province of South Carolina, here described, is four hundred miles distant from Pennsylvania. But there, according to reports, life is much more miserable and toilsome. This deponent, Hans Wernhard Trachsler, met some of the people who disembarked there, who were in extreme poverty and could not sufficiently lament their misery, so that one even broke out into this lamentation: ‘It is better to die upon the ocean than to come into West India and perish there.’ For not a few die from misery and sorrow upon the almost endless open sea and find a grave in the wild waves of the desolate ocean. Therefore one cannot sufficiently thank God when he gets back healthy into his dear fatherland and into his old home, especially as it is very difficult to get free and away again; for it must be known that if one wishes to leave the country again, he must first give notice at the state chancellory in Carolina and have his name called out for three weeks and three days in order that if anybody has any claims against him, he may report and make everything right before his departure. But the principal thing is that they are not willing to let people out, because the more populous the country is, the safer they feel; among other things also on account of the pests, like snakes and crocodiles, of which there is a multitude. Finally, one of the chief hindrances to getting away is the overwhelming costs which are demanded of those who return. For instance, the deponent and Anna Maria Hugendobler, with three children, had to give 162 gulden for passage as far as London, Gabriel Schaeffer, however, had to pay 125 gulden for himself alone, because they had to give him more serviceable food; although the journey is also long and one reckons from Carolina to Rotterdam alone 2200 hours on the water, in which there is many a bitterly sad moment, to which the person mentioned at the outset will testify from his own experience to the end of his days."

"His Corps was attended to the Grave by a very considerable Number of the Inhabitants, who were indeed real Mourners. The Characters of Husband, Parent and Relation, in which he stood foremost may be paralleled, but cannot be exceeded. His publick Character rendered him generally known, his private virtues as unanimously respected. He lived in constant practice of every Christian duty and was a striking example of that vivacity and cheerfullness which distinguishes the man void of offence. He esteemed every good character and in return was beloved by all. His Charity was distinguished by a prudent application to deserving objects—And it may well with great truth and justice be said, that in him the Province has lost an excellent citizen, and the poor a most generous benefactor."

Motte Alston Read

Motte Alston Read became a member of the South Carolina Historical Society in 1909 and was chosen as a curator in 1912.

He was born June 20, 1872, and was the eldest son of William Melvin Read of Virginia by his wife Jane Ladson Alston, daughter of Mr. Jacob Motte Alston of South Carolina.

He completed his college education at Harvard University where he received the degree of Bachelor of Science in 1893. His subsequent scientific work can be best told by a quotation from the News and Courier (August 6, 1914) telling of his election to the chair of Biology in the College of Charleston, which the condition of his health prevented him from ever filling:

"He continued his scientific work in Munich during several years in the later nineties and in 1901 was elected to the chair of Physiography in Harvard University. In 1902 he was again in Europe, engaged in palaeontological faunal studies in the Tyrol, and returning to Harvard in the fall was elected, while still holding the Harvard Chair, to the instructorship in Physiography in Radcliffe College and in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Prof. Read was at various times vice president of the Harvard Natural History Society, a member of the Boston Natural History Society, field assistant in the United States Geological Survey, member of the International Congresses of Geologists, which met in Washington in 1891, in Russia in 1897, and in Paris in 1900. He is also a member of the German Alpine Verein, and a charter member of the Harvard Traveller's Club, devoted to furthering scientific travel. The principal subjects of his research have been palaeontology of the Amphibia and Reptilia, the geographical distribution of life and lands past and present, and eugenics. His chief publication is Gastropods of the Volcanic Tuff of the Seisser Alp, Tirol, Triassic."

Mr. Read was also an earnest student of history, principally in its economic and racial development. For he was a careful observer of heredity both in its narrower or personal aspect and in its broader sense, as involving the development or decay of groups of individuals, connected by blood or descent, called loosely tribes, nations, and races.

This it was that gave the impulse to his historical studies of the older families of Virginia and the Carolinas, and led to his continued interest in this Society, and its publications. And it is a distinct loss that the increasing infirmity produced by his cruel disease prevented his completing the work he had in hand for publication in this magazine. This disease it was which in the full vigour of manhood broke off his professional career and compelled his retirement to his Texan ranch in the hope that an active out-of-door life might assist his powers of resistance. Finding this hope a vain one, he made his home in Charleston and resigned himself to the sedentary life of his library, where his mental activities in the acquirement and arrangement of knowledge continued to his death, even though his own productiveness became daily more limited by pain and loss of physical powers.

And yet visits to this library were constant pleasures to his friends, for they found in it a fortitude which allowed no place to regrets for lost opportunities and no complaints over present disabilities. But in place of these they met an active interest in current events, a keen intelligence, a superb memory, and a readiness to discuss the great movements of the intellectual world whether in science, in history, or in art. For among his acquirements was a knowledge and developed taste in the last, which made his opinions authoritative among connoisseurs, and enabled him to form for his own pleasure a fine collection of Japanese Color Prints.

He died at his residence No. 8 Atlantic Street on July 12, 1920.

A BILL OF COMPLAINT IN CHANCERY, 1700
Contributed by MABEL L. WEBBER

The following rather amusing and unusual bill of complaint was copied from a paper found among some unindexed documents in the office of the Clerk of Court, Charleston, S. C.

Most of the people mentioned were prominent at that period; Thomas Cary and John Danson were sons-in-law of Governor Archdale, Cary being at one time a member of Council (McCrary, Vol. 1). George Dearlsey was a member of Council in 1697, and a large land owner, had several holdings in Christ Church parish (see page 73); he made his will June 20, 1702, and mentions Patrick Logan, son of George Logan Esq; to whom he leaves negroes, and two of four lots in Charles Town purchased of John Barksdale, George Logan the brother of Patrick to inherit in case Patrick die; leaves to Susannah Cornish household goods and plantation (goods?) whatsoever in Carolina, two negroes and 200 acres at Boowatt purchased of John Nix; to her daughter Ann, under age, four negroes; To Edward, son of Susannah Turlow, four negroes and one town lot, and plantation of 400 acres at Wappetaw; to his sister Elizabeth Quelch and her heirs, plantation where he lived, with all buildings, stock and 10 negroes. To friend George Logan Esq; horse and negro boy Buckingham, said George Logan to be sole executor.

The fourth part of the briganten Mayflower which he owns to be sold on her return to Carolina to pay for the finishing of the ship he is now building for his father Richard Dearsley in Barbadoes, but if the said vessel make a profitable voyage, then after debts are paid, one half to father Richard Dearsley, Esq; and in case of his death to brother and sisters in law equally divided; one fourth to sister Elizabeth Quelch and the other to be divided equally between Susannah Cornish and her daughter and Susannah Turlow’s son Edward.

Witnesses were Robert Dacres, Wm. Allen, John Morgan and Anth’y Mathews; Examined April 20, 1704 (or 9?) and recorded July 6, 1719. (Probate Court 1711-18, page 60.)

George Hearne was a bondsman for Frances Betterson, widow of William Betterson, May 9, 1705 (This Magazine, vol. xii, 213).

Robert Dacres “late of the Province of Carolina, bachelor” died intestate; administration was granted 28 April, 1707 to Robert Johnson, Esq; attorney for Hon. Thos. Broughton, Dame Mary Dacres, mother of the defunct, first renouncing (Ibid vol. iv, 236).

Your Orator and Invited him to his the sd. Hearne’s house, And there perceiving Yr Orator’s Disorder, He took that Opportunity to tempt Yr. Orator to play, And so won of Yr. Orator the Summe of fivety-Nine pounds, and accordingly gott Yr. Orator being So in drinke to Sign a Note or bill Under his hand to pay the Sd. Hearne the Said summe of fivety Nine pounds, And in Some few days afterwards, he the sd. Hearne demanded the sd. Summ of fivety Nine pounds of Yr. Orator, But your Orator not remember- that he was in the Comp. of the sd. Hearne, Or had played with him Or had given any Note or bill for the sd Summ of fifteen Nine pounds refused the payment of the Same, Whereupon upon the sd Hearne Relating how he had won moneys of yr Orator to Coll'n Thomas Cary & Mr. John Danson of Carolina Merch'ts:
They the sd Cary and Danson acquainting yr Orator with the Same, did propose to yr Orator that if he would Venture five could nott gett his Note for the sd Summ of £59; from the sd

Hearne, Excepting yr Orator (for a Colour) would give a Note Either to ye sd. Cary or Danson for the Summ of £59;—And accordingly the sd. Cary drew a bill for ffivety Nine pounds payable to the sd Danson Who both of them promised yr. Orator it should not be made use of against him, but that the same should be given up to yr Orator when desired, And yr Orator confiding in the Promises of the sd Cary & Danson, accordingly Signed son replied that he had put the sd Note into the hands of the sd Coll'n Cary and further say'd that the said Cary would deliver yr. Orat' the said Note when desired, When in truth the said Darson had not delivered the sd Note to the sd Cary, but had delivered the sym to Maj't. George Dearsley with Power and Directions to put sd Note in Suite, against yr Orator, as soon as he the sd Danson was gone off, Which the sd. Maj't. Dearsley Accordingly did, in the Name of the sd. Danson by causing Writts to be prosecuted against yr Orator, who was arrested upon the Same on or about the 22th day of March 1699/00— in an action of Debt for fivety Nine pounds, And a Declaration upon the Same filed against yr. Orator the fifth day of Aprill 1699 in the Court of Common Please of this Province, as by the Records of the same doth appear, all which practices of the sd Danson are Contrary to all Rights, Equity, and good Conscience, In tender Consideration whereof, And for as much as yr Orator is not relievable in the promises by the Strict Rules of the Common Law, but is altogether remediless in the same, Unless by the Aid of this Honrble Court, yr. TWO LETTERS FROM CHARLES COTESWORTH PINCKNEY TO RALPH IZARD

(From Collection of South Carolina Historical Society)

(Address missing)  Charleston Nov$: 5th: 1794

Dear S—:

By Strong we had expected the pleasure of Mrs. Izard’s Company; but as she has preferred the Journey by Land I have agreeable to your desire written to Mr; Chesnutt, & I have no doubt but that he will pay her every attention when she arrives at Camden, and we still flatter ourselves we shall be favoured with her Company when she comes to Charleston—

From one of her letters to Mrs. Pinckney I find I have not received one or two of your Letters, and that one of mine has miscarried—In that I informed you that Mr. Hamilton¹ the Ship Builder did not chuse to be concerned in the Building of a Frigate; that Mr. Pritchard² thought it might be done here, and that Capt³ George⁴ said he would undertake it; I also inclosed you Copies of Capt. Mayrant’s⁴ Commission and Certificates, and which I also now inclose, that if more Frigates should be put into Commission he may be in the way of promotion—a Letter from the Secretary of War to me has also miscarried, as in a Letter of his to the Governor, he directs him to cause a certain vessel to be delivered up to the original owners, and mentions to him “that if he did not chuse to execute the order I could, and that a copy of the order and of the Letter was sent to me for that purpose—”

This Letter the Governor shewed to Judge Bee and to Mr. Holmes the Collector, and at the same time caused the vessel to be delivered up, but no copy of it, or of the order ever came to me—

² Probably Wm. Pritchard; Paul Pritchard the elder, and first shipbuilder here of that name, was dead by this date.
³ James George, a sea captain.
⁴ John Mayrant.
The Letters I received from the Secretary at War were previous to this, and had no allusion to the vessel which was the subject of this Letter—I wish I could discover the rascals who amuse themselves in interrupting my Correspondence—By Capt. Strong I send a small Box with two articles sent in it, to be altered agreeable to the paper in the Box, also 25 Dollars with which I will beg you to pay the inclosed Bill [of] Gardelters, and to return the Articles when altered either by Strong or any other safe opportunity.

I am just setting out for the review of the Southern regiments, and on my return shall not remain in Charleston above three days before I set out for Columbia where I expect to have a very disagreeable sessions owing to, the Appian politics—

With great regard and Esteem I remain

[2]

Ralph Izard

Charleston Decr. 26th: 1794.

Dear Sr:

On the 20th instant I wrote to you from Columbia, and gave you an account of our Elections and the termination of the Appian business; this Letter will be confined altogether to the management of your plantating Interest. Mr. Owen called on me yesterday and we had a long conversation on that subject. I find with 220 workers you have not made this year more rice than E Rutledge and myself have at Charleywood with ninety; That in some of your plantations there has been considerable embezzlement; and that on your plantation where you make most to the hand and really a good crop, there is no overseer but only a Black Driver—From hence I conclude that your planting Interest is most abominably managed, and that it will continue to be so while Mr. Pryor has anything to do with it—He is infirm, unwieldy, without activity Monstrum, horrendum, informe, ingens, cuij lumen ademptum.— It is impossible for him, (if he had the inclination) to look after your business with the attention it requires, and both Mr. Owen and myself are of the opinion that it is essential to your interest that Mr. Pryor should be dismissed. Fraser is dead—Mr. Owen thinks Mr. Perry might be prevailed on to superintend it, if that could be accomplished, as he already rides through your plantations twice or thrice a week, and is an excellent Planter. It would be most a desirable object—But if Mr. Perry should decline this business I think that you had better let Mr. Owen direct as he did in 1777 when without the Santee Negroes, you made fifteen hundred Barrells of Rice, whereas this year with the addition of the Santee Negroes will not make a thousand. I have thus frankly given you my sentiments on your affairs, you however are the best judge how they should be conducted and will act accordingly.

I inclose a paper with the additional Militia Act and the Numbers of the Divisions Brigades and regiments which I will request you to shew with my Compts to Generals Pickens and Winn—accept the Compliments of the Season and be assured I am

Your friend

CHARLES COTESWORTH PINCKNEY.

Died. In the seventy first year of her age, at Philadelphia, whither in compliance with importunate solicitations of her friends, anxious for the preservation of so valuable a life, she had gone for the recovery of her health, Mrs. Elizabeth Pinckney, the amiable relict of the honorable colonel Charles Pinckney, formerly so eminent at the bar, on the judiciary bench, and in the legislature of this country; and mother of brigadier general Pinckney, and of Mr. Pinckney, the present minister of the United States of America, at the court of Great-Britain. This all accomplished lady, possessed, in a most eminent degree, all the amiable and engaging qualities, united to all the virtues and graces, which embellish and exalt the female character.—Her manners had been so refined, by a long and intimate acquaintance with the polite world, her countenance was so dignified by serious contemplation and devout reflection, and so replete with all that mildness and complacency which are the natural results of a regular uninterrupted habit and practice of virtue and benevolence that it was scarcely to behold her without emotions of the highest veneration and respect. Her understanding, aided by an uncommon strength of memory, had been so highly cultivated and improved by travel and extensive reading, and was so richly furnished, as well with scientific, as practical knowledge, that her talent for conversation was unrivalled, and her company was sedulously sought after by all, without distinction of age or sex, who could be so happy as to gain admission into it. Her religion was rational, liberal, and pure. The source of it was seated in the judgement and the heart, and from thence issued a life, regular, placid, and uniform.

2 Eliza Lucas, who first introduced the cultivation of indigo in this State.

"Mild as the blest above, without serene
As Eden's air, and calm as heaven within."

In a word, her whole life was like the Milky way with stars, thick-set with the genuine fruits of sincere piety and active benevolence. The natural consequence of such a life was, that she met death in the midst the most excruciating pain, with a truly Christian fortitude, and a Heaven born tranquility.

"She taught us how to live, and, oh too high
A price for knowledge! taught us how to die."

(Wednesday, July 17, 1793.)

Died. In Laurens county, on the 16th day of June, in the 19th year of her age, Miss Jane Hunter, eldest daughter of the honorable John Hunter Esq. This youthful lady is much regretted by her relations and friends, and all those that had the pleasure of her acquaintance. (Friday, July 19, 1793.)
Married On Monday last, two celebrated widows, ladies of America and France, after having repudiated their husbands on account of their ill treatment, conceived the design of living together in the strictest union and friendship; the said amiable ladies, in order to give a pledge of their fidelity, requested that their striped gowns should be pinned together, that their children should be looked upon as one family, while their mothers showed them an equal affection. Mr. Lee officiated with dignity as their proxy, and explained the reciprocal obligations these two ladies promised to confer on each other, inviting their children at the same time to imitate their mothers; Mr. Samuel Prioleau acted as the sponsor of the American lady, with that dignity, which such a deserving ward required; Mr. Huger, Ramsay, and Burke, three of her faithful guardians, assisted at the feast on this occasion. The brave artillery signed that contract by the fire of their guns, and all their brothers in arms by thousands of huzzas; the merry guests waited for his excellency in an anxious solicitude, they lamented his absence, but they rested assured of his patriotism; the representative of the gallic lady, M. A. B. Mangourit, was so feelingly touched at this so noble a scene, that while his eyes overflowed with tears of joy, he only lamented the absence of the president and all those of his colleagues that are true friends to those ladies, to join with the French Americans to celebrate the Carmagnole and sing Ca Ira. (Saturday, July 20, 1793.)

The name of Strawberry was used for this locality on the Eastern side of the Western branch of the Cooper river, as early as July, 1698, when James Child had a grant of 1200 acres there; he early laid out a town at the bluff on the river, which he called "Childsberry Town," and in his will, dated October 29, 1718, he gave an acre and a half in the town, for a Church, or Chapel.

On December 9, 1725, an Act was passed for establishing a Parochial Chapel at Ease at Childsbury to the Parish Church in St. John's Parish, Berkeley County. The Chapel was built at the charge of several of the parishioners, on the land given by James Child in his will; it was of brick, and is the same building which stands to-day. The name of Childsbury soon disappeared, and the chapel has always, and still is, called Strawberry chapel. The burying ground is still in use.
